THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

The Coleville band will hold a ball in the armory on Monday night, Nov. 5th. The Methodist ladies cleared about $60 at their chicken supper last Thursday evening. It is time to begin planting your fall advertisements. The holiday season is only a few weeks off. Revival services will be opened in the Methodist church at Bald Eagle on Wednesday night, Nov. 7th. Robert Morris and his brother Alex are now pleasantly located in their bachelor apartments on Linn street. While out gunning last Friday Paul Sheffer and Jim Murray, of this place, shot eight squirrels, three pheasants and a wild turkey. Fire insurance of $50,000 has been placed on the gifts of Mrs. Ross A. Hickok, nee Hastings, the daughter of ex-Governor Hastings. Isaac Beck, aged 86 years died at the home of his daughter in Booneville on Tuesday night. He was one of the oldest men in Sugar valley. The ladies of the Presbyterian church of Unionville will serve a chicken and waffle supper in the lower room of the church this Friday evening, Nov. 2nd. William Harper and Christian Lowry, both of this place, have been added to the pension rolls. The former will receive $12 a month and the latter $8. Clayton Stover, of Centre Hill, has resigned his position as teacher of the Weaver school, and left for Pittsburg, on Sunday afternoon, to accept a place in the Morgantza reformatory. Rev. C. N. Woodson will conduct the men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. All of the men and boys of the community are invited to be present. Burglars tried to enter the home of Israel Kaufman on east Bishop street, early Sunday morning, but they were heard and frightened away. The entire neighborhood was aroused. Col. W. F. Reynolds yesterday received a consignment of fruit trees that was the largest ever brought into this county. They were valued at $1,400 and will be planted on his farms in the county. Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Casanova left Philadelphia, on Monday, for Matanzas, Cuba, where Mr. Casanova is deputy collector of customs. While visiting her former home in Philadelphia a son was born to Mrs. Casanova. Mrs. C. H. McLean, of Penn street, entertained her Sunday school class at a "tuffy pull" on Monday evening. The young ladies thoroughly enjoyed the evenings' entertainment and were unanimous in their appreciation of their teacher's kindness. The grand annual ball game between the eleven of The Pennsylvania State College and Bucknell University will be played at Williamsport tomorrow. All things considered it ought to be an intensely exciting contest with State as the winner by at least six points. The ladies of the Lutheran church are preparing a variety of very fine articles for the needle work bazaar they will hold in the W. C. T. U. rooms on the afternoon and evening of Nov. 8th and 9th. They will serve cream and cake and oysters in every style, from 5 to 10 p. m. You are cordially invited. Doc. Benjamin Gill, of State College, will preach for the Methodist Episcopal congregation in the court house Sunday, both morning and evening. A grand rally is being worked up for the Sabbath school in the afternoon, and several prominent speakers and some good music have been enlisted for the occasion. The place of meeting for the first session of the Bellefonte euchre club was changed, on account of the death of Mr. J. D. Shugert. Mrs. Burnett had intended entertaining the club, but it was transferred to the home of Col. and Mrs. J. L. Spangler, where the meeting was most successful. J. Norris Bogle, of the Jenkins Iron and Tool Co. at Howard, lost his fine black saddle horse recently in a very singular way. The stable man was leading the animal out to water, when it stumbled and fell, breaking a small bone that supports the gullet in the neck. The accident resulted in the horse choking to death. The WATCHMAN this week publishes a complete list of everything on exhibition at the Centre County Fair. Every article exhibited is mentioned and those taking a first premium are marked 1st, those taking second are marked 2nd, Dip means a diploma and where no mark appears there was no award made. An old chicken hen which Michael Lamb, of north Allegheny street, had been keeping more as a matter of curiosity than anything else, died on Wednesday evening at the remarkable age of 13 years and 6 months. In her life time she had brooded 387 chicks for the Lambs, as well as doing similar service for the neighbors on several occasions and had laid 1826 eggs. What a tough proposition that old hen might have been for some unsuspecting preacher.

