Thirteen Killed.

A Boiler Explosion at Swift & Co.'s Plant Causes Havoc

With a deafening report, a boiler in Swift & Co.'s plant exploded in Chicago shortly after 10 o'clock Saturday morning. Thirteen lives were sacrificed, and scores of employes, visitors and others were injured. Huge boilers were sent through the roof of the structure and hurled hundreds of feet. Nobody within the boiler room survived to tell the story of the accident, and it may never be known what caused the explosion. A careful investigation, however, con-vinced the experts that the explosion was the result of carelessness on the part of an employe, whose own life was sacrificed. Five minutes after the explosion nothing of the building but a pile of twisted iron, bricks and mortar remained.

Sheets of flame sprang from the ruins, and the spectators realized that it would be impossible to save the lives of those who were caught in the wreck. The ex- ful vaccination as a condition of admission plosion was of such force that adjoining buildings were wrecked, torn and twisted like toys. Men, women and boys at work in adjoining departments were hurled through windows to the ground below. through windows to the ground below. Many of them escaped with but slight bruises, but most of the victims were hurt to such an extent that it was necessary to as well as those whose parents refuse to allow them to be vaccinated. Legislation is recommended to relieve the clash between remove them to hospitals. Others were taken to their homes.

The list of dead included Albert M. Bushnell, purchasing agent of the com-pany, and the following workmen.

H. Arnold, negro. James Owens, negro. A Rachug. Simeon Tate, negro. W. O. O'Connor. E. Wright, negro. W. Parks, foreman. Thomas Holmes. Charles Webb, negro. John Henry, negro. - Cubat, millwright.

-----Schultz, millwright. It was rumored that from fifty to 100 persons had been caught in the wrecked building. The report caused great excite-ment, and repeated calls were sent for police and ambulances were sent from all parts of the city. Extra calls for fire en gines followed, and soon the flames were being fought from every side. While the fire was still barning, policemen, firemen and employee of the packing firms began digging in the runnes. digging in the ruins. Soon the mangled remains of a man were discovered. At the same time other resouers were digging with desperation to rescue several victims who were taken from the ruins and sent to the morgues. A boy scalded from head to foot and bleeding from cuts and bruises, staggered toward the office of General Superintendent C. O. Young. The boy was Mr. Young's personal messenger. The lad, however, had been so sadly disfigured that Mr. Young did not recognize him.

Many theories were advance as to the re-Many theories were advance as to the re-sponsibility for the disaster. One inspect-or declared that the explosion had been caused by cold water injected into the boilor, but a majority of the investigators held the opinion that the catastrophe had been caused by low water. Nothing definite, however, is known, and, owing to the fact that the men in the boilor second the fact that the men in the boiler room were all killed, it is not thought the cause of the accident will ever be known.

It is not thought that the loss to Swift & Co. will amount to more than $50,000.

Faith Treatment For a Cow.

Police Interfered, Despite the Protest of the Owner of the Animal.

An earnest citizen complained on Tours-day, an the Black Rock, N. Y., police station that his neighbor, Mr. Thompson, had left his sick cow unsheltered in a lot, and had refused to get a veterioarian for it. The police summoned Thompson, who ex-plained that he was a Christian Scientist. The desk sergeant was skeptical as to the effect of Mrs. Eddy's teachings on a cow, seeing that the cow could not think.

"Be patient," said the owner, "and with a little more time I will bring the cow up again to the height from which she has fallen. My cow had been very unruly before she was led into this false belief of sickness, and I decided that severe measures would be necessary. I have been watching almost continually out there in the lot for several nights and subjecting her to the elevating influence of our faith. Now she is much more docile than ever."

A policeman was sent over to take a look at the cow, and he reported that the "docili-ty" appeared to him like the exhaustion which precedes death, so Captain Potter sent for a veterinary surgeon, who ordered a stable and some medicine for the cow, the owner meekly protesting that his beast had nothing but a "false dream."

Korean Schools.

The Master Always Dresses in White and Wields the Rod.

In Korean schools the master is dressed in white, generally weares spectacles, and always has a rod, in order that the child may not he spoiled. He gathers his flock around him in the most fatherly manner, and deals out justice with an unsparing hand. The scholars are dressed in their hest, but must study without their shoes. These latter are kept in sight of the master at all times. The course of study is not very extensive to look at, but when it comes to studying the Korean language through the medium of Chinese it must be confessed that the beginning of a course is difficult. The scholar is first taught the name and meaning of Chinese characters and then their meaning in Korean; just as though we were obliged to learn English though the medium of the Greek alphabet. Students keep up a steady droning noise, as each one goes on repeating his portion of the tasks aloud, regardless of what is going on round him. - Detroit Free Press.

