

FARM NOTES.

If you want something choice for your self, and not for market, grow the Emerald Gem muskmelon and the Kleokley watermelon.

—The lawn should be one of the first considerations in the spring. If it is an old one that has been mowed several years it should receive an application of fertilizer.

—Some seeds have very hard shells and should be soaked before planted. Parsnip, salsify, carrot and parsley seed should be put in hot water and allowed to remain twenty-four hours.

—Every farmer should see that his barns and outbuildings, and in some cases the whole season's crop, going up in smoke without a cent of insurance.

—Early cabbage plants should be set out as soon as the frost is out of the ground. The cabbage is a hardy plant and will stand cold nights.

—Mysterious malady cured by heroic remedy.—The following letter is from the same party whose letter was published in last month's American Farmer.

—"Yours just received, and as you ask some questions, and as I have had some pecuniary bad as well as good experience, I write to tell you of it.

—Don't, if you love your children, go about like a slave, picking up their toys and putting them away.

—The old-fashioned quilts so patiently pieced by our grandmothers are now quite the rage and are eagerly sought for country house bedrooms.

—Garden Pests.—Last season tomato vines were suddenly destroyed in some sections, although apparently free from disease.

—The newest frock for little children is this white and Turkey red linen blouse. In truth, it is a novelty that promises to be one of the sensations of the season.

—The blouse is out entirely straight, with bindings of Turkey red and an embroidery in blue and red after the Russian manner.

—A shiny or greasy skin can be benefited by dabbing with a sponge dipped in an eucalyptus instead of using much soap and water.

—For the spring of 1903 ponce leads all materials for shirt waist suits and comes in myriad weights, qualities and prices.

FOR AND ABOUT WOMEN.

Though skirts are elaborately trimmed, and are continually growing fuller, yet the dress designers in their manipulation of the material invariably continue to give the skirt clinging effect.

There are short and long coats. The Eton and bolero forms are still seen, but they are much more fanciful in design than they were.

The fact is, the new spring gowns in their varied designs are most accommodating, for if they are properly chosen they have a way of disguising the effects of a poor figure and emphasizing the pretty curves of a good figure.

The living-room is now a recognized factor in the modern home. In securing the desired "livable" quality the wall and floor coverings play an important part.

Those wide turned-down neck-bands and cuffs that have hitherto been considered the prerogative of widows have recently been appropriated by the rest of the feminine world.

Stunning things are to be seen in some of the hand-embroidered linen frocks. One of these in a heavy linen has a front panel and deep flounce to the skirt worked in a solid pattern of embroidery.

With shirtwaists, French women are all wearing embroidered stiff collars. These of course linen have rather heavy embroidery, while the finer linens have light delicate embroidery.

—An herb tea.—and they are good things at this time of year—is made as follows: Put one ounce each of burdock, spruce, hemlock, dandelion, sarsaparilla bark and yellow dock into two gallons of water.

—Mexican wheel work—the cobwebby lace made by the natives of the far South—is being introduced into the trimming of women's neckwear.

—The newest frock for little children is this white and Turkey red linen blouse. In truth, it is a novelty that promises to be one of the sensations of the season.

—The blouse is out entirely straight, with bindings of Turkey red and an embroidery in blue and red after the Russian manner.

—Another clever frock designed for youngsters is called the "Bowknot gown." It is of Paris muslin, nainsook or any fine mull, with bowknots of pale blue silk embroidered at top and bottom connected by long embroidered lines.

—A shiny or greasy skin can be benefited by dabbing with a sponge dipped in an eucalyptus instead of using much soap and water.

—For the spring of 1903 ponce leads all materials for shirt waist suits and comes in myriad weights, qualities and prices.

—The Oriental finish lends itself to the odd embroidery which is so popular this year. A striking gown recently finished for a brunette shows a skirt with a pronounced flare, the front embroidered in roses in Japanese colorings.

The Rev. Edwin M. Bowman, D. D. pastor of the Second Presbyterian church at Braddock, has been called to the Presbyterian church at Hollidaysburg.

A GREAT SENSATION.—There was a big sensation in Leesville, Ind., when W. H. Brown, of that place, who was expected to die, had his life saved by Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption.
