The Worm-wood and Gall of It.

The most bitterly disappointed man in the Commonwealth, over the election of Senator QUAY, is our fellow townsman ex-Governor HASTINGS. And there is reason for it. Since his formal retirement from state politics he has had two objects to attain. One was to become the absolute and undisputed boss of his own county, the other to be a power to assist in the defeat State treasury to pay to the district its of his political enemy, boss QUAY. To accomplish these was the height of his ambition. But strange as it may seem the success of the one caused the failure of the other.

And here is how it came about.

Last fall Governor HASTINGS set up a job to make himself the leader of his party in of the Commonwealth on the basis of $11,the county. He did it so well that every- 000,000. thing went his way. He named his personas the chairman of his county committee. He corralled his candidates, pledged them privately against QUAY and then compelled their nomination. He left the impression that it was harmony he was working for, and succeeded in securing the solid QUAY vote for both his nominees. Their help and his money elected his ticket, and he was on top. It was then that all deception was cast aside and the boast made that other counties might be found debauched enough to support the discredited state boss, but that Centre, while he had his hand on the steering-gear of the Repub-

But little do we know to-day what will ernor HASTINGS know how to his success in becoming boss of Centre county could As matters turned out the key to the without fear of the veto. QUAY victory was the vote of JNO. K. THOMPSON, one of Governor HASTINGS' chosen candidates. Had he been to Harexpected and as the ex-Governor boasted hand down his decree in a few days. he would. MARSHALL would not have been elected Speaker. Had his election failed it controlled, been lost to QUAY there hope of success. He won that control by Governor's ambition to be boss. Had Governor HASTINGS not torn his shirt to show his power in Centre county; part of the school appropriation before a afresh. had he not stooped to the deception of pretending that there was no QUAY or anti- guilty of a plain violation of the constitu-QUAY question in the election of Representatives from this county; had he not opened his barrel for the boys and made the extraordinary efforts he did to show what he could do when in control of his party; in fact, had he been half honest with the people and told them frankly of the pledges he had from his nominees, and what he expected them to do, THOMPSON would not have been elected, and QUAY would not be Senator to-day.

Which shows how:

"Vaulting ambition can overleap itself And fall upon the other side."

-Senator OSBOURN, of the Third district. Philadelphia, is dead and his death can be attributed almost solely to QUAY. Knowing that he was a very sick man, in fact too sick to be out, the Senator insisted on going to vote for QUAY and while doing came so much worse that he had to be taken to his home, where he died just landamus Preceedings Brought in the Centre Coun ty Court Probably to Sustain Governor Stone's Veto of the Public School Appropriation.

There has been considerable talk in Bellefonte within the past few days in Common Pleas Court, by Attorney General

JOHN P. ELKIN, evidently to make a test

sembled at her bedside at mid-day. She Centre county, where one of Governor STONE'S stauchest friends presides, as judge and that W. E. GRAY, one of QUAY'S faithful lieutenants in the county, should have been selected to represent the defense, leaves anything but a clear idea of what the whole thing means, in the minds of the people about here

On the docket the proceedings are entered as "Commonwealth of Pennsylvania ex relationi, JOHN P. ELKIN, Attorney General, for the use of the school district of head, said :-Patton Twp. vs. JAMES E. BARNET, State Treasurer of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania." The purpose, apparently, being to compel the State Treasurer to take the necessary steps to secure payment of the school appropriation on the $11,000,000 basis to Patton township, this county. The amount is only about $95.00.

The question at issue is precisely the same as that involved in the suits instituted at Harrisburg by C. Tyson Kratz in behalf of Montgomery county. In these suits the State officials evaded a decision by paying the amounts claimed. In answers filod for the State treasurer it was declared that Mr. Kratz's suit had no standing, and that action to test Governor Stone's veto must be instituted by the Attorney General. The proceedings instituted here are evidently in pursuance of the State Treasurer's suggestion.

