FARM NOTES.

July is an excellent month for introducing queens into the hives, and they can be procured at less cost now than at any other time. By procuring an Italian queen the black bees will after a while become extinct and the colony consist entirely of Italian bees. The Italian variety can work on deeper blossoms than the black bees and are less aggressive.

A manure pit at this season, into which all the liquids from the barn or stable can be drained, will not only assist in preserving the manure, but will prevent the accumulation of matter that quickly decomposes. As ammonia is rapidly formed when the conditions are warm it is favorable, the thorough drainage of the stables will greatly promote the comfort of stock.

The animal that suffers more than any other from the direct rays from the sun in summer is the hog; yet hog pens are usually the most uncomfortable places in which hogs can be confined, as they must go under shelter for shade, the pens then prevent free access of air if they are close. If a number of hogs are together the animal heat of the bodies increases the difficulty, and the fatter the hogs the greater their sufferings. They require no shelter at this season, except a covering for shade, and to protect against storms, the pens must be dry, and an abundance of fresh water should be within convenient access.

The farm which Joseph Gilliland, formerly of this county, E. I. Gilliland, of Pottersdale, and Joseph Smith, of Karlsruhe recently purchased in Delaware, is reported to be one of the finest in the State. The farm contains 215 acres, is finely located, convenient to large towns and has a railroad station. Splendid buildings, seven room house and large barns. Beautiful shade around the dwelling. Has thirty-five hundred peach trees in bearing. Seven hundred apple trees, seven hundred cherry trees. The farm is adapted for fruit, grain and stock raising, being well watered.

The blackberry crop is being harvested, and it will be but a short time when the fields will be left until the time arrives for cutting out the old canes. Considering the small proportion of labor usually bestowed on blackberries, they give good profits, harvesting and shipping the berries being the most profitable work in connection with the crop. There are several reforms in the production of blackberries that could be carried out with advantage. When young plants are put out so as to permit of cultivation both ways, they should be allowed to fill the rows with plants. There will be fewer plants, but the work of cultivation will be done more thoroughly and larger crops secured, especially if fertilizer is applied and the plants well worked before spring. One grower finds it an advantage to sow cow peas in the rows, which are turned under when the pods begin to fill out. Rye or crimson clover is then seeded, which is also turned under in the spring, the winter crops being used as a covering for the land.

I do not believe that a good calf can be raised in milk, says a correspondent of the Rural New Yorker, and in these days, when good cows are so highly valued, it seems a piece of the worst kind of shortsightedness and mismanagement to try to produce a first class cow from a calf stunted in the beginning of its life. It may appear like economy to take milk from the calf and sell it to the creamery, these factories or milk stations, but it is a poor economy. The cows of the future demand that the calves of to-day be well nourished. Ten or twelve pounds of new milk daily will carry a calf nicely until it is ten days or two weeks old. Then if the milk is made into butter, there is skim milk to feed. Change from whole to skim milk gradually and at the same time supply the fat by feeding corn meal, making the calf eat dry. Later add some oats, ground preferred, but whole if ground ones are not obtainable, and bran for middlings. If the milk of the dairy goes to a cheese factory, feed whole milk until the calf is at least a month old. Then feed sweet whey, but the sour stuff which is left out at the bottom of the cheese factories. Feed in small quantities at first and increase gradually while the milk is decreased. At the same time feed some corn, composed of luscious meal, bran, middlings or oats and a little corn meal. If the milk is sold outright from the farm and nothing brought back, then keep the calf until it is at least a year old enough to thrive on hay, grain and water and see what a fine calf it is! It is a good practice in ordinary dairies, where the milk supply is short, to raise old enough calves to keep the herd up, and those only from the best cows, and give them extra care.

I consider red clover, either the medium or Mammoth varieties, the best to use for hay for either colts or calves, as they are growing and require a feed rich in both forming material, says a correspondent of the Prairie Farmer. It should be cut when the first brown heads appear, as the heads and leaves do not break off so easily and the hay is eaten up clean. For cows and horses I would prefer shredded corn fodder, clover, millet or came in the order mentioned. For the small farmer I consider clover and timothy hay an expensive feed. To harvest two tons of hay per acre requires ground rich enough to produce 50 bushels of corn and 1 1/2 tons of fodder. This crop if rightfully handled will bring in more dollars than the two tons of hay. Milk cows do well on this fodder, but of course should have a little grain of some kind added. For work horses I would prefer shredded corn fodder to hay, as it is slightly loosening, and there is no danger of heaves. It takes up very little barn room, and what little is thrown out as bedding is easily shoveled out with the cleanings of the stable. Sown in rows drilled thick in 30 inch rows and cultivated as a crop of corn is perhaps best for the fodder crop. This crop either shredded or threshed, is an ideal feed for the production of milk and butter. It can be cut with an ordinary grain binder and if put in small shocks will cure out perfectly. Any farmer who is short on hay will be sure to adopt this as a regular crop after once trying it. Millet is a valuable feed for all stock if cut when the first few heads turn yellow. We have read of a great many objections to millet, especially as feed for horses, but after feeding from 2 to 15 acres of it yearly for 20 years I have yet to have any trouble with it.

