THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

A severe attack of rheumatism confines Sigmund Joseph to his home.

The Yeager & Davis shoe store in Philipsburg is being greatly beautified.

Charles Glenn, the photographer, has been granted a pension of $12 per month.

A baby boy has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Wetzel, on Willowbank St.

Today the Bellefonte Methodists are to picnic at Hecla park. You are invited to join them.

The Centre countians in Blair county will hold their next annual reunion on August 23rd.

We need money badly just now. Couldn't you pay a little on your subscription arrearage?

The trend of business towards what is known as the "down town" section of Bellefonte is becoming more noticeable every day.

Brigadier McEntire, a brother of the Ensign, will speak in Petriken hall at 2:30 Sunday afternoon. It will be a service to which all are invited.

When graduating from Haverford last week Wallace Reeder took the degree of B. S., as well as three prizes for breaking college track records.

County detective Joe Rightmower was out in the mountains fishing recently and got badly poisoned, the result being that he is laid up and suffering considerably.

Engineer "Bill" Johnston, of the furnace shifter, and architect Herman Miller are both on the sick list. The latter is laid up with boils, while "Bill" has catarrh of the stomach.

Jacob Gross, the tailor, has rented the office building on High street formerly occupied by Dr. J. D. Geisinger, and will move his store to that place just as soon as it can be put in shape for him.

The Pleasant View Union chapel was the scene of an interesting children's day service last Sunday. Quite a large crowd gathered to witness the little ones carrying out their part of a pleasing program.

Mrs. A. O. Ernst of Linn street, was at her father's home in Milton during the recent cyclonic storm that passed over that place. The house was unroofed and the one adjoining it completely demolished.

There will be a rehearsal for the children's day exercises in the Bellefonte Presbyterian church tomorrow, Saturday, evening at 6:30. It will be held at the Academy and it is desired that all who are going to participate be present.

It is probable that after July 1st Bellefonte stores will close at 6 p. m. every evening except on pay days of the American Lime and Stone Co. and the Bellefonte and Nittany furnaces, on which they will remain open until the usual hour.

It has just been announced that Ralph VanValin, of Unionville, has won the James Potter Hughes mathematical prize of $10 at the Bellefonte Academy. The classical prize was equally divided between Merrill Russell, of Butler, and Elliott Vandevender, of Bellefonte.

The Misses Mary and Henrietta Butts gave a tea at their home on north Allegheny street, Tuesday evening, in honor of Miss Minnie Schreyer, of Chicago. Miss Schreyer was a guest of Miss Harper, of Linn street, until Wednesday afternoon, when she departed for home.

Street commissioner Shaughnessy has introduced the practice of sweeping the walks of the bridges off occasionally. It is the proper thing to do, only it is not done often enough. Change your occasionally into twice a week and the bridge walks will look like they ought to.

Supt. F. H. Clemson, of the mining department of the Bellefonte and Nittany iron companies, succeeded in getting the Gatesburg banks in Nittany valley in operation on Monday morning. This makes the second of the old banks to resume, as Taylor has been working for several weeks.

The horse that is supposed to haul Irvin's grocery delivery wagon about with proper decorum came in Water street at Bellefonte Central speed Monday morning, but Charles Rote ended its wild flight at High street. Nothing was broken but the sun umbrella and it was completely wrecked in one of the front wheels.

Editor John Miller, of the News, is bound to kick up a fuss in some direction. When he gets after the burgess, street commissioner and three or four private citizens and throws bouquet at the Temperance people and owners of fast horses all in the same issue it is time to wonder whether John is as sincere as he is versatile.

Col. W. Fred Reynolds has been selected by the Rt. Rev. Thomas Underwood Dudley, Bishop of Kentucky, as a member of the board of inquiry to investigate the charges preferred against Rt. Rev. Ethelbert Talbot, Bishop of the Central Pennsylvania diocese of the Episcopal church, by Rev. Irvine, rector of the Episcopal church at Huntingdon. The Bishop unrooked Rev. Irvine and removed him from the ministry and the latter claims that it was done at the instance of a meddling woman. The board will meet in Harrisburg July 1st.

PANNING GOLD.

