

FARMER JERRY ROAN HELD UP NEAR PHILIPSBURG.—Jerry Roan, who lives on his own farm about three miles west of Bellefonte, on the Buffalo-run road, was the victim of a hold-up near Philipsburg, Friday evening. The particulars of the robbery are about as follows:

Jerry arrived in Philipsburg Friday morning, having some business on hand. After it had been transacted he visited several of the hotels about the town and fell in with a young fellow who gave his name as Calvin Stiles and claimed to live somewhere near Snow Shoe. They soon became "buds" and had a good time, at Jerry's expense of course, until about 7:30 in the evening when they wandered down the Pennsylvania railroad tracks to the watering tank, near the engine house. There the young man proceeded to "do up" his farmer friend and relieve him of his money. He choked him, hammered him and kicked him until he was presumably unconscious. Then he rifled his pockets, and in words that were overheard by the farmer, said, "I'll get a coupling pin and do the rest." Just then he heard the "Jerk Water" passenger returning from Houtzdale, and throwing Jerry on the track said, "It will do the balance." Then he hurried away, and his victim hearing the train approaching, rolled off the track far enough to allow it to pass. He was soon able to get up, and at once reported the affair to the men at the engine house near by.

Jerry was in pretty bad shape and was taken to the Continental hotel, where he told his story to chief of police Sankey. The latter started to hunt the assailant and half an hour later had him before his victim. He was identified as the right man and was locked up until Saturday morning, when he was given a hearing before justice Sandford who held him under $400 for his appearance at court. Being unable to furnish the necessary bondsmen constable William Batchelor brought him to jail that day.

Stiles professes to remember nothing about the assault. He had about $8 on his person when arrested and an old tobacco pouch which Jerry claims he always used as a purse, though he says he was robbed of $17 the prisoner might have spent the balance or Jerry might have been mistaken as to the amount. Stiles is a native of Missouri, about 25 years old and unmarried.

A WARNING TO WOMEN TRAVELERS.—The following incident will serve to illustrate a new scheme that sharpers of western cities are working, with more or less success, or unsuspecting women travelers. It is a clever one and so adroitly managed that it is little wonder that many are ensnared. A Bellefonte woman was recently marked as prey in Chicago, but her good judgment saved her from being robbed and probably a far worse fate.

She had been West and was homeward bound, when she decided to stop off in Chicago for a short visit with a cousin, who was married and living in one of the suburbs of that city. Of course the cousin had been apprised of her coming by letter, but she was admonished against trying to get into Chicago to meet her relative from this place at such an inconvenient hour as 7 a. m., that being the time her train would reach the city. The traveler arriving at the station got off and went leisurely to the restaurant where she had breakfast.

After finishing the meal she took a seat in the main waiting room, at the head of the stairs leading down to the train shed, to idle the time away until her cousin would come. She had been seated there only a few moments, when a well dressed, respectable looking man approached her and, raising his hat, said: "You are Mrs. _____." She said "yes, that is who I am," and then he said, hurriedly: "Well, you are my wife's cousin, so come right along with me." By this time the lady had gotten to her feet, whereupon the man familiarly took her arm, as if to lead her out of the station. Fortunately she had a slight recollection as to what her cousin's husband looked like and it suddenly flashed through her mind that this man in no wise resembled him. Then she turned and said: "No sir, I will not go with you. I came to meet a lady and will wait until she comes." At this the man hastened out of the station. A little later the cousin arrived and was greatly astonished when she heard the story, for she knew that her husband was at his place of business and had had no idea of going to the station.

The incident was not followed up until a short time ago when it was told to a young Pittsburg who was enough interested to relate it to the superintendent of police of that city. That official informed him that the scheme was a new one that is being worked with much success in western cities, where it is supposed that the sharp gets the name of his dupe from servants employed in the home she is expected to visit. This would be very easy of accomplishment and an identifying description of the visitor might also be had in this way if there should happen to be a picture of her in the house which the servant could see and describe to her accomplice.

Happily, in this case, the woman's good judgment saved her, but how many unsuspecting women or girls, or even men, might fall into just such a cleverly laid trap? It is well worth remembering and should be a warning to everyone visiting strange places to have a care as to whom they put confidence in and to be a little curious as to the whys and wherefores of things when alone.

The Vogel minstrels will be a great attraction at Garman's on Friday night, Oct. 18th. You can depend upon it, they are fine this year.

SPLENDID TALENT FOR A LEMONT CONCERT.—The Lemont Presbyterians are going to have a concert in the church at that place on Thursday evening, Oct. 24th, and from the amount of talent they have secured there is no doubt but that it will be the finest musical entertainment ever heard in that vicinity.

The State College student's quartet, Messrs. Dieke, Wert, Sharpe and Merkle, will sing several numbers and the others are Miss Wyman, Orford, N. H., piano; Miss Mary Dale, Lemont, organ; Miss Belle Thompson, Spruce Creek, soprano; Miss Emily Alexander, Centre Hall, soprano; Prof. J. H. Leete, State College, bass; Mr. F. J. Saunders, Syracuse, N. Y., baritone; Mr. R. J. Huber, Shamokin, violin, and Mr. R. W. Bower, Harrisburg, cornet.

