Some Think the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons Fight Was Fake. It Ended in the Eighth Round, Fitz Writhing Upon the Floor-Jeffries' Nose Broken-Victor and Vanquished Talk.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26 .- After fighting a battle of eight rounds that was fought with brilliant and courageous work, Robert Fitzsimmons last night forfeited his last claim upon the heavy weight championship.

The battle was brief and noteworthy, and will live in pugilistic history.

Fitzsimmons tried once to arise from the mat, but sank down again in helplessness and heard himself counted out, where but a moment before he had apparently all the

"I will never fight again," said the battle scarred veteran of the ring when he had sufficiently recovered to talk.

"The fight was won fairly, and to the best man belongs the laurels.' "You are the most dangerous man alive," said Jeffries in return, "and I consider myself lucky to have won when I did." Fitzsimmons had been fighting at a furious gait, cool and deliberate, and chopping champion to pieces with the terrific rights and lefts that have made him fa-It was the draught horse and the racer from the tap of the gong. When the men came together Fitz appeared rather worried but upon the opening of the first round he assumed an air of absolute confidence, and fought with the deliberation of the general As early as the second round Fitz had Jeff bleeding profusely from mouth and nose. Again and again he landed on his bulkly opponent, getting away in such a clever manner that brought down the house with cheers. It seemed, indeed, that Jeffries could scarcely weather the gale. Cheerful in the face of defeat and full of praise for his vanquisher, and writhing in agony on his couch, surrounded by a score of friends offering their consolation, Fitzsimmons between short sentences, inter-spersed with groans, said that he had fought his last battle. He said:

I have fought the best I could, and the best man won. He is a great fighter, and had I been awarded the decision to-night I would have turned around and given him the championship, for he is the only man in the world capable of defending it. The blows that put me out were a left hand short arm jolt under the ribs and a right to the jaw.

'After receiving the terrific body blow I knew I was gone and told Jeffries to keep away, but he was anxious to finish me and sent a right swing to my jaw."

Asked why he did all the leading, Fitzsimmons indignantly denied the allegation and said that Jeffries did a great deal of the work, especially in the clinches and at

"He is as strong as an ox, and his blows hurt me considerably, especially his terrific lefts to body," said Fitzsimmons.

Jeffries said after the battle : "Fitzsimmons is the greatest fighter of him credit, as I know all who saw it will, the baths. for the great fight he put up. I think Fitz can yet defeat any other man than myself."

FITZ'S RIBS NOT BROKEN. Dr. Cox. who had been summoned to attion, 'announced that Fitzsimmons' ribs were not broken, but his left side was badly bruised, the muscles being so constricted as to cause the Cornishman great difficulty in breathing.

Fitz landed many blows during the fight and had Jeffries cut and bleeding from half a dozen places. Jeffries showed up well in the final rounds. In the seventh round he rushed Fitzsimmons determinedly. He put left on body, but took right on head. Neither was damaging, however, and when a moment later, they came together Jeffries put two terrific left swings on the body and nead, Jeffries wore a determined look. As he stopped to spit Fitzsimmons jabbed him three times in the mouth, and forced him to the ropes. Jeffries came back like an enraged bull, and, bleeding from his nose, mouth and cheek, he rushed the smaller man to the ropes, putting left on body and right over the heart. Fitz stood him off, however, with left jabs, occasionally sending left to the head, and in the clinch they carried on a conversation. Jeffries was bleeding, and presented a terrible appearance. He was not tired, however, and took it easy in the waiting. In the final round Bob stood up straight, feinting with his left and drawing Jeffries on. Jeffries smiled through his bloody features, duck-ing a left wing and landing a hard left on the ribs. They went at it, Fitzsimmons putting left to face and took one on the head. Fitzsimmons missed a right and took a stiff punch on the body. Jeffries forced the fighting at this stage, crouching low and carrying his right high, and left far back. They came together and clinched. As Fitzsimmons stepped back he smiled and spoke to Jeffries, and before he could get out of reach Jeffries quickly hooked his left on the jaw, and Fitzsimmons went down on his back. He came up slowly, but before he could get upon both feet, the referee counted ten and the fight was over.

When Fitzsimmons had been counted out, and he had congratulated Jeffries he walked to the side of the ring and flinging one of the gloves he had drawn from his band to the right and the other to the left among the spectators, he declared in a loud voice that he had fought his left.

CRY OF FAKE.

Now that the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons contest for the world's championship is over, the cry of the "fake" has been raised, without justification in the opinion of Referee Graney, George Siler and the great majority of other sporting men the great majority of other sporting men who witnessed the contest. A communication sent to Mayor Schmitz before the fight, to be opened after it was ended, stated that the writer had been informed that Jeffries was to win in the eighth round, which he did. The mayor has stated that as the charge that the contest was a prearranged charge that the contest was a prearranged affair cannot be disproved he will be com-

there will ever be another like it. fight being a fake," said William Delaney. has furnished a new home at a cost of $80,. "There never was a fight in which there 000.

was less reason to doubt that it was being fought on the square."