The Distinguished Father.

"My tastes," said the extravagant son, "are inherited."

"Yes," retorted the angry father, him. Mrs. Graham said so in court recent-

"What is birdseve maple?" The officers of the company declare that question which just now seems to be baffthis will cover the damage, as nearly as they are able to estimate at the present time. The building in which the boilers were wood workers themselves. In a recent number of a wood-working magazine an tirely destroyed, and it was a small brick article was published which stated that birdseye maple was not a peculiar maple, but simple ordinary maple cut out in a certain way. In a recent issue of the New York Sun that statement is refuted. It is there stated on the authority of a woodworker that birdseye maple and curly maple are both cut only from the logs of the rock maple tree, Acer sacharium, in which a beautiful lustrious grain is produced by the sinuous course of the fibers. This tree is not at all common soft maple. It is a hard maple, but it is full of little gnarls called eyes. Men looking for birdseve maple logs go through the standing timber and pick out the birdseve maple trees, paying for them from $30 to $50 a thousand feet in the woods. Ordinary hard maple logs are worth only from $6 to $7 a thousand feet. It would be impossihle to cut a piece of veener with eyes in it from a common hard maple log, and it would be equally impossible to cut a birdseye maple log, no matter how you cut it, so that it would not show the eyes.

A Small-pox Remedy.

The following remedy for small-pox has been given by a California minister :

"I herewith append a recipe which has been used to my knowledge in hundreds of cases. It will prevent or cure small-pox even though the pittings are filling. When Jenner discovered cow-pox in Eng-land, the world of science hurled an avalanche of fame upon his head; but when the most scientific school of medicine in the world, that of Paris, published this recipe as a panacea for small-pox, it passed unheeded. It is as unfailing as fate and conquers in every instance. It will also cure scarlet fever. Here is the recipe as I have used it, and cured my children of scarlet fever; here it is as I have used it to cure of small-pox :

"Sulphate of zinc, one grain; foxglove, (digitalis) one grain; half a teaspoonful of sugar; mix with two tablespoonful of wa-ter. When thoroughly mixed add two ounces of water. Take a spoonful every hour. For children a small doses according to age. Either disease will disappear in twelve honrs. If you value good advice and experience use this for that terrible disease

Increase in Business Ruined Mind.

Alfred Peat, the millionaire wall-paper man, has been declared insane and committed to the Manhattan State hospital in New York. His business had increased so rapidly that the tax on his mind was too great. For two years the volume of sales has increased $1,000,000 a year. Mr. Peat lived on a large estate near Greenwich, Conn., which was once occupied by Andrew Carnegie.

Lazy Man Wore Wife's Dresses.

Andrew Graham, once a wealthy farmer of Vernon township near Portsmouth, Ohio, hated work so much that rather than do any he wore his wife's dresses so that his neighbors would not recognize and rebuke son, stating that A. R. Reinsel, District Attorney, had gone to Kittanning and solicited influence to get Mr. Hutchinson, to withdraw the charges.

The Court granted a rule on Mr. Reinsel to show cause why the objection should not be sustained. Mr. Reinsel, when seen this evening, said that the statements were untrue.

The counsel for the defense objected to the grand jurors, and showed irregularities, and an entire panel of grand jurors was quashed Kept Silent for Thirty Years.

Silenced by a whipping he thought he did not deserve, Jerry Miller is now a hermit in a farm house in the wild regions of Ohio, not far from Chillicothe, says the Chicago Tribune. He is now past 40 years old, and no one can remember having heard him say a dozen connected words. His father, who is still living, is said to have been a stern taskmaster and a firm believer of the old ideas of punishment. Jerry was accused of some offense which he stoutly denied. His father, thinking the boy guilty of the offense, said he would whip both for the original offense and then for telling an untruth about it. The boy pro-tested and pleaded with his father, but without avail. The whipping administered was not a gentle one, but the hoy took it stolidly and did not even cry. The days grew into weeks, and still the boy maintained the same gloomy silence. Years passed. The father was heart broken at the boy's determination. He tried every means in his power to show the son that he was eager to make amends for the wrong he had done. The boy, grown to a man, worked on in silence. Dootors were called in to see if there was any mental defect in him, but they could make no progress, as that baffling silence stood always a bar to all inquiries.
