THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

"Uncle Josh Spruceby" at Garman's to-night. Counterfeit $5 bills are said to be in circulation in this section.

Francis Atwood will lead the meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms on Sunday afternoon.

John A. McGinley, the cigar dealer of Diamond square, is confined to his home with lumbago.

James I. McClure shipped six red foxes to R. C. Stewart, secretary of the Baltimore Hunt club, on Monday.

The lecture on the Passion Play at Oberammergau in the court house, Monday night, will be well worth attending.

Miss Emily Valentine entertained a few of her friends at a whist party at the home of her aunt, Miss Emily Nait, on Curtin street, Monday evening.

His many friends will be sorry to learn that Col. A. J. Graham, of Philadelphia, is confined to his home in that place. He is reported to be dangerously ill.

Tuesday's rain was one of the kind that does more good than one can reckon. Gentle showers, such as fell most of the day, are just what the country needs.

When here last season "Uncle Josh Spruceby" made a very favorable impression. Both the play and the actors were good and another hit is promised for to-night.

Miss Louise Harper, of Linn street, entertained the Misses Bickford, of Lock Haven, at dinner on Saturday evening. The visitors were the guests of Miss Mary Cridler.

The Bellefonte Card Club has been reorganized for the winter and will have its first meeting at the home of Mrs. M. D. Burnett, on High street, next Tuesday evening.

The Morris boys, Robert and Alex, moved from their apartments at the Bush house on Tuesday and now have their bachelors' hall on West Linn street in home-like condition.

F. M. Harter is moving his saw mill from the Damm farm, near Mackeyville, and will set it up on the Lewis Shuler place, where he will cut a lot of hickory and oak timber.

C. Dale Musser, a son of W. H. Musser, of Howard street, who has been so seriously ill with typhoid fever for the past five weeks, is so far recovered as to be able to be up at intervals.

Charles Runkle, a son of Jacob Runkle, of Bishop street, has been in a rather precarious condition for several weeks with an abscess on his leg. He was reported as being better yesterday.

Joseph Hughes, with Mrs. Hughes and their son Robert and daughter Carrie, was in town on Sunday. They were on a driving tour over Central Pennsylvania. Mr. Hughes is manager of the Francisus hardware store in Lewistown.

A defective flue in George Brown's house on Logan street caught fire last Friday morning and there was a great commotion among the colored residents of that section for a little while. A few buckets of water put it out before much damage had been done.

John Tate, of Spring township, has had the misfortune to have four fattening hogs die within the past week with cholera. They represented almost a year's care and feeding and it certainly was unfortunate to have them die when just about ready to be butchered.

The Howard Creamery Co. has not finally passed into ownership of the "Big Spring" creamery in this place. W. Gross Mingle has been negotiating the deal and soon hopes to have his company in control of every creamery in Centre county. There is a hitch in the deal because of a defective title to the land.

James Cornely has been promoted to a position as engineer in the western penitentiary. Good behavior and attention to duty has earned him this promotion and Jim is very much pleased with it. He goes on at 5 in the morning and works until 5 at night. He writes that he is feeling all right, though he weighs only 112 pounds.

Col. and Mrs. J. L. Spangler have sent out invitations for the marriage of their daughter Myra Holliday to Dr. Albert Engles Blackburn, of Philadelphia. The ceremony will be performed in the Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening, Nov. 7th, at seven o'clock, by the Rev. Dr. Wm. Laurie. A reception at the bride's home will follow the ceremony.

While Perry Hinds, an employe of J. C. Snook on the Gordon farm at Hecla park, was hauling apples, last Thursday the land suddenly caved in with his team. The horses disappeared completely, the harness tearing loose from the wagon. When Hinds had recovered from his fright he called for help and the animals were discovered about fifteen feet under ground, while the opening in the earth through which they had fallen was only about four feet in diameter. Willing hands soon dug an inclined exit for them and the team struggled from their subterranean prison unhurt.

