The Coleville band concert next Tuesday night will be worth hearing.

Philip Waddell, express messenger on the C. R. R. of Pa., is laid up with tonsillitis.

There is some talk of holding the next encampment of the N. G. P. at Gettysburg.

Tuesday's showers and Wednesday's warm sunshine brought out the leaves and blossoms.

Master John Kane, the boy soprano, is to sing at the Coleville band concert next Tuesday evening.

A charter was granted to the Nitany iron company on Monday. The corporation has a capital of $150,000.

Harry S. Rishel and George Kern, of Madisonburg, have taken a contract to put up a store building at Oak Grove.

Christopher Ellenberger, of Julian, is to have a pension of $24 per month and Isaac Armstrong, of Lemont, will get $10.

The summer concerts will soon begin, but you want to hear the indoor one next Tuesday night. Go to Petriken hall.

"A Wise Woman," at Garman's Monday night, proved a very clever comedy presented by a decidedly clever company.

Millheim is getting ready to observe Memorial day. A. Walter is chairman and P. H. Musser secretary of the citizen's committee.

Geo. W. Loner, of Stormstown, has been granted a pension of $8 per month. Samuel S. Simpson, of Jacksonville, has been given $12.

Frank Woome, formerly connected with the Bellefonte steam laundry, is now managing a laundry in Jersey Shore. Clarence Smith has his place here.

The old boiler works building on Railroad street has been torn down and three neat brick tenements are to be erected on the site by the owner, Chas. McCafferty.

A letter from Abel Campbell, of Austin, Potter county, apprises his Centre county friends that he isn't able to do anything more but fish and the "fishin'" is bad.

The high wind on Sunday ripped the tin roof off of McCulley's livery stable and blew down a section of the high board fence at the rear of the Benner lot in the same alley.

The Phillipsburg Bituminous Record has a new editorial and reportorial force at the helm and great things are promised. Here's hoping that Mr. Platt and his workers will not be disappointed.

An exchange remarks that the farmers are very much inconvenienced by the backwardness of spring. We rise to remark that we are very much inconvenienced by the backwardness of some of our subscribers.

A line from S. B. Dennis, at Sherman Heights, Tenn., informs his Centre county friends that he is well and "can't keep house without the dear old WATCHMAN." May it ever continue a source of pleasure to such appreciative readers.

William Gares, the ex-Bellefonte policeman, left for Williamsport on Wednesday, there to enter a hospital for treatment for troubles with which he has been suffering for a long time. His son Charles has a home in the Lumber city.

The Bellefonte Academy base ball team sent the State College Preps so far "up stage" on Saturday afternoon that the College juveniles will scarcely get near enough the footlights again to be seen in any base ball play this season. The score was 14 to 1.

Benjamin Hondeshell, of Curtin's Works, the man whom a Bald Eagle passenger train couldn't hurt when it struck him near the Milesburg station several months ago, fell into the glass panel in the door leading to Anderson's pool room, on High street, on Monday evening. His left arm was badly out, an artery being severed. He bled very profusely for awhile until Dr. Kirk arrived and dressed the wound, after which he was sent to his home at Roland.

The Mirror, the annual publication of the students of the Bellefonte Academy, will be read during the literary exercises at the Academy this afternoon. The editors are Edward Free, John Munson, Ran. Hoy, John McGee, John Mahaffey, Alex. Cromer, Margaret Thomas, Eleanor Harris and Jennie Harper. This year's promises to excel in humor and breeziness any former editions of the Mirror. All friends of the school are cordially invited to be present at the meeting.

MISS ELIZABETH COLLINS.—Mention was made in last week's WATCHMAN of the critical illness of Miss Elizabeth Collins, but she had passed away on Thursday evening before the paper was off the press. She had been much of an invalid for several years and for more than a week it was known that she could not recover. The cause of her ill health and, indirectly, her death was a fall on the ice which she had had four or five years ago while getting into her carriage at the church on Bishop street. Her hip was broken by the fall and she never enjoyed good health afterward, though she was able to be out and about. Then the death of her sister, Mrs. Shoemaker, in December, was a great shock to her and she failed rapidly from that on.

