

FARM NOTES.

It is claimed that a sprinkling of hops in the brine used for pickling bacon and hams adds greatly to the flavor and assists in their preservation.

Never depend upon a single food for an animal. The cow prefers a varied diet and will give more milk when her food is of a kind to tempt her to eat.

Clean off the asparagus bed and apply a mixture of 200 pounds superphosphate, 225 pounds sulphate of potash per acre, and give the bed a good coating of manure.

The large worms that prey on catalpa trees can be destroyed by the use of Paris green in water, sprayed on the trees.

If the sod in the orchard is too tough, and it is not desirable to plow it, turn the pigs in it and give them a free range.

Corn fodder that is not out down until the leaves are yellow, and then left all winter in the fields, where the shocks are blown over, and the fodder exposed to rain and frost, is usually worth nothing.

There is much to learn in regard to feeding. The common practice is to give the hay and grain separately.

Don't be proud. Be self respecting. Let none use you for a step ladder. Offer to assist when you can.

Don't be idle. Idleness is the mother of all ills, mental, physical and spiritual. Work for some goal.

It is the little accessories of a toilet which makes a woman look well dressed. A variety of becoming stocks, pretty collarettes of organza, or lawn or lace, fresh ribbons about the throat, all of these details are of importance in producing the desired effect.

What does the nervous mother ask herself in moments when nerves are overstrained by pain or excitement of any kind? "Rest!" she demands. "Leave me! Let me have quiet, darkness, freedom from effort!"

We accord the nervous baby exactly opposite treatment. We answer as if it entreated, "Rock me! Toss me! Shake rattles at me! Sing to me! Shout, jump at me! Show me a light—anything to keep me awake and excited!"

Tradition takes a strong hold on the nursery. It is voted cruel indifference to "let a baby cry." The very mother who best recognizes a "good cry" in calming her own overwrought feelings can least make up her mind to allow the same relaxation to the baby for whose nervous condition she is probably entirely to blame, says "Good Housekeeping."

The tiny baby's fretfulness is as a rule purely physical and especially dependent on over excited nerves. Any mother who will allow her baby to grow for at least six months of its life in a restful atmosphere, absolutely unstimulated beyond its natural pace of development, will have food for thought on comparing her results with those of the more common training.

If you are going to fit up your house for the winter here are a few hints towards beautifying it.

Shelves are never amiss in a modern room. Not the ready made shelves of the shops, but those put here, there and everywhere made and stained by a carpenter.

They are made all widths, too. One most stylish one seen lately was at least 10 in. wide and ran across just one side of the room. It was stained green and the unusually large supporting brackets were ornamented to represent the head and neck of a peafowl.

A living room in a modern dwelling is upholstered in moss green and a tender gray, the color of lichens and of granite rock. The walls are covered with moss green burlap, which ascends as high as the "plate rail."

Above this the wall is covered by a frieze of gray burlap. The green willow easy chairs are fitted with moss green velvet covered cushions. The window seat is fitted with lichen, gray and moss green covered cushions. The rug on the floor is of mixed rock gray and moss green. These colors blend together very well.

The open beam ceiling is growing more and more the proper thing for living room, den, dining room, etc. These beams are usually stained or painted like the woodwork of the room.

The tailor costume is the autumn suit "par excellence." It is to that the couturiers are now giving their attention.

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN.

The most glaring fault of American dressing is the discord expressed by feminine clothing and the time or place. We no longer find décolleté gowns in daylight, to be sure, but we see tailor made frocks on festive occasions and shirtwaists at formal affairs.

Don't be proud. Be self respecting. Let none use you for a step ladder. Offer to assist when you can.

Cloudburst at Cleveland.

A Million Dollars Worth of Property Destroyed—Hundreds of Families Rescued From Their Homes.

Sunday morning the citizens of Cleveland O., awoke to look upon a scene of unparalleled devastation and destruction caused by a raging flood. While the entire city was more or less affected, the great volume of raging water vented its anger over miles of the eastern portion of the city and caused an amount of damage proximated at $1,000,000.

The overflow was caused by a rainstorm that commenced shortly after 2 o'clock, turned into a perfect cloudburst between 3 and 5 o'clock and then continued with great force until nearly 10 o'clock.

Over a large part of this exclusive residence territory the water rushed with terrific force, varying in depth from one to six feet. Culverts, trestles and bridges were torn down and for hours nothing seemed capable of stemming the tide of destruction.

Row boats piled back and forth assisting whole families from perilous positions, but these proved pitifully inadequate and it was soon found necessary to go to the extraordinary precaution of calling on the life-saving crew from the river, a distance of seven miles.

The life boats were quickly loaded on wagons and hurried to the scene of destruction.

The torrent surged with awful force for hours in Deering street, from Fairmount to the Boulevard, and over a dozen families were penned in like rats in a trap, with water five and six feet deep surrounding their homes.

At this point the life-saving crew worked valiantly, and, assisted by squads of firemen and policemen, finally succeeded in landing the terror-stricken people in places of safety.

Shortly before noon the torrent succeeded in undermining a score of graves in the St. Joseph cemetery, at the corner of East Madison and Woodland, and the bodies were soon being tossed about in the waters.

Use of Orris Root. Beads of the Plant Employed to Keep Wounds Open.

The British vice consul at Leghorn, in his report of his district for the past year, mentions a curious industry in which orris root plays the chief part.

Great Fires of History.

Most Calamitous Conflagrations in the Old and New Worlds During the Past.

The old world's most calamitous fire was that which took place in London in 1666, which destroyed 14,000 buildings, laid 400 streets waste, and rendered 200,000 persons homeless, the loss of life being 1,000, and that of property $40,000,000.

New York City had a fire in 1835 which destroyed $20,000,000 of property, and one in 1833 which inflicted a loss of $10,000,000, and this was followed by one in 1845 in which $5,000,000 of property went up in smoke.

San Francisco had two fires six weeks apart in 1851, inflicting a loss of $4,000,000 in the first, and of $3,000,000 in the second.

The two most calamitous fires ever known anywhere in the world occurred in the United States within thirteen months of each other. In the first of these, in Chicago, on October 8-9, 1871, the property loss was $200,000,000, and in the second, in Boston, on November 9th, 1872, $80,000,000 of property was consumed.

A tramp called at a farmhouse on the Yorkshire wolds the other day and asked for some refreshments.

"How do you know?" asked the lady. "Because," answered the tramp, as he sidled down the garden path, "a man who married a woman with a face like that is only home at meal times."

A NIGHT OF TERROR.—"A awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave Gen. Burnham, of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she would die from Pneumonia before morning" writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln who attended her that fearful night, but she begged for Dr. King's New Discovery, which had more than once saved her life, and cured her of Consumption.

—A Philosopher.—Wife—There is a burglar down in the cellar, Henry.

Husband—Well, my dear, we ought to be thankful that we are upstairs.

Wife—But he'll come up here.

Husband—Then we'll go down in the cellar my dear. Surely a ten room house ought to be big enough to hold three persons without crowding.

Green's Pharmacy.

A SAFE SUMMER PILL.

Constipation usually precedes cholera morbus, diarrhoea, dysentery, flux, and all morbid bowel disorders marked by pain and too frequent evacuation.

Overcome constipation and you guard against these painful, weakening and dangerous attacks. But the remedy must be a mild one—that regulates the bowels by awakening the liver.

GREEN'S LIVER PILLS

are so mild and gentle because they give tone to the liver and stimulate the secretion of bile.

Bile is nature's laxative and there is no need of harsh and drastic drugs.
