

Pine Grove Mention.

G. Y. Meek, of Tyrone, spent Wednesday night with his cousin William Meek.

The Pine Grove Light Co. have a festival billed for Christmas evening in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Miss Mary Gardner Gates, of Altoona, is visiting the old Gardner home in the Glades this week.

John Peters, who came from Missouri to join the Modocs, shot the only two deer that were captured by that party.

Miss Estella May Heberling and Miss Anna Markle who have been visiting Bellewood and Altoona friends report having spent a very pleasant time.

Frank Krebs, who is Dr. Brown's boss farmer at Spruce Creek, spent Sunday with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Henry Krebs, of Water street.

Mrs. Joseph B. Ard, who has been confined to her room for several weeks on account of a general break-down, is, we are glad to say, improving.

The Thanksgiving feast served by the Ladies Aid society in the I. O. O. F. hall was a great success both socially and financially. Forty-three dollars was realized.

Grandmother Black, who has been a welcome visitor at Frank Swabb's home near town, left Saturday for a short stay with Spruce Creek friends in the home of her childhood.

Young George Swabb is packing his grip for a trip to the West. His objective point is northern Illinois where he expects to find a clerical position in a store. We hope to note his success in mercantile circles.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason, of Granville Iowa, and Prof. Jacob Rhone, of Allegheny have been visiting their brother-in-law, postmaster J. G. Hess. After spending a few days with Mrs. Wm. Dale, of Pleasant Gap, who is ill, they will take their leave for their far away western home.

Mrs. P. Gray Meek came up from Bellefonte on Monday afternoon to spend a few days with her brother, Wm. E. Meek, who seems to be convalescing from his recent very serious illness. His attending physician Dr. Woods, is now encouraged by his condition and thinks it possible that he will soon be able to be about.

While Frank McFarlane, of Harris township, was driving his two fine steppers through here on Monday morning, the buggy tongue broke and the team came very near getting away. Mr. Wieland made the necessary repairs and Frank continued on his way rejoicing. He was in quest of a girl whom he found in the person of Miss Nettie Wither. Frank's anxiety about his household affairs is only a preface to his more serious intentions but he is wise in taking time by the forelock and securing a cook when he can get her.

On Tuesday Emanuel C. Fye and family removed from their old home at Pine Hall to State College, where they have a comfortable house near the University Inn. Mr. Fye and his family will be greatly missed at the old place for their home was always open to strangers and old acquaintances were welcomed most cordially. One by one the old homes of this community are being abandoned and soon the only recollection of them will be the sacred and pleasant memories that remain in the minds of the older inhabitants. The College people will find Mr. Fye and his family very kind and affable neighbors.

Our sportsmen are home again once more engaged in their several different occupations. They are all greatly invigorated by their month's outing in the health giving mountains and with an abundance of pure air and sparkling water. None of them need want to believe that they depended on that diet alone, though. Calvin Riley is the champion nimrod of the season. His unerring aim brought down two deer and one bruin which weighed almost four hundred pounds. The Riley crew got four deer and the bear. Judge Riley shot one deer and Samuel Bailey the other one. The Markle crowd from State College which was captained by Jacob Markle, one of the oldest hunters in the county, captured two deer and one bear. They camped on Laurel run for a week and W. L. Foster, of State College, secured the bear and one deer while driving into the camp.

Mrs. CATHARINE SMITH.—On Sunday evening just at sunset, Mrs. Catharine Frederick Smith, widow of the late Dr. James R. Smith, passed away at her home on Water street after a short illness from uremic poisoning. On Thursday evening she retired in her usual health but about midnight became very sick and vomited violently. On Friday morning she became unconscious and remained so until the end came. Funeral services were held on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock by her pastor, Rev. D. H. Hepler. Interment was made in the old cemetery by the side of her husband.

Mrs. Smith was born in Hartleton, Snyder county, March 7th, 1831, and early in life she joined the Presbyterian church of which she was a faithful and beloved member until the day of her death. Her marriage to Dr. J. R. Smith took place on Aug. 30th, 1849 and she was the mother of twelve children. She was pre-eminently a home woman and her entire life was spent in looking after the comfort of others and making her home a pleasant and attractive resort for her family and friends. She was a very loving, sympathetic mother and her children and many friends are sadly bereaved by her death.

Her surviving children are William, of Warriors-mark; Charles, of Bellefonte; Oscar, of State College; Mrs. Adam Murphy, of Clearfield; Mrs. Charles Schatser and Mrs. Frank Stover, of Altoona and James R., and Frank, of Pine Grove Mills.