REV. M. L. SMYSER'S SUDDEN DEATH.—Rev. M. L. Smyser, presiding elder of the Altoona district of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, died unexpectedly at the home of John S. Hoover, at 1424 Seventh Ave., in Altoona, at an early hour Monday morning. Rev. Smyser was a resident of Bellefonte, but had gone to the Mountain city on the day before his death to take part in the preliminary arrangements for the building of a new church, in which he was deeply interested. He had not been well for some time previous, the new and arduous duties of elder having taxed his strength to its utmost he was so zealous in his christian endeavors that, unmindful of his condition, he took upon himself the most part of the arrangements for the convention of Pennsylvania Methodists which was carried out so successfully at Harrisburg several weeks ago. He was one of the vice presidents and the secretary of the convention. Exhausted thus the cold that settled on his lungs while at a quarterly meeting at Williamsburg recently produced complications with his heart that resulted in his unexpected death. He was unwell when he left his home here Saturday morning, but on Sunday morning he carried on the opening service in the Eighth Ave. church, in Altoona, where Bishop Joyce preached that day. In the afternoon he became seriously ill and had to go to bed. Early in the evening he became slightly better and then fell to sleep. Mr. Hoover sat by his bedside until midnight, when the patient seemed to be resting so comfortably that he left the room. He returned at four o'clock in the morning, and was startled to find that life had fled; probably some time before. Every indication pointed to the conclusion that Rev. Smyser had passed away peacefully as he had lived. His life was gentle and placid as a summer day. At all times he seemed to be surrounded by the sweet Spirit of the Master and in our short acquaintance with him we had come to love him for the very air of peace and good will that he seemed to carry to all men. The body was brought to his late home here Monday night by Hon. Jno. G. Love, Col. W. F. Reeder, W. T. Twimire, John I. Olewine and G. W. Rees, a committee from the church, who went up to bring it back. Short services for the family were held at the residence on Curtin street on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, after which a memorial service was held in the Presbyterian church. There were a great many clergymen from a distance present to participate in it and the addresses attested the rare character of their departed brother. The speakers, were Dr. Evans, presiding elder of the Danville district; Rev. J. A. H. Black, presiding elder of the Williamsport district; Dr. Stevens, presiding elder of the Juniata district; Dr. D. S. Monroe, of Shamokin; Dr. Pardoe, of Renovo; Dr. Edw. J. Gray, of Williamsport; Rev. W. A. Honck, Mt. Carmel; Rev. Dr. Laurie, of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church and Rev. Shriner, of the local Methodist church. The body was taken to York on Thursday. Services were held in the First Methodist church in that city, and interment was made there the same afternoon. Martin Luther Smyser was born in York, Pa., March 12th, 1841, of Lutheran parentage. Early in life he became a follower of John Wesley and joined the Methodist church at York. In 1863 he entered the ministry, receiving his appointment from the East Baltimore Conference, having served one year previously under the presiding elder. He has been connected with the Central Penna. Conference since 1872, and had served at Bellefonte, Philipsburg, Bloomsburg, Berwick, Chambersburg and Bedford. From 1886 to 1888 he was presiding elder of the Danville district. After that he was associated with Rev. Dr. S. C. Swallow in joint superintendency of the Conference book rooms at Harrisburg. In 1895-96-97, he was pastor at Lewistown, in 1898 at the Mulberry street church, Williamsport, and in 1899 at the First church, Shamokin. At the annual Conference last March he was appointed presiding elder of the Altoona district and has since resided at this place. Shortly after entering the ministry he was united in marriage with the daughter of Wm. Hoffman, a successful paper manufacturer, residing at Hoffman's Mills, Md. Three children were born to this union, who, with his wife, survive him. His children are Wm. E. Smyser, professor of languages in Wesleyan University at Delaware, Ohio, and Jennie and Grace at home. He was pastor of the Bellefonte Methodist church from 1872 to 1875. Rev. Smyser held a high rank among the ministers of the Central Penna. Conference of the Methodist church. It was during his pastorate at Lewistown and Curwensville that the initiatory steps were taken leading to the erection of the large church edifices in those places. He was a man of indomitable energy, which, with his noble and generous nature, his abilities as a student and preacher and rare executive power made him a leader in his denomination. The successor to Rev. Smyser will be appointed by the bishop selected at the meeting now in session at Treanton, N. J., to preside over the Central Penna. Conference for the next conference year. —Earl McCauly, aged 16 years, died Sunday morning at the home of H. W. Hoppeter, at Dean, in Cambria county. He was the son of Allen R. McCauly, of Bald Eagle Furnace and his body was taken there for burial on Tuesday morning.