People who are discreet have eyes, but see not, and ears but hear not. The wise man makes hay while the sun shines, but the fool sows wild oats by gashlight.

The Great China Wall.

The great wall of China was recently measured by Mr. Unthank, an American engineer. His measurements gave the height as eighteen feet. Every few hundred yards there is a tower twenty-five feet high. For 1,300 miles the walls run over plains and mountains, every here and there are great gates and the rest of the structure is solid masonry the foundation being solid granite.

Medical.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS.

BECAUSE IT'S FOR ONE THING ONLY, AND BELLEFONTE IS LEARNING THIS.

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success. Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only. They're for sick kidneys. They cure backache, every kidney ill. Here is Bellefonte evidence to prove it:

Mrs. J. Cowher, of Bishop street, says: "I was very bad with my back and head. I suffered pain in both sides and was very restless besides being so tired all the time that I could hardly keep myself about. I was very lame across my kidneys and bending over or being on my feet much was extremely painful. Reading about Doan's Kidney Pills and seeing them so highly recommended for these troubles I procured them from F. Potts Green's drug store. They gave me positive relief, caused me to sleep well, stopped the pains, removed the lameness and invigorated me generally."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co. Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name Doan's and no substitute. 45-12

WHAT THEY SAY IN BELLEFONTE ABOUT DR. STITES.

References to Bellefonte people concerning Dr. Stites' work—it is not the purpose of Dr. Stites to thrust notoriety upon his patients by publishing far and wide their names and all about their troubles, and in no cases are names made public without express permission. In order, however, that those who wish personally investigate his work and learn the facts directly from the mouths of persons with no interest whatever in his business, except that prompted by gratitude for what he has done for them—well known and respected residents of our city—write the following:

David City, Neb., April 1, 1900.
Genesee Pure Food Co., Le Roy, N. Y.: Gentlemen—I must say in regard to GRAIN-O that there is nothing better or healthier. We have used it for years. My mother was a great coffee drinker. He was taken sick and the doctor said coffee was the cause of it, and told us to use GRAIN-O. We got a package but did not like it at first, but now would not be without it. My father has been well ever since we started using it. Yours truly, LULIE SCHEIDT, 45-27

Well-known Resident of Nittany Speaks of Dr. Stites' Treatment.
For a long time I have been suffering from Catarrh. Had that disagreeable dropping in the back part of my throat with hawking and spitting continually. Was also bothered with quite a cough and roaring and buzzing noises in my head. Caught cold easily and felt wretched all over. Since being under Dr. Stites I have improved rapidly and feel positive he can cure me. I heartily recommend him to all suffering with catarrh. JOEL TRESSLER, Nittany, Pa.

It gives me great pleasure to add my name to the large list of Dr. Stites' grateful patients, thinking by so doing I shall be helping some discouraged sufferer. I was very much troubled with chronic sore throat and hoarseness, which became so bad that I was compelled to quit singing. Had an annoying cough, and suffered considerable pain. These symptoms have almost entirely disappeared, and I am again able to use my voice. I gladly recommend Dr. Stites to all suffering as I was. Mrs. E. E. ARDREY, Bellefonte, Pa.

Mrs. Samuel Thomas wishes to say a Word in Gratitude to Dr. Stites.
When I went to Dr. Stites 3 weeks ago life was to me a weary burden. I had catarrh in nose and throat was hawking, spitting and coughing constantly. Any little change in weather caused me to sneeze and I was compelled to quit singing. In stomach a feeling of fullness and distress in stomach after eating. In fact, I was badly run down and very much discouraged when I went to see Dr. Stites. All this is changed now after only 3 weeks treatment I feel stronger and better—my appetite is returning and distress after eating has gone—my cough is gone and my entire system seems to have changed for the better. Mrs. SAMUEL THOMAS, Spring Creek.
