

FARM NOTES.

About this time of the year the man, and sometimes it is a woman, who sets out in the spring to grow a fine lawn in front of the house can contemplate the result of his season's work.

His hopefulness and his industry are both praiseworthy. There are in nature few things more beautiful than a perfect lawn. Yet this discretion is not altogether to be commended.

Boastful Englishmen used to tell visiting Americans who admired their lawns that anybody could have one as good merely by cultivating it for several centuries.

In the first place, a moderately rich soil is essential to a good lawn, because grass needs a great deal of nourishment. If the nourishment is not already in the soil it must be supplied in the form of fertilizers.

The barrette has passed through several developments, until it now consists of a broad band of tortoiseshell, crescent-shaped, three inches long and three-quarters of an inch wide, adapted to correspond with the curve of the head; it conceals a large hairpin underneath, which is intended to keep refractory locks in order.

To banish fleas spray your room with the following solution: Two ounces of the oil of penny royal, two ounces of the oil of sassafras and four ounces of alcohol.

To preserve eggs, dissolve in a gallon of water one pound of quick lime and allow it to stand for a day. Then pour the water, so as to keep it clear of sediment, into a stone crock. Carefully wash the eggs and put them in it.

Sleeves have a generous fullness at the top, sufficient to take away a flat, unbecoming effect; they should stand out a little from the shoulder point, but not above it.

The ruffe is doomed, according to the latest report from Paris. It has been worn by everybody and consequently the "haut monde" has dropped it.

MAYONNAISE DRESSING.—Break an egg, separating the white and the yoke carefully, and to the latter add the juice of a lemon, half a teaspoonful each of white pepper and a saltspoonful of salt.

The woman who really considers the art of dress apures no expense in the matter of stays. Just now some of our elegantes are investing in a new style of stay which gives the straight front, rounded hips and small waist which we all desire.

Try making your own extract of vanilla for home use if you want to be sure you are using a pure article; two vanilla beans, half a pint of alcohol and half a pint of boiled and cooled or distilled water will give you a pint of extract for the cost of half a pint as purchased.

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN.

It takes two for a kiss, Only one for a sigh; Twain by twain we marry, One by one we die.

Joy is a partnership, Grief weeps alone; Many guests had Cana, Gethsemane had one.

—Friedrich Lawrence Knowles.

When fall comes, outing hats will be very popular. Fashion is particularly partial to those of light colors, and the broad brimmed heavers and felts are trimmed with velvet, wings and breasts of harmonizing tues.

Women as they grow older are troubled with the deposit of flesh about the neck and chin. This can be prevented, or at least decreased, writes Dr. Grace Peckham Murray in Collier's, by exercise with the head, especially with the backward motion, which puts the neck muscles on the stretch.

The most conspicuous part of the belt, now, the back, on which the slides of large dimensions are revived, and very ornate designs. The pin in front is often much smaller than the slide.

The girl in the linen gown is everywhere. Sometimes she trims it with linen color lace. More often she tucks it daintily and adds a belt and collar of blue or pink or flaming scarlet, which ever is most becoming.

The Man and His Conscience.

I sleep soundly at night, because my conscience is wide awake all day," said the man with a laugh.

"I like you Conscience," said the man, "but I must get on. I can't kill you, I will just put you to sleep for a time."

One day a fraud offered to help the man in his struggle for wealth. Conscience said, "I only go where honor goes."

But the man needed money sorely. "I must have it," he said. "Rest you here awhile with my honor."

And Conscience slept. Then cruel injustice came and said, "Use me and I will give you this fame you crave."

But Conscience said, "You dare not, for when you rob the widow and the orphan, when you ruin your opponent, then I will cry out."

Still the man said, "I'm getting on now, I will be unjust for this time. Be still my Conscience and sleep a little longer."

And Conscience slept. The years went by. The man was rich and famous. In a beautiful garden stood his magnificent mansion. Men envied and praised him.

It is midnight, still and dark. Back and forth, back and forth, across the heavy carpet paces the man through the weary hours of darkness.

During the day Conscience slept. But now through the long night as it walks through the corridors of that mansion, the chambers of his heart, it every footfall is like the tread of an impending doom.—Ram's Horn.

Henry T. Scott, Paid $2000 for Board and Lodging for President and Mrs. McKinley.

Bill was for the Time When Letter was Serious-ly Ill in San Francisco, Mr. Scott Asked $500 Additional for Chef Services, but Committee Would Not Allow It.

Mr. Henry T. Scott, president of the Union Iron Works, San Francisco millionaire and builder of the bulldog battleship Oregon and the later Ohio, is a thrifty man.

He does not believe that the honor of entertaining President and Mrs. McKinley at his home during the Whites' serious illness of the lady of the White House is sufficient to balance the expenditure of good money he made in so doing.

This appears in the published report of the finance committee which had the entertainment and reception of the distinguished visitors here to witness the launching of the Ohio in charge.

This report shows that for the two weeks' visit at his home, Mr. Scott presented a bill of $2500 to the committee. After they had audited it they struck off one charge of $500 for a chef and sent a check for $200 for the shipbuilder.

Mr. Scott, when asked about the affair declined absolutely to talk.

The military short coat for men, which early in the summer had just a suggestion of a waist and a slight flare of the skirts, has been so modified by young men who are extreme in clothes that it has become a caricature of a man's coat.

Mr. Scott, when asked about the affair declined absolutely to talk.

ASTONISHED THE EDITOR.—Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, S. C., was once immensely surprised. "Through long suffering from dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters which helped her at once, and, after using four bottles, she is entirely well. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For indigestion, loss of appetite, stomach and liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50c at Green's.

King Edward's Vast Dominion.

No Other Earthly Sovereign Ever Ruled So Great an Empire.

The King is to have another high sounding phrase to his name. "King of All the British Dominions Beyond the Seas" is the way in which the empire is to be recognized in the royal title.

Queen Victoria ascended the throne of an empire embracing 8,329,000 square miles; she handed it down to King Edward with 3,000,000 miles added to it.

A Little Known Philanthropist. Henry Dolan, a multi-millionaire and philanthropist of whom New York knew little, died alone last Sunday at his home in New York.

She is the daughter of his only brother and is an old woman now with several grown sons and daughters. Mr. Dolan was past 80 and eccentric. He was also philanthropic, the negroes being his special favorites when it came to dispensing charity, and he always gave with a free hand.

It is estimated that he gave away hundreds of thousands of dollars, but no one ever heard of it. He never carried a paper and he never announced his good deeds. He was best known and probably will be remembered by many as the man who looked like Bismarck. He was a perfect double of the great German statesman and was more than six feet in height.

Corn Timbales.—Grate the corn from the ears. To each pint allow three eggs, beaten well, half a teaspoonful of salt, a saltspoonful of white pepper, half a cup of fine cracker crumbs and a pinch of mace or nutmeg. Butter the cups and dust them with finely minced parsley and fill them about two thirds full. Set in a baking pan with enough water in to come as high as the corn mixture, but not enough to boil over inside. Cover with a sheet of buttered paper and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes. Turn them out on a heated platter and pour tomato sauce around them. Serve immediately.

Buttermilk Creams.—Take a quart or two according to quantity required, of freshly churned buttermilk; tie it up in a cloth and hang it over a basin for three or four days till the whey has all run from it, and only the curd remains in the cloth. Beat the curd with a whisk, with either raspberry jam or fresh raspberries. If the latter, a good deal of white powdered sugar should be added; if the former, a little sugar will do. Send to table heaped in jelly glasses.
