Delightful Metaphors.

Wisconsin is still lamenting the death of one of her ablest editors, a literary genius of Irish birth, whose specialty was the mixture of metaphors. He first achieved fame by this stinging reply to an offending contemporary: "Thus the black lie, issuing from his base throat, becomes a boomerang to his hand, and he is hoist by his own petard and finds himself a marked man." burg, Pa. In good time he went the way of the world. In a little antemortem obituary which he left on his desk he said: "We feel that our race is almost run. Like a Is twenty-eight hundred miles from Seattle, via tired runner, we shall soon cross the harbor bar, and, casting aside the harness, shall lie down upon that bourn Trom whence no traveler returns."—Collier's Weekly.

In the Successfull Treatment of Dealuess, and others. A RECORD OF SUCCESS. For several years the people of the State of Pennsylvania have been experiencing revelation after revelation, caused by the results obtained by an eminent medical scientist in the treatment of eye and ear dis-eases and chronic ailments. The deaf have been made to hear, the blind have had their sight restored, and the afflicted have been cured of dread disease in all its forms. The newspapers have recited romances in the cold facts, narrat-ing the details of these wonderful cures. These innovations are the results of the latest dis-coveries of a man eminent in the search of knowledge in the field of science. Dr. Salm, professor of a new method of curing deafness and catarrh, and probably the most successful living specialist in chronic and special diseases of men and women, has decided to locate in Bellefonte, and the people of this city and sur-rounding country will now be afforded the ad-vantage of all the skill that modern medical skill can offer.

skill can offer. NOT MIRACLES, BUT SCIENCE. Dr. Salm does not pretend to work miracles, though what seems almost such, nor does he pretend to cure everything, but he does cure every case he un-dertakes. He makes a thorough examination in every case, and if incurable will say so. This is the reason for his most remarkable success-he knows what he can do. The Doctor finds about 90 per cent. of all cases of deafness amen-able to treatment, and many cases of other chronic diseases that have been pronounced incurable yield at the hands of this skilled physician.

LIMITS HIS WORK TO THE EYE, EAR, NOSE, THROAT AND LUNGS.

THROAT AND LUNGS. Dr. Salm belongs to the up-to-date class of medi-cal men, who believe it is impossible for one man to know it all, and he advocates the ap-portioning of the different branches of medical science amongst those who are willing to devote themselves solely to their respective special-ties. This means a thoroughness which, with all that is now known in medicine, would be impossible to the physician who undertakes to master it all. "Better be master of one thing," says Dr. Salm, "than a jack-at-all-trades and master at none."

A MASTER IN HIS LINE.

A MASTER IN HIS LINE. That Dr. Salm is a master of the branch he has chosen for his life work is shown by the results he has attained. He not only performs all operations known to these organs, but he is the inventor of several surgical appliances, now generally adopted, and the originator of meth-ods of treatment before unknown, and which, in some respects, revolutionize the science of medicine in these branches.

WHAT HE DOES.

WHAT HE DOES. Dr. Salm makes a specialty of Catarrhal Diseases In this changeable climate but few people are not afflicted with this disease, and in many it assumes alarming forms. Many cases of long standing troubles in the head, throat or bronchial tubes which until now have been simply annoy-ing and not seemingly dangerous, have become more marked, and the result is a stopped-up-head, or a constant tickling in the throat, with a cough that gradually works down on the lungs. lungs.

IMPORTANCE OF TIMELY TREATMENT. IMPORTANCE OF TIMELY TREATMENT. Fortunately people are realizing the importance of early attention to catarrhal disease, that by proper timely treatment the worst is prevented. But too often still it is neglected and it is not out of place here to call attention to this mat-ter. If you have any symptoms of catarrh, go at once to a specialist and have it cured. It can be done and save much trouble in the end, for it is a progressive disease, aggravated and made worse each succeeding season.
