Newspaper dispatches from Ohio say that Republican politicians in that state have organized a presidential boom for Mr. Hanna. Recently Senator Foraker of Ohio declared himself in favor of Mr. Roosevelt's nomination and the relations between Foraker and Hanna are such as to justify the suspicion that Mr. Foraker would be Republican nomination. Many people be-lieve that Mr. Roosevelt's friends already recognize that the President must wage a contest with Mr. Hanna for the Republican nomination in 1904. Whatever opinion one may have as to the propriety of trying to make a President out of Mark Hanna, it must be conceded that Mr. Hanna is perhaps the best representative of the present day policies of the Republican party that could be found anywhere in the public life of this country.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

"What Women Like in Men." "What Men Like in Women," and "Husband and Wives," are the titles of a series of very interesting papers by Rafford Pike, the third of which appears in the Cosmopolitan for April. The same number of the Cosmopolitan treats of Prince Henry's visit, with a series of beautifully printed photographs, under the title of "A Clever Emperor and a Confederation of Nations." F. Hopkinson Smith, Israel Zangwill, Bret Harte and Maarten Maartens are among the other contributors to this number, which is unusually good in fiction.

Besides a capital assortment of fiction, Mc-Clure's Magazine tor April contains four articles of exceptional interest. One is the "Overworked President," by Lincoln Steffens. Another "Mes-struggles to avoid one another, their noble sacrifices the one for the other, touch the most hidden string of human sympathy. There is a secondary, but none the less charming, love story running through the book.

The April St. Nicholas brings to an end the long serial by John Bennett-"The Story of Barnaby Lee," and as its "long short story" presents "The Boys of the Rincon Ranch," being the adventures of city boys in Texas. Miss Alice B. greatly grieved if Mr. Hanna secured the of the "Sherlock Holmes" idea to a juvenile Abbot begins the number with a clever adaptation magazine, substituting for the London expert a bright little girl who loves to solve puzzles.

There are poems by Abby Bates, Montrose J. Moses, and Jean Mathers, and a delightful little study of April flowers by the daughter of Laura E. Richards, and an article by Frederic Dean on "Boy Choristers," profusely illustrated by portraits of the church choir "stars."

"When Knighthood was in Flower."—The most remarkable historical novel in recent years, "When Knighthood was in Flower," is to appear Sheriff's Office, CYRUS BRUNGART, Bellefonte, Pa., March 22nd, 1902, Sher 47-13-4t.

CHARTER NOTICE.—Notice is hereby given that an application will be made to Never before has any newspaper secured for publication in its columns a novel so recent and yet so successful as this one. Julia Marlowe, now appearing as the Princess Mary Tudor, in a play written from the book, is scoring the greatest hat in her brilliant career upon the stage.

In writing "When Knighthood was in Flower," Mr. Charles Major fixed upon the most romantic spot in the most romantic period of English history, the time of Henry VIII, as a setting for his book. The story thrills with the tender, pure love of a King's sister for an untitled but heroic young Englishman. The hero loves the heroine in spite of his fight against his passion. Their
