THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

Nobody has sent us a wild turkey yet. Isn't it too bad? High Crider was the unanimous choice of the Academy foot-ball team for manager. Are you going to the great State-Lefhigh foot ball game in Williamsport on November 16th. H. H. Miller, of Rebersburg, recently husked 128 bushels of corn off seven-eighths of an acre of ground. No one has been appointed yet to take the place of constable Reuben Kline, of Spring Mills, who died several weeks ago. Clyde Blackford, the Bishop street restauranter, was in Williamsport recently and secured the services of Henry Williams, as chef for his place here. The Bellefonte High school foot ball eleven went to Lock Haven on Saturday and defeated the High school eleven of that place by the score of 11 to 5. In planning for Christmas don't forget that the Presbyterians will have a full line of fancy work at their fair which is to be held the first week in December. Hon. W. K. Alexander is teaching a school in Millheim because the sudden illness of Miss McCloskey, one of the corps, left the board in a lurch for a supply. John Searly, who drives the Wagner mill wagon at Rebersburg, is just recovering from a serious case of typhoid fever that his many friends will be glad to know that he is on such a fair way toward surviving. The ladies of the Bellefonte Lutheran church are going to hold an oyster supper in the W. C. T. U. rooms, on Allegheny street, on Thursday evening, October 31st, and Friday evening, November 1st. It will continue each evening from five until ten o'clock. Mrs. Calvin Stover, of Wolf's Store, threw some dynamite cartridges into the stove on Monday. She did not know what they were until they exploded and busted things up generally. A piece of one of the caps was blown clear through Mrs. Stover's check. Squire Michael Hess dropped in on Wednesday to say that he was not hurt by his fall from a breaking ladder, while picking apples at his farm at Shingle-town recently. In fact the Squire would acknowledge that he fell at all. He says he jumped bear-fashion. While on his way to Lock Haven to play foot ball on Saturday Lee Runkle, of this place, lost his hat from the cars at Mackeyville. In his endeavor to get it he slipped and in falling out his head and fractured his arm. He was taken on to Lock Haven, where Dr. Armstrong dressed his injuries. A large flock of wild geese excited Howard sports on Wednesday. They flew so low to the ground that Jake DeHaas thought he recognized his famous rooster that lays the trick eggs mixed up among them. Jake had been thinking for some time, however, that since it was too dumb to come home it ought to be a goose. Supt. Rine found a bad water leak on West High street Wednesday morning that ought to open the eyes of council to another possible cause for the great consumption of water in Bellefonte, other than the wastefulness of the people. A two-inch supply pipe was broken clear in two and there is every evidence that it has been in such condition for several years. Special services will be held in the Reformed church on Sunday and Rev. E. D. Miller, of Haver, will preach both morning and evening. At the morning service the election of a new pastor will take place to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. Thomas Levan Biekle. It is earnestly desired that every member of the congregation be present. 'Uncle' Jimmy Waddell's many Bellefonte friends will be sorry to learn that he met with a mishap at Mill Hill, Thursday evening, that caused very serious injury to him. 'Uncle' Jimmy is the neighbor of Bald Eagle valley trainmen and we sincerely hope that the charm that has hung over him ever since that road was built will continue to preserve him until he is retired. The only English walnut tree known of in this section of the country stands at the rear of the old Haas home at Rebersburg. It was brought to this country from Germany by the late Louis Haas and notwithstanding it has grown to a height of about forty feet it has borne fruit only twice. This year it bore nineteen walnuts. They are not exactly like the English walnuts known to trade, but have more the appearance of a small butternut and taste very much like them. The Bellefonte Academy and Williamsport High school foot-ball teams played on the fair grounds here, on Saturday afternoon, and the visitors were vanquished by the score of 13 to 0. The game was an unnecessarily rough one and three of the Williamsport boys were quite seriously hurt. Weise had three ribs broken, Kline had his shoulder bone broken in two places and Campbell suffered a serious twist.