Quite a party of local speculators and probable investors gathered in J. C. Meyer's office in this place, on Tuesday afternoon, and manifested a keen interest in the process of panning gold, after exactly the same methods resorted to by prospectors who are looking for pay streaks in gold territory. The demonstration was made by Mr. Newton C. Westerfield, president of the Westerfield Mining Investment Co. of Philadelphia, from the rock underlying large sections of land in the various groups in Ontario and Manitoba under control of this company.

Mr. Westerfield has personally developed all the properties under control of his company and his demonstration was interesting, especially from a mechanical standpoint. He took the pieces of rock and first worked them up as fine as possible with mortar and pestle, then the crushed substance was passed over a screen separating the larger particles from the sand. This sand was then placed in a large black basin, somewhat like a skillet, with wide slanting sides and some water dipped in onto it.

The water dissolved the clays at once and they were poured off. More water was dipped up, the pan kept in constant agitation between the hands so that the water could gradually flow from it. This process was repeated a number of times, or until most of the sand and substances of light specific gravity had flowed out over the edge; leaving only a small percentage of the original in the pan and along the edge of it appeared a bright yellow streak, enough to make the wearied heart of any prospector leap for joy at its discovery and enough to indicate that in the rock used Tuesday afternoon there must be gold in paying quantities.

Aside from the demonstration of the process of panning those who saw it were interested because of the fact that former prothonotary L. A. Schaeffer, of this county, has lately entered the employ of Mr. Westerfield's company and will have charge of their home offices in Philadelphia. We understand that considerable of the stook is being taken in Bellefonte.

WALKER TOWNSHIP SCHOOL NEWS.

The school board of Walker township met at Hublersburg on Saturday afternoon to elect teachers for the coming year and transact other necessary business.

The following resident teachers were elected: Messrs. W. Markle, L. Markle, Emory Deitrich, L. Youm, W. H. Minnick, A. A. Pletcher and for the High school Mr. Ammon P. Weaver, of Wolf's Store.

Mr. Weaver is a young man of excellent scholastic attainments and a teacher of considerable experience. He has taught four years in the schools of the county, during which time he prepared for college by private study and by attending Prof. Wolf's school at Spring Mills, during the summer.

In the fall of 1898 he entered Franklin and Marshall college, where he received his A. B. degree at the commencement exercises on last Thursday.

During his college career he won and held the high regard of his professors and college mates, by his lofty moral ideals, his resolute devotion to right and duty, and his faithful and untiring efforts in the pursuit of knowledge and culture. He identified himself with all worthy interests in the general life of his college and supported them to the extent of his ability.

Educational interests were made the special object of study during his college career. The subject of his commencement thesis being "The Study of English in the Public Schools." This thesis was pronounced by the college authorities as a very able production.

The coming of Mr. Weaver to Hublersburg, no doubt, means a new era in the life of the public schools, since with the single exception of Prof. Black, who has been teaching the summer school there, he is the first college graduate who has taught the Walker High school for a number of years.

We bespeak for him the hearty support of both patrons and directors, without which no teacher can succeed.

A MARE, PHAETON AND HARNESS STOLEN.

Miss Carrie Holt, of Curtin Works, came to town on Monday morning to apprise the authorities of the theft of her horse, phaeton and harness, which occurred after ten o'clock Sunday night and probably before twelve o'clock.

The animal was a good, dark sorrel mare, with small scar and black mark on the left side of the neck, rather difficult to detect. She is a free traveler and is a shade between a hazel and a chestnut. The phaeton was an old vehicle, but the harness was quite good.

Miss Holt has no clue to the thieves, except that two men were seen loading about the water tank along the railroad near her home during the day. When she put the horse into the stable at ten o'clock Sunday night it snuffed and acted as though it didn't want to go in. This unusual performance suggests the idea that the thief might have been concealed there at the time. As none of the hay was eaten out of the manger the horse was probably stolen soon after being put into the barn.

Tracts in the muddy road indicated that it had been driven westward.

A reward of $20 is offered.

The home of Torrence Kessinger at Selona was struck by lightning during the storm early last Friday morning. Mr. Kessinger was up putting down the windows at the time and after sending his wife and children down stairs coolly procured several buckets of water and went to the attic to put out the fire on the roof that had been started by the lightning.

John DeHaas has sold his meat market at Beech Creek to C. A. Masserly, of Buffalo.