A FATAL WRECK NEAR HOWARD.—On Saturday a freight wreck near Howard delayed traffic on the Bald Eagle valley railroad for several hours and the next day, as if enough had not already been done, another accident occurred in the same vicinity in which two men lost their lives and an engine and twelve cars were smashed to pieces.

A fast west bound freight train, which had left Lock Haven about 12.40 on Sunday in charge of conductor H. L. Cheney, was drawing about thirty cars of perishable produce. Engineer J. W. Foster, fireman David W. Snyder, flagman Charles W. Meyers, and brakemen William Weiser and Hemphill, all of Tyrone, constituted the crew. The train had reached a point about a mile and a half west of Howard, where a heavy down grade was entered and on a curve just ahead of the train two cows, one owned by W. T. Leathers and the other by Jacob Long, stepped on the track. Engineer Foster tried to slacken his speed, but owing to the grade and heavy train was unable to affect it much and his engine struck the cows.

The force of the impact caused a fearful wreck. The locomotive was derailed and toppled over upon its side along the track. The tender was swung completely around and upset, and twelve cars were piled in a confused mass with their contents scattered on and about the track. Fireman Snyder, who had been standing upon the tender, jumped in an effort to save himself but he was caught under the tender and met instant death. Mr. Foster was not pinned under the wreckage, but he was so badly cut about the head that he lived only a few minutes after the accident occurred, and passed away without recovering consciousness. Brakeman Weiser was hurled out of the cab, he knows not how, for he made no attempt to jump. He was thrown over the locomotive and alighted upon his feet in the midst of a cloud of steam by which he was painfully scalded. None of the others of the crew were injured.

Fireman Snyder's body was not recovered for several hours after the accident occurred. The wreck crews working upon the mass of debris had not gotten the track clear for travel when the body was taken out. The west bound passenger train due here at 4:44 o'clock in the evening was behind the wreck, and a transfer of passengers and baggage was made to a special train which had been sent from Tyrone, upon which the remains of the unfortunate men, and the injured brakeman were taken to their homes.

Mr. Weiser was severely scalded, especially upon the left leg and arm, the back of the head, ears, and left side of his face. He received a cut upon the back of the head, probably being hit by the dome of the boiler.

Mr. Foster was about 45 years old. He had been in the employ of the company twenty years. He is survived by his wife and three children. He was superintendent of the Second M. E. Sunday school in that place, and was also a school director. He was held in high regard by all who knew him.

Fireman Snyder was about 34 years old. He leaves a wife and four children. Mr. Weiser also resides in Tyrone and has a wife and three children.

HELD FOR TRIAL FOR POCKET-PICKING.—A young man about 35 years of age, 5 ft 10 in high, weighing 135 lbs, ruddy complexion, small sandy moustache and lame left leg, giving his name as James Williams, a printer from Pittsburg, is in jail here in default of $1,000 bail for picking pockets at the Centre County fair.

On Friday Mrs. William Barclay, who lives on a farm near Jacksonville, was walking along the "Mid-way" of the fair grounds, with some friends when a twitch at her dress attracted her attention. Immediately she discovered her pocket book was gone and noticing a stranger hurrying away through the crowd sent her son Charley after him. Charley gave chase and the thief ran down around the grand stand, finally returning to a restaurant near the upper end. Detective Rightmour was notified and the man was arrested.

Later in the day Mrs. I. N. Bush, wife of Dr. Bush, the veterinarian, found the pocket book lying near where Mrs. Barclay says it was taken. The contents, a bunch of keys and $3, had not been disturbed. It is probable that when the thief found he had been detected he dropped the book at once.

He was given a hearing before justice Harshberger on Monday morning, when he was positively identified by Mrs. Barclay and her two sons, and held under $1,000 bonds for trial at the November term.

A GOOD ONE ON BELLEFONTE.—An Ohio exchange recently published the following story about Col. Bob Cassidy, so well known in this place.

