A. hall to which all the friends of the Association are invited. Mr. Bard will address the men's meeting in the Association building on Sunday afternoon at four o'clock.

The painters and paper hangers of Bellefonte have organized a union and hereafter will work subject to orders from the general trades union. They held their first meeting on Friday night, when the following officers were chosen: President, John W. Houser; vice-president, Harry Williams; financial secretary, Miles Osmer; recording secretary, John McSuley; treasurer, Harry Stevenson.

Officers Miller and Knisely arrested Miley Andrix, of Barnesboro, on Thomas street about 9:30 Monday night. He was acting in a suspicious manner and couldn't give a straight story about his business. He was looked up for the night and placed in jail Tuesday morning. He is being held pending information from nearby towns. He is wearing a very high priced overcoat, one far out of keeping with the rest of his apparel.

BLOWN UP BY DYNAMITE.—There was a terrible accident at Scotia, Friday morning, the result of which George Weaver, a 17 year old worker in the mines there was blown into eternity, probably without ever knowing what struck him.

He had been working under Frank Harris, a mining contractor, and they had a small shanty near their work in which they kept their tools and had a stove to keep their dynamite in condition. About 10 o'clock young Weaver entered the shanty, where there were eleven sticks of the explosive leaning up against the stove thawing out. Just what occurred after he entered the shanty will never be known, but it is supposed that he was poking the fire and in some way caused the dynamite to explode. For there was a frightful concussion, the other workmen were almost knocked over by it, and the shanty was ripped to pieces. At first the men thought that the unfortunate boy had been blown two hundred feet in the air, but later it turned out that only the back of his coat had been torn off and sent up. Weaver, himself, was knocked out through the shanty and was lying, an unconscious, bleeding mass on some ice that covered a little pond nearby.

His body was picked up and carried to the company office where Dr. Coous was called at once. Only slight hope of his revival was entertained from the first, but it soon became apparent that he could not live and passed out of his misery about noon. He was badly out about the face and head and his leg was broken.

Weaver was the son of David Weaver, of Benore, and is survived by his parents, four brothers and two sisters.

The force of the explosion must have been something frightful, for old Samuel Kellerman, who is very deaf, was at the store half a mile away and heard the report so distinctly that he remarked that something must be wrong.

THE HACK UPSET.—A party of State College students had a miraculous escape from serious injury on Saturday afternoon. They were returning to that institution for the reopening of the session and were met at Lemont by the large college hack. It was crowded full of boys, all in high spirits and all went well until they were descending the hill that leads down to Roan's cabinet shop on the other side of Lemont. Owing to the fact that there were other teams on the hill ahead of him Tom McMahon, the driver, could not let his horses go and in order to hold it back he had to lock very tight. This made the wheels slide and when they struck the ice the rear end of the hack slid around and over the six foot embankment at the right side of the road.

The hack turned clear over, but fortunately the team got loose from it and ran away. The boys were all badly scared and some of them bruised quite a little, but when out from the midst of the wriggling mass of students a deep German voice, that sounded like an echo from the Berks county hills, said, reassuringly: "Dake er steady, boys!" they all quieted down and extricated themselves without injury to each other.

Their escape was really miraculous and had the wagon gone a few feet further, where the bank was much higher, there would undoubtedly have been a very different report to make.

A GUARDIAN APPOINTED FOR COL. JAMES MILLIKEN.—Col. James Milliken, so well known as a former resident of Bellefonte and recently for his numerous benefactions in this place, has reached such a condition of ill health that a guardian has been appointed for him in the person of his nephew, Edward F. Milliken.

Since leaving Bellefonte the Colonel has made his home at the Hoffman house in New York and it was in that city last week that a sheriff's jury adjudged him incompetent to further care for his property. He is 77 years old and it is estimated that his holdings in good securities are worth $400,000, while he has real estate to the value of $25,000 more.

Judge Scott, of the New York Supreme court, appointed Mr. Edward Milliken a committee to take charge of his uncle's property upon the petition of the latter's relatives. Among the evidences of his incapacity presented to the court were two checks for $5,000 each, which he had drawn on the Manufacturer's National bank of New York, and afterwards disclaimed any knowledge of them.

Col. Milliken is a brother of Miss Marion Milliken, aged 74, who is now very ill at Mrs. Lou Harris' home on north Allegheny street. Upon the occasion of his recent visits to Bellefonte his old time friends here were pained to observe his condition, especially when he had been known as such a brilliant and sagacious man in former years.

GOODHART-DORN.—Many Centre countians will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of Mr. George Bruce Goodhart, of White, South Dakota, to Miss Bertha Beatrice Dorn, of Stephenson county, Ill. The ceremony was performed on Tuesday evening, Dec. 31st, by Dr. Ulysses G. Schell, of White.

