SWIMMIN' TIME.

Sun is gettin' busy—
Kinder makes you dizzy.
Hear the bees-a.hummin'
"Summer time is comin' !"

Boys are gettin' restive
For the season festive.
Slow the time approaches,
Slowest of slow coaches,
Time that will deliver
Kids unto the river.

In the long vacation
They will know elation.
Creeks that briskly clatter
Soon will know the chatter
Of the blithesome laddies
Swimmin' as their daddies
Swam before them many Years before. Not any
Man but knows the pleasure,
Sweet, delightful leisure,
Cup of joy a-brimmin',
Known as "goin' swimmin' " !

School eats up each rover
Ere the season's over.
O'er his slate and book he
Dreams of playin' hookey.
Knows a thing or two, sir,
Makes his dream come true, sir.
Notifies his buddie—
Could no less, now, could he?
By his desk he lingers
Holding up two fingers,
Thus the word goes skimmin',
"Boys, let's go a-swimmin' !",

Slow the time approaches,
Slowest of slow coaches,
Hear the bees a-hummin',
"Swimmin' time is comin' !"

Historic Plot to be Preserved.

Part of the Gettysburg Battlefield Just Secured Adjoins Bloody Angle. The Dead Lay Thick There. Members of the Battlefield Park Commission Tell of the Great Fight that Occurred at the Spot.

The condemnation proceedings on trial before the United States Court for a piece of land at Gettysburg which ended abruptly Thursday by the land owners accepting the award of the jury of condemnation, recalled some vivid scenes of the great battle. The land wanted by the government is to the right and a little back of the Bloody Angle, which is called the high water mark of the rebellion. This is where Pickett's Division came up in its famous charge, and to most people Pickett's Division is the central figure of the great conflict, yet more men lay dead near the ground that was before the Court than in front of the stone wall at the angle.

Two of the Gettysburg Battlefield Commissioners, Major C. A. Richardson, who was in the battle of Gettysburg as commander of the One Hundred and Twenty-sixth New York Volunteers, and Major William S. Robbins, who was also in the fight on the other side with the Fourth Alabama Regiment, and Colonel Emmor B. Cope, the engineer of the commission, were in the city as witnesses, and told the story of this field. In Pickett's Division were three brigades of Virginia troops, but they were supported by two other divisions of six brigades of North Carolina and Alabama troops. Major Robbins said: "The corespondents of tha Richmond papers told only the story of the Virginians and the deeds of the others were not recorded. Yet the troops on Pickett's left struck a stronger line of Union troops and their losses were much heavier."

Colonel Cope said: "After the struggle an officer called my attention to the dead on the field where the brigade of General Brockenbrough had charged. The Confederate dead lay thicker there than any place on the field."

In response to a query by Judge Archbald, who was in the party, why General Lee should have thought such a frontal attack possible to be successful, Major Robbins said: The night before, July 2nd, the brigade of General Wright had occupied the ground at the Bloody Angle, driving the Union troops from their guns, but had not enough men to hold the position. Hence it was inferred it was a weak spot."

Major Richardson said: "The fact that Wright was able to get in was because the bulk of the Union troops at the spot had been temporarily sent away to assist in repulsing an attack at another place." Major Richardson corrobated the story of the heavy loss of the troops who came up on the extreme right of Hancock's Corps.

The North Carolinians who formed the supporting columns of Pickett's Division have shown much feeling over the stories of the fight that give all the credit of the great frontal attack to the Virginians. In one story of the flight by Captain Bond, of the North Carolina troops, there is an insinuation that the Virginians deserved little or no credit, but that the greatest gallantry was shown and the heaviest losses were sustained by the men who charged up to the left and right of the Virginia Division.

The Champion Typewriter.