Here a good one we caught on the wing. Recently a Canton doctor stopped off in the town of Bellefonte, Pa. This is where his boyhood days were spent by Bob Cassidy ex-mayor of Canton and local preacher, a half-fellow, well met. He's pretty well known in Salem, and that's why we tell the story on him. The Canton doctor put up at hotel, and he had no sooner written Canton after his name than the affable clerk replied, "Do you know my friend, Bob Cassidy, in Canton?" The doctor said he knew Bob, that everybody in Canton knew Bob and that Bob was all right. In a short time one and another of the people of the town came into the hotel office inquiring of the Canton doctor if he knew Bob Cassidy, and to all of the inquiries he replied that he did. Finally, to escape the inquiring townspeople, the Canton doctor slipped out of the hotel for a stroll up the street. He had gone but a short distance when he heard a voice say, "Say, Doc, they say you're from Canton; do you know my friend, Bob Cassidy, over there?" On looking up the doctor found none but a parrot to receive his reply.

Hon. Champ Clark, of Missouri, will be one of the lecturers during institute week here.

The first blowing for the season will be made at the Bellefonte glass works on Saturday.

The gross receipts of the fair given for the benefit of the Lock Haven hospital fund were $4,304.06.

Anthony Noll has bought the Keller timber tract in Harris township and will soon begin cutting it on his portable saw mill.

Our friend S. B. Miller, of east Linn street, is laid up with a lame foot. He cut it with an ax while hewing timber some time ago.

The prompt work of a bucket brigade is all that saved Morris' grist mill at Loganton on Saturday. A spark from the engine had set the roof afire.

Lyman T. Howe's celebrated moving pictures are scheduled for Garman's on the night of November 8th. The Howe pictures are the best on the road and when they come you should see them.

The combined cooper and blacksmith shop owned by L. P. Heltman at Mackeyville was destroyed by fire at 5 o'clock Monday morning. The building took fire from a defective flue. The loss is covered by insurance.

George C. Snyder, who had been assistant agent and operator at the Bald Eagle valley station at Mill Hill for eleven years, was given charge of the station at Beech Creek on Monday. Harry Lucas, of Snow Shoe, succeeds Mr. Snyder at Mill Hill.

Burglars broke into the Owens hardware store in Philipsburg Friday night, but after breaking the lock on a front door, they accidentally broke a window pane. The falling glass awakened neighbors and the burglars were frightened away before they got started at their job.

During Centennial week H. C. Rice Esq., of Philipsburg, lost his pocket book in this place. It contained considerable money and notes. On Friday morning James McCafferty found it in the hay mow of Garman's hotel barn. The notes were still there, but the money was gone. It is quite evident that Mr. Rice's pocket was picked.

Lyon & Co., mocha kid gloves, silk lined and unlined.

While Mrs. Stellar and Annie Burns were alone at the home of the latter, south of Philipsburg, Tuesday afternoon, a burly negro entered the house and frightened the women off. Then he ransacked every room, finally disappearing as mysteriously as he had come, but with a gold watch and $12 or $15 in money.

The Pennsylvania State College football team was beaten by the Dickinson college eleven at Carlisle on Saturday by the score of 15 to 0. Such a defeat at the hands of Dickinson was certainly an ignominious one for State, especially after having played the University of Pennsylvania that 17 to 5 game on the preceding Wednesday.

General James A. Beaver delivered an address on "Systematic Beneficence" before the Presbyterian Synod in session in Harrisburg last week and during the course of his remarks had this to say: "If the christian church can be educated to believe that christian giving is a christian grace, half the battle is won. Every person should give a definite portion of his income to the work of the church."

"Uncle Josh Spruceby" is a rural comedy-drama in which there is found considerable more than is found in plays of this class. When here last season it gave perfect satisfaction and in addition to the interest worked out in the play there were several exceptionally fine musical numbers.

"Uncle Josh Spruceby" is above the average of plays in Bellefonte and you will not regret having gone to see it at Garman's to-night.