Miss Collins was one of the family whose name is inseparably connected with the building of many of the principal railroads and achievements of the State and to whom Bellefonte is indebted for one of its largest industries. She was a daughter of Peter and Sarah Collins and was born in Munster, Cambria county, seventy-six years ago. The family resided in Ebensburg for many years and most of her life was spent there, but for the past fifteen years she had made her home here with her sisters and brother. She was most intelligent and charitable and had to a noticeable degree the same characteristics that gave renown and success to her brothers Philip and Tom Collins. It is said, they so respected her superior executive ability that she was their treasurer for many years, as well as their counsellor always. In appearance, too, she was like them and her greatest pleasure was doing for her church and the poor. She was the eldest daughter in a large family of sisters and brothers and from early girlhood her sense of responsibility for the welfare and comfort of others dominated her life. She was very reserved and reticent in manner, for she was interested only in the great problems of this life and the one she has entered into.

She is survived by her sister Sarah, with whom she was closely and affectionately associated all her life, her brother Peter, now of Philadelphia, her nephew, Thos. A. Shoemaker, and four nieces. She was a devout member of the Catholic church and funeral services were held in St. John's church on Saturday morning at 8 o'clock. Her body, accompanied by the members of her family and several friends, was taken on the 9:53 train to Ebensburg where interment was made in the family burying ground.

J. C. NOLL.—James C. Noll Esq., died at his home at Stillwater, Oklahoma, on Monday morning, and though no particulars were given in the announcement it must have been very sudden. As late as last Thursday he wrote a letter to his brother William, at Pleasant Gap, in which there was no intimation of illness. It is believed that his death was caused by heart trouble, with which he is known to have been afflicted.

Deceased was a son of the late W. H. Noll, of Pleasant Gap. He was born at that place about 39 years ago. Having spent his early life about home he attended Franklin and Marshall college, at Lancaster, from which institution he was graduated and soon after commenced reading law in the offices of Orvis, Bower and Orvis, in this place. He was admitted to the Centre county bar September 4th, 1891, and practiced in Bellefonte until June 7th, 1898, when he departed for Guthrie, Oklahoma. He remained in that city for a time, finally locating at Stillwater, where he was acquiring a very profitable practice when death so suddenly cut short his useful and promising career.

In 1900 he was married in the latter place and his widow, with his mother, Mrs. Emaline Noll, of Pleasant Gap, and the following brothers and sisters survive: W. H., J. A., J. T. and Ethel, of Pleasant Gap, and Boyd A., of Zion. The body will probably arrive here to-morrow. It will be taken to his mother's home at Pleasant Gap, where services will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and interment will be made in the family lot at Zion.

Mr. Noll was a genial, ambitious young man and his death will bring genuine sorrow to many friends in this place. He had never enjoyed the same robust vigor after the terrible accident he suffered while trying to stop a runaway on Bishop street several years ago.

DAVID KLEPPER.—The venerable David Klepper died in the hospital at Lock Haven very unexpectedly on Wednesday. He had been in that institution for about six weeks receiving treatment for a fractured hip, which he sustained some time ago by a fall down stairs. His heart failed.

Mr. Klepper was born at Aaronsburg, this county, about 75 years ago and for many years had followed his trade of carpentering in this vicinity. The family home was at the upper end of Coleville, where he resided until the children all grew up and made homes for themselves, then he went to live with his daughter, Mrs. Jacob Cole, of Coleville, where the accident befell him. His surviving children are Mrs. Cole, Mrs. Herman Robb, of this place, Emanuel, David, John and Harry, all of Philadelphia.

The body was brought here yesterday and taken to the home of Mrs. Cole from which place interment will be made to-day.

Dr. Frederick Antes Canfield, a native of Centre county and a practicing physician in Phillipsburg in 1856, died at his home in Needah, Wisconsin, on Tuesday of last week.

MRS. PHOEBE CRONISTER.—Mrs. Phoebe Cronister, widow of the late Henry G. Cronister, died at the home of her son, in Huston township, on Thursday evening, the 24th. She was eighty-one years of age and had been unusually well and active until a year ago last Christmas when she had a stroke of paralysis. She was a most excellent woman and a helpful member of the Methodist Episcopal church. Funeral services were conducted by her pastor on Saturday afternoon.

Her maiden name was Wickersham and she was a near relative of James P. Wickersham the former state superintendent of public instruction. She was a native of York, Pennsylvania, but most of her life was spent in this county. She was twice married; first to Jesse Williams and at his death to Mr. Cronister, who preceded her to the grave about twenty-one years ago. She is survived by her three sons William; of New York State; Dallas and Wharton M. Cronister, with whom she made her home.

A REMARKABLE OLD MAN GONE.—D. H. Yeager Esq., the most remarkable man in many respects who has ever lived in Centre county, passed away at his home, midway between Snow Shoe and Gilliland town on Wednesday night at 10:25. He had been ill only since the previous Saturday night, when he suffered something like a stroke of paralysis.