Miss Mary E. Pretty, a clerk in the government employ at Washington, proved herself the most expert typewritist in the world, in all probability, a few days ago, when she wrote 20,400 words in six hours and read her own copy from closely written manuscript. Her work did not average one error to the page. The young lady who has so suddenly gathered fame, is just twenty-one, and left Philadelphia last March to accept a position in the patent office at Washington. She was appointed under the civil service. Her success is as much of a surprise to herself as anybody else, for she never thought there was anything remarkable about her way of operating a typewriter. She does not claim to use any special system, unless it be one of her own, which she would not know how to teach to any one else.

Before going to Washington she worked for a commercial house in Philadelphia and was paid $12.50 a week. She is now paid on a basis of $720 a year, but has every reason to expect rapid promotions until she reaches $1,400, the highest salary paid to a female stenographer.

Miss Pretty took a business course in one of the schools of Philadelpeia and immediately obtained employment with a mercantile firm. She never tried to gain unusual speed on the typewriter, but always dispatched her own work as quickly and as easily as possible, with no unnecessary flurry. Her hands are small and have hardly lost their chubbiness, and yet they glide over the keys of a typewriter with remarkable ease and agility. Those who have watched her work say that the secret of her success is steady nerves and a power of concentration, which is better than any system of operating a typewriter that has ever been invented.

Fire Leaves 2,000 Homeless.

Lower Half of Hyacinthe, Quebec is Wiped Out.

Fire practically wiped out the lower portion of Hyacinthe, Quebec, recently. Over 2,000 people are homeless and dependent upon the hospitality of the upper town for shelter and sustenance. All the principal restaurants, many of the leading stores, several factories, mills and business establishments and 250 dwelling houses lie in ruins. The loss is estimated at over half a million dollars.

The fire started about noon in Cote Bros. big shoe factory, in the centre of the lower town. A high wind carried the flames to a number of wooden buildings, then to a big business block, and soon three of the leading hotels, the Frontenac. Union and Ottawa, were swept away.

The local firemen were utterly unable to cope with the fire. After it had burned a couple of hours a detachment of Montreal firemen arrived and did good work. The river was so low that the water supply was wholly inadequate.

A Healthy Symptom.

Miss Angell—And what are you doing for your rheumatism?

Mrs. McFee—'Deed, an' I don't need to do a thing for it; it's able an' willin' to work for itself.—Life.

——An honest confession may be good for the soul, but it is apt to sever friendships.

——The man with a bad temper isn't any more amiable when he loses it.

QUICK ARREST.—J. A. Gulledge of Verbena, Ala., was twice in the hospital from a severe case of piles causing 24 tumors. After doctors and all remedies failed, Bucklen's Arnica Salve quickly arrested further inflammation amd cured him. It conquers aches and kills pain. 25c. at Green's Pharmacy.

BACK GIVES OUT.

PLENTY OF BELLEFONTE READERS HAVE THIS EXPERIENCE.

You tax the kidneys—overwork them
They can't keep up the continual strain
The back gives out—it aches and pains;
Urinary troubles set in
Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills
Bellefonte people tell you how they act.

Geo. Cox, residing on what is known as Halfmoon hill, says: "I can conscientiously recommend Doan's Kidney Pills judging from what they did for me. I suffered intensely from pains in my back and lameness across my kidneys. Statements in this paper about Doan's Kidney Pills attracted my attention and I called at F. Potts Green's drug store and got a box. They did me a great deal of good although I did not take them as regularly as I should for the moment the pain ceased and I felt better, I stopped taking them. They gave me the greatest relief and I can give them the credit of saving me much suffering."

Helping His Father.

A preacher, raising his eyes from his desk in the midst of his sermon, was paralyzed with amazement to see his rude boy in the gallery pelting the hearers in the pews below with horsechestnuts. But while the the good man was preparing a frown of reproof the young hopeful cried out: "You tend to your preaching, daddy; I'll keep 'em awake."

Helping His Father.

A preacher, raising his eyes from his desk in the midst of his sermon, was paralyzed with amazement to see his rude boy in the gallery pelting the hearers in the pews below with horsechestnuts. But while the the good man was preparing a frown of reproof the young hopeful cried out: "You tend to your preaching, daddy; I'll keep 'em awake."
