Pension Sharks Dissatisfied.

The pension sharks and claim agents are growing impatient because the President doesn't turn Commissioner H. CLAY EVANS out of the pension office. During the campaign, we are led to infer by some of the statements made by these treasury looters, the State, which are to be used by the the promise was made that Evans would homeless temporarily. Another shipment be turned out. Now that the election is over and the fruits of the contest safely garnered, the President is afraid to fulfill his promise. He has been trying for months erty loss at $11,000,000. These figures to find some place which Evans would like better, in the hope that the offer of it has been unable to find such a place.

The complaint against EVANS is that he won't throw the doors of the pension office open wide enough to admit every bounty jumper, camp follower, deserter and straggler whose name ever got on the roll of the army. Colonel EVANS, who was a gallant soldier himself and while willing to be generous with all the real soldiers who are day to deliver $1,000 worth of provisions, suffering on account of service, doesn't believe in desecrating the roll of honor by putting on it the names of men who never earned the right to be there, and that doesn't suit the Sunday soldiers and political military men whose stock in trade is the promise of pensions to stragglers in re- In the eastern portion of the city the de turn for party service.

The Democratic State committee is to meet here immediately after final adjournment of the Legislature to fix time

The Ballot Reform Conference.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 6 .- The ballot reform conference between Col. Guffey and Senator Quay, came to a close after mid-night without reaching a definite agree-ment. Both parties agreed that the party circle should be dropped and that the party columns should remain as they are on the present ballot. The Democrats insisted that no person shall be entitled to assist more than ten voters to prepare their ballot and that before a voter can secure as sistance he must make affidavit that he cannot read and write or that he is physically unable to prepare his ballot. The Republicans objected to the feature requiring the voter to make affidavit as to his disability and promised to take the matter under consideration and report later. The original Democratic proposition was that no person could assist more than three voters.

Qualified as Auditor General.

HARRISBURG, Pa., May 7.—Senator Edmund D. Hardenbergh, of Wayne, resigned his seat today in the Senate and qualified as Auditor General, to which office he was elected last November. He succeeds Levi G. McCauley, of West Chester, whose term expired at noon. Mr. Hardenbergh was anxious to retain his seat until the close of the legislative session and was given a written opinion by Attorney General Elkin that it was optional with him when he entered upon the duties of Auditor General. To avoid possible complications, however, the Senator handed his resigns tion to President pro tem Snyder and filed his bond and assumed charge of the department.

The Hunger of Jacksonville's Homeless People Has Been Satisfied.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., May 5.- The hunger of 10,000 people made homeless by the great fire that destroyed $11,000,000 worth of property in this place was satisfied to-day when the arrival of relief trains and boats bringing provisions from neighboring towns. Early this morning a commissary was established in the centre of the city and thousands were fed.

To-day an order was promulgated under martial law requiring all merchants whose stores were spared by the conflagration to open their doors and sell to all who asked. The streets have been crowded all day with shoppers who lost all in the fire and many

It is estimated that 3,000 persons have left the city and every outgoing train is crowded with refugees. Five carloads of tents were received to-day the property of to arrive to-morrow.

Indemnity to Powers Likely to be Met by Increased Customs Duties. At Odds Over "Open Door."

PEKIN, May 8.—The foreign Ministers to-day decided to address a collective note to the Chinese Government informing it that a joint indemnity of 450,000,000 taels (about $337,000,000) would be demanded, and asking what method of payment is proposed. A reply is expected at the end of the week, which will probably propose to meet the indemnity by raising the custom tariff.

It is considered likely that the pe will assent to some such measure in return for concessions on the part of China in the shape of a total abolition of the likin, the placing of import duties on a gold basis, really free navigation of Chinese waters and removal of impediments to pavigation and the tax of Woosung. The Ministers were unable to agree as to the desirability of opening the whole Empire to trade and residence, some of them holding that it would be asking China to assume too great responsibility, and that under the present system of government it would be impossible to guarantee the safety of the numerous foreigners who would flock into the interior if the Empire were entirely opened.

The stand taken by England and the United States was a decided objection to any increase in Chinese customs so far, at least, as the maritime provinces were concerned. There is no indication that either country receded from this stand, although the majority of the powers were opposed

With Three Voices.

Does the Pan-American Speak to the Visitor. Its Buildings Present a Valuable Lesson in Architecture ; Its Exhibits are a Materialized Encyclopedia-Educational Amusement.

The true function of an exposition is education. The purpose and the end of all its ministrations should be the development and the ripening of each soul which comes within the scope of its influence. Young or old, man or woman, gentle or simple, each visitor should gain and should be conscious of gaining an enlarged appreciation, subjectively of himself as a living and sentient being and objectively of the world as his sphere of living and knowing, a realm fuller of sweetness and light. His respirations should be quicker, his inspirations deeper and his aspirations loftier and nobler. To this end the Exposition speaks to its visitors with three voices-through its architecture, its exhibits, its amusements. The Pan-American Exposition will address its expected throngs in all these voices.

