January Court in Session

Rather Large Attendance With Little to Do Gray Read and Adopted.

The regular term of January quarter ses ions opened Monday morning with a rather large attendance considering the small number of cases that were ready for trial. Judge Love was on the bench, Prothonotary M. I. Gardner and Register A. G. Archey in their places as clerks of the respective courts.

Immediately after the presentation of the usual petitions and motions and the reports of the constables the minutes of the special sessions of the bar association after the deaths of W. E. Gray Esq. and Governor Hastings were taken up and read in open court.

E. R. Chambers read the resolutions concerning the death of Mr. Gray and C. M. Bower those relating to the late ex-Governor. Both were adopted and supplemented with appropriate remarks by Judge Furst, Col. W. F. Reeder and Col. J. L. Spangler. THE TRIAL OF CASES.

Monday afternoon the list of cases ready for trial was taken up and disposed of as follows:

Samuel T. Dixon vs Overseers of the Poor of Snow Shoe township, an appeal from the judgment rendered by a justice of the peace, was continued.

A non suit was entered in the case of Amanda Ostrander vs Overseers of the Poor of Snow Shoe township.

John H. Taylor vs J. W. Mitterling. The parties both live in Potter township, this county, and the suit was brought before a justice of the peace by Taylor to re-cover $20 which was alleged to have been paid by him to Mitterling for three hogs. Mitterling contended that the $20 was paid to him to be applied on an old account which was due him. This old account was $17.50, and when Mitterling handed the change of $2.50 to Taylor he refused to take it, contending that he was entitled to get the three hogs bargained J. D. Miller,

Commonwealth vs Overseers of the Poor of Union township. The defendants were charged with neglect of duty, etc. From the evidence it appeared that some time in the year 1900 Mr. Heaton, husband of Mary Heaton, who at that time had a res-idence in Union township, was killed by lightning; that soon thereafter she and her family of six small children, ranging from 2 to 12 years, were placed on the township. Her father, Mr. J. W. Johnson, who lived rules is founded on the average vote cast for daughter and her children and they went the Democratic state candidates, a compilation of which makes the following result : from the testimony in the case, insisted upon her coming back with her family, which, she refused to do. They then refused to give her support and some time in October Johnson got out an order of relief for this same family and placed it in the hands of the Walker township overseers. They at once took charge of the case, but were notified a week later that Union township would not be responsible for any bills paid by them for the support of this woman and her children. Mr. Johnson then brought this action, and after taking up about one day in the trial of the case the jury rendered a verdict of not guilty and directed the county to pay the costs.

Commonwealth vs James Toner, of Bellefonte, who was indicted for stealing a pair of shoes from Yeager & Davis, entered a the shattered cars of the local train took plea of guilty and was sentenced to pay the cost of prosecution, to restore the goods stolen if not already restored and to undergo imprisonment in the Huntingdon reformatory under the rules and regulations

The case in which Lizzie Bible and Anna Bible were plaintiffs and the Borough of Centre Hall defendant was settled by the parties interested in same.

Philip B. Iddings and Hannah M. Iddens vs Spring township, summoned in trespass, plea not guilty. Continued until further surveys can be made.

Charles McCafferty vs John Cladwell and Mary Cook. Two cases. Summoned in ejectment, plea not guilty, and special plea filed by leave of court. Continued. B. D. Schoonover, administrator Joseph Potters, late of the township of Cooper, county of Clearfield, Pennsylvania, deceased, vs Jno. C. Nason, John McCord, J. C. Henderson and John A. Mull, Continued. The first case called for trial was Com. vs Huston Cowher indicted for assault and battery, prosecutor Theodore Warrendorf. The defendant plead guilty and was sentenced to pay costs of prosecution, ten dollars fine and eight months in the county

Com. vs William H. Hunsicker, indicted for larceny, prosecutor Wm. Tressler. This case is from Benner township and the defendant is indicted for the taking of an agreement between the heirs of the late Thomas Meyer and the prosecutor, who is the executor of Thomas Meyer, deceased, changing the compensation the executor is to receive in the settlement of said estate, which agreement was signed by the heirs before Mr. Tressler would take out letters in the estate. At the close of the Commonwealth's evidence the court held that the paper was not the subject of larceny and directed a verdict of not guilty.

Com. vs Jacob Weaver indicted for betrayal, prosecutrix Fannie A. Stover. After the case was called for trial the parties set-

The following civil cases on next week's list were disposed of for this term. George T. Brew, surviving administrator of &c. of George W. Morgan L. Richards vs Pennsylvania R. R. Co., an appeal from judgment of justice Keichline. This suit was brought to recover the value of a colt alleged to have been killed by defendant company by one of its trains on the night of Jan. 28th, 31st. Morgan L. Richards vs Pennsylvania R.