JOHN DUNLOP SHUGERT.—John Dunlop Shugert, financier, manufacturer and counsellor, one of the best known men in Centre county, died at his home on east Linn street, this place, at 8 o'clock Friday morning. He had been ill for nearly a year with a cancerous affection of the face, but his condition did not assume alarming symptoms until a short time previous to his death, consequently it was a great shock to his community. Deceased was born in Bellefonte, June 26th, 1837, and was the eldest son of Samuel T. and Deborah M. (Dunlop) Shugert, and was a direct descendant, on his mother's side, of John Dunlop, one of the founders of the town. His grandfather, Joseph E. Shugert, and his father, S. T. Shugert, were identified with the early business history of the county, the latter having been commissioner of patents under President Buchanan. He was educated in the schools of Bellefonte and at the early age of fifteen received an appointment as clerk in the prothonotary's office of Centre county under John T. Hoover, and soon after commenced reading law in the office of Samuel Linn. Feb. 2nd, 1860, he was admitted to the bar. He immediately opened an office in Bellefonte and for two years devoted himself to the practice of law. He later served two terms as deputy treasurer of the county and in 1868 was himself elected to that office by the Democratic party. His administration developed exceptional financial facilities so that when on Jan. 6th, 1868, the late Andrew G. Curtin, Gen. Beaver, Col. Jas. H. Milliken and others organized the Centre County Banking Co. he was selected as the cashier of the new institution. Under his keen direction the bank flourished until it is now reputed to be one of the strongest private financial institutions in the State. He was married Dec. 23rd, 1869, to Mary S., daughter of the late Dr. John M. McCoy. She died September 29th, 1883. The following children survive: John M., Frank M., Jean, wife of David T. Kelly, and Katharine, all of Bellefonte. One brother William Findley Shugert, of Washington, D. C., and one sister, Mrs. Wm. E. Burdfield, of Philipsburg, also survive. Mr. Shugert was a man whose whole life was devoted to his family and business. During business hours he was constantly at his desk in the bank, but with all the cares that such work carried with it, as well as the interest he had in the McCoy iron works and the chain works, he was never too busy to counsel with a friend seeking advice. In fact his judgment was considered so sound that he was constantly sought by those contemplating ventures of every sort. Funeral services were held at his late home on Monday morning, Rev. Dr. Laurie, of the Presbyterian church, officiating. The pall-bearers were: Hon. A. O. Furst, Judge John G. Love, Dr. A. M. Hibler, J. L. Kurtz, Chas. F. Cook, J. P. Harris, Dr. Geo. F. Harris, Wm. P. Humes, John M. Dale, J. Howard Lingle, Col. James P. Coburn and Lyman T. Eddy. Interment was made in the Union cemetery. DIED IN THE WEST.—The Peotone, Ill., Vedette of October 16th, contained the following notice of the death of Adam Shafer. He was a native of Pennsylvania and had many friends and relatives in Centre county. Adam Shafer, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of this section, died Monday, Oct. 22nd, at 4 o'clock a. m., at the home of his son, H. A. Shafer, in Montevideo township, aged 83 years, 1 month and 29 days. Mr. Shafer was born in Elk county, Pa., Aug. 23rd, 1817. December 19th, 1839 he was married to Lucy Brockway who shared the joys and sorrows of life with him for over sixty years, until her death last April. In 1856 the Shafer family came to Illinois and settled in Manteno, where they lived on a farm until 1882 when they moved to Peotone. The deceased leaves two children, H. A. of Manteno, and Mrs. John Lockie, of Peotone, ten grandchildren and four great grandchildren. Two brothers survive him. They live in Pennsylvania. Mr. Shafer was a member of the First Presbyterian church of Peotone. During his life he was known as a kindly, christian gentleman who was highly esteemed by all who knew him. The funeral services were held at the home Tuesday at eleven o'clock. Rev. W. T. Angus, of Manteno, officiating. The remains were brought to