

.....THIS IS FOR YOU!.....

For People who Value the All Mighty Dollar.
For People who Care to Dress Well.
For People who care to Save Money.
For every Man, Boy or Child who Wears Clothes.

We want your trade. We want it bad enough to give you inducements such as you will find no place in Centre County.

.....INDUCEMENTS THAT MERIT YOUR PATRONAGE.....

A Stock, an assortment Five Times Larger than you will see any place in the county. Is it not worth something to you to know that you have made your selection from a showing of Clothing that embraces every good style in the market.

.....Not a Few, But All. Not a Single Good Style Missing.....

You must admit it is some satisfaction to be able to buy what you want, not to be obliged or persuaded into buying substitutes. Enormous Purchases, orders that would be considered large for the biggest dealers in Penn'a. all placed before advance makes it possible for us to sell at the old prices less the saving that big cash buying is honestly entitled to. 30 per cent. saving on all Clothing purchases you make of us is a very modest estimate.

In Many Instances You will Find Our Prices Fully One-half Less Than Others.

This is an advantage you certainly should not overlook. Many years experience in catering to your Clothing wants, a thorough knowledge of Styles and Makes, assuring you the Cream of America's best Clothing Makers from which to make your selection,

Goods that Fit Perfectly.

Goods that are Made by Tailors of the Highest Class.

Goods that will Undoubtedly Meet with your Approval in Every Way.

Girl Dancer Ends a Seven Week's Trance.

After lying nearly seven weeks in a trance, caused by excessive indulgence in dancing, Pauline Fitzgerald, of New Haven, Conn., awoke on Wednesday and asked for food.

"I have had such a nice dream" she said. "I thought I was walking for hours and hours. I never seemed to tire. But now that I am awake I feel tired and hungry."

During the seven weeks of her trance, while all efforts to awaken her by rough physical usage, hypnosis and the playing of dance music near her cot were unavailing, Miss Fitzgerald's fast was almost absolute. Only small quantities of liquid nourishment could be administered.

When her deep sleep overtook her the girl had a record of eighty-seven dances. From the last she returned to her home in apparent health, but on the following morning nothing could disturb her slumbers. She was taken to the Springside Home, where Yale specialists in neurotic diseases made a study of her case.

Electricity had no effect on her. Waltzes and two-steps played upon the piano caused her to move slightly, but that was all. When she finally awoke she was so weak that her physicians would allow her to talk but little. To a reporter she said:

"I can't realize that I have been asleep over six weeks. It seems only like a long night. I have no recollection of my dreams except that I seemed to be always whirling to the sound of music, pleasantly and without fatigue."

After taking liquid food and stimulant the girl again fell asleep. Her attendants were able to awaken her without trouble the next day.

At a public dinner given to Gen. Harrison, when he was a candidate for President of the United States, one of his guests, rather conspicuously "drank to his health."

The general pledged his toast by drinking water. Another gentleman offered a toast and said: "General, will you favor me by drinking a glass of wine?"

The general begged to be excused. He was again urged to join in a glass of wine. This was too much. He rose from his seat and said:

"Gentleman, I have twice refused to partake of the wine cup. I hope that will be sufficient. Though you press the matter ever so much, not a drop shall pass my lips. I made a resolve when I started in life that I would avoid strong drink. That vow I have never broken. I am one of a class of seventeen young men who graduated at college together. The other sixteen members of my class now fill drunkard's graves, and all from the pernicious habit of wine drinking. I owe all my health, my happiness and prosperity to that resolution. Would you urge me to drink it now?"—Occident.

A Pair of Rubbers.

Mrs. Hyapp—That woman next door is a nosy old thing. She's always standing in her dining room peeping into our windows.

Mr. Hyapp—How do you know, dear?

Mrs. Hyapp—Goodness! Don't you suppose I can see her every time I look in there?

Toothpick Caused Death.

Peter McCue, a street paver, went to Bellevue hospital, N. Y., Saturday complaining of pains in his abdomen. He died four days later, under treatment for peritonitis. Prof. A. Hunter McAlphin made an autopsy on the body and found that a toothpick had penetrated one of the larger intestines. Two months ago he had swallowed a toothpick.

Suffering Puerto Rico.

Dispatches from Puerto Rico show that the condition of the island which welcomed our troops so enthusiastically is most deplorable. "There is no money to plant crops or to pay laborers, thousands of whom are on the point of starvation. The local press expresses the opinion that the conditions were better during the darkest days of the Spanish regime."

Imagine that, and try to put yourself in the place of the American citizen who is willing to have that shame remain upon the American flag because Puerto Ricans were allowed to sell their products freely in our markets, as the president has recommended, his profits might be diminished by their competition.

Suppose that when we were expanding so blithely in August, 1898—when the Puerto Ricans were scattering flowers before our invading soldiers and shouting "Vivan los Americanos!"—some cynical, unpatriotic, small American had said: "What fools! These people have seen their best days. Spain has been their true benefactor. Spain has made them prosperous. Under our rule their industries will decay, their laborers will starve, their crops will rot on their wharves, and we shall let them go to ruin, so that they may not bother us in our markets." What should we have said to that base libeler of this country?

The present condition of Puerto Rico should have been absolutely incredible and inconceivable to Americans of two years ago. We thought we knew our own hearts, and we should have said with entire confidence that wherever our flag went it would go as a messenger of benediction. Has a year and a half of empire stripped us of all the fine feelings of humanity with which we went into the war for Cuban liberty and turned us into a race of mercenary oppressors?—Philadelphia North American, Rep.

Between the civilizing expansion of Jefferson and the brutal imperialism of McKinley there is a difference as great as well, as great as the difference between the two men. There is no Democrat who opposes imperialism as McKinley seeks to introduce it who would not support expansion as Jefferson inaugurated it.—Bourke Cochran.

And so this "criminal war," as Chamberlain himself described it in prophetic years ago, is to go on, with all its "appalling misery and devastation." England at last proclaims that her purpose is the extinction of the republic. And no voice in all the world—not even that of the great republic, sympathizer hitherto with every struggling people's fight for liberty—is raised to avert or to mitigate this century's crowning crime against the rights of man!—New York World.