Squire Yeager was 85 years old and though he had raised a family of twenty-two children, been justice of the peace for nearly forty years and had reached an age seldom allotted to man he had not a gray hair on his head when he died.

Surviving him are his widow and a number of children. The time for his funeral had not been set when this edition went to press.

Miss Minnie Edith Gray, well and favorably known at State College and a sister of Miss Julia C. Gray, who has been secretary of the Experiment Station almost ever since it was founded, died in Deland, Florida on Tuesday, April 22nd, of consumption. She was a native of Franklin, but resided at State College with her mother and sister for some years. Later the family home was in Philadelphia and when her health began to fail, with her elder sister Sarah, she went to Asheville N. C. She visited State College frequently and went to Florida from there last fall. She was an attractive and capable young woman and her death is a great sorrow to her sisters and friends.

Pneumonia and heart trouble caused the death of Rev. Thomas Cameron at his home in South Phillipsburg on Saturday morning. He was born in Strongstown, Indiana county, August 11th, 1839, and had been in the United Brethren ministry for twenty years. His widow, three sons and two daughters survive him.

Mrs. Sarah Mitchell Struble, wife of C. H. Struble, died at her home at State College yesterday afternoon after a long illness of consumption. The news of her death did not reach the office until it was too late for a notice worthy of her life, in this issue. Funeral services will be held on Monday and interment will be made in the Pine Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Elizabeth Druges, who died at her home in Green county, Wisconsin, on the 31st of March, was a daughter of the late John Detweiler, of Penn township, and a sister of Henry Detweiler, of Smilton; Frank, of Aaronsburg; Jacob, of Penns Cave, and Mrs. John Braucht, of Coburn.

Mrs. Mary M. Zimmerman, who was a daughter of Andrew and Sarah Hall, of Union township, died at her home near Snow Shoe Intersection on the 22nd ult., of heart failure. She was 31 years, 11 months and 13 days old and is survived by her husband, three sons and one daughter.

After a lingering illness with consumption Mrs. James McClintock passed away at her home near Farmer's Mills on Monday morning at 3 o'clock. Interment was made in the Union cemetery there on Wednesday, after Rev. George Kershner had conducted the services.

Stewart Tussey, well known in this place and for a number of years a locomotive engineer running between Sunbury and Bellefonte, died at his home in the former place last Thursday. He was 50 years old and had been ill only a few days.

Mrs. Lucretia Flack, wife of John Flack, of this place, died from the effects of paralysis on Tuesday morning. She was 49 years, 6 months and 22 days old. She is survived by her husband and eight children.

The large refrigerator building owned by W. R. Haynes, at Clarence, on the line of the N. Y. C. R. R. was set on fire by a spark from an engine between 12 and 1 o'clock Monday night and completely destroyed. Its contents were saved all but about eight tons of ice. The building was valued at $500. Mr. Haynes had no insurance.

An old tenement house on the property of Lot Kimpfort, about two miles east of Boalsburg, caught fire from a defective flue on Monday afternoon, and was totally destroyed. It was occupied by William Colyer, who saved all of his household effects. Mr. Kimpfort had no insurance, but the building was not worth more than two or three hundred dollars.

THE NOTORIOUS BRACK POWELL IN THE TOILS AGAIN.—"Brack" Powell, whose status in the Centre Co. courts is somewhat of an enigma to the officials, themselves, has police circles stirred up again. This time he is charged with insulting Bessie McCafferty, a white girl, and yesterday morning he started east as fast as a freight train would carry him, while "the mayor" and officer Miller started west in a two horse conveyance. Just what part of China they had picked out for their meeting ground the pursued and pursuers did not state before their departure.

The McCafferty girl complained to the police that "Brack" had been accosting her on the street, whereupon he was warned. On Wednesday evening about 8 o'clock he is supposed to have made an indecent proposal to her somewhere in the vicinity of the Bush house and a warrant was sworn out for him. "Brack" heard of it yesterday morning and decamped at once on a C. R. K. of Pa. freight. "The mayor" and officer Miller started on his trail (?) toward Scotia and when the fugitive was located at Mill Hall at noon yesterday they could not be reached to get orders.

Just why the police have permitted "Brack" to tarry in town long enough to cause this trouble is not explained. He has been chased off so often and there are so many charges hanging over him here that it is a wonder that he has a moment's liberty.