HENRY BRUNGART DIES SUDDENLY.—Henry Brungart, of Rebersburg, a brother of sheriff Cyrus N. Brungart, died very unexpectedly at his home on Tuesday evening. He had been out in a lot he had in the outskirts of the village husking some corn and feeling unwell returned to the house towards evening. When asked what he would have for his supper he told his wife that he did not care for anything, that he was sick. Soon afterward he became worse and a physician was hurriedly summoned, but he expired without having said anything more than "It's too bad." Deceased was a son of Jacob and Sallie Brungart and was born near Wolf's Store in September, 1847. His early life was spent about home where he learned the tanning trade from his uncle Jeremiah Haines. After he had married Maggie Leitzel in 1847 and set up for himself he embarked in the tanning business with A. B. Erhard. They conducted it successfully for some time, but sold out finally and then Mr. Brungart went to carpentering, which he followed for a number of years, part of the time being a foreman of work for a large Pittsburg firm. After returning to his home in Rebersburg he followed the trade for awhile, but later took up furniture and undertaking and was engaged in that business when he died. Mr. Brungart became a member of the Lutheran church early in life and lived upright in that faith ever after. He was a man of strict integrity and had great charity for those in distress. His passing is lamentable because he was a man who will be truly missed. His wife and one daughter, Mrs. E. E. Wood, of Scottsdale, survive him with his aged mother, five brothers and three sisters. Two of his children preceded him to the spirit world. Funeral services will be held in the Lutheran church at Rebersburg this morning and interment will be made at that place.

MRS. JOSEPH GILLILAND.—Mrs. Joseph Gilliland, who died at her home in Lock Haven, last Thursday afternoon, lived so long in this county that her death is a matter of regret to many, even though she had been a resident of another community for a long time. Her death was caused by cancer of the stomach, from which she suffered for some time. As a girl she was generally admired and no more popular young lady was there about Snow Shoe than was Lucretia B. Lucas. When only 13 she joined the Methodist church and her simple faith in Christ lent all the more lustre to a beautiful young life. October 23rd, 1850, she married Joseph Gilliland, who survives her with his two daughters, Lydia, of Lock Haven; and Mrs. Clara Hauey, of Patton. Her brothers Isaac Lucas, of Patton, and Jesse, of Snow Shoe, and her sister, Mrs. Thomas Cameron, of Philipsburg, are also living. Mrs. Gilliland was 64 years, 5 months and 3 days old when her body was laid to rest in the cemetery in Snow Shoe on Monday it was on the twenty-first anniversary of her wedding day and her grave is within sight of her birth place, as well as that of her marriage. Rev. Isaac Heckman conducted the funeral services. The pall bearers were J. C. Smith, J. D. Stoughton, F. J. David, J. B. Lesher, John Shaffer and H. W. Schreffler.

ROBERT BIERLY.—Robert Bierly passed away at his home in Milesburg on Monday, after a long illness with kidney trouble. He was 63 years old and was one of the pioneer settlers of that portion of Milesburg known as Central City, where he has resided for the past thirty years. Mr. Bierly was a quiet, unassuming plodder along life's pathway. He filled his sphere well but never sought notoriety in it. He was a genius in many things and shared to a large extent that family's talent for music. Surviving him are his wife and three sons, together with his brothers Nathaniel and Lewis, of Milesburg, and sisters Mrs. Rebecca Watson, of Galeton, and Agnes Teller, of Milesburg. Having been a long member of the Presbyterian church Rev. Walter F. Carson, of that denomination, officiated at his funeral Thursday morning. Interment was made in the Union cemetery in this place.

