petition by Geo. R. Meek precipitated a general discussion of the matter of erecting new water works building. At a recent meeting of council a committee of five was appointed and authorized to go ahead in the construction of a new water works building, not to exceed $6,000 in cost. The action aroused considerable interest in town and has been generally discussed. While there are a few people opposed to doing any new building at this time the great majority of them are heartily in accord with the idea that if any building is to be done at all it should be done right and that if more than $6,000 will be necessary it should be raised. The people of Bellefonte are growing tired of spending thousands of dollars every year for makeshift improvements. They realize now that money is being literally thrown away when it is spent for something that will not last. For instance, had council long ago walled up Water street-if it is council's duty to do it-to a height above the flood line, then laid a stone walk on top of the wall and put up a neat iron pipe railtown, as well as paid for itself in the saving of repairs up to this time. Mr. Meek's petition was primarily de-which Bellefoute derives its name. While the discussion was on solicitor Fortney read a lengthy opinion in which it was stated that the borough has already exceeded its borrowing limit under the statutes, therefore it will be impossible to do any building at all. It is thought, however, that the matter can be arranged so that $6.000 can be secured to go on with the work. If such is the case the WATCH-MAN calls upon every citizen of the town who has any interest or concern in the improvement of Bellefonte to protest most vigorously against a procedure that will saddle another building like the Logan engine house onto the borough as a public building. Bellefonte is big enough, rich enough and is supposed to have intelligence enough to put an end to this penny-wise and pound-foolish manner of conducting its affairs.

Council is made up of men who will be willing and reasonable enough to listen to in a matter that concerns you so vitally to speak about it. If we are beyond our borrowing limit now and $6,000 can be raised for a new building more can be raised by the same scheme, if it is needed. Don't let pubwill be ashamed to own when it is completed, especially if a thousand or more additional would build one such that our posterity at the end of this century could still be proud of. We should build for more than today.
