Potatoes in Oklahoma.

Farmers Discover They Have a Bonanza in the Tu ber-Land Values Double.

Pottawatomie county, Okla., produces more potatoes than any other county in the United States. This statement was made by Ewers White, president of the Shawnee in Oklahoma county, the spring yield in shouted to Mr. Fair in English :

A letter just received from the Choctaw railroad company shows that for the period ending July 5th, Shawnee had shipped 455 carloads, Tecumseh 16, Earlboro 64, while tree. Mrs. Fair, as she saw the direction than 350,000 bushels, for which the growers were paid close to $150,000, nearly half of which was clear profit. The second erop is now planting, and the outlook is unusually favorable for a big yield. These late potatoes will sell for twice as much as the early crops, and the profits be proportionately as great.

der the old system of our crops, the potatoes were not dug until fall, during the long, dry, hot summer they withered in the ground, which caused them to become as they lay on the ground, but I did not soggy when cooked, and to rot quickly when exposed to the air. The two-crop system not only cured these defects from a last." market standpoint, but doubled the out-

The potato growers of Pottawatomie deposited in the county are growing rich faster than any class of agriculturalists in Oklahoma. Four United States. years ago scarcely enough potatoes were grown at Shawnee to supply the local mar-ket. The success of a few growers attracted so much attention that farmer after faraged in the growing of potatoes. S. mer engaged in the growing of potatoes. S. D. Heal, five miles east of Shawnee, is the country adjacent to has been completely destroyed by a fidal popular grower in the country adjacent to Shawnee. He engaged in the business 4 years ago, as did a farmer named Fletcher, near Dale. Fletcher had raised two crop potatoes in the Fort Smith fields, in Arkansas. Both have prospered. The potato industry, however, was of no considerable importance until this season. Next year will find the acreage vastly increased. Scores of experienced potato growers are coming to Shawnee from the Kaw valley, attracted by the suitableness of the soil and the most important fact that two crops, instead of only one, as there, may be grown in a single season. These men will do much toward developing the industry, as they have been engaged in it for years and their knowledge will be of value to local farmers who, theretofore, have confined themselves to raising corn, wheat and cot-eighteen months, so great has been the de-mand for potato farms. In the spring of mand for potato farms. In the spring of 1901 farms in the North Canadian valley, 10 and 12 miles from Shawnee, were offered at $25 an acre. Their present owners alights on his victim, perforates his cuticle ed at $25 an acre. Their present owners are refusing $50 an acre, and as high as $62.50 has been paid. Ewers White, whose farm is fourteen miles from town, said that he could easily get $50, but would not sell for $100 an acre. The upland farms in for $100 an acre. The upland farms in Shawnee are as productive as the average caused the arm of the victim to swell to alcaused the arm of the victim to swell to almost twice the natural size from the hand to Shawnee reuts at from $4 to $6 an acre cash, and for one fourth to one third of a crop when paid in potatoes delivered for shipment. Ewers White took potatoes this property of the strain of the victim to swell to almost twice the natural size from the hand to the shoulder. Several cases have been severe enough to require the services of a physician. year and found that he had received $13 an acre for his rented land.

The man who delights in taking paper and pencil and figuring profits would find the potato fields of Pottawatomie country a statistical paradise. Colonel Mulberry Sellers would never lack for material to engage his attentions, nor for room to exercise most optimistic fancies. Ewers White, marketed 62 carloads this spring from 245 acres, more than 27,000 bushels. In less thau three weeks White banked fully $12,-000, half of which, $6,000, was velvet. How many farmers can show a profit of even $3, 000 on half a section of land planted to any other crop? The banner crop was grown by Pearson & La Boskqua. Their spring planting was 65 acres, which they cultivated in the best possible manner. Seven acres of this land by actual measurement, produced 1,897 bushels, an average of 271 oushels to the acre, while their total yield was 10,000 bushels. He received an aver- has until November 30th to remove its age price of 50c. a bushel, making $5,000 poles and wires from the right of the Penn for his first crop. Their net profit was $2,-900 on 65 acres of land. Their second crop is still to be heard from. One farmer with two crops a year on 120 acres, is clearing an nually $5,000. S. D. Neal realized a profit of $6,000 on his crop last year. It should not be forgotten, however, that there are growers who have not enjoyed such good fortune. In capacity and in experience are handicaps in the potato business, as in other pursuits, and the farmer who neglected and weeds are not encountered in Oklahoma until the first crop has been "laid by" and is ready for digging. Accordingly, weeds on the more important eastern of the more important eastern easte are seldon a nuisance. The first crop is planted between February 15th and March 1th, and is ready for market about June This crop should be delivered in fifteen days, but negligent farmers in Pottawatomie county are still digging their first crop. The second crop is planted between July 1st and August 1st, and is not harvested until after frost, late in September or early in October. The first crop is for immediate consumption, as the potatoes will rot if stored, The second crop may be kept like Northern potatoes. Early pota-toes in Shawnee invariably yield bountifully, the average this year being ninty bushels to the acre: This included the fields of the incompetent as well as the suc-cessful farmers. Potatoes can withstand a great deal of dry weather. The fall crop yields almost as bountifully as the spring crop if the season is favorable. Three good rains evenly distributed, especially a good rain in September, will mature the fall crop. The plants in Shawnee have never been attacked by bugs or other injurious pests.