The groom is the youngest son of former county commissioner George L. Goodhart, of Centre Hill, and has permanently located at White, after traveling over the greater part of Illinois and Wisconsin. The many friends of his old home county will wish him not only a long and happy married life but a full measure of prosperity in his new home.

Sheriff D. W. Woodring has sold his brick building on east High street to Geo. Garbrick, of Spring township. The new owner will take possession on April 1st.

Clinton county millers are paying 82 cts. per bushel for wheat.

Turkey sandwiches at the City restaurant on Bishop street Saturday evening.—McClures.

The Irish farce comedy, "the Flip Mr. Flop," will be presented for the first time in Bellefonte at Garman's tonight.

George Aikey killed a large catamount in the Brush Valley narrows one day last week. It was 53 inches long and 25 inches high.

An advance of ten per cent in wages of all employees of the Tyrone paper mills was announced as a New Years present by the owners of the plant.

The Welsh Francis company that comes to Garman's to-night in the "Flip Mr. Flop" advertises plenty of clever specialties and good music.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bower, of Coburn, are mourning the loss of their nine year old daughter, Anna, who died on Tuesday and was buried yesterday morning.

Hiram Basil, the six months old child of Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Woodring, of Phillipsburg, was buried at Port Matilda. The little one died on New Year's day of spinal meningitis.

Dr. Charles Bastian and Zack Clark, two hunters of Salladashburg, shot a five pronged buck out of season. State game warden Berrier had the two men arrested. They paid $232.60 fines and costs.

A timely discovery saved the hotel run by C. W. Hosterman at Woodward from destruction by fire a few days ago. Some live coals rolled out of a stove and burned quite a large hole in the floor before it was discovered.

The committee of the West Susquehanna classis of the Reformed church met at Chatham's Run, above Lock Haven, on Tuesday and voted to permit the disbanding of the congregation there which had dwindled until it was too small to support a church.

Geo. W. Mapledoram purchased the Potter house in Phillipsburg, from Dr. F. B. Potter, on Tuesday afternoon. He is said to have paid $30,000 for the property. Mr. Mapledoram has been running the hotel ever since the death of the late Geo. Leister and expects to improve it considerably, now that he is the owner.

Of course the WATCHMAN didn't do it all, but it does lay claim to having helped those who used its columns for advertising purposes to enjoyment of the large patronage they all report having had during the holiday season. The WATCHMAN is ready and anxious to prove its trade making ability to all.

James Rossmann, aged 23 years, was arraigned before Justice Harsbarger on Monday afternoon to answer a charge of abusing his parents. They would not appear against him, however, after making the information and he was discharged. Detective Rightmear went up to Roopsburg Monday morning to arrest Rossmann, who was working at Garbrick's ice house. When the officer went inside to catch him he slid out over the ice chute and ran through the icy water of Spring creek and escaped. Later in the day he returned and gave himself up, with the above result.

Among the many changes, mentioned in the last issue of the WATCHMAN, that will be made on April 1st we failed to note that the Yeager & Davis shoe store will be moved into the larger room, two doors west of their present location. Edward Eckenroth, lately retired from the firm of Eckenroth & Montgomery, will open a wall paper store in the room vacated by Yeager & Davis. William Storm will probably move his barber shop into the room under the First National bank vacated by R. A. Beck and Jacob Runkle will probably move his green grocery into the Sands building vacated by W. H. Miller.

At the executive committee meeting of the Centre county Christian Endeavor Union, in the Y. M. C. A. parlor, Saturday afternoon, William Kuhn, of Bellefonte, was appointed superintendent of evangelistic work and Elizabeth J. Stroop, of Milesburg, was selected as chairman of the correspondence committee to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mr. E. J. Liekert, of State College. A committee, composed of James A. Pratt, William Kuhn and Rev. Walter F. Carson, was appointed to arrange for union meetings at different places over the county. The treasurer reported the Union in better financial condition than at any other time in its history.

One day last week a gentleman came in to the WATCHMAN office to pay up his subscription. He was just one year in arrears and when informed that he would have to pay $1.50 for that year he became provoked and threatened to stop taking it. The threat didn't have any effect, however, for we told him that the rule is the same to all: $1 when paid in advance and $1.50 when not, and he could do as pleased about continuing it, but he would have to pay $1.50 for the year he was back. He did pay it, too, and stopped the paper. We were sorry to lose him, of course, but he had no right to expect the paper for less than the regular rates and he surely ought to have known them, for we are constantly reminding our readers of them. Kindly bear this in mind. If you are in arrears don't ask or expect us to break the rule. It is unfair to the man who pays an entire year or more in advance to give the fellow who gets back a year or more the same rates.

