A freight wreck at Woodland early Monday morning on the N. Y. C. & H. R. railroad, delayed the arrival of the Patton train until 12:30 p. m.

A festival was held in the public building Tuesday evening and was largely attended. The proceeds were for the benefit of the repairs on the M. E. church.

Corporal Robt. Wigham, of the Fifteenth infantry, now during garrison duty at Buffalo, is visiting friends in town. "Bob" is one of the very few who enlisted during the late unpleasantness, who remained in the service.

Levi M. Peters, has been added to the clerical force in the N. Y. C. & H. R. railroad station. Mr. Peters has been afflicted with rheumatism for the past two years, which incapacitated him for the arduous duties of passenger conductor, which position he filled for many years.

Thomas Eddings, employed outside at Ophir Mine, near town, was seriously, if not fatally, injured on Friday of last week. He had gone in the mine for a ride, and when on the way out, on a loaded trip of coal cars, was knocked off and under the cars, a number of which passed over his left leg. The doctors in attendance at first examination held out but little hope of saving his leg, but after a more thorough investigation, concluded it was not necessary to amputate. The patient is doing well at this writing.

The engine house and the blacksmith shop at Acme Slope colliery, located about four miles from town, were completely destroyed by fire Monday evening at 8:35. The fire evidently caught from sparks from the boiler furnace, which was attended by two night firemen who do the pumping water from the mines at night. When first discovered the roof was aflame, and ready to fall in any moment. The boilers were filled with water, and consequently were intact. The alarm was telephoned here, firemen were called, and fire engine dispatched to the scene, which arrived at 11 p. m., but too late to save the structures, however, in time to save considerable property near the fire.

The mines are owned and operated by the O. P. Jones estate, managed by W. P. Duncan. Mr. Duncan was at the fire looking after their interest. The loss will not be so severe if the machinery proves to be all right, which as yet has not been determined.

Pine Grove Mention.

Mrs. Mary E. Stover, of Bellwood, is visiting at J. G. Heberling's on Main street.

Frank Stover and family, of Altoona, are at Mrs. Judge Smith's home on Water street for their annual outing.

Mrs. Eliza, wife of Jacob Markle, has been quite ill at their home just west of town, but is slowly improving.

Next January our Ferguson Twp. will be on the Centennial list. We are for a Centennial next June. Whoo'er up boys.

Ex-Judge Krebs came over from his Clearfield home to visit his sick brother Levi who, we are sorry to say died early yesterday morning.

Benner Wilson, one of Half-Moon's representative and prosperous farmers, accompanied by Miss Frank Thompson Sundayed with Charley Smith in the Glades.

A basket picnic is held for August 11th at Gatesburg. Judge Love, Senator Heinle, and others will speak. Refreshments, fun and music. Everybody is invited.

The Misses Dreese, of Lemont, were royally entertained at their uncle Joe. B. Ard's beautiful home by the churches, where everybody is greeted with a royal welcome.

Grandmother Esther Grazier is quite ill at her Gatesburg home. She is one of the oldest and most respected ladies in this section. She is just breaking down with the weight of years.

We are sorry to note the serious illness of H. A. Hartswick, who is ill with stomach trouble. On Sunday his family were called to his bed-side. At this writing he is reported some better.

C. M. Fry, A. S. Bailey, G. W. Ward, all Pittsburgers are home to witness Centre county's big Centennial. Miss Bella C. Fry, of Reedsville, is spending a week at her old home here.

A car load of crushed lime stone is on the siding here for the purpose of completing a walk from the R. R. station to town. Supt. Thomas is also having an additional freight room connected to the station, beside other repairs.

Our base ball boys are blowing up their muscles for a game with the Bellefonte team next Saturday in the Bailey field, just west of town. A big crowd is expected to witness the sport. The visiting team will be brought here on a hack and will be quartered at the St. Elmo.

Rev. Aikens gave notice to his congregation last Sunday that he would be absent for the next two Sundays. Next Sunday he will install Rev. Genshart as pastor of the Lutheran church at Aronsburg, and the following Sunday he will install Rev. Stock-welter, as pastor of the Marysville charge.

