

McKinley and Bryan.

From the Holiday Standard.
In comparing McKinley with Bryan, ex-Governor Chamberlain, formerly of South Carolina who was a strong McKinley supporter four years ago, states that without regarding Bryan with an extravagant view he rates him in ability many degrees above McKinley, and that he and other anti-imperialists Republicans in voting for him, will do so not "because he or his party meet our views of high qualifications for the public service, but simply because we expect in them our best, if not our only chance of averting what we regard as our greatest public danger." It is astonishing how many Republicans are reaching solid ground by this kind of reasoning. To be candid, they don't like Bryan, but he is infinitely to be preferred to McKinley.

Spring Mills.

Next month the white wash brush campaign will commence, and a general cleaning up ordered.

Quite a number of removals and changes will be made here next month. Dwellings are not particularly scarce.

Edwin Ruhl has at his restaurant on order planked shad, this is a delicious dish and somewhat new to most of our people.

Harvey Confer of the Spring Mills Planning Mill Co. has been quite ill for the last week or ten days but is convalescing.

Representative R. M. Foster of State College, was here last week interviewing some of our leading Democrats. Mr. Foster is a candidate for renomination.

The 13th anniversary sermon of the K. of G. E. will be delivered by Rev. Chilcote in the M. E. church of our village on Sunday morning the 25th inst. at 10:30 o'clock. All are cordially invited.

John Snavely is erecting quite a handsome residence on the pike above the under-bridge to join the old wheelwright shop formerly owned by John Swann. This building will be set back several feet and the interior remodeled. Mr. Snavely will occupy it for the manufacture of spouting and all kinds of tin ware.

Wm. Pealer one of our prominent Democrats and highly esteemed citizens has been repeatedly urged by his many friends to be a candidate for the Assembly. Mr. Pealer would undoubtedly prove a strong competitor, but he assures me that while appreciating the well wishes and kindness of his friends, he will not be a candidate.

Dr. D. M. Wolf will commence a spring session of school in our Academy building on the 24th proximo, for teachers and advanced scholars. At these special sessions the studies embrace all the higher branches, and the instructions imparted to the students almost equals those of a college. Professor Wolf is too well known to require any special eulogium.

It is to be hoped that this summer a gravel or board walk will be built from the iron bridge over Penns Creek to the grange hall and over the main thoroughfare to the private road leading to the "hill." Without exception this is the meanest walk imaginable, in wet weather the road is almost impassable, pedestrianism is only possible knee deep in mud. It is simply a disgrace to the village.

Fine Grove Menton.

R. B. Fry and wife, of Bellefonte, were in town last Monday between trains.

John McWilliams, of the Altoona shops, is off duty for a while and enjoying the far-fouling with his Fairbrook friends.

Mr. Levi Krebs, who was able to go about after a long and severe illness, has had a relapse and is once more confined to bed.

Robert Gardner was bustling around visiting our merchants this week with his samples of tobies and tobacco. He spent Sunday at the old family home in the Glades.

Emanuel Shuey and his wife, of Houserville, are visiting their son H. C. Shuey, on the Robert Meek farm, at Fairbrook, for the last time as he is to move to Tyrone on the 1st to engage in the marble business.

Henry Bloom, one of our young men of promise and ability, moved onto the Brown plantation at Pennsylvania Furnace last Monday with the intention of raising blooded stock and big crops. Hope he will succeed.

Jacob M. Kepler is once more home from Hot Springs, in Arkansas, where he has been spending the winters for many years. He is so much better that he is able to walk without a cane and thinks a few more seasons will cure him entirely.

Will Wagner, as jolly a man as ever engaged in the butchering business, passed through town Saturday on his way to the Bidle Kipple. Before returning to his shop at Kipple he will spend several days at his former home in Pennsylvania.

Lincoln Musser, of Fillmore, passed through our town, Sunday last, handling the lines over a fine Cleveland bay so dexterously that he evidently has gone into the thoroughbred business for good. Lincoln always did display good judgment in horse flesh as well as farm implements, that would sell and satisfy, but his present roaster is the beauty.

Last Saturday evening when the 1st train came in A. J. Tate handed over the books and keys of the station agent to the railroad officials and stepped down and out of that position. He has filled it so obligingly and efficiently, ever since the road was completed, that the public as well as the company were loath to part with him. He insisted on resigning though and J. H. Ward was selected as his successor. The choice is a good one as J. H. has had considerable experience along that line and is capable of putting it into practical use.