Peotone and laid beside those of the companion of his life. A large number of friends and neighbors followed the remains to their last resting place, thus paying a tribute of respect to the memory of a man whom they had loved and esteemed. —William Dewey, who died at his home in South Philipsburg, on Tuesday evening of last week, was born in the vicinity of State College. He was 41 years old and a highly respected resident of that vicinity. A wife, four sons and one daughter survive him. Funeral services were held in the U. B. church in South Philipsburg on Friday and interment was made there. —M. C. Welliver has assumed the management of the Irvin house in Lock Haven. S. O. Watts, who has had charge of the hotel for the past year has retired. —Ethel Robbins, a 6 year old Beech Creek girl, pulled a kettle of hot water over onto herself and was so badly scalded that she was taken to the Williamsport hospital. —The election ball to be given by the Coleville band in the armory on Monday night promises to be a very attractive entertainment. The band's own orchestra will furnish the music, good refreshments will be served and a cake walk will start the evening's program at 9 o'clock.

ANOTHER FATAL WRECK ON THE BEECH CREEK.—Fatality seems to be the word hanging over the Beech Creek system. Recently there have been so many wrecks on that line that it is time for the officers to reorganize its working system or see that orders are more strictly adhered to. About five o'clock Saturday morning a freight train stopped at the water tank above Beech Creek and the flagman did not follow the usual rule of going back along the track to hold any train that might be following. The track was straight at that place and he took it for granted that the train could be seen, but it was very foggy and engineer Bridge, who was following with another freight, did not see the one that was stopped at the tank until he was within a few feet of its caboose. Then it was too late and his engine bumped into it; smashing it into kindling wood. Three cars ahead were broken up and two cars behind the engine suffered a like fate. The engine was thrown crosswise on the track, with the pilot down over an embankment. In the caboose there were four men. One of them was killed and the other three were badly hurt. The killed man was flagman Riddles. His body was taken from under the fire box of the engine about an hour after the collision occurred. His arms and legs were buried off, and his body was burned to a crisp. He was 23 years old, and unmarried. His parents reside at Westport, to which place his remains were sent for interment. Conductor Ira McCoy had both legs crushed and was otherwise so seriously injured that he died at his home in Jersey Shore that evening. Brakeman W. S. Triebel's collar bone was fractured. He was also otherwise injured. W. C. Roberts, the fourth man in the caboose, was going to Mahaffey. He is the engineer of a steam derrick and was going to that place to lift a derrick engine on the track. He was asleep when the collision occurred. His injuries consist of severe cuts about the face and head and ugly bruises. Dr. W. E. Mohn, of Jersey Shore, was taken to the scene and dressed the injuries of the men. The wrecking crews were soon at the wreck and began the work of clearing the tracks. The body of the dead man and the injured men were placed on a car and were taken to Jersey Shore. They arrived in that place about 9.30 o'clock. THE LAST OF A SERIES OF NOTABLE WEDDINGS.—The last of the notable social functions that have made this fall a memorable one in Bellefonte will be the marriage of Myra Holliday, daughter of Col. and Mrs. J. L. Spangler, to Dr. Albert Engles Blackburn, of Philadelphia, next Wednesday evening. Eight hundred invitations have been issued to the ceremony, which will be celebrated in the Presbyterian church in this place. Immediately afterwards Col. and Mrs. Spangler will receive in honor of the bride and groom at their home on North Allegheny street. The same color scheme will be carried out in the decorations at the church and house. Dr. Blackburn will have for his best man Mr. Charles S. Moore, of Camden. The ushers will be the following named gentlemen: Dr. John B. Stetson, Dr. R. P. McKeynolds, Messrs. Harry F. Richards, Wm. B. Chapin, Joseph H. Reilly, Philadelphia, Dr. H. A. Polkinhorn, of Washington, D. C. Miss Holliday will be attended by the following bridesmaids: Miss Henrietta K. Butts, Miss Mildred F. Smith and Miss Margaret Brisbin, of Bellefonte; Miss Julia A. Kaul, of St. Mary's; Miss M. Virginia Sudler, Philadelphia; Romelia VanPel, of Centre Hall. The maid of honor will be Miss Emma Holliday, a sister of the bride. For three days previous to the wedding Miss Holliday will entertain a large house party at her home on North Allegheny street. JUDGE FURST'S LECTURE.