JONATHAN SCHENCK.—The venerable Jonathan Schenck, one of the oldest and most respected residents of Howard township, died at his home one mile east of Howard, on the old Schenck homestead, on Tuesday evening of last week. He was 82 years old and a man whose position in that community was to be envied, so generally liked was he. He had been ill for about two months with a complication of diseases and died in the ripe fruition of a long and useful life. Rev. I. N. Bair officiated at the funeral services on Thursday; interment being made in the Schenck cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Steiner, widow of the late Jacob F. Steiner, died at her home near Philipsburg on Tuesday evening. She had been in poor health for some time and her death was momentarily expected. Mrs. Steiner was a woman far above the ordinary and represented an old and influential family in that vicinity. Her maiden name was Harnish and she was born near Water Street, Huntingdon county, 74 years ago. Two sons and six daughters survive her; among the latter being Mrs. C. T. Fryberger, of Philipsburg. Interment was made from her late home yesterday afternoon.

IRA C. LEATHERS DEAD.—Ira C. Leathers died at his home in Howard, on Friday evening at 6 o'clock, after a long illness with dropsy and other troubles. He was 66 years old and is survived by his wife and the following children: Mrs. Frank Lingle, of Beech Creek; Mrs. William Gardner and Edward, of Renovo; Mrs. Chas. Lanning, of Youngville, Carrie and Leroy, at home. His surviving brothers and sister are Roland, of Howard; Nathan, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. Theodore Leathers, of Mt. Eagle. Mr. Leathers was a splendid type of man. In the early days he was a boatman on the old canal and followed that work until that historic public carrier passed out of use. Then he went to farming and later carried on the roofing business in conjunction with it. He had so many good qualities that he was universally liked, whole souled and genial Mr. Leathers was a man whom every one had pleasure in knowing and his death is lamented by hosts of friends. Interment was made on Sunday, Rev. Frank Bergen, of the Disciple church, having officiated.

John Albert, aged 54 years, died at his home, "Cloverdale farm," near Philipsburg, on Saturday evening, after an illness of several years with consumption. He was born on the farm adjoining the one on which he lived for years had conducted a well regulated dairy farm. His wife and aged mother, as well as two daughters, and one son, Myrtle, Edna and Roland E., survive him. He was a member of Moshannon lodge, F. & A. M. and interment was made under order of the Masons on Tuesday.

Dropsy and the infirmities of old age caused the death of John W. Stover, at the home of his son, J. Fall Stover, on North Water street, Tuesday evening. He was a native of Yellow Springs, Huntingdon county, and had lived until next January he would have been 90 years old. Surviving are his three sons William, of Butler; Henry, of Philipsburg, and J. Fall, of this place. Rev. W. P. Shriner conducted the funeral services at the house yesterday afternoon and interment was made at Unionville.

P. N. Hicks, who was a well known old resident of Huston township, died at the home of his son Curtin, near Martinsburg, on Saturday morning, from troubles incident to old age. He was one of the early day foremen and worked at most of the old iron centres of this and Blair county. His widow and eight children survive.

William Weaver, aged 76 years, died at his home at Farmer's Mills, on Wednesday morning, after an illness of several weeks. His widow and three children survive him. Services will be held in Green Grove church Saturday morning and interment made in the cemetery there.

Samuel Green, one of the oldest residents of Aaronsburg, died at his home in that place on Thursday of last week, at the age of 77 years. A large concourse of people attended his funeral which was held at Aaronsburg on Saturday.

Mrs. James Bathurst, aged about 70 years, died at her home at Mt. Eagle on Monday of last week, after an illness of six weeks with typhoid fever. She is survived by a number of children. Interment was made next day in Cuttin cemetery.

Mrs. Alice Gledhill, who died of cancer at her home in Tyrone Sunday morning, was formerly a resident of Philipsburg. Her remains were taken to the latter place for interment on Tuesday.

The great rummage sale is to begin on November 4th.

A valuable cow owned by P. Aumiller, of Woodward, had to be killed on Sunday because she broke her leg while running.

The rummage sale will open in the Bauer store room on Allegheny street on Nov. 4th. The proceeds will be for the town's poor.

Barrelers tried to force an entrance into Condo's store at Wolf's Store Tuesday night. C. W. Freedy's dog gave an alarm and that gentleman fired several shots after the fleeing miscreants.

