

Pine Grove Menton.

Mrs. Alfretha Goss is visiting her parental home on Water street.

J. A. B. Miller, one of Bellefonte's legal lights, transacted business here last week.

Last week a pleasant family reunion was held at the old Smith home on Water street.

John Fagan Jr. and wife, of Altoona, visited several days last week at the Ripka home.

W. H. Sausserman, tall and sprightly as ever, and his family were here to spend the Fourth.

Merchant Charley Swartz with his wife and family Sundayed at D. G. Meek's home at Fairbrook.

D. J. Koch left last week for New York city where he has secured a good position in a wholesale establishment.

George McWilliams, of Pittsburg, is getting on a good coat of tan in the harvest fields at his old home at Fairbrook.

Fred, Edward and Herbert Goss, the three sons of ex-county treasurer Cyrus Goss, are here spending their vacation with friends.

William Eckley is shipping his household goods to Pittsburg this week where he and his sons have good positions in the iron mills.

Charley Martz, of Oak Grove, spent Sunday with his family on Water street. His son Austin has also secured employment at Oak Grove.

Mr. Luke Hay, of Somerset county, was looking over his broad and fertile acres in this vicinity last week and was very much pleased with the outlook.

Mrs. Sarah Pennington, of Lebanon, is a guest at the hospitable home of D. G. Meek. Mrs. Pennington is looking very well and hearty for one of her years.

Mrs. John Musser, who has been visiting relatives here, will return to her home in California after spending a week with her invalid husband in Altoona.

J. F. Mays, the granite and marble man of Lemont, was in town last week genial and pleasant as usual. He is one of the kind whom it is always a pleasure to meet.

Mrs. J. C. Bathgate returned to her home at Lemont on Wednesday, after visiting at the home of her son Woods, in Altoona, where a young son recently was born.

McClellan Corl, of Pittsburg, was home last week to visit his mother who has become so much of an invalid mentally, that it was deemed best to take her to the Danville hospital for treatment, which was done last week.

Squire Albert Hoy, of State College, and his wife visited their son Robert at Cumberland, Md., last week. Robert is the agent of the Adams Express Co. there and is very comfortably fixed, but Centre county is much more to the liking of the elder Hoy than Maryland.

One day recently Claud Koch, the little two year old son of Harry Koch, of Fairbrook, followed his father unnoticed to the kitchen loft and fell through the trap door onto an iron furnace on the floor below. He was unconscious when picked up and was not able to walk for several days, but at this writing is doing nicely.

On Sunday afternoon this community was drenched with the hardest rain it has had for many seasons. The rain was accompanied by terrific thunder and lightning and many cellars, fields and roads were soon under water. Over on Manor Hill eighty window panes were broken by hail and the gardens, corn and grain fields were almost entirely destroyed.

Isaac Mitchell, the strenuous assistant cashier of the Jackson & Hastings bank, of Bellefonte, evidently needs no calendar to remind him that vacation time is here for just as soon as July arrives he comes up from his money counting to rusticate for a few days at the beautiful country place of his son-in-law, at Pennsylvania Furnace. Mrs. Mitchell, Miss Grace, Tom, Malcolm and Miss Lida Thomas were also visitors at "Heartsease" over the 4th.

On June 28th an old fashioned quilting party was given at the Dale home on the Branch in honor of the sixty fourth birthday of Mrs. Henrietta Dale. Mrs. Charles Dale arranged the party and served a splendid chicken and waffle dinner to the friends of many years' standing who had been bidden. Two large quilts, one the feather pattern, were taken out about twilight and the guests took their departure much pleased with the happy occasion.

The Western Union Telegraph company sent a train to our town on Sunday to make the transfer of interest in this town to the Postal Company.

J. F. Herman has gone from our town to work in the chain works at Bellefonte, and we are informed that Fred has taken a notion to set up a house also. So we wish success to him and his bride.

One of the Salvation Army ladies was seen on our streets on Tuesday, gathering money to repair their place of meeting and we wish them great success, for it is evident that they are doing much good, and there is still much for them to do.

Books, Magazines, Etc.

The July COSMOPOLITAN seems to be almost equally divided in interest between men and women. "An Experiment in Domestic Finance" is another entirely novel article which will appeal to women, while some twenty pages devoted to the "Captains of Industry" will receive the consideration of men in all classes of business. The COSMOPOLITAN has undertaken to present a series of brief sketches of the men who are leaders in finance, manufactures, and commerce, not prepared in an offhand way, but by writers of the greatest ability who have an exact knowledge of their subjects. The series thus far produced has attracted the widest attention. While the press has presented an endless number of illustrations of the Mont Pelée disaster, the illustrations in the July COSMOPOLITAN, printed on fine paper with the most careful art, give a clearer idea of just what that disaster means than anything hitherto presented.

Miss Stone's third paper on her experiences with brigands, which appears in the July McClure's, is certainly the best part so far of this extraordinary narrative. It is devoted entirely to the birth of Mrs. Telka's baby and the events of the first weeks of its life in captivity. It is a story that only a woman could write, and as Miss Stone has written it no one can read it unmoved.

McClure's, however, knows always how to go its best one better, and at the end of the article is the startling announcement that in the August number Mrs. Telka herself will tell the story of the coming of the "little brigand."

There are four particularly notable illustrated articles in THE OUTLOOK's Magazine Number for July. One of these is an appreciation or characterization of the newly crowned King of England, under the title "His Britannic Majesty." The writer is Mr. George Smalley. Another is called "A Hundred Years of West Point," and is written by Mr. James Barnes, the author of "Admiral Farragut." The third article referred to is "A Talk on Birds," by Mr. W. E. D. Scott, the curator of Ornithology of Princeton University. Finally, of great industrial interest is the paper called "Our Ships of the Sea," by Mr. John R. Spears; it describes the immense advance made in ship building in this country lately, by many fine pictures.