The late showers have revived pastures, also corn which promises to be a good crop. David Otto, of Half Moon, transacted business here last week. He had with him John Pennington one of Pittsburg's master mechanics who came to attend our big blow out.

Miss Elsie, daughter of our former townman Jacob Musser, but now of Oranville, Ill., is east on a visit and is dividing her time between relatives here and at Wolf's Store. Her mother's maiden name was Wolf.

Luther Musser closed his law office in Missouri to come to his old home and witness the 100th anniversary. He will remain for some time to try and greet at least most of his old time friends, who will quickly note his gray locks.

Gideon Weiland and Simon Ward have the contract for erecting a hydraulic cider press in the old Baileyville mill basement. The upper story has been repaired for chipping grain so that our farmers can have their grain ground and apple juice all on the same trip. Warren Ward means business.

Davis Henry, candidate for associate judge on the Democratic ticket last year over in Mifflin county, is here for a few days as the guest of J. H. Miller. Mr. Henry is practically out of politics but will likely get his knife out of his boots on election day and cut and slash some of the 408 who caused his defeat.

Mrs. Henrietta Dale was called to Mifflin county last Saturday to the bedside of her older brother John Rutherford, who had been ill for some time, but whose spirit had fled to him who gave it ere she arrived. His burial took place on Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Dale was accompanied by her daughter Anna and returned home on Monday.

On last Friday evening about forty jolly folks swooped down on Prof. J. A. Weaver's home in the shape of a surprise party that was planned and carried out to a T by Misses Bertha and Agnes Campbell. The evening was spent in merry-making and good music, as well as splendid refreshments that the party had prepared and taken along.

The old H. R. Smith home on Main street was the scene of a happy family reunion last Saturday. Those who were present were Luther and wife and little Henry Rossman, of Johnston; Wm. H., and wife, of Spring Mills; Emanuel and wife, Michael and Mrs. Dr. Alexander, of Potters Mills, also a younger sister Emma, of Will county, Ohio, who has not been home since her childhood. The only vacant chair in all that large family that on all former occasions has been filled was that of "Pocohontas John," who on account of pressing business could not be present.

J. H. Ward has in his possession several valuable old relics which would have been very acceptable acquisitions at the Centennial exhibition. A first Lieutenant's commission on which are the autographs of Gov. Jas. Heister and counter signed by Andrew Gregg Adj't. General. Dated Sept. 2nd 1821, to Benjamin Knaus of the Eighth company of the Forty-eighth Penna. militia. The old paper is in a good state of preservation. The Lieut. was Mrs. Ward's great grandfather and lived to be almost a centenarian. He also has in his possession a copy of the Danville Intelligencer containing the death of President Jas. K. Polk.

Our former townman Robt. Furey Sample, mine host of the East End hotel, of Uniontown, Pa., was here to swell the Centennial crowd. He was accompanied by his excellent wife and spent Saturday and Sunday noting the improvements the last twenty years have brought to our beautiful town. Indeed he was so much impressed that he was almost induced to purchase his old parental home on the corner, where his father did a land office business away back in the fifties. Robert is doing a fine hotel business as proprietor of a hotel where he has under his employ nine girls and six men. He is identified with the Democratic party and some day we expect to address him as Hon. R. F. Sample, as a member of the lower house from that county, which is at present Republican but its one thousand majority wouldn't be much for Bob to overcome.

At a school board meeting held last Saturday in the school building here. The first business before the board was that of abandoning the Pennsylvania Furnace school, and establishing a high school in the old Academy building. The following teachers were elected for the ensuing term.

Pine Grove 1st grade, M. E. Heberling; Pine Grove 2nd grade, Wm. Keller; Pine Grove 3rd grade, Bessie Walker; Kepler school, Nannie Heberling; Glade school, Alfred Bowersox; Centre school, Daniel Koch; Tadpole school, Maggie Keichline; Gatesburg school, Luther Fry; Maringo school, Annie Heberling; White Hall school, Sadie Keichline; Oak Grove school, A. J. Tate; Krumrine school, N. N. Hartswick; Pine Hall school, A. W. McCormick; Branch school, Kate Weiland; Baileyville school, no selection. Schools will open on the first Monday of September.