A new telephone company, to be known as "The Huntington and Clearfield Telephone company," to operate in Centre, Clearfield, Cambria, Blair, Huntingdon, Bedford and Fulton counties, will make application to the Governor on November 19th for a charter. Among the incorporators are W. H. Denlinger, formerly of Philipsburg; Thos. H. Murray and Allison O. Smith, of Clearfield, and a number of prominent residents of Huntingdon and other places.

"Shooting the Chutes" that dashed into success at the outset will be the attraction at Garman's on Tuesday night, Oct. 30th. One can readily anticipate by the title that it is a fun-worker. And so it is. It is up to date in detail, possessing all those elements necessary to appeal to the amusement seeking playgoers who prefer to shed tears of laughter rather than weep over the pathetic scenes of a harrowing melodrama. The piece is equipped with the best farce comedy talent, new costumes and special scenery. Those kings of Irish comedy, Charles A. Murray and Ollie Mack, are the stellar playgoers. They form a whole show, but there are others, including many headliners and dainty girls, making a company of forty members and possessing rare merit. Many specialties of an up to the time character are introduced, also a race-track and race, and a real chute in operation.

GEORGE UZZLE'S LATEST BEAR STORY.—George Uzzle, the popular Clarence hotel man and all around sport, came in to town Friday morning with a huge head and hide of a black bear and the following story of its thrilling capture the night before.

"Dr. John Haag, of Williamsport, and I were in town attending the fair yesterday and left Garman's hotel about 8 o'clock at night to drive home. As you know my closest companion is my gun so I was quite prepared for an unexpected occurrence when we reached the vicinity of Wallace's run. We were driving along a cornfield, the night was dark, except for the pale light of the stars, but just at that point a gleam of red light shot up over the tops of the Bald Eagle mountains away to the South. It was the light from a kettle of dumped cinder at the Bellefonte furnace and made the country round about as bright as day. When in the mountains I am rarely surprised at anything, but in the glare of that transient light a sight greeted my eyes that not only surprised, but unnerved me for the minute. There in the corn field, just inside the fence from us was a great black bear. He looked so big that he frightened me at first, though I had been told that one had been seen in that field very often and was half on the look-out for him.

It was only the work of a couple of seconds to get my gun out and the first shot sent Bruin rolling over on the frosty ground, dead."

The above is George's story and to bear it out he brought the pelt of a bear that probably weighed about 300 lbs. to this place Friday morning and had it on exhibition at Garman's hotel.

"AND THE CAT CAME BACK"—Mrs. Sallie Tibbens, wife of Auditor General, Wm. H. Tibbens, of College township, had five cats. Now there's nothing remarkable about that, but "thereby hangs a tail."

In fact, a number of tails. Her son, George W. Tibbens, who resides on the Murray Andrews farm, one mile east of Axeman, while on a visit to his parents, concluded to take one of those feline beauties home with him. Accordingly he procured a box, selected one of the finest and placed her in the box (he didn't blind-fold her) and left for home by way of Lemont; this occurred about two months ago. He left his father's home late at night, no moon, the night was dark, introduced Miss Kitty to her new mistress and supposed she would be content, but "nit," as the sequel shows.

Quite recently, after puss had been away six or seven weeks, to the great surprise of Mrs. Tibbens, her catship was sitting on the door sill of her old home one morning and, looking up into her former mistress' face, seemed to say, "Ah there 'Muz' you are easy, I thought the war was over, so I came home." This is a cat story but unlike fish and snake stories, it is a true one.

Query: How did that cat find her way home?

THE FORTY-NINTH BOYS HERE.—The reunion of the veterans of the Forty-ninth Penna. Inf. is being held in this place and the seventy-five or more of the boys of Col. Irvin's famous old command are having fine weather and a fine time.