In its architecture must be included the whole external equipment - its buildings in their artistic and symmetrical arrangement and grouping, the beauty of their style, the exuberance of their decorations, breathing afresh the genius of the Spaniard and the Moor in graceful forms and gorgeous colorings; the landscape effects, blending the harmonies of forest and lake, of fountain and tower, of cascade and castle and culminating spire-of all that is lovely in nature with all that is refined and ennobling in art. Here, as at Chicago, the architect holds high carnival. If at the Columbian exposition we found the chaste purity of the lily in a presentation "unequaled since the days of Phidias and Praxiteles," the fairies who join hands in the Pan-American clothe themselves with the chaste hues of Titian and of Murillo, unequaled since the days of Venice and of the Alhambra. Another dream of beauty will hang in the eastern sky, paralleling the visions of delight that linger on the western horizon.

Who can doubt the educative effect of these architectural lessons within the hearts of the American people? It is, however, not enough to have evoked, like a mirage floating over the plains, these phantasmagorial delights which fill our lives with joy and our memories with dreams. The president of the French republic in the decree which laid the foundation of the exposition of 1900 declared the purpose of that great enterprise to be "a presentation of the works of art and of industrial and agricultural products"-an assemblage of exhibits. That is without doubt the central, the formative, idea of the Pan-American Exposition. Without exhibits there can be no exposition. Each new and well arranged exposition is a new edition of a world's encyclopedia constructed by a scientific and exhaustive arrangement of material things. It is also a landmark, a

Opportunity Open to All, Young and Old, Rich and Poor. The Chance of a Life Time to See Buffalo, the Great Exposition and Niagara Falls Without a Cent of Expense.

The great Pan-American Exposition which will open at Buffalo on May 1st is expected to surpass, in many ways, the marvels of the Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893. Already the attention of the entire civilized world has been directed toward it and millions of people from all parts of the globe will gather there this summer to enjoy the wonders of this grand show that is being especially designed to usher in the New Century.

Are you going? If not, why not? The trip need not cost you a cent. The WATCHMAN will send you as its guest for a week and guarantee you one of the most delightful times you have ever had.

The only conditions are these: You must get a few new subscribers to the WATCHMAN between now and July 1st. At that time the three persons who have secured the greatest number will be awarded the WATCHMAN'S trips.

There is no trickery by coupons in this plan. All we want to know is the names of the persons undertaking to secure the trip. As they send in new subscriptions they will be credited with them and on July 1st the announcement of the winners will be made, with the number secured by each one. This will show to all contestants that the award has been fairly made.

No matter how many new subscribers are secured, the prizes will be awarded just the same. If a person sends in only two new names, with the accompanying $1 for each one of them for a year's subscription in advance, and if nobody else should care to enter the contest he or she will be sent to Buffalo just the same as if hundreds of new ones had been secured.

years ago and his early life was spent in Union county. When a young man he clerked in Duncan's store at Millheim and years ago and his early life was spent later conducted and owned a store at Centre Mills, Centre county. He was also in the mercantile business in this place and in company with the late S. T. Shugert founded the Centre Democrat. Major Foster had a brilliant military record, being the hero of two wars. He served through the Mexican war and enlisted again when the Civil war required men for the defense of the flag. He served as a major of the 148th Pennsylvania volunteers.

During the Mexican war he received a bad wound in the side. Of late years he has been in the employ of the State, holding an important clerkship in the Department of Internal Affairs.

When a young man he taught school at Aaronsburg and there met Miss Joanna Ettlinger, of that place, whom he married. She survives him with their two daughters, Elizabeth, who is now a teacher in the Carlisle Indian school and Margaret, at home. He was a brother-inlaw of J. G. Kurtz, of the old Central Press of this place. Services were conducted at the home of the deceased by Rev. Luther Dale, pastor of the Messiah Lutheran church in Harrisburg. The body was then taken to Mifflinburg for interment on Monday. Brief services were held at the Kurtz home in that place before burial was made.

JOSEPH A. GREEN.-Joseph A. Green, a retired resident of Milesburg, died at the home of his cousin J. Miles Green, on last Thursday afternoon, from the affects of stomach trouble, with which he had suffered for some time.

He was a son of Gen. S. Miles Green and was born at Barree, Huntingdon county, in January, 1843. It was then an iron center and the Greens were among the early day iron masters. Joseph was educated at Lanrenceville. N. J. and when the war broke out joined the 125th Penna. Vols. and later the 13th Cavalry. Being of revolutionary ancestry it was but natural that he should achieve honor in the service and it was while serving as a lieutenant of cavalry that he was taken prisoner and confined in Libby prison. After his exchange he served as Adj. of parole camp and later was chief of staff with Gen. S. M. B. Young in the Shenandoah Valley.

Upon his return from the army he engaged in business at Barree, but when the great slump in the iron business made it no longer profitable the brothers Col. G. Dorsey Green, of Briarly, Joseph and their sister Miss Hannah E. Green, of Milesburg, came to this county and located on the fine farm now occupied by Col. G. Dorsey Green, alone. The others moved to Milesburg later and have made their home there ever since.

For a time during his residence in Milesburg Joseph had some very profitable coal operations in Clearfield county, but the later years of his life were spent in retirement.

He was a jovical gentleman, a past master in the art of entertainment and will be missed more than words can tell by his comrades of Geo. L. Potter post, 261, of Milesburg.
