COUNCIL GETS DOWN TO WORK.-After weeks of dallying with business of the greatest moment to the taxpayers of Bellefonte the borough Council has finally pulled itself together and settled down to good hard, practical work. Almost a clean sweep was made of the unfinished business on Monday night and as a result there is actually something of interest to report.

Under the new matters taken up were a complaint of W. H. Musser concerning the condition of a gutter on east Lamb street, the request of Thomas Beaver for the extension of water to his farm out on east Bisho street, the receipt of the burgess for $26.50 in fines turned into the treasury, and the report of Dr. Kirk on the sanitation of the big spring. After he had stated the condisurrounding it with a sewerage system that will remove the possibility of drainage from nearby houses running into it.

A committee from the Undine Fire Co. appeared and asked permission to use the streets for a street fair or carnival during the week of July 4th. They were granted the use of certain sections of certain streets, free of license, provided they allow no gambling devices.

Then the now famous Water street ques tion was taken up. Bids for a retaining wall along the creek, reaching from the High street bridge to the right of way of the C. R. R. of Pa., had been asked for and three were in the hands of the committee : One from the Haupt Bros. for a cement Run and Stumptown. wall, another from Perry Steele at $2.40 per perch and another from Jas. McCafferty at $2.38 per perch. Council looked upon all of these bids as being higher than they expected to pay for the work and after con siderable discussion decided, on motion of Mr. Jenkins and seconded by Col. Reynolds, that a skilled mason be employed by the day to superintend the work and employ men to build the wall.

The next question taken up was the matter of bids for supplying the borough with coal. Offers were received from J. L. Montgomery, Irish Bros., of Philipsburg; Jas. A. McClain, of Spangler; and R. B. Taylor. The opening of the bids provoked considerable discussion, but the question was finally put and the contract was given to Mr. Montgomery @ $2.05 per ton for Snow Shoe coal. He was 15cts. under the next lowest bidder. The hauling of the coal was awarded to Thomas Beaver and in the future the coal will be delivered at railroad weight, onto the siding at the upper match works and hauled directly to the water works

Perhaps the most important matter of business taken up was the consideration of Col. Reynolds' proposition to rent the wa- organized in Bellefonte for the manufacture ter and steam power of his mill for a pumping station for the borough. His proposi-

DANIEL KELLER .-- After a long decline Daniel Keller, the son of Mrs. Martha E. R. Keller passed away at their home in Philadelphia on Sunday morning.

His remains were brought to this place, on Tuesday afternoon, and after short services in St. John's Reformed church, were interred in the Union cemetery. Rev. Ambrose Schmidt officiated and the carriers were friends of Daniel's boyhood: Fred Larimer, Wilson Gephart, Laird Curtin, Randolph Hoy, James Furst and Wallace Gephart.

His illness dates back to three years ago when an apparently strong constitution broke and his health began to fail. With the hope of stemming the decline he spent a winter in Arizona, another in Florida. but all to no purpose for the grim reaper cut him down just when he was about to enter a useful and promising manhood.

Daniel Keller was born in Bellefonte January 18th, 1881. He was the third son of the late D. S. Keller Esq. and a young man of extraordinary promise. Educated in the public schools and Academy of Bellefonte and later finishing a course at the University of Pennsylvania he was admirably equipped, both in learning and inherent endowment for a successful career. But he has been called home and while we may marvel at the inscrutable ways of Providence we know that it is for the best and that his career was run.

Surviving him are his mother, his sister Lucy and his brother John. Harry Keller Esq., of this place, and William H. Keller Esq., of Lancaster, are half brothers.

A DENIAL. - Frequent rumors have come to my attention that the implement parade advertised by L. H. Musser to have place in Bellefonte last week was prohibited by me as burgess, at the instance and request of certain other dealers.

It is due all parties concerned that a publie denial be made. Mr. Musser did consult me as burgess for the privilege above stated, no business concern entered a protest, and I certainly would have cheerfully granted Mr. Musser the privilege free of charge and also any police assistance necessary if it had been desired.