But "Brack" was picked up in Lock Haven some time during the afternoon and brought here on the 4:44 train by a constable from that place.

THE MURDER TRIAL POSTPONED.—At a special session of court, held on Friday afternoon, C. M. Bower Esq., representing Frank Beckwith, who was to have been tried for the murder of his wife this week, appeared before Judge Love and asked for the continuance of the case until the August term.

According to Mr. Bower the principal reason was that W. E. Gray Esq., associate counsel for the defense, is unfit for practice and will be unable to help in the case for at least six weeks. Mr. Gray is under his physician's care and his condition is regarded as serious. Mr. Bower argued that inasmuch as it was a case of life or death with Beckwith he thought he ought not to be deprived of any advantage whatever in his trial. Mr. Chambers, for the Commonwealth, objected strenuously on the ground that the application was merely a play for time and would prove an extra expense to the county. Judge Love granted the continuance, however, and the case goes over to the August term.

RESIGNED AFTER LONG SERVICE.—Division Supt. W. L. Malin of the Pennsylvania telephone company, has resigned after a continuous service of twenty-one years in the Bell interests in Central Pennsylvania. His resignation took effect on the 23rd ult. and K. C. Raup, formerly in charge of the Altoona work, was appointed his successor.

Mr. Malin's long identification with the telephone business has given him a personality that is almost unique. Much of the great growth of the company in this section of the State has been due solely on his acquaintanceship and influence and the service he has rendered that corporation can scarcely be estimated. We trust he has something far better in view.

HAD TO AMPUTATE THE ARM.—Harry Gussallus, a brakeman on the Snow Shoe railroad, met with an accident at Snow Shoe Intersection Tuesday evening that cost him his right arm. He was on a train coming to this place and was at his work when a brake-chain broke, throwing him to the tracks. Several cars passed over his forearm, crushing it to a pulp. He was picked up and brought to this place, where Dr. Geo. F. Harris, the company physician, took charge of the case. He was taken to the Hayes' hospital and Dr. Harris performed the operation, amputating the arm at the elbow.

Gussallus' parents reside in Snow Shoe and did not want him to railroad. The Millheim Journal has a LIBEL SUIT.—On Wednesday morning J. C. Hosterman, editor and proprietor of the Millheim Journal, was sued by J. H. Reifsnyder, of that place, for malicious and defamatory libel. The editor gave bail at once for his appearance at the August term of court and makes the prediction that "we may expect unusually hot weather" about that time.

Squire Reifsnyder considers libelous an article that appeared in the Journal issue of April 10th concerning the case of small pox in Millheim. It was a signed communication in which "citizen" alluded rather sarcastically to Squire Reifsnyder's supposed ignorance of a subject he had evidently been talking about.

THE BROOKERHOFF HOUSE CHANGES HANDS AGAIN.—F. B. Ray, of Altoona, has rented the Brookerhoff house in this place and took charge yesterday; Mr. Chas. Shanefelter, who had been managing it for the Brookerhoffs, having retired.

Mr. Ray also rents the Altamonte in Altoona and his son, H. B. Ray, will have charge of the Brookerhoff. They announce no changes in the organization of the house, but will make such as may be necessary from time to time.

Two men by the name of Grenoble were arrested in Millheim yesterday afternoon and brought to jail here for refusal to pay taxes. They are residents of Gregg township and were arrested at the instance of the collector for that district.

The ditches are being dug to lay larger water pipes in Rebersburg.

News Parly Personal.

Gen. and Mrs. Hastings were arrivals from Philadelphia on Monday.

Mrs. Sidney Krumrine and her children are in Williamsport visiting her mother.

Former sheriff W. M. Cronister, of Martha Furnace, was a Bellefonte visitor on Wednesday.

Mrs. Jack Decker and her little son are here on a visit to the Anderson home on east Bishop street.

C. M. Parrish returned from Ebensburg Monday morning. He spent Sunday at his old home there.

I. Newton Gordon, of Scranton, was an arrival in town on Monday and tarried a day with friends here.

J. P. Selbert, who lives in Benner township, a few miles west of Bellefonte, was in town on Saturday.

A. G. Morris, president of the American Lime and Stone Co., was in Bellefonte on business on Tuesday.

W. P. Duncan Esq., operator and financier of Phillipsburg, was a distinguished visitor in town Monday.

Misses Julia Bidwell and Effie Gehret were in Jersey Shore, on Saturday, for the Odd Fellow's anniversary.

John Hafer left for Pittsburg, on Tuesday, determined to interest some one in his patent suspender fasteners.