One day last week while Mrs. Amelia Heverly, of Scotia, was preparing dinner she attempted to lift the lid off an air tight pot in which she was cooking beans, and just as she raised the lid the contents exploded and flew in all directions. She was so badly burned and scalded about the head and face that by the time her husband arrived at home her eyes were completely swollen shut. Her little daughter, who was near was also badly burned but Dr. Koontz was able to relieve their sufferings.

A HAPPY EVENT.—One of the prettiest social events of the lenten season was celebrated yesterday at the country home of Isaac Beck, near Centre Line, when Miss Elizabeth Rosecrans was united in marriage to Dr. J. Baker Krebs, of Northumberland. Owing to the recent death of the groom's mother the invitations were limited to the more intimate friends of the two families. But a number of guests witnessed the ceremony which was performed by the Rev. J. P. Dunlap, just at 12 o'clock. The bride party consisted of the bride and groom; the maid of honor, Miss Lucy Krebs, the groom's sister and the best man Daniel Beck. After the ceremony and congratulations a delicious breakfast was served and the many rich and useful presents inspected. Later in the day a reception was given them at the Krebs home, on Main street, and from there they will go direct to Northumberland where the groom has rooms already furnished and where has succeeded in building up a good dental practice. He is a son of the late J. F. Krebs and is one of our boys of whom we are justly proud. He is a graduate of the dental department of the University of Pennsylvania and is ambitious as well as popular. His bride is a fair young woman, vivacious and attractive with a host of friends who wish them joy and prosperity.

Centre Hall.

W. A. Odenkirk is acting assistant at the Millerstown railroad station.

H. G. Strohmer, the marble man, made a trip to Boshlog, Pine Grove and State College, looking up his interests.

Mrs. Harry Swabb, of this place, was taken ill suddenly Wednesday. Mrs. L. Musser, east of town, was also confined to bed during last week.

An infant child of Robert Bloom living with his father-in-law, Daniel Houser, died last week. The babe had been ailing since its birth and rest came only in death.

Miss Elsie Barr, of Tyrone, is the guest of Mrs. Lyeurgus Lingle, at Earlstown. Mrs. Lingle had been ill for some time but has recovered, as has also her sister, Mrs. Sallie Kline.

James Durst, who had the misfortune of being seriously hurt by his team running off at the railroad station last week, is recovering under the careful attention of his physician, Dr. Glosser.

Miss Emily Alexander is instructing a number of young people in music. She is a graduate of Boston University and her rare talent as an instructor is being more and more appreciated.

Dr. Riter demonstrated concisely last week that he was getting older but well alive and equal to the occasion. There is much resemblance between one of his punches and the kick of a mule.

Ezra Auman, of Millheim, was up in town Tuesday driving a fine team of horses. He is a son of miller John S. Auman, of this place, and is the owner of a well equipped mill at Millheim.

"The Spy of Gettysburg" is the name of a pretty little drama of four acts that will be produced by the Centre Hall theatrical company in Grange Arcadia on the evening of March 24th. You can't afford to miss this play.

Charles McClellan is another young man who has secured a position at the asylum for insane at Warren, and went to that place Monday. He makes the sixth person to go to that institution from this place as an employee.

Preparations are being made for the County Sunday-school convention to be held here next Tuesday. An effort will be put forth to make the sessions interesting and instructive and the delegates and others in attendance made feel at home.

Oscar Homan is the new tenant on the Chas. Krapp farm east of town. John Q. A. Kennedy, of Johnstown, will occupy the old Lingle homestead, near this place, which the family inherited, and superintend the farming himself.

Harry Clementine, who has been in training at the Wilson creamery at this place for some time, on Tuesday went to Pennsylvania Furnace where he will take charge of a creamery recently leased by the Wilsons. Young Clementine is abundantly qualified to fill the position and he will deal squarely with his customers.

Michael Shafer, Esq., who makes his home with his son B. F. Shafer, near this place, on Monday started for Cedarville, Stephenson county, Illinois, where he has a son and brother living. Mr. Shafer may stay west until fall, but he can be depended upon to be at home before the fall election comes around, because he declares it the duty of every man to exercise his franchise power at that time.

B. D. Brisbin shipped a car of fat bulls and steers to the eastern market Tuesday morning. Some of the animals were fine specimens. D. C. Keller the same morning shipped a car of milk cows, and Wednesday morning W. J. Mitterling sent to the east a fine lot of milk cows. While this is sending cattle away at a pretty lively rate, the occurrence of shipping three cars of cattle in two days is nothing unusual for this place.

