Remains of President McKinley Laid to Rest-Impressive Ceremonies-Beautiful Floral Display-Mrs. McKinley Not Present—An Immense Con course of People Follow the Hearse to the Grave in West Lawn Cemetery.

By 1 o'clock on Thursday afternoon regiment after regiment of soldiers, acting as guards, were in triple lines from curbs ok to the lawns on the streets about the McKinley home in Canton, O. Directly in front of the house were the two rigid files of body bearers-eight sailors from the navy and eight soldiers from the army, who carried the casket to and from the hearse. President Roosevelt, the members of the Cabinet, General Miles, Brook, Otis, McArthur, Admiral Dewey, Farquhar, Crowinshild and nearly all of the com-manders of the army and navy; Governors Nash, of Ohio; McMillian, of Tennessee; Longino, of Mississippi ; U. S. Senators, Congressmen, Members of the Loyal Legion, prominent Masons, Odd Fellows, Knights of Pythias, division after division of the G. A. R. and plantoon after plantoon of soldiers assembled at the McKinley home and awaited places in the procession which escorted the body to the cemetery. A brief private service was held at the house, as Mrs. McKinley was not able to leave her room or to attend the service in the church and as the flag wrapped casket was carried out to the hearse every bell in Canton gave forth its dolorous plaint. The great procession took up its mournful jour-ney and by 2 o'clock had reached the stately stone church in which the last services were held. The scene at the church was profoundly impressive. The interior of the church had been elaborately decorated with black. A border twenty feet high relieved at intervals with white bands swept completely around the interior. The stained glass windows and doors were the rear of a line passing through the front framed in black and graceful black stream-thirty years ago offered the first prayer. Dr. John A. Hall, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran church, read the beautiful nine-teenth Psalm, Rev. E. P. Herbruck verses 41-58 of the twenty-fifth chapter of 1 Corinthians. The quartette then sang Cardi-nal Newman's hymn, "Lead Kindly purple asters. On its sides was worked in Light.'

Dr. C. E. Manchester delivered an address, which lasted twenty four minutes on the life of the late President and the lessons taught by his noble character and death. Bishop I. W. Joyce, of Minneapo-lis, followed with a brief prayer, and the services were concluded with the singing of services were concluded with the singing of the hymn which President McKinley re-peated on his deathbed, "Nearer My God to Thee. Nearer to Thee." The entire congregation arose and joined in the last stanza. Father Valtmau, of Chicago, chaplain of the Twenty ninth infantry, pronounced the benediction. Then the notes of the or-gan again arose. The coffin was taken up and borne from the church. The relatives and those in official life went out in the order they had entered.

It was shortly after 3 o'clock when the silent and anxious throngs outside the church saw the solemn pageant reappear through the church doors. First came the guard of military and naval honor, the generals and admirals, forming in double line from the entrance to waiting hearse. Again the flag draped casket with its wealth of flowers appeared and was committed to the hearse. The president and members of the cabinet followed arm in arm and stepped into waiting carriages. The relatives en-tered carriages next. Then the squadron of troopers broke from their battalion front and wheeling into platoons took up the march to the grave. The line of the funeral march from the church to the cemetery was about one and one half miles in length.

From the gates of the cemetery to the doors of the church there was on each side of the street an almost unbroken line of soldiers and on all the intersecting streets, detachments of the militia were posted about one hundred feet from the thorough-

Dr. Rixey who is staying at the McKin-ley residence in Canton, Ohio, said Saturday evening that there had been no change in the condition of Mrs. McKinley and that she is doing as well as could be ex-pected. He said : "She went out for two hours' driving Saturday and still seems to be holding her own."

The drives were taken in the family carriage and open surry which the President had sent from Washington for use during the summer vacation. Dr. Rixey and Mrs. C. Barber accompanied Mrs. McKiuley. The first trip was to the cemetery and it was at the request of Mrs. McKinley. A much longer drive was taken during the afternoon at the suggestion of the doctor, who feels that his pa-tient is benefited by all the outside life had a tendency to produce sleep and increase her appetite, and now they have that effect, with a degree at least.