—Every one who attended Hon. A. O. Furst's lecture on the Passion Play at Oberammergau, in the court house, Monday night, was greatly pleased. He has evidently given the subject much thought and study and his descriptions were fine. But more than any other traveler that we have ever heard, was he impressed by the reverence and fitness of those Bavarian peasant actors and the sacredness of their theme. That thought he imparted to his audience at once, and that it was entertainingly received was evidenced by the wrapt attention with which his hearers listened throughout the evening. The lecture was gratifying too, from a financial standpoint, for he had a very good house. It was given for the benefit of the new chapel at Pleasant View. —Fine fur collarettes and boas at lowest prices. Lyon & Co. —Our venerable friend D. D. Wood, of Tyrone, has been plunged in deepest sadness by the death of his grand son, which occurred on Saturday night, after an illness of about ten days. Gussie Wood was a boy for whom everyone had admiration. Crippled in stature and left an orphan in early life he bore his sad cross without a murmur and it was but natural that she was taken to the Williamsport hospital. —The election ball to be given by the Coleville band in the armory on Monday night promises to be a very attractive entertainment. The band's own orchestra will furnish the music, good refreshments will be served and a cake walk will start the evening's program at 9 o'clock.

—Prof Collins, an expert golf player, is in Lock Haven instructing the members of the recently organized golf club in that place. —Rev. John Norman, rector of St. John's Episcopal church of Monongahela, was a visitor in town last week. He is a son of the late Thomas Norman, of this place, and a relative of the Bayards. —Oliver Kern, of Perry county, who was an applicant for the position of principal of the Centre Hall schools, was recently appointed principal of the High school at San Juan, Porto Rico, at a salary of $125 per month. —Rail-road employees at Tyrone are engaged in taking up a collection to pay indebtedness of $700 against the home of Mrs. David Snyder in that place. Her husband was a locomotive fireman and was killed in the wreck at Howard last week. News Purely Personal. —Mr. and Mrs. John Fryberger, of Philipsburg, spent Sunday with relatives in this place. —G. W. Reese returned on Saturday evening, from a short business trip to Philadelphia. —Mrs. George A. Bayard has returned from a two weeks' visit with relatives in Canton, Ohio, and Chicago. —Townsend Moran, of Philipsburg, was in town attending the funeral of his uncle, J. D. Shugert, Monday. —Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kepler, of Pine Grove Mills, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Todd Jr., in Philipsburg over Sunday. —Joseph V. Runkle, in the employ of the National steel works at Youngstown, Ohio, is at home, owing to the serious illness of his brother Charles. —Newlin Irvin, book-keeper for the Ardell Lumber Co. is spending this week gunning in the mountains about Coburn. He is the guest of Mr. Mott. —Parson H. Crawford, representing the advertising department of the Altoona Tribune, was in town on Tuesday on his way home from a little trip to State College. —Capt. C. T. Fryberger, of Philipsburg and Suplt. J. E. Redding, of the Morrisdale Coal Co., were among the strangers in town on Wednesday at the Smyser funeral. —Harry Myers, of Milesburg, who is flourishing in railroad circles at Bellwood, Pa., is home on a vacation and on Wednesday he went over to Coburn to spend a few days with relatives there. —Summerfield