Clark W. Bible received his commission as post-master of Potters Mills on Tuesday of last week and the next day established the office in F. A. Carson's general store. All the equipment was destroyed in the store of Alex. McCoy & Son, so that Mr. Bible will have to get everything new.

There will be a Sunday school rally in the chapel at Coleville on Sunday afternoon, November 3rd, at 3 o'clock. All the supplies will be on hand, such as song books, pamphlets, etc. and the people of that vicinity are earnestly solicited to attend. Rev. Crittenden, missionary, will be present and give a short talk.

Frank Neubaker, of Danville, a brother of Mrs. Malcolm Laurie, of this place, met with a serious accident on Wednesday. While at work in the shovel mill at Danville he had his hand lacerated so that it was necessary to amputate the second, third and fourth fingers and the portion of the hand behind them to the wrist, leaving only the thumb and first finger on his hand. The unfortunate young man spent several weeks here during the summer and made a number of acquaintances who will regret to hear of his ill luck.

PETRIKEN HALL CORNER STONE TO BE LAID.—At 3:30 Sunday afternoon the first formal public exercise will be held at Petriken hall, on High street. Not the kind that is hoped will be of daily occurrence in that building when it is completed, but a formal ceremony over the laying of the corner stone. The structure has been going up with remarkable rapidity and already the place where the corner stone is to lie is far below the level of the walls in other portions of the building. The stone will be laid by Rev. Geo. I. Brown, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, of which Miss Petriken was such a steadfast member. Mrs. John P. Harris, president of the W. C. T. U. of Bellefonte, will place the archives in it, which will consist of a sketch of Miss Petriken, a history of the building up to this time and the usual other souvenirs, such as coins, papers, etc. The program as completed will be as follows: Orchestra and Choir "Holy, Holy, Holy is the Lord." "We praise Thee, We bless Thee." "Stand up for Jesus." Reading scripture—Rev. W. H. Brown Prayer—Dr. Wm. Laurie Music—"Conquering now and still to Conquer." Short address—Dr. Wm. P. Shriner Music—"Faith is the Victory." Placing of the archives—Mrs. John P. Harris, Laying of corner stone—Mrs. John P. Harris Music—"Praise Him, Praise Him." Closing prayer—Rev. T. W. Perkins Benediction—Rev. Geo. I. Brown We will not take space at this time to go into a detailed description of the new hall, since it will prove more interesting and complete at the time of its dedication. The building was designed by architect Robert Cole and occupies a site on West High street, that is one of the most prominent and valuable in town. The lot was bequeathed to the W. C. T. U. by the late Marion Petriken. The size of the structure is 60x122 feet and it is to be three stories high. The sides and rear are to be of brick and the front of brick with brown stone trimmings. On the ground floor will be two rooms and a large hallway running through to the auditorium which will accommodate about 800 people. There will be a large stage which will seat 150 people, and underneath the stage will be dressing rooms. The room on the left, facing High street, will be occupied by the W. C. T. U. and the one across the hall will be used as the public library. The second and third floors will have an entrance from the front and will be divided into six rooms, each having a separate bath room with all other conveniences. The life and death of Miss Marion Wallace Petriken, to whose memory this building is to be a fitting tribute, is still fresh in the minds of our readers. She died November 23rd, 1899, in the modest little home which she occupied for so many years and which stood upon the site where the present memorial is being erected. She was born in Bellefonte in the early thirties and belonged to an old and historic Centre county family. She was the daughter of Hon. James M. and Elizabeth Wallace Petriken. Her father was the recognized leader of the Centre county bar in his time. In April, 1898, she was brought into prominence by the public presentation to her of the sword of her brother, Lieut. Hardman P. Petriken, who was killed at the battle of Antietam. While the Lieut. lay dying he handed the sword to Major Wm. Robbins of the Fourth Alabama and requested him to present it to his sister. The Lieutenant died before he had time to tell where his sister lived, and after an interval of nearly thirty five years Maj. Robbins came to Bellefonte and made a public presentation of the sword to Miss Petriken.

