THE SADDEST OF SONGS.

M. V. THOMAS.

Through the forest, o'er the hills
Melodeous sounds are ringing;
When through the soul an echo comes
Of the song that the sea is singing.

There come, like passions strong and fierce,
The moans of the wild wind's bringing,
But these are not so sad to me
As the song that the sea is singing.

From those who go down to the sea,
To life so wildly clinging,
Myriads of voices seem to blend
In the song that the sea is singing.

It bears the echoes through ages long,
Of shrieks from the lost ones ringing.
A sad, sad song of the years gone
Is the song that the sea is singing.

A groan, a sigh, a horrified cry,
With maniac laughter mingling—
In a bitter strain, with a wild refrain,
Is the song that the sea is singing.

Sad sighs the breeze through the leafless trees
And the moan of the wild wind's bringing;
But, oh, the saddest of all sad songs
Is the song that the sea is singing.

Oak Hall.

E. B. Peters transacted business in Bellefonte Saturday.

Henry Shuey, of Peru, was noticed in town Monday.

Jacob Klinger and son transacted business at Pine Grove Tuesday.

Miss Myrtle Barnhart is confined to the house threatened with pneumonia.

Bert Hartman wife and daughter, of Rockview, spent Tuesday at Wesley Tate's.

The venerable Jacob Markle and wife spent Friday with their sons at State College.

Mrs. George Dale and daughter Miss Lillie, of Dale's Summit, spent Tuesday at A. W. Dale's.

Henry Dale and sister Rosella, of the Branch, spent several days with their grandmother Dale in town.

Victor Grange held Washington birthday exercises in their cosy hall Saturday. They had their hall gaily decorated with bunting and flags. Music, recitations and essays were rendered. They served oysters, cake and ice cream. Quite a number of their friends from other Granges were present. All had a very pleasant time.

Howard.

James Hogan, has returned home from Virginia.

We are glad to say that Samuel Shay is better at this writing.

Oscar Lucas, of Altoona, spent Sunday with his mother.

Fred Leathers spent Saturday in Williamsport visiting his brothers.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pletcher, of Eagleville, are visiting in and about Howard.

Mrs. Al Moore, of Mill Hall, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Wistar, over Sunday.

We had quite an ice harvest last week and it is a good thing that the people made use of the ice, for by Monday it was gone.

Geo. Wistar, after spending a few days with his family here, departed on Monday for Washington.

Wm. Woodward, of Pittsburg, and Chas. Woodward, who is a student at Williamsport, are spending a few days with their parents here.

The remains of the 15-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ephram Walizer, of Tyrone, were brought here on Monday; funeral services were held on Tuesday at two o'clock in the Evangelical church. Rev. I. N. Bair officiating. Interment in the Methodist cemetery.

Lemont.

Samuel Wasson was seen on our streets on Monday.

Ira Corman made a business trip to State College this week.

William Mayes, of Howard, is a pleasant caller in our town this week.

D. B. Getz and sister spent a few days at Milroy and had a very pleasant time.

Miss Alice Kline, of near Shiloh, is confined to her home with grip.

William Coble went to Tyrone this week. He has secured a position in a mill there.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin A. Williams Sundayed at the home of his father, John R. Williams.

Mrs. Abraham Holderman visited at the home of Mrs. Kaup, of Oak Hall, on Monday.

Mrs. D. E. Hepler went on the late train, on Saturday evening, to Clearfield to attend the funeral of her mother.

Samuel Bowmaster the man that was taken to the Altoona hospital a couple of weeks ago from State College returned home this week.

On Thursday evening a number of young people repaired to the hospitable home of Nathan Grove and spent a very pleasant time.

Washington's birthday was observed by holding exercises in some of the schools of College township on the Friday previous.

Jos. E. Lenker's mother and sister, Susan, departed for home on the afternoon train after enjoying the hospitality of Jos. for a few days.

Andrew Meyers moved his family to Oak Hall Thursday, where he intends making his future home, and will work in the Sellers foundry.

John I. Williams has been spending the last couple of weeks beautifying the interior of his residence near this place. He has repapered and painted some.

Rev. Bell preached for the Methodists Wednesday evening of last week and considering the inclement weather he had a fairly large congregation to hear him.

William Shutt has moved his shoemaker shop to Oak Hall station, and set up his shingle so the people of that village can have all the work in his line done without going out of the place.

Earl Etters was very agreeably surprised on Saturday evening when a number of his friends gathered in to spend a few hours with him and to remind him that that day was his birthday anniversary.

On Friday evening a party of people from this town went out to take a sled ride and they drew rein at the pleasant home of Michael Segner, where they were royally entertained and were especially interested in the phonograph.

This last week was about the coldest of the winter. The thermometer registering from 4° to 10° below 0 and thus gave us another ice harvest with ice 7½ inches thick and the ones that had no ice soon grasped the opportunity. Two young men took out eighty-six loads of fine ice in three and one-half days.

The members of the Oak Hall Grange had a general good time, in the form of an entertainment and a dinner of oysters, ice cream and apples, on Saturday, and they report a larger attendance than they have had for two years; there being about one hundred present.

Books, Magazines Etc.

Most boys of high-school age will find new inspiration and ideals in Charles F. Benjamin's "Our Boys and Our Presidents," in the March St. Nicholas, while Mr. Benjamin's significant summary of America's choice of Presidents will interest older thinkers as well: From Washington to John Quincy Adams, without interruption, the Presidency went to men who had been boys of so-called good family and position. From Jackson to McKinley it went chiefly to candidates who might be called "self-made men." From being men for the people the Presidents became men of the people; and, small as the difference looks, the people have clung to it ever since it began with Jackson, the first of "poor boy" Presidents.

COLLEGE HARDWARE CO.

STATE COLLEGE, PENNSYLVANIA.

We firmly believe that every man and woman of modern means, young and old, married or not, should read this

——HOW WE SAVE FOR THE HOME,——

by keeping for their comfort and convenience a full line of Hardware.

The home we supply with stoves of beauty and comfort—parlor or cook—guaranteed to give satisfaction. The stew, broiler and roaster; tin cup to the wash-boiler, either pressed or made at our shop from best charcoal tin, also copper ones, granite and marbleized ware. Table cutlery of any grade you may select. Spoons for the tea as well as the cooking. Knives for the boy as well as the man. Forks, shovels and hoes, axes, saws, hammers, planes, pumps and chains, nails, bolts and screws.

For the horse we have good warm blankets to protect him from the cold. Nice warm blankets to wrap up yourself while driving. Halters and tie ropes to make sure the horse is found at the same post you left him when you come to start home.

These and hundreds of useful hardware supples found on hand and sold to you so reasonable that it will save you many dollars in the course or a year by buying of us in preference to stores who carry more but at the same time charge you accordingly to cover their extra outlay of capital to make display.

It is our intention to sell for small profit and turn money, not to keep it tied up in stock and demand high prices to cover interest on invested capital piled on the shelves. Come and see for yourself, whether above is true or not.