Fiegall, of Philipsburg, was in town on business on Tuesday. He was formerly in the hardware business, but gave it up for paving contracting, which he is now carrying on with marked success. —Maurice Otto returned to his employment at Thomas, Pa., on Monday morning. Miss Lulu Howe, of Shellsburg, Bedford County, who had also been here for the Smith-Otto wedding, left for her home the same afternoon. —Seth Daggett, of the Palmer house at Patton, and Frank Kirkland, his genial right hand man, were both here last week while Mr. W. L. Daggett, of the Bush house, was at Oakland, Md., having a good time at Harry Penlon's wedding. —Gen. D. H. Hastings returned from his stumping tour of Indiana and Illinois on Monday morning and a small army of his political workers from over the county were here to welcome him and receive orders. Messrs. Allison and Thompson were both in town. —G. W. Buck, of Altoona, who was here for the reunion of his regiment, the 110th, on Tuesday, was paying his first visit to Bellefonte since 1865, when he happened into the town for a short time with a wedding party. Judging from his stature Mr. Buck must have been in the front ranks of his gallant regiment, but he was fortunate enough to come out unscathed. —Charles Decker, of College township, was in town yesterday and assured everyone that he intended doing all in his power to get the vote out next Tuesday. It will probably be his last election in old Centre, as he expects to move to Oklahoma next spring and he is going to do his part to make this one decisively Democratic. Good luck to you Charley. —J. H. Lingle, the veteran Milesburg dairyman dropped in for a brief call yesterday morning. It was purely business, no politics about it, but there was no sign that he is not interested in the outcome of the election this fall. Mr. Lingle has always been a staunch Democrat and has raised a large family of Democratic sons, everyone of them being as true to their colors as their honored father has been. —Mrs. M. G. Hilseng and her children, who have been guests at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Edward J. Ward, on Curtin street, for the past week returned to State College yesterday and from there will leave for their home in Brooklyn today. Dr. Hilseng has been at the head of the mining department of The Pennsylvania State College for a number of years and was just the man for that place but the Brooklyn School of Technology wanted him and he has accepted its offer. —A. J. Lindsay, of Water Street, Huntingdon county, who was in town for the reunion of the 110th in an old residence of Centre county. In 1876 he was running the mill at Bald Eagle and just when prospects seemed brightest reverses came. First it was the great Osceola fire in which he lost about $1100 in property, then the Bald Eagle mill burned and finally the Tyrone bank, in which he had stored all his other savings, went up and left him almost penniless. About three years ago he moved to Water Street, where he has been running the Stewart mill, but we are glad to say that he expects to return to Centre county soon and will resume work at the re-built Bald Eagle mill. —Mr. and Mrs. James M. Goodhart, of Lewistown, were in town between trains on Monday afternoon on their way to State College, where they spent several days with friends and are now over in Penns valley continuing their visit. Mr. Goodhart is a native of Centre county, being a brother of former county commissioner George L. Goodhart, of Centre Hill. Though looking exceptionally well, he has never been able to go without the crutches he has been using since the railroad accident in which his spine was injured eight years ago. He is interested in the Lewistown foundry and machine works and has a real estate agency besides, so that he is kept about as busy as a man in his condition cares to be and the nearest part of it is that his ventures are invariably successful. —While in town on Tuesday, Suplt. F. H. Clemson, of the Bellefonte Furnace Co.'s mines at Soard, gave an exhibition of his skill as a magician that was really remarkable. He was standing in front of the Brokerhoff house in broad daylight dressed in a dark blue suit of clothes with white stripes, we spoke to him and then turned around for a moment to speak to another gentleman. The next glimpse we had of Frank he was looking natty in a light gray suit and we have been wondering ever since how he did it. You know our summer clothes are beginning to look a little shabby and unless some subscribers who are in the arrears come to our rescue quick we'll certainly have to resort to Mr. Clemson's trick of turning blue suits into gray ones. —Buy your clothing at Lyon & Co.