Clearly Forewas Death.

"Be a Good Girl," He Said to Daughter, "For I'm Going to Die."

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Dec. 1.—"Always be a good girl, for you will be alone henceforth as your father is going upstairs to die." These startling words were the last ever uttered by Washington Glassmire, aged 55, a civil war veteran, of this place. They were addressed to his youngest daughter, Miss Edith, and a few moments later he was found dead, having succumbed to a stroke of apoplexy.

Grassmire had taken a drive early in the afternoon, and appeared to be in the best of health. It was just after he returned, that he had the premonition of his death.

Howard.

John Meese, of Bellefonte, spent Friday in our town.

We are glad to say that W. P. Lucas is improving.

John Thompson, of Snow Shoe, was in our town this week.

Hunters made good use of the little rabbit snow that fell Sunday.

If rumors are true there will be a couple more weddings in our town soon.

Wm. Wilhelm, of Buffalo, attended the funeral of Wm. Comerford on last Friday morning.

Miss Sadie Beightol, who teaches the primary school of Howard, is quite ill at her home at Romola.

Eugene Pletcher and Sherman Holter departed on Monday for Williamsport, where they expect to attend college.

Miss Martha Baney, of Williamsport, spent Thanksgiving with her friend Miss Nellie Burns, at the Syracuse.

Did you see the smile on Dr. Kurtz's face? It is all on account of a baby boy arriving at his house on last Friday morning.

Mrs. Louise Comerford and Mrs. William Comerford departed for Pittsburg on Tuesday, where they will spend the winter.

Miss Anna Muffy, Miss Mary Shull, and Miss Martha Jaut, State Normal students, spent Thanksgiving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Muffy.

The members of the Evangelical church held a donation on last Friday evening for the benefit of their pastor, Rev. I. N. Bair. He was presented with many useful gifts and everybody reported having had a good time.

Spring Mills.

Quite a respectable snow storm in this valley on Sunday last. It looked like winter.

Wm. Ruhl, proprietor of the livery stables here, has now quite a neat office opposite the hotel.

All our sick are reported to be on the mend. Some of the cases were of a very serious character.

The nimrods of this village appear to meet with indifferent success in their hunting expeditions. A few rabbits seems to be about the only trophy, and frequently—nothing.

Butchering is now in full force. As yet I have heard of no extraordinary avoidups in porkers. Everyone seems to be waiting to hear the weight of one, to give them a chance of going a trifle better.

We are all waiting patiently for the $3,000 bridge to be thrown across Sinking creek. As the iron and steel frames were cut for the bridge about the time the commissioners countermanded their $1600 order, there should be no further delay. There has been foolery enough in this whole business.

Merchant O. T. Corman is a heavy operator in all kinds of produce. His operations in apples and potatoes this season have been very extensive, shipping from three to five car loads a week. He informed me a day or two since, that he was very short in his orders for beef hides, and would buy all that was offered, and would pay 6 cents per lb. cash or 7 cents in trade. Mr. Corman is the heaviest shipper from our station.

C. P. Long's store was entered one night last week by burglars, but they were evidently disturbed, as nothing of any particular value was disturbed. They intended, too, to enter the postoffice and had put out the light in front of the building which is kept burning all night. This was discovered by P. M. Krape, whose residence is just across the lawn, when he immediately threw a light on the postoffice building and then went out to investigate and give them a warm reception, but the birds had down and disappeared in the darkness.

Books, Magazines Etc.

THE OUTLOOK'S BOOK NUMBER.—Most prominent and perhaps most interesting among the many special features of the Outlook's Annual Book Number is a discussion called "The Most American Books," in which ten authors contribute their views in reply to the question: What are the books most characteristic of American genius and life? The number has also portraits and sketches of Miss Hegan, author of "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," Mrs. Lillian W. Bell, H. H. Furness, Booth Tarkington, and Helen Keller. A beautifully illustrated article on the "Washington Irving Country" by Mr. Hamilton W. Mabie; a clever survey of "Novels of a Season," a talk about "Children's Book Plates," and group-reviews of important recent books are among the features having special reference to books and authors. Ex-Secretary John D. Long, contributes the second of the important and authoritative series of twelve papers he is publishing in the Outlook on the general subject "The New American Novel." Mr. Reuterbach, is furnishing original pictures for this series, which are also otherwise illustrated fully. A five-page poem of Bliss Carman, has strong dramatic and poetic quality.