Jeffries said: "Of course, the fight was on the square. It is ridiculous to talk of anything else. Fitzsimmons fought a hard fight, the gamest I ever saw. He worked hard all the time, and when I got in the deciding blow on him he was taken off his guard. After I had my eye cut Delaney told me to start in and finish him, for fear that I would be blinded and would be unable to keep on fighting.

Fitzsimmons is equally emphatic in his assertion that it was a hard fought, legiti-mate battle.

George Siler said of the fight that George Fitzsimmons, although beaten, proved conclusively that he is, or rather was, the greatest fighter that ever stepped into an American prize ring.
The Chronicle, this morning says:

"There was no taint or suspicion from any quarter that the contest was not strictly fair, and the best man won. Surely no encounter of the kind ever waged combined all the good qualities of that fought last evening.'

The Call says: "For seven rounds Robert Fitzsimmons made a pitable spectacle of the young Hercules from the coast, and then fell under such a blow as that with which he won the world's championship, from Corbett at Carson on the memorable 17th of June. 1897." The Examiner insists that the fight was fake, pure and simple.

James Jeffries will receive 60 per cent. and Robert Fitzsimmons 40 per cent of $23-910, which is 25 per cent of the gate receipts of the fight, $31,000 having been received through the sale of seats. Jeffries will re-ceive $14,346 and Fitzsimmons will add $9 584 to his bank accounts.

The share of the San Francisco Athletic club is $7,970. Out of this it must pay the expenses of the fight, including $500 for the referees.

Jeffries manager, Delaney, referring to the champion's future plans, said :
"We will consider the challenge of Corbett and determine whether or not it is reasonable. I don't know what his proposition is. If he means business, we will meet him, and will take care of him. Jeffries is young and strong, and has no intention of quitting the ring."

MAYOR'S STATEMENT.

Mayor Schmitz has given out the following statement: "From the information I have received I am forced to believe that this exhibition is no better than the previous ones we have had, namely, the Jeffries-Ruhlin, and Gans-McFadden and it will do much towards discouraging the sport in this city. In fact, unless some indubitable evidence is produced to disprove the information which was reached by the Examiner, I shall hereafter have to prohibit all such professional "fights" or exhibitions."

Bride Kills Husband and Commits Snicide

Strange Tragedy at Buckeye Town

A double tragedy occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Spence, west of Woodsfield, O., Sunday morning, in which a young husband was killed and his wife committed suicide. Everette Spence and his bride had just been married four months and apparently were happily mated.

At 5 o'clock Mrs. Spence arose, went to another room, secured her husband's 32 calibre revolver, returned to the sleeping apartment, put the gun to Spence's right temple, and fired a shot into his brain. His sister ran into the room, and there saw the woman calmly reloading the gun.

The sister wrenched the revolver from her and, tossing it on the bed, leaned over her brother, who was still living, but about to gasp his last. She screamed for her oth-er brother. At this juncture, Mrs. Spence grabbed the gun and ran downstairs and into the yard, where she placed the revolv-er to her right temple, pulling the trigger and dying instantly.

Spence lived but a few minutes, telling his sister he knew no reason that his wife should shoot him. Both young people were well known and what prompted her to do the rash act no one will

The Philadelphia Orchestra.

The activity of the management of the Philadelphia orchestra continues to excite comment in the musical circles.

In addition to having completed the list of dates upon which the organization will appear in Philadelphia during their regular season, commencing October 31st, they are engaged in the work of planning the second series of concerts in the cities throughout Pennsylvania.

These series were inaugurated last season. The interest in the appearance of the orchestra among the musical devotees of various cities and towns in the interior of the state, was so strong that the management feels justified in planning another cycle of concerts upon an even more ambitious scale that those of the first year.

Notable soloists will be engaged, and the people outside of Philadelphia will hear the representative musical body of Pennsylvania at its very best. The list of dates for the state tour is nearly completed and will shortly be annonneed. The places to be visited will include York, Harrisburg, Scranton, Wilkesbarre, Williamsport, Lancaster, Wilmington, Allentown, Reading, Trenton, Lock Haven, Carlisle and Lebanon. There is considerable interest manifested among those interested in the orchestra. regarding the engagement of a concert The matter is now under discussion and the choice will be announced shortly. It can be confidently stated that the engagement will give general satisfac-

Many of the members of the Philadelphia orchestra have taken advantage of the heated term to make short trips to their homes abroad. It is probable that Fritz Scheel may make a hurried trip to some of the famous musical centers of the old world in order that he may have the advantage of making personal selections of some of the choicest of new orchestral music. It is his intention to number many novelties among his programs during the coming

Wales It is difficult for people in Eugland, says the London Express, to realize the terrible effects of the Australian drought. Here, for instances, is the description of some noted beauty spots in New South Wales as they appeared to the representatives touring in search of a Federal capital site. "The tracks through the paddocks were ankle deep, and almost axle deep, in fine red dust that rose in clouds with every passing wheel or puff of wind, and the pul verized earth swept over the sleepy little back blocks townships until every house, fence and tree was of a color that perfectly matched the eternal dust of the roads. "Here and there the grazing paddocks were dotted with the bleaching bones of sheep. At other places paddocks which still retained a little dusty herbage were stocked to three and four times their carrying capacity because of the general desola tion of the surrounding country, and its in-ability to support even a hoof."