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Following is the list of marriage licenses granted by orphan's court clerk, A. G. Archey, during the past week: Frank Sheets and Eva Myers both of Philipsburg. James Martin, of Milesburg, and Susan May Estright, of Snow Shoe. George W. Harpster, of Port Matilda, and Maggie M. Williams, of Blanchard. Chas. J. Clevelenstine and Grace Garbrick, both of Zion. Harry A. Kline, of Bellefonte, and Emma E. Smith of Milesburg. Harry Burns and Agnes T. Flory both of Fairbrook Pa. Peter Park and Mary Ann Shaw both of Snow Shoe. Barnhart Stamm, of Altoona, and Mary D. Peters, of Oak Hall. —Save money and buy your overcoats at Lyon & Co. —The "fifty horse act," under direction of Master Eddie Sipe, is one of the many features of the Sipe Educated Animals and Lilliputian Shows, which will be seen at Garman's opera house on Nov. 3rd, matinee and night. Of course the horses are the handsome diminutive ponies of which this concern has the largest and most costly collection ever gotten together in this country. The intelligent little animals obey, with marvelous understanding, every command of the boy ring director, and enter into their work with such zest and spirit that one can well believe they have a lively affection for their little trainer and school-master. It is only one of a hundred big features with this novel attraction. —The annual Bucknell-State foot ball game, which is to be played in Williamsport on Saturday, Nov. 3rd, promises to be one of the most evenly matched contests that has ever taken place on a local gridiron. State College is playing a magnificent defensive game, while Bucknell's aggressive style of play is almost perfect. The day will be a holiday for Williamsport and vicinity, and the out of town visitors will be counted by the hundreds. Reduced rates will be secured on all railroads leaving Bellefonte and the local merchants will offer special inducements in their various lines. Inquiries concerning arrangements, etc., will be promptly answered if addressed to J. J. Galbraith, secretary merchants' association, Williamsport, Pa. —New sweaters, plain and striped, for men and boys. Lowest prices at Lyon & Co. —The principals of the Bellefonte Academy desire to announce to all students in the country who may desire to attend this institution that they are privileged to enter at any time and are only charged for tuition from the day of entrance. The many students who enter each year in the late fall appreciate this privilege. If any are thinking of entering they should come at once, if possible. Railroads sell school tickets. —Nobby overcoats for men, boys and children. Lyon & Co. —The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian church of Boalsburg will hold a social in their hall, formerly the Methodist church, Saturday evening, Nov. 3rd. They will entertain their friends with music, recitations and a contest called a floral masquerade, after which refreshments will be served. Go, take all your friends, and spend a pleasant evening. Admission 10 cts. —New styles, lowest prices, in boys and childrens clothing. Lyon & Co. A CHANGE IN A VOTING PLACE.—Sheriff C. N. Bringart requests us to announce that the voting place for the township of Marion will be in the blacksmith shop of Samuel Aley, at Jacksonville, instead of in the school house at that place, as advertised elsewhere. Notice to Farmers. You should bring your wheat to the Phoenix Milling Co. because we pay the market price for it. You should exchange your wheat at the Phoenix Mills because you get the best grade of flour in return for it. A bin, sample of our flour will be given free to every farmer who comes to the mill and asks for it. THE PHOENIX MILLING CO. 45-23-4 Bellefonte, Pa. Philadelphia Markets.
