Galveston's White City.

Victims of the Storm Huddled in Tents Along the Beach.—The Danger of the Present.—How the Work of the Relief is Being Carried on by the Red Cross Society.—Grievous Funeral Pyres.

A month after the storm the remnant of Galvestonians are really suffering more than in the first days of loss and bewilderment. It is always the same after any great calamity. At first the people were so stunned to realize the full measure of their distress...

People reported the loss of father, mother, wife and children without a tent. There are cases in which from half a dozen to eleven members of one family are dead, but the sole survivor goes calmly about his business.

THE PRESENT DANGER.

For several days chilly winds have been blowing across the Gulf, accompanied by rain and cold weather, which greatly increases the sufferings of the destitute. There is hardly a roof in Galveston that does not let the water in, drenching anew the bedding that has been so laboriously dried...

Train-loads of clothing still continue to pour in upon the Red Cross for distribution, but most of it is old clothes, bedragged finery that which nothing is more inappropriate; and much is so worn and dirty that to offer it is an insult to these unfortunate ladies and gentlemen, who enjoyed all comforts of life until deprived of them in a night.

Galveston's more 'White City' consists of several hundred tents, set up on the beach on the broad swath which the storm swept clean of so many beautiful dwellings. On one side of it is a ridge of debris more than a mile long and from ten to forty feet high—roofs, chimneys, splintered timbers, houses smashed to atoms.

Besides the articles above enumerated, bedsteads, beddings, chairs, tables, stoves, crockery, cutlery, etc., are required sufficient to furnish at least 700 houses in a modest and comfortable manner. One of the best things that has yet been done by the Relief Committee was the setting aside of $10,000 for the purchasing of tools, sewing machines, etc., for persons who can earn their own living, but are now unable to do so for lack of necessary implements.

able to find remnants of their own furniture, and some have made their own dwellings as homelike as possible. Others lost all, but found here and there among the debris a broken table, a chair, and other needed articles, which they have patched up and are using in their temporary abodes.

"I reckon there are a dozen or two skeletons near the bottom. It takes several days, you must be born a body, sick and dead. Yesterday we laid seven corpses on this particular heap, and they are only partially baked by now. To-day we have fired a quarter of a mile distant, where we found a lot of bodies—eleven under one house."

MOUNTAINS OF WRECKAGE. Poor, poor, creatures! Since this hunt in the debris began, upwards of 2,400 bodies have been found, and every day still adds its ghastly quota of from 15 to 30. And mountains of wreckage are yet untouched.

Nearly $900,000 in cash has already been received for the relief of Galveston—not by the Red Cross, but by Governor Sayers, Mayor Jones and others in authority. Of this fund $50,000 has been set aside for repairing the partially wrecked houses, and $100,000 for rebuilding those entirely destroyed.

Miss Barton believes she can secure, by direct contributions, the greater part of the material she needs, and she has issued a detailed appeal therefor. Her appeal—of which five thousand copies have been printed and scattered broadcast—sets forth the fact that this unfortunate seaport lost at least 12,000 persons out of 40,000 in one night of storm.

While the bountiful outpouring of the people's generosity has enabled the Red Cross to meet its emergency, it has not rendered the streets of Galveston partially passable, nothing has yet been done toward reinstating the impoverished survivors in homes where they can escape disease and enjoy a measure of the comforts of which the storm deprived them.

ARTICLES MUCH NEEDED. Besides the articles above enumerated, bedsteads, beddings, chairs, tables, stoves, crockery, cutlery, etc., are required sufficient to furnish at least 700 houses in a modest and comfortable manner.

which ordinarily brings a quarter of that amount—they have now declined almost to the normal scale.

Everywhere the sound of the hammer and trowel is heard, but the laborers are far too few. Every day shows some improvements in the mass of wreckage, but at the present rate of progress, it will take years to dispose of it all and find the last rotting corpse at the bottom of it.

Eager to Punish Tsun. For that Reason the Chinese Emperor Has Changed His Plans and Without Delay Will Return to Peking.—The Report that American Soldiers Were Guilty of Looting Has Finally Been Confirmed. Chaffee Seized $400,000.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Secretary Hay today received through Minister Conger a message stating that as a result of the influences brought to bear upon Emperor Kwang Hsu, and in view of the protection promised by the United States, the Emperor had changed his plans for the immediate future and would at once proceed to Peking, where he will occupy the imperial palace.

While the text of Mr. Conger's dispatch is not made public, it is admitted that it contains the statement that the Emperor's plans include a proviso that he be permitted to take with him his body guard, consisting of 200 of the flower of the Chinese army. The Emperor is expected to arrive at Peking within the present week.

Minister Conger has reported to the State Department, in cablegrams received last week and withheld, that the representatives of the allied powers in Peking will be satisfied with the plan of the Emperor if carried out, and that the execution of Tsun will serve to hush up any further inquiries as to his accomplices until the question of indemnity has been settled and the imperial government restored.

It is now thought that no attempt will be made to continue peace negotiations until the Emperor has arrived, when his presence and promised immediate action will serve to placate the warring representatives and to bring about a settlement of the punishment of the accomplices of Tsun when order shall have been restored.

PHILADELPHIA, October 22.—A secret conference was held today in the office of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway company between representatives of various coal carrying railroads and a number of individual operators. Those present were not held to secrecy as to the consultation and nothing could be learned of what transpired.

Fatal Fight in Church.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Oct. 15.—Thompson Shaffer shot and fatally wounded Boyd Geers at Cool Springs near here last night. The shooting occurred in a church immediately after the congregation had been dismissed. The men were brothers-in-law, both married to sisters, daughters of John Barr, of Cool Springs.

Geers and his wife had recently separated and Geers blamed Shaffer for being the cause of the separation. They had an altercation after the church services, and Geer knocked Shaffer down. When Shaffer got up one of his brothers shouted and shot Geers, Shaffer drew his revolver and fired, the ball entering Geers's abdomen.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.—A startling incident is narrated by John Oliver, of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c., guaranteed, at Green's drug store.