Yesterday afternoon they held their business meeting in Gregg post rooms and were entertained at supper last evening by the ladies of the Methodist church. Last night a rousing camp-fire was held in the court house and the following program carried out. Address of welcome by Hon. John G. Love, and the response by comrade W. Miles Irvin, of Williamsport. The history of the regiment was read by Hon. W. C. Heinle, and speeches delivered by Clement Dale, Esq., Capt. H. S. Taylor, W. Harrison Walker Esq., A. A. Dale Esq., and others. A stereopticon exhibit of prominent men of the regiment, military and local scenery was given during the evening by Mallory & Taylor, photographers.

This morning the veterans and their wives will be given a ride about the town. Carriages will assemble in the Diamond at 9 o'clock.

The next reunion will be held at Newport, Perry county.

The Forty-ninth was mustered in this section of Pennsylvania. Capt. Boal's company from the vicinity of Boalsburg being in the regiment.

MONEY FOUND IN QUEER PLACES.—Since the deaths of the two wealthy Sparr sisters, Misses Margaret and Nancy, at their home near Boalsburg, five or six weeks ago, those who have had charge of their effects have been making discoveries of all sorts.

The women were wealthy and in addition to large bank accounts, holdings of securities, etc. they evidently had large quantities of ready cash about them at all times. At the time of the sale of their personal property the appraisers found large sums of money in most unexpected places. There were bills and coin scattered under carpets, under table covers, in old tin cans, hid away in the attic and in bureau drawers to the amount of $1,000.

Murray and Mack, the comedians who come to Garman's on Tuesday night, Oct. 30th, are strictly first class. They will appear here in the sparkling comedy "Shooting the Chutes," which is merely the vehicle through which a large company of clever vaudeville artists present pleasing specialties.

Mrs. Margaret Alexander, of south Thomas street, is offering her household goods at private sale. A good piano, safe and office furniture are among the many bargains that can be had by calling at her home.

—W. A. Jacobs, who farms and does a little coal contract work in Snow Shoe township, was in town on Saturday and made quite an interesting call at this office. Mr. Jacobs keeps well abreast of the times and is ready to discuss current issues with the best of them.

A FAIR ESTIMATE.—During the two days, or parts thereof, I spent at the fair my greatest enjoyment was in seeing others enjoying themselves. My next greatest enjoyment was to see our Bellefonte and Centre county fair conducted so well on the line of cleanliness, which I think is rather more than "a kin to godliness."

Enjoying this our first fair so much we may reasonably expect that the next, in the first year of the 20th century, will be even better. Certainly we can pray for it and hope to live and receive the manifest answer. Providence is still smiling as I am leaving this Friday morning. "Praise the Lord!" R. C. CRITTENDEN, Oct. 19th, 1900.

—Lyon & Co., flannel, embroidered flannel and silk vests, 90cts. up.

THE 110TH REUNION AND CAMPFIRE.—The reunion and camp-fire of the 110th Penna. Vols. which is to be held in the court house here on the night of Oct. 30th, will probably be a very entertaining affair. Hon. John G. Love will make the address of welcome and Col. J. W. Stewart, of Washington, D. C., president of the Regimental Association, will respond. After these two speeches there will be a round of pleasure to which many entertainers will contribute.

All old soldiers of the Mexican, Civil and Spanish wars, as well as the public generally, are invited to be present and enjoy the reunion.

—Lyon & Co's new nobby suits, in checks and stripes, for men and youths, only $4.98.

PATRONIZE THE LECTURE.—Next Monday evening the people of this community will have an opportunity of hearing the Hon. A. O. Furst on the lecture platform. He has kindly consented to tell of the Passion Play at Oberammergau, which he witnessed while abroad during the past summer.

The subject is one of such universal interest and Judge Furst is so eminently equipped to present it in the most interesting word pictures that the court house should be crowded Monday evening.

The proceeds will be for the benefit of the new Union chapel at the red school house and for that reason deserves liberal patronage.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Following is the list of marriage licenses granted by orphan's court clerk, A. G. Archey, during the past week:
