Dan Patch has never before, under the most favorable conditions of weather and track, been able to pace as fast a mile and he has been driven in many attempts. Last Wednesday, under conditions that were decidedly adverse, but with a runner and sulky in advance to shelter him, he colipsed all his former efforts at the first attempt.

attempt. The new king of pacers is a seal brown stallion, 7 years old, by Joe Patchen, dam Elica, by Wilkesberry. He was bred by Dan A. Messner, Jr., of Oxford, Ind. As a 4-year-old he gained a record of 2:16, which he lowered in his 5-year-old form to 2:04‡. At 6 years of age, in 1902, he gained a record of 1:59‡ and paced a mile in 1:59‡, in a loosing effort to beat Star Pointer's 1:59‡. Dan Patch never lost a race, and during his turf career has only lost one heat. M. E. Sturgis, of New York, bought him for $20,000 in the spring of 1901 and sold him to his present owner, M. W. Savage, of Minneapolis, Minn., at the close of the last campaign for something like $30,000. He has earned about $30,000 on the turf in the last three years.

Late Sowing the Secret of Hessian Fly's Undoing.

State Economic Zoologist Announces Result of Two Years' Careful Experimenting.

HARRISBURG, Aug. 17.—State Economic Zoologist Surface, after two years' careful study of the Hessian fly in Pennsylvania, has reached the conclusion that there is no true remedy for this most destructive wheat pest after it is once in the wheat or barley, but that care in modifying meth-ods of farming will be effectual in prevent-ing its ravages, and it can be kept out of the giain if taken in time.

The most important of these preventives is late planting, as the result of Professor Surface's studies show that the percentage of infested fields in relation to the date of planting gradually increased from all that were planted in August being infested and about half of those planted in the middle of September containing fly to not one per cent. of the fields planted after October 1st having the pest in any of the samples submitted.

EXAMINED MANY SAMPLES.

From all the wheat-growing counties in Penasylvania samples of growing wheat have been sent to Prof. Surface every week during the last two years. He has ex-amined them with care and noted the presence or absence of the Hessian fly, the presence or absence of the Hessian fly, the stage of the pest, its distribution and dates of appearance and disappearance. The study of the yields, according to dates of planting, showed that, in general, higher average yields were obtained from fields planted late than from those planted early. The final couclusion is that no wheat should be planted in this State be-fore the last week of September at the earliest, and that planting should be near-ly two weeks later in the southern part of the State than in the northern part.

ly two weeks later in the southern part of the State than in the northern part. Professor Surface recommends sowing a trap strip across the field during the early part of August to catch the eggs of the fly if it should appear in great numbers. After the eggs are laid and the safety of the later wheat is thus insured the trap strip should be plowed well under and it may then be be plowed well under, and it may then be planted again for the regular orop.