The Sankey brothers at Potters Mills had a fine pair of Holstein-Friesian calves—bull and heifer—shipped them from Oswego county, New York. That will be the foundation stock upon which the Sankeys hope to build a typical dairy herd. S. W. Smith also bought his second registered short-horn bull. The animal has both Bates and Cruikshank blood in him; or, in other words, represents the dairy and beef types of the short-horn breeds. The first bull is a registered Cruikshank, in which Squire John G. Dauberman has an interest. The Cruikshank will be ready for service after the first of May.

The order of Modern Woodmen recently organized here is adding new members rapidly. This order gives the town four splendid fraternal organizations, namely, Free Masons, Odd Fellows, Patrons of Husbandry and Woodmen, all of which have the most comfortable quarters and are in the best financial condition. To these may also be added Samuel Shannon Post and Sons of Veterans, which are also stirring orders.

The borough audit met Monday evening and their report shows that during the year, $1300.00 were paid out upon borough orders, and a balance of $250.00 in treasurer Mingo's hands. To this latter sum should be added $107.00 in the hands of ex-treasurer Goodhart, which the auditors sur-charged to him. The total poor expenses for the year were $48.00, which includes $25.00 paid for rent.

B. D. Brisbin bought the old Presbyterian church at Centre Hall. The fixtures were sold to various other persons.

Dr. Glosser encountered the real thing Monday afternoon at the railroad station when he collided with a vicious bull weighing about sixteen hundred pounds. The bull was being driven to the stock yard by his owner, Robert Musser, of Spring Mills and several others, and it appears he wasn't ready to take a trip on the cars. He was greatly provoked for some reason or other just as Dr. Glosser reached the railroad crossing on foot. The sight of a man who dared to cross his path, although the doctor had no knowledge that the brute was on a rampage, made the beast furious, and bellowing as a bull only can when enraged, he made a mighty rush at his victim. The doctor, who at that moment realized his peril, made a vain effort to reach a place of safety, but in doing so tripped and fell. At this instant the bull reached him, but the brute's speed was too great to stop instantly and so ran over the object of his assault, luckily not tramping on his body, but in some way the doctor was cut about the face and forehead, which was probably done by the heavy chain attached to the animal. It was a narrow escape and all are glad to have the affair pass off without the loss of life, for the station, it is said, is fatal.

Finding that he was master of the situation, the bull decided to return to his home at Spring Mills and preferring a short-cut through fences that were too much trouble to jump. A lot of men and boys attempted to surround him in a field, but no one would stand up to his charges and he was permitted to take his own way. Before reaching the station the beast compelled one of Musser's sons to climb a tree to get out of his way, and outside of being on his back a tree was the only safe place and of the two locations a tree would be decidedly preferable.

After the bull's escapade at the station a question arose: What would have been the result had it been Dr. Lee?

Books, Magazines, Etc.

On March 1st, The Century Co. had sold 200,000 copies of the three books by Rudyard Kipling which bear his imprint—"Captains Courageous" and the first and second "Jungle Books."

Both the January and February St. Nicholas are out of print, the large sale of the two numbers being attributed to the popularity of the new departments, "Nature and Science" and "The St. Nicholas League." Outdoor study and scientific investigation are aided and encouraged in both of these departments, and the youthful readers of the magazine have shown a prompt and hearty appreciation of the opportunities thus thrown open to them. Various prizes are offered, to stimulate their interest in the tasks assigned them.

Women Get Rich as Well as Men.

How One Woman Makes $18.00 to $40.00 a Week. Many women say it is hard to get along in the world because they do not have the chance to make money that men do. I disagree with them, for I am perfectly independent since starting in business a few months ago, and never make less than $18.00 a week, and often as much as $40.00. I am selling Baird's Non-Alcoholic Flavoring Powders, which are much superior and cheaper than the liquid extracts sold in stores. Before starting I wrote to the Baird Mfg. Co., Baird Building, Pittsburg, Pa., and obtained samples which we tried in cakes, candies, custards, and ice cream at our church sociable. Everything was so delicious that I wrote for the agency at once, and had no trouble in establishing a regular trade with my neighbors, which only occupies the time I can spare from household duties. The manufacturers say they will employ any earnest person, man or woman, who can spare all or part of their time, and I can say I never heard of such an easy way to make money. MRS. W.—45-11-13L
