Dash for North Pole.

Lieutenant Peary Probably Will Attempt It Next Spring-Reports From Him Accepted as Authentic.

Evelyn B. Baldwin, the head of the Baldwin-Ziegler polar expedition, which is to start in 1901, who was in Boston on Friday on his way to Nova Scotia, was shown the dispatch from Edinburgh relating to the return of the Scotch whaler Eclipse to Dundee with members of the Stein expedition to Ellsmereland. In commenting upon the report, the authenticity of which he does not doubt, Mr. Baldwin said that if it were true that Lient. R. E. Peary did not get under way from the headquarters at Etah until last August it would seem to show that again he had been hampered in his efforts to reach Fort Conger in time to make a dash for the pole early last spring.

"It will be recalled," Mr. Baldwin said, that Mr. Peary when last heard from in the fall of 1899 had stated his determination to pass the winter of 1889-99 at Etah and to make an early start in the spring of 1899 to Fort Conger, from which point he expected to make an effort to reach the pole and return in the course of the spring and summer of the present year. That he has been unable to accomplish this is apparent. If no mistakes have been made with regard to his passing Pym island last August, and in the event of his having reached Fort Conger this fall, it is likely that he would not endeavor to reach the pole this year, but would remain during the coming winter at Fort Conger and make the effort in the spring and summer of 1901.

"If this supposition is correct the continued absence of the Windward is explained, as in the case of Mr. Peary's failure to accomplish his work during the past year the Windward was to remain North during the coming winter. "Another thing in connection with the situation is the fact that if the ice was sufficiently strong and compact enough to permit of sledge travel in Kane basin and Kennedy channel last August, it would indicate that the Windward or any other ship would not be able to get away very far north this year. "We are not left to surmise what has become of the Fram. It seems singular that no news has come from Captain Sverdrup, her navigator, unless they were so far north that they could not communicate with the Stein party. I consider, however, that there is no cause to be overanxious concernity. For complete information C. P. A., Pittsburg, Pa. Othere is no cause to be overanxious concernity. ing the safety of either Lieutenant Peary, or Captain Sverdrup of the Windward."

FURTHER REPORT FROM PEARY. It now appears that Dr. Leopold, Kann is the only member of his party of Arctic scientific exploration who arrived at Dundee, Scotland, on Thursday, on the whaler

Eclipse from Davis strait.

Dr. Robert Stein, of the United States geological survey, decided at the eleventh hour not to come to Scotland, but to await the first opportunity of being landed on the American side. Samuel Warmbath, of Boston, preferred to remain at Cape Sabine

In Feb- unless they inspect the beautiful farming country ruary and March of this year Fort Magnes on the line of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and every winter house at Bedford, on Pym Railway in Marinette county, Wisconsin, where island, was thrice visited by the member the crops are of the best, work plenty, fine marhis expedition. On the first occasion kets, excellent climate, pure, s Mr. Hausen's party came, on the second a sold cheap and on long time. Why rent a farm party under Dr. Dederick and later Lieuwhen you can buy one for less than you pay for tenant Peary himself in command of a sailing party.

"He reported that about ten months previously he had met Sverdrup in the Kane basin, north of Smith's sound. From conversations I elicited that some feeling had been engendered between Lieutenant Peary and Sverdrup, the former rather resenting what he considered the latter's intrusion into ground which, for exploring purposes, the American was inclined to regard as his own.

"Sverdrup's party had thoroughly explored the Ellesmere Hinterland, mapping out a region that was hitherto a blank on the charts. Many of Sverdrup's flags were seen by us. In the course of our hunting expeditions in this great tract of country quantities of musk oxen were found on what seemed to be old and established

"When the Peary and Sverdrup parties separated Sverdrup's understood intention was to explore the vast area of land and water in and around Jones sound, beyond Cape Eden. I believe Sverdrup on the Fram, is now wintering in Jones sound, and my opinion, which is backed by that of the Dundee whalers, is that it will be impossible for the Fram to come home this year. The autumn has been very tem pestuous and the ice was such as to make navigation next to impossible.

The natives at Petravic reported that they had returned from Fort Conger, whither they had gone to victual the station. Lieutenant Peary had 200 dogs and 27 sledges, but having underestimated the difficulties of the journey and not having a sufficiency of food, most of his dogs died. He only kept a few natives at Fort Conger during the present season and the rest of the Eskimos, with Lieutenant Peary, returned to the settlement in a few days, so that the journey was extremely arduous and the party suffered great hardships.

"I am certain that Lieutenant Peary is now wintering at Fort Conger. When I left Cape York on the Eclipse, June 9th, the Windward was expected to touch there about the middle of July, where orders from Lieutenant Peary, which I had brought, were left with the Eskimos.

"Dr. Stein and myself discovered a melancholy record of the Sverdrup expedi-tion near Fort Magnesia in the grave of Dr. Svensden, with the inscription 'Died June 8th, 1899,' which was nearly two months before the arrival of our party.''

Artificial Ivory.

Billiard Balls are now Being Made of a New Com

An artificial ivory, known as "lactite," is being made from milk-casein, and is used for billard balls, toothbrush handles, combs, etc. By treatment of the same casein, certain manufactures prepare a paste or powder that can be used instead of eggs in some kinds of cookery while costing only half as much. The casein combined with alkaline makes a hydraulic cement. The curd is cut into bits, which are dried rapidly and then finely powdered. The powder is mixed with 20 per cent. of pulverized quicklime. Curded milk has been for some time used in whitewashing buildings and to prevent scaling. For this purpose it is mixed with lime, so as to make a thick liquid.

The Highest Dwelling Places.

The highest dwelling places occur in the tropics. In the Cordilleres and in the Himalaya Mountains there are inhabited spots in altitudes of 13,500 feet and in Thibet even as high as 16,000 feet. In Switz-erland the highest inhabited spots occur in the Canton of Wallis, the highest one being situated on the Alpe de Lona, 8276 feet, and three hours' walk from Grimenz, in the Elfish Valley. The highest cereal (wheat) producing fields of Switzerland are those situated near the little village of Findelen, in an altitude of 7140 feet above the level of the sea. In Italy the highest inhabited spot is on the Alpe de Ponton, in Conge, to the south of Aasta, nearly in Conge, 8630 feet high.
