Corner stone services were postponed on account of the storm.

Frank Emrick Jr., removed his goods to Johnstown last week. He has secured employment there.

Mrs. Sarah Long and her brother Leon Hazard, of Huntingdon, are visiting their relative, Mrs. William Garbrick.

Michael Grenoble, tinner at Lamar, and his right bower, Henry Fleisher, were doing repairs here last week. Both are good fellows and deserve patronage.

James Gussallus and Will Mauk have an enormous fish story, a tune of twelve hundred. They spent one week in the Alleghenies with the above result.

I. S. Frain had business in this locality last week. Although defeated for nomination he is the same Democrat as before, also a good business man and is busy every day.

Mrs. Hettie Tate, while weeding in the garden last week, was poisoned by some weed, which caused her much suffering and in order to gain relief Dr. Huston was called for medical assistance.

John Holmes is building an extension to his barn on the farm. When completed it will make the structure over one hundred feet long. This building is on the Snarely farm and one of the most productive in the valley. The farm has also in it the best quality of pipe ore.

A violent electric storm passed over Clintondale, during Sunday afternoon, doing considerable damage. The house occupied by Frank Rossman on the old camp ground was struck by lightning. Miss Weaver, of Mackeyville, who came to the corner stone laying, was the most seriously shocked.

B. F. Shafer hopes for an abundance of honey this fall. Last Sunday his bees concluded to celebrate the sacred day and swarmed. After they had nicely assembled upon a limb of a tree the owner proceeded to the hive, whereupon they fell upon him and stung him severely, causing his face to be very much swollen for several days.

Pine Grove Mention.

J. H. Nideigh has broken ground for a new house on his farm.

The long looked for rain came at last and vegetation is reviving.

Mrs. Ed. Duff, of McAlevy's Fort, was a visitor at J. B. Ard's home Saturday.

Children's day services will be held in the Presbyterian church next Sunday evening.

J. B. Henderson, of Spruce Creek, was a visitor at his son-in-law's, N. C. Nideigh's, last week.

Will Evey, of Altoona, who represents the Tyrone shoe company, did our merchants up last Friday.

J. F. Zeigler, of Linden Hall and a lady friend were royally entertained at J. C. Miller's home on Friday.

Rev. Edgar H. Heckman is receiving congratulations over the arrival of a bouncing boy at his State College home.

Mrs. Newt J. Bell, of Eden Hill, is a welcome visitor at the home of her mother, Mrs. Maria Goss, on Main street.

Auctioneer Win Gohsen and wife were up from Boalsburg, on Tuesday, to spend a real pleasant time at Dr. Woods' home.

Miss Mary Rhone, of Centre Hall, and Miss Edith Sankey, of Potter's Mills, were visitors at Postmaster Hess's home last week.

Dr. Sam Woods, of South Sharon and W. Woods, of Pittsburg, were recent visitors at Dr. Woods' home on Main street.

Samuel Zettle, one of Benner township's push ahead farmers, and his wife Sundayed at the home of James Peters in the Glades.

Will Dougherty and his right hand bower, John Strunk, are hustling among the farmers in the interest of the Champion company this week.

Misses Sade and Nan Glenn are visiting relatives in Ohio. They are having such a pleasant time that their stay will likely be a prolonged one.

The Ferguson township school board will meet at Centre school house next Saturday to elect teachers and transact such business as is necessary.

Will Martz, oldest son of Daniel Martz, is laid up at his Branch home with several broken ribs. He was riding his wheel on Monday when it came in contact with a twig which threw him violently to the ground.

A terrific thunder storm accompanied by heavy rain fell visited this section on Friday. Mrs. J. R. Smith's house on Water street was struck by lightning and the kitchen damaged considerably. No one was injured, however.

Rev. C. T. Aikens has been notified of his election as a trustee of the Susquehanna University. He spent last Sunday on the Sugar Valley charge where he installed Rev. J. A. Dunlap as pastor and assisted the congregation to celebrate its fiftieth anniversary.

Jacob Daniel Koch who has been assisting his uncle, John P. Condo, in the mercantile business at Millheim for the past year is on a strike for higher wages. He expects to get it in the city and we hope he will not be disappointed, for he is an excellent salesman as well as an efficient and obliging clerk.

Major A. C. Kepler, of Lancaster, spent last week with his cousin J. M. Kepler, just west of town. The major is a great admirer of the late Gen. McClellan and is very conversant with the thrilling incidents of the seven days' fight as well as many of the other engagements of the war. He has been more fortunate in accumulating a fortune than most old veterans and is one of the big bond holders of the Garden City.

Children's day services were held in the Methodist church on Sunday evening. The decorations were beautiful. Roses, peonies, laurel and ferns were used in great abundance and the air was fragrant with their perfume. The little ones who took part in the service excelled all the previous attempts made on similar occasions. Rev. Heckman, the pastor, pleasingly commended those who had made the occasion so interesting and instructive and closed with a good address.

On Wednesday the frame of a fine new barn was raised on D. G. Meek's Bunker Hill farm. The neighbors from far and near were there to lend a helping hand and every timber fit so perfectly that Amos Kerstetter can well be proud of his job as a builder. The dinner provided by Mrs. Meek and her assistants was so bountiful that it could not all be stowed away at noon and in consequence a delicious supper was served which made it an all-day picnic for those who were present.

Yarnell.

Miss Ada Poorman Sundayed at home.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

The July Century is to be the "Summer Fiction Number" of that magazine, and the chief point of interest is likely to be a posthumous story by Paul Leicester Ford. Its title is "Wanted; A Chaperon," and it relates the adventures of a young woman from the country, visiting in New York, who, accidentally, is left at the door step of the wrong house on a stormy winter night. The story is said to possess the attractiveness of Mr. Ford's lightest touch, and the pictures by Mr. Gilbert to show a winsome and ingenious heroine. Other contributions of fiction to this number will be "Fing-a-Ling," the story of a car horse by David Gray; "The Passing of Cook-Eye Blacklock," a story of the frontier West by Frank Norris; "A Mountain Matchmaker," a story by Will N. Harben; "A Dilemma" by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, one of his "Little Stories" with a problem in it; a piece of rollicking humor by Harry Stillwell Edwards, entitled "The Unpleasantness at New Hope," and other stories, besides the fourth part of Mary Adams' "Confessions of a Wife," in which the interest deepens with the estrangement of husband and wife.