Contracts for the stone and brick work of the new Y. M. C. A. gymnasium in Lock Haven were awarded on Tuesday night.

James Chatham, of Mill Hall, caught a rain bow trout on Friday evening that was 23 in long. It was 5 in, broad and weighed 5 lb, 5 oz.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas King Morris, of Tyrone, have a young son and the former is as delighted as the usual pater familias is over the first one.

There will be a festival at the Eckley school house, along the mountain above the Stevens lime operations on Saturday, June 21st, to which all are invited. It will be for the benefit of the new United Brethren chapel now under roof at that place.

While working for the Howard Lumber Co. of Emporium, Daniel Heaton, of Yarnell, this county, was struck on the head by a break beam of a log train. The force of the blow fractured his skull. He was taken to the hospital last Friday.

Lock Haven tradesmen met on Friday night and organized a branch of the Central Labor Union. Seven trades were represented at the meeting and officers were elected and a charter signed by Samuel Gompers and John Mitchell was accepted.

On Tuesday a delightful birthday surprise party was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Cheney, at Port Matilda. It was the 60th anniversary of Mrs. Cheney's birth and seventy-five of her friends gathered at the home to celebrate the day with her.

The first re-union of the survivors of Co. I, Fifth Penna. Reserves, will be held at Huntingdon Furnace, in Huntingdon county, on the 21st of this month. A number of addresses will be given, a camp fire will be held and a general good time is anticipated. All veterans of the civil war are invited and will be made welcome.

Harry Rine, a son of Supt. Samuel Rine of the water works, was married to Miss Mary Darnier, of Oak Hill, on Monday evening. The ceremony was performed at Milesburg and the couple said at the Brant house here until yesterday, when the bride went home until Harry can secure suitable rooms for them to go to housekeeping in.

Miss Marian Nevling, a daughter of William H. Nevling formerly a resident of this place, was married in Holy Trinity Cathedral, Tokio, Japan, on the 15th of last month. She went to Japan as a missionary of the Presbyterian board about two years ago and there met the Rev. William Frank Madeley, to whom she has just been married.

The tax rate for school purposes in Centre Hall has been fixed at 6 1/2 mills, with 1 1/2 mills for building purposes. They have four schools, four teachers, 122 scholars, an average daily attendance of 101 and they cost the borough $1.73 each per month. The teachers elected for next year are grammar grad, Jas. B. Strohm; secondary, F. A. Foreman; primary, Miss Anna Bartholomew. The principal has not yet been selected.

One week more for $1.69 photos at Mallory & Taylor's.

On Saturday afternoon Reuben Houser, of Bonner township, was given a hearing before Justice Keichline in this place, on a charge of assault, preferred by his neighbor John Strunk. On a Sunday morning not long ago Houser's cattle got into Strunk's grass, whereupon the latter dogged them. This brought the owners of the cattle and the dogs together and there were all kinds of "hyperfluous" compliments exchanged. Houser gave bail to keep the peace until court, when a jury will decide what shall be done with him.

Marcus A. Landsy, of the firm of Antrim and Landsy, Philadelphia portrait artists, has been in town this week calling on some of our residents with the hope of interesting them in their work. They have just delivered a magnificent pastel, 20x24, of the late Hugh Beaver, which was executed purely as an exhibition picture, but was so perfect a likeness of Gen. Beaver's lamented son, that Mr. Gilbert White purchased it and presented it to the Beaver family. They are at work now on a portrait of Gen. Beaver, himself, which Mr. White will present to the Pennsylvania State College.

An amusing incident of the commencement exercises at State College Wednesday morning of last week was a little break made by president Chas. M. Schwab, of the United States steel corporation, who was on the platform waiting to deliver the commencement address. Of course Charley was big dog in the pound, people nearly looked holes through him and those who could see him were careful to smile when he smiled and applaud when he applauded. During the rendition of La Traviata by the orchestra, which was stationed in the gallery immediately above the speakers, there was a very soft strain that followed one that ended with a great crash. Charley could not see the musicians and, thinking they had completed a number in masterful fashion, began to applaud for fair. He was the only one, however, for the orchestra swelled out a little stronger just then and the steel magnate looked as though he would like to have chased himself away up stage.

WEDDING BELLS AT SNOW SHOE.