Smith Bros., of Spring Mills, placed some furniture in town last week.

Harry Rishel and Geo. Kern have gone to Winber, where they are working at the carpenter's trade.

Mr. Yearick's new Peerless threshing machine has arrived and by the work so far gives satisfaction.

Lewis Smith, of Newport, Perry county, is here and expects to spend the remainder of the summer with friends and relatives.

It seems to do some of our Republican friends a great amount of good in not being required to do so much McKinley-Roosevelt talking since the difficulties in China.

The re-opening of the Evangelical church, commonly known as Yearick's church, took place on Sunday the 22nd. Rev. Gross, of Loganton, preached the dedicatory sermon. The collections in general were good. Enough was pledged to defray the expenses of remodeling the church.

High Valley

Plenty of rain and cooler weather.

Sunday is no day for such work as berry picking and we would advise all who do such work to desist.

Two of the Snyder boys went to Jersey Shore in search of work some time ago, but they are both back again.

Mrs. Chamberlain writes from West Virginia that the most welcome visitor is the WATCHMAN, and that each one wants to read it first.

Reuben Eisenhuth has returned to his home at Ingley. Boys, take my advice, stay where you are near to your mother's good cooking.

There are rumors of an approaching wedding, and after the wedding a dance and after the dance the Georgetown scribe will feel like selling his legs.

John Galer and the real estate agent are loading a car of paper wood, but when they will get it off no one can tell. They expect to get it loaded sometime this month.

Dr. Frank Barker expects to give a lecture on the diseases of horses soon. Everyone had better come, as what he doesn't know about it isn't worth asking anyone else.

We have met the scribes from Coburn and Georgetown and henceforth must regard them as first class fellows, for both of them can take jokes without getting angry and are as good fellows as you could care to meet.

BOY'S EDITION.

INTERESTING TOPICS FOR BOYS AND PROUD MOTHERS.

Our space this week will be devoted entirely to Boy's Clothing and Furnishing Goods.

We will try and tell you how to dress him so that he will be suitable for all occasions.

WEEKLY DRESS.

MORNING WEAR:—This is the hardest part for mothers because the boys are continually getting in all sorts of dirt. Therefore the proper dress is a cheap shirt waist @ 19c. and overalls @ 25c. and hose from 9c. to 19c. Or if the combination will not do use a dark colored wash suit from 39c. up.

AFTERNOON DRESS:—Wash trousers from 12c. to 19c. with a pretty colored blouse, juvenile and stiff bosom shirt waist from 19c. to 88c.

CORRECT ATTIRE FOR EVENING:—A light colored wash Sailor Suit or Blouse suit.

In place of the regular shield we have colored and white bosoms to take their place and which cost 25c.

SUNDAY ATTIRE.

MORNING:—A light colored Wash Suit.

AFTERNOON:—White pleated or Blouse waist with dark woolen trousers.

EVENING:—Woolen Vestee or Blouse Suits only.

Our line of Wash Suits in light and dark colors with white and dark collars and cuffs. Price at the beginning of the season 50c. to $1.50 now 39c. to 98c.

VESTEE SUITS.—We have a large and pretty line of vestee suits with separate fancy vests. The suits are in blue serges, black chevots, cassimeres and worsted.

BLOUSE SUITS.—In all wool blouse suits we have them in many different styles and qualities of blue serge, also some red stripe serges, checks and tans, all gotten up in the very best style.

UNDERWEAR AND HOSIERY.—Short and long sleeve Balbrigan shirts and knickerbocker drawers now sell at 39c. a suit. For hose the "Iron Clad" is made with double knees and soles now 19c. They save mother's patience. Others at 9c. and 14c.

HATS AND CAPS, ETC.—Here the boys will find variety and assortment in abundance.

HATS:—Straw rough rider hats at 30c. formerly 50c. and felt rough-riders 40c.

CAPS.—in all shapes, colors and styles @ 19c. and 39c.

YES HE IS ABOUT DRESSED NOW.

Anything of the above we carry a full line of. Bring him in and we will dress him right up-to-date at prices that will astonish you. We must give the Boy's a Cut Sale as well as the men. That is our desire for this week.