Mrs. A. T. Parker, of Jersey Shore, spent Sunday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. M. Bidwell, on south Allegheny street.

W. H. Williams, of Port Matilda, was in Bellefonte on Monday taking a look in at court and greeting his many friends hereabouts.

Burgess Jesse Lukens, of Phillipsburg, was in town during the fore part of the week, having been interested in some of the cases at court.

Mrs. Louisa Beck, who is in Philadelphia visiting her sisters, Mesdames Moulton and Stone, and Miss Amanda Tomb, has been quite ill since going to the city.

Miss Mary Butts has returned to her home in this place after two years' association in business with her brother Walter in Winster. She expects to spend part of the summer here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Fenlon attended the funeral of Miss Elizabeth Collins at Ebensburg, on Saturday, and remained until Monday evening, visiting Mr. Fenlon's relatives there.

Harry Robb, who gave up driving Meese's grocery wagon to become an engineer running out of Pittsburg, is home for a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Erastus Robb, of the Beaver & Hoy road.

W. W. Mayer, of Englewood, N. J., who was originally from Ferguson township, is visiting the friends and scenes of his early days. He was a guest at the Bell home on south Thomas street for a few days.

Among the jurors at court this week was our good Democratic friend Simler Bachelor, of Phillipsburg. He came over expecting to spend most of the week in town, but the unexpected ending of the session on Wednesday cut his labors short.

Among the witnesses at court during the fore part of the week was Musser Heberling, of Pine Grove, who is reputed to be one of the brainiest young school teachers in the county. In company with several other Ferguson visitors he took in "the Wise Woman" Monday night.

John Thomas, of Snow Shoe, was in town yesterday, thinking that he would have passed for a mere youth instead of one of the substantial farmers and Democratic politicians in that section.

William Pealer, of Spring Mills, and A. P. Zerby, of Sober, were in town this week attending court. Mr. Pealer was merely visiting friends and taking a look at what is being done, but Mr. Zerby was far more interested. He is a candidate for office and was hustling all the time.

William Rice, an employee of this office, who has been in the Orthopedic hospital in Philadelphia for the past three months receiving treatment for curvature of the spine, returned home Tuesday night very much better and greatly pleased with Dr. William J. Taylor's methods and the general excellence of the hospital.

Mrs. Will Larimer, of Thomas street, spent Sunday in Jersey Shore with her son Lee. She was accompanied home on Tuesday by her sister, Mrs. Nan Chambers Willard, of Williamsport, who came up to look after her property on Reynolds Avenue, and if possible find a purchaser for it, as she does not expect to come back to town to reside.

John A. Kelly, the man who has more to do with making the male portion of Snow Shoe's population look smoother than any other resident of the place, was in town during the fore part of the week doing duty as a juror. Johnny wasn't stuck on the job, either, for he could make far more staying at home keeping his barber shop open than by serving his country at $2 a day.

Mrs. T. S. Barges, of Centre Hall, with her daughter and cute little grand-daughter May, were in town yesterday doing some shopping. They drove over the mountain. Mrs. Barges says there is a vast difference between living privately and running a hotel and she has a very decided liking for the active, lively life she led as hostess at the Centre Hall hostelry until six years ago.

Candidates were doing a flourishing button-hole trade in town on Monday. It was the first day of a largely attended court and the aspirants for office were busy. The whirl must have gotten too fast for them, for towards afternoon we noticed them overflowing into the outskirts of the town. Frank Foreman and William Frank made active canvasses of one of the wards, while Isaac Frain and J. Will Koper were content with just a little informal call here and there.

Sam Harpster and his niece, Miss Harshberger, a very winsome young woman, were down from Gatesburg doing some shopping on Wednesday. Though Sam knows nearly every inch of Bellefonte and most of the people who live here it was Miss Harshberger's first visit to the county seat. She has visited other large towns in the State but though spending most of her life within eighteen miles of this place had never been here before.

R. B. Gardner, of Allegheny, was in town for a few hours on Monday calling on some of his relatives here. He is a son of the late Wilson Gardner, who was one of Ferguson township's foremost citizens, and had been up looking over the old homestead. Mr. Gardner is the general agent for a large electrical supply company and though his headquarters are in Pittsburg his territory covers the entire country. He has been with the company so long that he has gradually worked himself up to a position where he handles only the most important contracts.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lembeck, with their little daughter Lucille, were in town Tuesday to spend the night with Mrs. Barbara Rankin. Walter had not been here for a number of years, consequently was so much of a stranger and had changed so much in appearance that it kept the few of his old friends whom he had time to see guessing some to place him. He will be remembered as the nephew of Mrs. John I. Rankin and was graduated from the High school here with the class of '88. Since that time he has spent most of his time in Washington, where he attended the Columbia law school and was admitted to practice. For the past few years, however, he has had charge of the government fisheries and seal preserves off the Aleutian islands. When they left at noon on Tuesday they did not expect to get back for a year.