The parlors and dining rooms of the Washington house at Snow Shoe were beautiful in their green and white decorations, Wednesday evening, when the guests arrived to witness the marriage of Miss Rebecca D. Uzzle, the accomplished daughter of the proprietor, to Mr. James A. Russell.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. A. Fans, of the Methodist church, in the presence of about thirty of the nearest friends of the young couple. The maids were Miss Flora Russell, sister of the groom, and Miss Rena Uzzle, sister of the bride. They were gown'd in white and carried white roses. The bride looked charming in a magnificent imported gown of white point d' esprit. The party entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Josephine Uzzle. Immediately after the informal reception that followed the ceremony a splendid collation was served.

The bride is a daughter of John G. Uzzle, the well-known Snow Shoe hotel man, and is in every way qualified to make a useful companion for the man of her choice. He is an ambitious young miner and also holds the responsible position of constable of that township. They will go to house keeping in Snow Shoe.

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock William Dawson and Miss Elizabeth Mulligan were married at the rectory of the Catholic church by the Rev. Father McArdle. It was a very unpretentious wedding but none the less happy and immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dawson repaired to the groom's home on Halfmoon hill, where a reception was tendered them.

Will is one of the mail men at the P. R. R. station in this place and an industrious, affable young man for whom the WATCHMAN wishes nothing but happiness and success.

RECORD BREAKING BEES.—In addition to being yard master for the Pennsy at this point and principal pillar for the Union chapel at Pleasant View we never knew, until Wednesday morning, that Emmanuel Noll is an apiarist. He is not merely the owner of bees for the honey they make, but finds pleasure in studying the habits and environments of the busy little insects that give to mankind its most effective lesson in industry.

Mr. Noll has had bees for several years. He has provided them with hives of most improved kind and watched their development with studied interest. He kept four hives over last winter. Two of them were of the Italian variety and two of the common black bees. On May 20th he had the first swarm, an extra large one, eight days after the bees were put into the hives they began to hang out and he put a "super" on the hives. On the 17th the supers were full and he discovered that in less than one month his bees had filled up thirty-two sections and given him 125 lbs of honey. Here is a result that Mr. Noll thinks is a record breaker and he would like to hear from any apiarist who can beat it.

As to the quality of the honey we can vouch for that too, for we've had several boxes to sample from.

BELLEFONTE SCHOOL BOARD COMMITTEES.—The Bellefonte school board held a meeting Monday evening at which little else was done than the reading of the standing committees for the year, as they indicate a general shake up in the organization of the work and are as follows:

Finance—Fortney, J. P. Harris, W. H. Crisman, Accounts—Heinle, Crisman, Hard P. Harris, Supplies—Quigley, Hard P. Harris, Repairs—Hard P. Harris, A. C. Mingle, Darius Waite, Grounds—Waite, Fortney, John P. Harris, High School—John P. Harris, Fortney, Rees, Text Books—Crisman, Mingle, Quigley, Library and Books—A. C. Mingle, Heinle, Waite.

LIGHTNING WAS ACTIVE.—The storm Saturday evening was rather severe in this section, but in the lower end of Nittany and Bald Eagle valleys and about Lock Haven it was unusual in that so many places were struck.

In Lock Haven no less than five houses were damaged to a greater or less extent by the electric bolts. W. I. Harvey's home at Flemington was struck twice, and the barn of Temple C. Smith at Beech Creek was struck and three valuable horses killed in addition to other damage.

LIGHTNING'S QUEER PRANKS.—During the storm at Scotia on Friday lightning struck the double house occupied by the families of G. C. Lykens and R. E. Cronemiller. The bolt hit the Lykens' end, demolishing the flue, but ran over into Cronemiller's kitchen, where most of the family was gathered. There it made a complete circle of the table, knocked a cap off one of the children's head and ran out through a screen door, tearing it up badly. Aside from the fright none of the inmates of either house suffered from the bolt.

The last week for $1.69 photos at Mallory & Taylor's.

The committee to whom the selection of places at which to hold farmers institutes is delegated met in the arbitration room in the court house, on Tuesday, and decided that Rock Springs and Spring Mills shall have the next sessions. Hon. John A. Woodward, Geo. Dale, Owen Underwood and John M. Shugert were the committee.