1902. The colt had gotten away from Mrs. Richards and her children on the evening of the day named when they had let it out to water and got into a field and they failed in getting it back into the barn. The next morning the colt was found in the barn considerably lacerated about the legs and other places and bleeding from the effects of which it died nine days later. Upon examination it was discovered some distance from the buildings where the wire fence along the railroad had several strands broken and others beut down with the appearance that something had been thrown against it and a trail of blood leading from that to the barn where the colt was in the morning. The defendant's allegation is that there was negligence on the part of the plaintiff, in not keeping a cer-tain gate closed at the private or farm crossing and again that the colt may have been frightened and run into the fence and injured itself. The court submitted the case to the jury reserving the question of

John C. Hoy vs Z. W. Hoy and J. A. Hoy executors of etc., John S. Hoy. deceased, summoned in assumpsit, plea non assumpsit.

David Robb vs Liberty Twp. an appeal from the Auditor's settlement of Liberty township, plea non assumpsit. During the year of 1900 the plaintiff was one of the supervisors of Liberty township and at the settlement of his accounts in March, 1901, the Auditors rejected certain items, consisting of counsel fees, board of witnesses court charges and surveyors fees incurred in certain litigation in reference to a road wherein the plaintiff in this suit was the prosecutor, which prosecution resulted in a verdict of not guilty and the prosecutor to pay one-third of the costs, and the Auditors rejected the items named as not legitimate expense of the township, and that he was individually liable and the plaintiff claims that they are legitimate expenses for the township to pay and the plaintiff took this appeal to court. Ver-dict on Wednesday afternoon in favor of the defendant for twenty-four dollars.

THE GRAND JURY'S REPORT. The Grand Inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, inquiring in and for the county of Centre, in all matters relating to the same, do respectfully report:

That we have acted upon seven bills of indict-ment, of which six were found to be true bills:

We beg leave further to report, that we have visited and inspected the county buildings and find same in a neat and tidy condition. We further report that at the very earliest date we recommend new water closets for cells in the jail. The following repairs are also necessary: Bath tub, and ceiling in cell No. 3; floor on first floor; also floor in hall leading to the jail, and water spigot and sink in kitchen; new cellar door.

We further recommend the removal from yard such articles as benches, boxes and every-thing else, including step-ladders. Also, new paper for District Attorney's and Register's and Recorder's offices, and provide some means of protection of the officers of the court house from intruders, by means of lattice work or screens, especially in the Treasurer's office.

In addition to this list there are many charred bodies unidentified still at the scene of the wreck.

The train, which was run into left New York at 5.45 and runs express to Bound Brook, making stops at Elizabeth, Westfield and Plainfield. Beyond Bound Brook it runs as a local. The Royal Blue train left fifteen minutes later, but travels at a higher rate of speed and makes no stops except at Elizabeth and is scheduled to overtake the slow train just beyond Graceland, where the latter switches from track 3 onto track 4 to premit the Royal Blue to pass.

This evening a freight train was blocked on track 4 and the local received orders to proceed on the express to Dunellen and there take their outside or No. 4 track. Shortly after receiving orders the train had to stop for a hot box which delayed her so that when she got urder way again she was due at Dunellen. She had just started and was moving slowly when the Royal Blue, traveling apparently at full speed, which at that point usually approximates sixty-five miles an hour, crashed into the rear end.

The heavy engine of the Royal Blue tore its way into the rear car and at the same time drove the forward of the car into the rear end of the car ahead, which in turn was driven into the third car and thus in turn was driven into the fourth car from the rear. The fourth car was only partly wrecked, but the last three were torn to

The engine and the three worst wrecked cars were piled up in an awful heap, containing at least 100 dead and injured. From the mass came fearful cries for aid. A minute later the wreck caught on fire from the firebox of the locomotive. The screams of the injured in the heap were intensified as they themselves hemmed in by the found flames

GOT HIS LICENSE HERE. - James L McCloskey, who was arrested at Jersey Shore, on Saturday, charged with bigamy, got his marriage license at this place. Notwithstanding the fact that he had a wife and three young children living in Williamsport, McCloskey made love to Miss Rhoda Lingle, of Williamsport, and securing a marriage license at Bellefonte, married the young lady at Jersey Shore two weeks ago. When wife No. 1 heard of his wedding she notified the sister and mother of wife No. 2. The three women had Mc-Closkey arrested and he was held in the sum of $3,000 for court.

McCloskey at the hearing pleaded with the alderman to let him go, promising to do better in the future. He said he had never done this before and never would do it again. Henry Meyer, W. H. Limbert, R. ler and A. L. Duck. OH! FOR SOME HOPEWELL GIVING HERE.-There was a remarkable illustration of spontaneous giving last Sunday in the little village of Hopewell, Bedford county, where was dedicated a new Methodist church. Hopewell numbers about five hundred inhabitants, the majority of whom are far from wealthy but they built themselves a very pretty six thousand dollar church of buff brick with stone trimmings, very complete in every particular. There remained $2,200 to be collected on about this burg. Sunday and as the members had already given very generously the outlook was gloomy.

Dr. Shriner preached the morning sermon, after which he started the apparently unpromising task of collecting. This exceeded by $900 what was needed and there seemed nothing to desire at the afternoon and evening services but the spirit of giving was so apparent that a basket collection of $36 was taken in the afternoon and a purse for the pastor of $52 was attained in three minutes in the Chas.