Former register John A. Rupp, of Oak Hall, was in town on Wednesday, attending to some business in his old haunts about the court house.

John Spangler, a son of Howard Spangler, of this place, having secured admission to St. Francis' institute, near Philadelphia, departed for that place on Monday, in company with Col. and Mrs. J. L. Spangler.

Levi G. Daughenbaugh, formerly of Waddle's where he worked in the woods for three years, but now employed in a cove in Clearfield, has been in town renewing old acquaintances this week. While he doesn't like the indoor life near as well as he did the hardy out-of-door existence of a woodsman he thinks he will stick to the restaurant business and talk a little Democratic politics on the side.

W. T. Leathers Jr., of the firm of J. B. Leathers' Sons, manufacturers of handles and India rubber roofing paint at Mt. Eagle and Dickson, Tenn., was in town yesterday and brought his whole force up for a good time. In the party were T. G. Leathers, Earl Leathers, A. A. Aiky, J. I. Dunlap, and A. C. Glenn. They all drove up in the morning, but the boys must have made the pace too hot for their good natured boss for he scooted off home by one of the noon trains.

Mrs. Margaret Alexander is a guest at the McQuiston home on West High street. She came east from Pittsburg, where she has been spending the winter with her niece Mrs. Elliott, to transact some business before going West to Oklahoma to spend the summer with her sister, Mrs. McBride. Mrs. Yarrington, of Richmond, Va., Mrs. Alexander's daughter, who was to have been here last week has not yet arrived but is expected to-day.

Herb Ward, station master at Pine Grove and general utility man in that community, came to town Tuesday evening and at first we thought he was the bass end of a German band. Later we found out that the big brass horn he was carrying wasn't a horn at all, but a megaphone for the new, improved phonographs he is selling. He had one of them with him and gave an impromptu concert at Garman's hotel that evening. It was a revelation in phonographic work, for the records were so clear and the machine so accurate that there wasn't a particle of that buzzing and rasping so noticeable in other machines.

Though the village of Birmingham, near Tyrone, is more than 100 years old the first conflagration that there is any knowledge of occurred there last Friday. Shortly before noon the building known as "Music hall" on the Mountain seminary grounds caught fire near the roof and was completely destroyed. It was used for musical purposes and also for dormitory rooms. The loss is estimated at $4,000, fully covered. Mr. Grier expects to rebuild at once, making the new building larger and better.

Frank E. Farrel, a son of Thomas and Jane Farrel, of Beech Creek, was so badly burned about the head and face by the explosion of a fue in his engine last Thursday at Kittanning Point, that he died in the Altoona hospital Tuesday morning. The young man was born at Beech Creek, December 20th, 1876, and had been railroading for 3 years. He was a member of the brotherhood of firemen and of the relief association. His parents, four brothers and three sisters survive him. The body was taken home for burial.

Some dastard made an attempt to outrage a little girl of twelve years, along the N. V. R. R. tracks, near the Jacob Valentine farm, a short distance east of town, yesterday afternoon. He kicked her and tore her clothes but her cries attracted her father who was working in a field near by before he accomplished his hellish designs. The fiend escaped the posse that was organized to capture him. Her name is Neese. He is described as a young man wearing a light hat and carrying a bundle.

Mr. William B. Bush, of Boggs township, Clearfield county, and Miss Melissa Irwin were married at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Irwin, in Union township, at high noon, last Thursday. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. G. A. Sparks, of the U. B. church, in the presence of about fifty guests. Miss Sallie Hancock played the wedding march.

The wind storm Saturday night blew over the house occupied by Thomas Fenlon and his family, on the Clearfield pike near Phillipsburg. Though all the occupants were asleep in it at the time they escaped unhurt. Some dishes and parts of the furniture were broken, but that was the extent of the damage.

MARRIED.—At the Reformed parsonage in Bellefonte by the Rev. Ambrose M. Schmidt, Wednesday afternoon, April 23rd, Mr. Gilbert H. Dietzel, of Collier, Pa., and Miss Sarah E. Wolf, of Oak Grove, Pa.