With such an array of musicians the repair fund of the church ought to be greatly augmented, for it will be an entertainment worth far more than the 25cts. admission to be charged.

Claude M. Alexander, a young colored man who recently graduated from the Philipsburg High school, has been appointed to a position in the registry department of the Chicago post-office at a salary of $50 per month.

To the Citizens of Milesburg and Vicinity.

I take this method of acknowledging the very marked courtesy and kindness uniformly shown me since my residence in Milesburg.

But on Saturday evening 5th inst., when Mr. P. H. Haupt placed in my hand a paper signed by no less than eighty-five of the voters of our town and vicinity, I was more than surprised and more than pleased.

If by the grace of God, whom I love and endeavor to serve, I have merited the favor and esteem of my fellow citizens, regardless of church or social affiliations, to Him our heavenly Father be all praise.

At no time had I fully decided to close my labors at present as pastor of the Milesburg Baptist church; and my friends may rest assured there is less inclination to do so now. My earnest prayer to God is that He will continue His favor and enable me to retain the respect and friendship of the citizens of our community.

E. C. HOUCK, Pastor.

David Campbell, one of Harris township's intelligent farmers and way up Grangers, with his mother, Mrs. Eliza Campbell, were recent visitors at the McCracken home in the Glades.

The new double school house at Baileyville is completed and is a splendid edifice. It is another plum in Jacob Keller's hat as a builder and architect. Rumor says it is to be dedicated on the 25th.

George Baker, of Downs, Kan., is visiting his old family home at Oak Hall. He is quite a nimrod and will enjoy the hunting season, which promises to be very good, on Tussey mountain's lofty peaks. Mrs. Baker is here with him.

We are sorry to note the misfortune that befell our young friend George Bailey while working in the Altoona shops. He was struck in the head by a heavy weight which necessitated his going to the hospital.

Last Monday Gertrude Keichline took charge of the Centre school. Wilson Gates was transferred to the Baileyville grammar school in the new building, making in all six-teen schools in our township.

Mr. Luke Hay, of Meyersdale, has purchased the J. A. Decker farm which is known as the Judge McWilliams homestead near Pennsylvania Furnace. It is one of the beautiful farms of Spruce Creek valley and Mr. Hay has made a move he will never regret.

Emmanuel Peters purchased the Samuel McWilliams farm in the Glades on Monday. Mr. Peters is to be congratulated as it is the garden spot in the Glades and is in the highest state of cultivation. We welcome Mr. Peters to our valley and are especially glad that he is a Democrat.

J. Arthur Fortney and his sister Anna, Lee Segner and his sister, Ella, Miss Bertie Kimport, Miss Burkholder, of Centre Hall, Newton and Samuel Hess, John P. Wagner and Stine Walker all of this community, were among the visitors at Buffalo and Niagara this week. They went Tuesday.

A reception was given C. Milton Fry and his bride on Wednesday evening at the home of George Behrer near State College. On Thursday evening they were given the same ovation at the home of the groom's parents. A gay time was enjoyed and the happy couple will leave for their new home in Pittsburg the latter part of the week.

Farmer E. V. Kocher, who farms the Samuel McWilliams farm in the Glades had quite an experience on Saturday evening which he does not care to repeat. One of his horses plunged into a deep sink and was so thoroughly imbedded in the mire that it required a dozen of his neighbors to get him out. The horse was none the worse for its experience except that it was stiffened up a little.

George McWilliams, of Fairbrook, who was in Bellefonte under Dr. Hayes' care for laryngitis, went to Philadelphia Tuesday to enter the University hospital for treatment. He was accompanied by his mother and his many friends hope for his speedy and ultimate recovery. He was operated upon several years ago at the University hospital for the same trouble, but the relief was only temporary.

QUIETLY MARRIED.—Winfield Scott Bressler and Lydia Barto were married in Altoona on the 25th. The marriage took place away from home on account of the illness of the groom's father, Samuel Bressler, who is quite feeble. The groom is a sober and industrious young man with a good position in the P. E. R. shops. The bride is a daughter of Jacob Barto, of Pennsylvania Furnace, and is well fitted for a life companion.

Rev. D. E. Hepler preached an excellent sermon last Sunday evening on education. His text was "All thy children shall be taught by the Lord as found in Isaiah 54:13. He clearly brought out the duty of guardians and parents and stated that the co-operation of directors, teachers and parents was necessary to round out the character of the child and to fit it for a responsible position in life. Above all it is the parents' fault if the child is not given a fair education these days for the county is well equipped with schools and if the child is taught obedience and made to study he will come out on top.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.—Following is the list of marriage licenses granted by orphan's court clerk, A. G. Arthey, during the past week:

J. M. William and Grace Reese, both of Port Matilda.

Albert F. Miller and Emeline Gentzel, both of Sober.

Edward Venatta of Lock Haven, and Jennie Peters, of Milesburg.
