

Lemont.

Mrs. Ellen Young, of Boalsburg, was a pleasant visitor in our town this week.

Luther Campbell and George Murray brought the hunting season to a close by each bagging a large turkey.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. W. Whitehill are rejoicing over the arrival of a new daughter at their home last week.

The Pennsylvania R. R. Co., is having their water tank repaired at Oak Hall and by the way it has been leaking it certainly needed repairing.

L. F. Roan spent a few days at the hospitable home of his father, George R. Roan, and while here he purchased a fine turkey, which he took home.

Our townsman J. C. Eppers is nicely located in the Altoona shops, as a helper for the steam fitters on passenger cars. The work is light and the pay fair.

Owing to a wreck the freight that should have passed through this town on Monday evening did not arrive until Tuesday morning at 5 o'clock a. m.

Mrs. Maude Longwell, who has been suffering for several weeks with typhoid fever, is no better and her attending doctors state that there is very little hope of her recovery.

By the display of toys and other Christmas goods in the show windows of the merchants of our town we are reminded that Christmas will soon be here and we trust all the children happy.

We can say winter is here at last and in earnest too, for every few days it is either raining or snowing or sleeting, so that we have some of the finest sleighing that could be desired and without going a day's journey to find it.

Howard Homan departed for his Altoona home on Wednesday, after spending two or three months at the homes of his brothers Frank and Henry, for whom he was carpentering and helping make many improvements around their already pleasant properties.

The protracted meeting being held in the Presbyterian church of this place is getting very interesting, and every evening finds large and interested crowds of people repairing to that place of worship. There has been seven conversions thus far. We trust the good work may be continued and much good done.

Samuel Houser from Upper Sandusky, Ohio, came to our burg on Wednesday to make a few week's sojourn, renew old acquaintances and visit his many relatives. He has been absent from this place for a great many years, during which time his life companion was called from the scenes of this life and we trust to reap the reward of the righteous. The weight of years is bearing heavy upon the shoulders of Samuel.

Howard.

John A. Thompson, of Snow Shoe, was in town two days this week.

Roy Allison has secured a position at C. C. Lucas' large grocery store.

The large packing house being erected by Joseph Diehl is nearly completed.

Mrs. J. L. DeHaas spent a few days in Williamsport this week.

Chester A. Moore, of Bellefonte, is spending this week with his parents.

We are sorry to say H. A. Moore has not been feeling very well the last few days.

Miss Alma Kunes, of Blanchard, visited part of last week at the home of Miss Della Williams.

Last Sunday being such a nice day, and sleighing so good, everybody that had a sleigh was out enjoying themselves.

Some of the merchants of Howard are worried very much about their Christmas goods, as they have not arrived yet.

Hunter Thomas, who is employed at Tyrone, arrived home Tuesday to spend his Christmas vacation with his aged mother.

Monday being the last day of the game season we noticed that everybody that had a gun was out. Will Weber, Ward Schenck and Weber Thomas were so lucky as to get eleven rabbits and almost got a wild turkey. That is, they saw it.