A NEW SCHEME ON FOOT IN COUNCIL

The regular meeting of council Monday evening was more interesting than usual because of the introduction of a proposition to build a new water works building, install new machinery and an electric light plant in it and make a railroad siding into it from the B. N. and L. railroad. Messrs. Gerberich, Reynolds, Walkey, Gherity, Cunningham and Knisely were present at the meeting. The first business taken up was the giving audience to W. E. Gray Esq., who appeared for Col. Geo. A. Bayard, to ascertain whether council intended to settle amicably his clients' claim for paving in the Diamond. He was informed that council had done all it would do in the matter.

Upon recommendation of fire marshal William Doll council voted to purchase 1000 ft. of additional hose, 500 ft. for each company.

A request for an arc light on east High street, near the residence of Peter Mendis, was referred to the Street committee for report and investigation.

Burgess Blanchard reported the collection of fines to the amount of $9.00, paid expenses of $3.30 and returned $5.70 to the borough treasurer.

The report of the Finance committee showed the affairs of the borough to be in the following condition.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Items include Bal due Treas., Boro Orders Paid, Water, Interest, Rec'd of Taylor Co., John Anderson, Bal in hands of Treas., etc.

The following bills were approved and ordered paid by council.

Table with 2 columns: Item and Amount. Items include Bft. Fuel & Supply Co., A. C. Mingle, rubber boots, Jacob Gross, police clothing, E. E. Hill Co., light for Boro buildings, etc.

At this juncture Mr. Gherity, member from the South and chairman of the Water committee, took up the matter of repairs at the water works, stating that within the year it would be necessary to expend at least $1,000 in repairs and equipment to the property. His remarks were supplemented by Supt. Samuel Rine who presented plans for a proposed new water works building, as designed by architect Robert Cole. There was a general discussion of the proposition; some favoring a plan of that sort, others expressing the belief that it is not feasible at this time.

According to the plan proposed they would tear the present building away and erect in its stead a two-story structure of Mill Hall red brick, containing apartments for council chambers, an office for the burgess, a lock-up, engine rooms, coal bunkers and a room for an electric dynamo, in event that the borough ever wants to install a municipal plant for street lighting. The cost of such a change is estimated at $8,000, allowing $4,000 for changes in equipment. The WATCHMAN knows so little of the real inwardness of the case that it will refrain from discussing it until better informed. However the proposition seems to be a good one for the borough, already bounded to its borrowing limit, can arrange to get the $8,000 some way and then if council sees to it that some of the beauty saved, when the Logan engine house was being designed, is worked into the new water works building.

THE STAR COURSE.—The concert given by the Boston Ladies Symphony Orchestra in the court house on Friday evening was as enjoyable an entertainment as anyone need want to attend. The orchestra itself while it has neither so wide a reputation nor so large a membership its work is fully as fine and its concert quite as pleasing. Indeed every one of the entertainments of the Star course this winter has been first class and the W. C. T. U. deserves something more substantial than credit for conducting them. 'Tis more than possible, though, that it will be a losing venture unless the ticket holders come to the rescue and generously patronize the reserved seats at the coming entertainments. Or they might pay a little additional for their course tickets, which were sold far too cheap for the class of shows given.

At the annual meeting of the Grange Mutual Fire Ins. Company, at the Garman house, on Tuesday, all the former officers were re-elected, viz: President, I. S. Frain; vice president, W. H. Miller; secretary, James A. Keller; treasurer, S. H. Bailey. The following directors from adjoining counties were present: M. J. Owens, Clearfield; J. W. Black, Blair; J. H. Moses, Bedford; W. H. Dornblazer, Clinton. About three and one-half millions insurance are now in force.

Officer Harry Simler arrested a well dressed, nice looking young stranger in Phillipsburg for displaying a pair of ladies' shoes for the stealing stand in front of Yeager & Davis store in that place, on Saturday. The thief said that he wanted to sell the shoes to get money to buy whisky with. Mr. Davis declined to prosecute and he was discharged next morning with a reprimand.

One horse turned up at Beezer's livery in this place but the other one had not been found up to last evening. None of the young people were hurt.

At the annual meeting of the Aid society of the Methodist Episcopal church on Tuesday afternoon the following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. D. H. Hastings, president; Mrs. F. W. Crider, vice president; Miss Ella Musser, secretary and Mrs. J. K. Barnhart, treasurer. The retiring officers were Mrs. S. A. Bell, Mrs. Thomas Donachy, Mrs. E. R. Chambers and Mrs. J. E. Ward.