There are a number of features about the two days after the writ is granted. Its whole household question settled some weeks ago at Harrisburg. The Court of Common Pleas of Centre County, it is further declared, has no jurisdiction of the State Treasurer in a mandamus proceeding.

The petition set forth that the school board of Patton township, Centre county, through its counsel, requested that pro-ceedings in the nature of a mandamus be entered by the Attorney General against the State Treasurer requiring him to noti fy the Superintendent of Public Instruction that there were sufficient funds in the proper proportion on the basis of $11,000.-000 that the State Treasurer refused to make such designation to the Superintendent on the grounds that the Governor had approved an appropriation for only $10, 000,000; that on the hearing before the Attorney General the State Treasurer admit-ted that there were sufficient funds in the treasury to pay the several school districts

The petition then sets forth that on the pasis of $11,000,000 the amount due the al friend and former partner, Col. REEDER, district for the current year is $1,049.83 on account of which it has paid $953.49 leaving a balance unpaid of $95,34 for which amount the suit is instituted

On the petition is indorsed the following order: And now, Jan. 22, A. D. 1901, alternate writ of mandamus awarded as prayed for returnable Thursday, Jan. 24, 1901, at 10 a. m. By the court, John G. Love, presiding judge.

Following this order of the Court is this indorsement: "And on January 22, A. D. 1901, issuance of writ is waived and service accepted, John P. Elkin, attorney for Treasurer of the Commonwealth of

AWAITING THE END AT OSBORNE HOUSE. When the 4 o'clock bulletin announced that the Queen was sinking, all the watchers at the gates of Oshorne house made up their minds to remain to the end. The cold was intense and a few favored ones sought shelter in the royal lodge, just in-

LONDON, Jan. 22.—At the offices of the Lord Chamberlain, at St. James' Palace, of the City Remembrancer, at the Guild Hall and at the College of Heralds, the officials were busy to-day, even before the death of the Queen was announced, preparing for the formalities which will attend the proclaiming of a new ruler of the United Kingdom and India.

All the ancient gazettes, court circulars and other papers which describe the ceremonial of 1837 had been taken from the libraries, that the officials may familiarize themselves with the forms of pageantry, whereby a sovereign is proclaimed. The City Remembrancer said to-day :-

"It will depend on the pleasure of the new monarch to decide how far the ancient customs will be modified to suit modern methods, but in a county where precedent are so firmly adhered to as England, it may be anticipated that we shall follow closely on the acts which prevailed when the Queen ascended the throne.

NEW KING'S TITLE IS NOT YET KNOWN. "The Privy Council, which is a very large body, will meet at once at St. James' Palace, where the form of proclamation deand consent of tongue and heart declare and proclaim the high mighty, Prince Albert Edwards,' etc., 'who by the death of the monarch, has become our only lawful and rightful liege,' etc.

"This proclamation will give the new title the King may assume, but this is not yet announced to us. The proclamation will then be sent to the Herald's College, and the following day Earl Marshal, the Garter King at Arms, the Herald's Pursuiants and other officials, the college members, with the household troops, will proceed from the palace, clad in their splendid surcoats, and proceed to Trafalgar

"There the King at arms will halt, command silence and read the proclamation. Proceeding down the Strand to Temple Bar, a halt will again be made, to demand an entrance into the city to proclaim the King. There the Lord Mayor, Sheriffs in their state carriages, will form a great procession and when the Earl Marshal's party comes just within the city boundary, the proclamation will be read again and the procession will pass down Ludgate Hill and Cheapside to the Royal exchange, where similar ceremonies will close the spectacle."

The arrangements are already practically complete for meetings of the Privy Council and Parliament, the statutes, providing that they shall assemble immediately on the death of a sovereign. The Privy Councillors could gather together within a few hours. The Ministers will attend, give up their seals of office, be resworn, receive th proclamation of the new King, pass votes of condolence, and congratulation and ad-