KILLED A LARGE COPPERHEAD AT THEIR DOOR.—There were exciting times on Race street Tuesday afternoon, for a little while and all because a big copperhead snake had wandered from its native haunts and stretched itself out in front of the entrance to the Bellefonte Fuel and Supply Co's. office. The snake was lying there sunning itself until Edward Nearhood, one of Potter & Hoy's salesmen, approached and shied like a two-year old at it. George Waite was sitting inside the office and seeing that Nearhood was likely to run off he ran out to catch him. Just then his eyes fell on the dangerous looking reptile and he side-stepped a little too, especially until he got his hands on a poker and then there were doings that the poor old snake couldn't keep awake long enough to see. It was 3ft. long, quite thick and beautifully marked for a copperhead, but how it got into that locality no one seems to know. It is thought that it might have gotten there on a load of hay or on a car load of box wood that had just been unloaded.

A BUSINESS CHANGE.—One of the most important business changes that has been made in Bellefonte for some time will take place soon when McCalmont & Co., so long located near the P. R. R. station on West High street will give up their quarters and move to an uptown location. The Potter-Hoy Hardware Co. have leased the McCalmont room for a period of ten years and will use it as a ware house; their rapidly increasing wholesale department making it necessary to have more room and better facilities for receiving and shipping goods. McCalmont & Co., whether their line business is absorbed by the trust or not, will continue their implement and seed business and hope by moving up town to get into closer touch with the trade.

Charles I. Baylets, a Centre county boy, is being hunted by the U. S. authorities for deserting from the U. S. ship Buffalo. He left the boat at Christiansa, Norway.

