ADDITIONAL LOCALS

-License court will convene in this place on Tuesday, March 4th.

-Joseph Miller is reported as being seriously ill with heart trouble at his home on Willowbank street.

-Homes have been found for all but about twenty of the Methodist ministers expected here during conference.

this evening. It is a first class show and you will enjoy it.

--The venerable Simeon Haupt had quite a bad fall on the ice near his home and suffered an ugly cut on the cheek, as was waiting for someone to start first to open able to be around again on Wednesday.

-Mrs. J. E. Ward's class of boys of the M. E. Sabbath school are going to have a chicken and waffle supper on Wednesday evening in the room on Allegheuy street sales, says like the razor strap man, he has a next door to Sim Baum's. The mothers of the boys are going to serve as caterers and chief cooks and the money made is to pay on the class bond.

-A little six-year-old son of Bing Richards, of Jersey Shore, while following a band, one day last week was knocked down by the pole of an omnibus and injured so severely that death ensued in a few hours. The remains were brought to Julian, where Mr. Richards resided, and visiting at the home of J. H. Carner. buried on Friday last.

-E. R. Chambers Esq. has been retained by the county commissioners to assist in the prosecution of Frank Beckwith who murdered his wife at Sandy Ridge on Carner. Sunday morning, the 16th. -In another column of this issue appears an advertisement for a small farm that is for sale in fertile Nittany valley. It is located near Snydertown and would be a fine place for fruit and truck farming. It has water on the place, a good house and fair out-buildings. Anyone wanting Johnstown, where he expects to have emsuch a desirable little place cheap should look it up. It contains 38 acres.

-G. H. McKenzie, the proprietor of Miller. the Wilt house at Mill Hall, was held up by a highwayman while driving between Rebersburg and Tylersville last Thursday morning. A tall, heavy-set man unexpectedly jumped into the road, stopped the horse and demanded money, but Mr. McKenzie knocked him down with his whip and drove off. That same morning two unsuccessful attempts were made to burglarize the stores of A. C. Stamm and T. R. Harter at Loganton.

-James Williams Esq., formerly a well known resident of this place, died at his home in Philipsburg Wednesday evening. Deceased was about 80 years old and will be remembered by the older residents of Bellefonte, as he was engaged in the drug business here at one time and also ran a dry goods store in the old Aull room, where Joseph Bros. & Co's store now stands. He was the father of Miss Anna V. Williams, editor of the Philipsburg Ledger and a gentleman of eminent respectability.

Spring Mills.

The measles epidemic in our village seem to be on the wane.

Quite a number of removals and change will be made here in the spring. Dwellings are in demand.

We are short of rain water for house purposes. Some of our folks are "cooking snow" to obtain a supply.

Snow fell to the depth of 18 inches last Saturday, the deepest of the season. Willie Tweed has been quite sick during the early part of the week and we hope for his speedy recovery. Edward Winkleman, who has been employed at Johnstown by the C. & D. Telephone Co., is now spending a week at home with his sister Mittie. Will Mauk furnishes sweet, juicy beef in abundance this winter. He supplies lumber camps and families through the valley, in large or small quantities, just as desired. W. M. Grove Esq., Peter Smith and T. B. Jamison, a trio-of Spring Mills's best men, dined at Nittany last Friday. What mirth this trio cannot find in life is not worth looking after. Samuel Tweed lost a valuable cow last Monday evening. She died suddenly. No cause known to the owner who feels the loss keenly "as he earns his bread by the sweat of the brow." W. E. Mayes, of Howard, was in this local ity this week looking after his trade. He may feel proud of his efforts in the past as he has established an excellent trade by his honest and upright dealing. Rev. Foss, the Evangelical minister in charge is preparing to attend conference. He has given good satisfaction during the year and the members hope he may be retained another year on this charge.

The election passed off very quietly, the result of the supervisor's re-election was satisfactory as the efforts of Joe Emrick have been to place the roads of Walker township in the class of banner roads of Centre county.

Last Saturday, being Washington's anniversary, exercises were held on Friday, by A. A. Pletcher, teacher of this school. The exercises were opened by 3rd grade reciting ic, dialogues, readings, etc. The seating capacity was filled in the room which showed the interest taken by the community to wit-
