J., to work in a factory there, but their departure has in no wise affected the local enterprise.

The contract that is on hand now will be completed by tomorrow, then this factory will close for a week, in order that a boiler and engine can be installed to take the place of the water motor. In addition, a new button hole machine and a new felling machine will be added to the equipment of the factory, thus enabling them to double their output. The limited number of finishing machines has cramped the factory ever since it was started and now Mr. Ray intends adding enough to work off the product of the other machines, so that there will be no congestion anywhere.

THE CENTRE COUNTY'S NEW CASHIER. -The directors of the Centre County Banking Co., of this place, have announced the selection of John McCoy Shugert to succeed his lamented father as cashier of that institution

There had been considerable speculation as to who would be made cashier of the Centre County and it was generally believed that there would be a vacancy for promptly in the matter and the verdict of the public is that their action was wise. Though quite young John Shugert is older than his father was when he was made cashier of the bank and has had far more experience. He has been actively connected with the institution long enough to inspire the confidence of all its patrons and in manner is exceptionally well adapted for the place.

With such a well established business as that of the Centre County to start with and the natural ambition of an energetic young man to spur it on there are opportunities ahead for the younger Shugert to surpass his father in the record of successful bankers.