News Purely Personal. Miss Lillian Reaick, of this place, is visiting Miss Sara Lucas in Tyrone. Miss Alice Wilson has returned from a visit of several weeks with the Bogles at Howard. Miss Jane Furst, of Linn street, returned from a visit with friends in Williamsport on Tuesday evening. Geo. T. Bush went to Buffalo last week and from there to Denver, Col. where he is bent on business and pleasure. S. McFargar is in Altoona this week selling Equitable insurance. It is a good thing and Mac knows how to push it along. T. B. Baddinger and Michael Kelly, two of the county's foremost business men, were in town from Snow Shoe on Monday. Frank Shaugnessy, of Howard street, returned to Pittsburg on Monday to resume his work as a shipping clerk for the Westinghouse Co. Rev. Dr. Shriner was in Harrisburg during the forepart of the week attending the ministerial institute of the Central Penna. Conference. Mrs. Lattery and her sister Miss Ruth Clark, of Altoona, visited their aunt Mrs. Sue McMeiken at the Shortidge home on Thomas street Saturday. H. H. Benner, who had been here visiting his sisters for several months, left for Atlantic City on Monday, expecting to remain there most of the winter. William A. Gephart, of Lock Haven, was in town on Tuesday on business, part of which was to look over this field for the location of another dairy paper. Jerome Harper, senior member of the firm of Harper Bros. grocers, returned from a pleasure and business trip east on Monday. He had been gone a week. Mrs. Frank S. Steinkorner, of Newton, Kansas, who had been east for some time nursing her mother, the late Mrs. Rose A. Fox, returned to her home on Monday. Mr. Isaac Mitchell, Mrs. Wilbur F. Reeder and Miss Mary Thomas represented Bellefonte chapter D. A. R. at the meeting of the state society in Harrisburg on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Clark, of Pittsburg, spent Wednesday in and about Bellefonte, Mrs. Clark's old home. She was Miss Lulu Hoy, a daughter of Dr. H. K. Hoy, formerly of this place. County chairman John Bower was in Harrisburg on Tuesday attending the meeting of the state central committee and helping to get Mr. Coray back into his place on the ticket. E. C. Beizer, the prosperous young butcher, of Snow Shoe, was in town over Sunday visiting his relatives hereabouts and looking up some choice cattle for his trade in that section. Gov. and Mrs. Hastings, Col. and Mrs. W. F. Reeder and Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Main were Bellefonters who attended the Cochran-McCormick wedding at Williamsport on Monday. Mrs. Annie H. Fisher, of Williamsport, arrived in town Wednesday afternoon and is visiting at "Squire Hess" on Reynolds Ave. She came up to look after the renting of her farm in Harrisburg town. T. W. Neff, of Mt. Eagle, was in town on business yesterday. He is one of the few farmers who have had any luck with their potatoes this fall and says that only a few of his show any signs of rotting. Mrs. Samuel H. Lewin departed for Philadelphia on Wednesday and while Mr. Lewin and Lonie are closing up their business here she will look up a house and get their new home in that city ready for occupancy. Mr. Geo. Williams, of Lemont, was in town on Wednesday making arrangements for the sale of his son's farm stock and implements. The young man expects to quit farming and will make sale on November 16th. Miss Lillie Coyle Hench, of Harrisburg, to whose talent and gracious disposition Bellefonters are indebted for a number of delightful entertainments, is in town for a visit with Mrs. H. P. Harris, on east Howard street. Sam Taylor, formerly manager of Wilkinson's china hall in this place but who has recently been employed in a wholesale china store in Pittsburg, arrived home on Monday and is now in a very precarious condition with typhoid fever. Mrs. Sadie C. Hile, of Pleasant Gap, was a Bellefonte visitor on Wednesday. She has just returned from a delightful trip to the Pan-American, but like nearly everybody else who has been up there came home completely worn out by the effort to see so much within a short period of time. Mr. and Mrs. I. G. Walker, of Penn Hill, were in town bright and early Friday morning; having driven over the mountains and arrived here almost before Bellefonte was astir for the day. Both were a little chilled by the drive, but the sun came out so warm and pleasant later as to make their return home very delightful. E. S. Spotts, with his chabby little son, was down from Unionville on business on Saturday. Mr. Spotts is a manufacturer of brooms and brushes and is of the opinion that some of our farmers might find considerable profit in raising broom corn instead of devoting too much time to cereals, that are always an uncertain crop and rarely profitable in price. Walter Pletcher, of Howard, who has been a student in the P. R. R. station here for sixteen months, is to be graduated on November 1st and will be sent to Clearfield to take charge of the station there. His brother Howard, who had preceded him from here to Clearfield, has been assigned to a better place in the Union station in Pittsburg. John Nolan, who is a fireman on the Pittsburg, Virginia and Charleston, R. R. with a run from Pittsburg to Uniontown, was home last week to visit his wife and parents in this place. He likes the work very much out there, says there is plenty of it and has persuaded his brother Dan to quit Bellefonte and go out there too. He will leave in a week or so. Miss Wainwright, of Annapolis, Md., is a guest at Burnham. She is a daughter of Capt. Wainwright superintendent of the United States naval academy who commanded the Gloucester in the Santiago engagement. While here Miss Wainwright and Miss Wetherill, of Philadelphia, designed a banner for the Episcopal Sunday school and on Sunday Sup'r. H. C. Quigley presented it to the class having the highest percentage of attendance during the year. Looking the very picture of health and contentment James K. Conley, whom we knew as a boy as "Jim," is in town visiting his brother Will. He is getting his share of the good things of this life on a farm just outside of Freeport, Ill., which he gives his personal supervision while carrying the agency for a large Michigan buggy manufactory. He is a son of J. W. Conley, of Centre Hall, and this is his first visit home in ten years. Rev. C. N. Woodson, for five years pastor of the A. M. E. church in this place, has gone to attend conference at Clarkburg, W. Va., and the part that is most regretted by his friends in this place is the fact that he will not be returned, as he has served the maximum period of five years. Rev. Woodson has done much to uphold the Bellefonte church and had the members of his congregation emulated him in other ways they would find even more good in him. Rev. Woodson was uniformly courteous and humble, yet he was always dignified and commanded the respect of everyone because of the entire absence of that mal-odor which his white brothers than anything else.

Miss Stella Zerby, of Millheim, is visiting friends in town. Mrs. John M. Shugert returned from a short visit in Philadelphia on Thursday morning. Miss Virginia Burrows, of Baltimore, is a guest of the Misses Arnold, on east Linn street. Col. W. Fred Reynolds and Randolph Hoy returned from their tour to the Pacific on Monday. Mrs. Sara Kelly and Mrs. D. J. Kelly returned from a short trip to Philadelphia, on Saturday evening. Mrs. Amos Millen returned home Saturday after a month's visit with Lancaster and York county relatives. Mrs. Evelyn Rogers, of north Allegheny street, is spending a few weeks with friends in Norristown and Philadelphia. John Snyder, of Philadelphia, who had been visiting friends at State College during the week, left for the city yesterday morning. Miss Clara Merriman, of Philadelphia, who had been the guest of Mrs. H. C. Quigley for a few days, departed yesterday morning. Mr. and Mrs. W. Harrison Walker returned from their wedding tour Wednesday evening and are located in their own home on east Linn st. Harry Griest, son of A. J. Griest, of Unionville, who is manager of the large coal company stores at Gallitzin was in town on business on Monday. F. Peebles Green and his daughter, Miss Ida, were among the sight seers at the Buffalo exposition the fore part of the week. They are now guests of Edgar Green in Erie. R. F. Hunter left for Granby, Mo., on Tuesday, to take a look over the zinc mines in which he is interested. Zinc has taken a jump lately and Bob is correspondingly happy. Mrs. John P. Harris, the 2nd, and her little son, Hutchinson, arrived home Tuesday from an extended visit with her mother and sister at her old home in West Virginia. It was a matter of general satisfaction for the friends of R. M. Magee, of Philadelphia, to see for themselves that he has about entirely recovered from the serious illness he suffered during the summer. He was in town during the forepart of the week and looked quite himself again. Miss Louise Calloway left yesterday noon for New York to continue taking vocal lessons of Joseph Pizzarello, the well-known musician. Miss Calloway's voice is a fresh, flexible soprano which has been much admired the few times she has sung for the public this summer. She was accompanied to New York by Mrs. Osgood, who was returning home from a house party given by Mrs. Boal, at the old Boal homestead near Boalsburg. Samuel M. Rhule, Co. M, 9th Penna Cav., was in town on Tuesday, to say goodbye to his sister, Mrs. Sue J. Derr, and other friends in this place, before leaving for the soldiers home at Dayton, Ohio. Sam has had an up and down life of it and now that he is growing old finds himself so badly crippled up with rheumatism as to make it necessary to seek this retreat of loyal soldiers. He served with distinction in the army and was also a member of the ill-fated Brazilian railroad enterprise of the Collins Bros. A great many people from this vicinity returned from the Pan-American on Tuesday. Among them were Hon. James Schofield, Misses Nan and Elizabeth Schenck, Edgar T. Burnside and J. Harris Hoy, Mr. and Mrs. William Kaup, Misses Sadie Caldwell and Mamie Strunk, all of this place; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Ross, of Lemont; John Wieland, Wm. Baumgardner, Frank McFarland, Dr. L. E. Kidder, Jacob Meyer, William Mothersbaugh, George Fortney, Wm. Woods, John Gingerich, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip Meyer, of Boalsburg. Snow flakes were flying in Spring Mills last Friday morning. SECOND-HAND SALE.—Anyone who is going to make a donation to the rummage sale will confer a favor on the management by sending the articles any afternoon this week or next to the store room recently vacated by Bauer & Co., on South Allegheny street. The sale will open Monday, Nov. 4th, to continue all week. Those who go early will get bargains, for many of the donations in now are worth purchasing. Everyone is invited to attend. Sale Register.
