—Game warden Joe Rightmour recently arrested Herbert Thomas, a 12 year old boy of Shingletown, for shooting deer out of season. On July 21st he had shot a deer with a load of shot, the wound being such as to cause its death later. Thomas confessed to the crime, but was released because of his age. The occurrence is noted to show that Rightmour is on the alert for offenders and some older ones who are killing game out of season will be hauled up with an unexpected jerk before long, and they won't have youth to get them out of the law's clutches either.

THE KNIGHTS OF THE GOLDEN EAGLE IN ANNUAL CONVENTION.—Labor day was observed in Bellefonte in more than the usual way. While there are numerous organizations of Union workmen now to make the day annually set apart for them one to be remembered Bellefonte is not large enough as a manufacturing centre to make any great display in this direction alone, but on Monday the sixteenth annual session of the Susquehanna District Association of the Knights of the Golden Eagle was held and thousands of visitors were in town to see them parade.

Out of a week of beautiful days Monday was the one of least brightness. The over-hanging clouds threatened rain at one moment, but that did not deter the crowds from coming from all points of the county and many from a greater distance. The day turned out fair, however, and not until most of the visitors reached their homes that night did the rain that made circus day a farce Tuesday begin falling.

With the arrival of the first morning trains the incidents leading up to the grand parade began. Bands were escorting Castles of Eagles to their quarters, good natured crowds were jostling on the streets and the whole town assumed a holiday air, for not a store nor a business place was open.

In the morning at 11 o'clock a meeting of the Association was held in Bellefonte Castle, in the Eagle building. President, W. P. Kuhn presided, Sec. J. K. Johnston, and treasurer E. H. Sweitzer, of Williamsport, were in their places. Of course the Eagle's business is not the public's business so what they did was not reported, except that Lewisburg was selected as the next place of meeting and officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, J. F. Miller, Lewisburg. Secretary, W. W. Musher, Lewisburg. Treasurer, J. D. Gresh, Milton.

THE PARADE.

At 2 o'clock the parade was formed. The several divisions assembled in the vicinity of the armory of Co. B and moved promptly at 2:15, over the following route: Out Lamb to Thomas, to High, to Spring, to Bishop to Haag hotel and counter-march to Allegheny, to Linn, to Armor and counter-march to Allegheny, to the Diamond and disband.

The parade was formed and moved in the following order:

THE PRIZES.

The prizes were awarded as follows: The Castle making the best appearance in line of parade, $10, to Millheim.

The Castle having the highest percentage of members in line based on last report, $10 to Spring Mills.

The Castle coming the farthest distance, $10 to Galeton, Potter Co.

The best drilled Commandery, $25 to Williamsport.

After the parade there was to have been a competitive drill for Commanderies, but as Williamsport was the only one that entered that Commandery won the prize by default, though it gave an exhibition of intricate evolutions on the Diamond.

Following this there was a public meeting in the court house. It was presided over by president W. P. Kuhn, who made a particularly graceful little speech introducing Sir Knight W. Harrison Walker, who as burgess of the town made the address of welcome; extending the key to everything to the visiting Knights during their stay in Bellefonte. The program called for a response by one of the grand officers of the State, but as none of them were able to get here it was made by the newly elected Association treasurer, J. B. Gresh, of Milton. In a very happy way he accepted the hospitality of the community and assured everyone of a good time at Lewisburg next year. The meeting then became informal and Geo. R. Meek, Chas. R. Kurtz and past president J. K. Johnston responded to calls for talks. The latter, making a strong presentation of the ideal Eagle and the fraternal features of the order.

In the evening there was a special meeting in the Eagle building for the purpose of administering the second degree, but as none of the grand officers were here that was abandoned and other work of the order was taken up for study.

In every way the meeting was a success and reflects great credit on Bellefonte Castle, for upon that organization alone rested the entire responsibility of arrangements and entertainment. President Kuhn and Sec. Johnson, who are both members of the local Castle, had the work so perfectly arranged that all that was needed was its faithful execution and that that was accomplished was realized by everyone who was here on Monday. The parade was both large and interesting; the department of the Knights being only what might be expected from men who honestly strive to live up to their motto of "Fidelity, Honor and Valor."

—Next month the great Centre county fair comes.

—Mrs. Harry Keller will give a porch party at her home on east Linn street this morning.

—A new railroad bridge has replaced the old Beech Creek trestle on the P. R. R. line to Snow Shoe.

—The Wallace shows that exhibited here on Tuesday had very bad weather but a crowd of about three thousand attended the afternoon performance.

—A good fair isn't all racing and for that reason the other departments of the great Centre county fair are going to be made more attractive than ever this year.

—Miss Mary Kurtz, of Williamsport, a sister of Dr. Walter Kurtz, of Howard, has started for India to join her sister who has been a Baptist missionary there for ten years.

—Yesterday afternoon Edmund Blanchard and H. S. Ray and John Curtin and John Munson went down to Lock Haven to play doubles in the tennis tournament at that city.

—On Thursday, Sept. 17th, the fireman's band of Mill Hill will have their big band tournament at Agar's park, at that place. Bands from Centre, Clinton and Lycoming counties will be present to contest for the cash prizes offered.

—James Wolfenden, of Lamar, has been ordered by his company to proceed to State College to install two new boilers of the Babcock & Wilcox make. They are of 200 h. p. each and will be added to the battery already in use to supply the growing institution with heat, power, and light.

—Mr. F. O. Hosterman and Miss Lizzie Winegardner were married at the residence of the former, in Millheim, at 6 o'clock Tuesday morning, by the Rev. B. M. R. Sheeder, of the Lutheran church. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony and the bride and groom left on an early train for a trip east.

—Mrs. Catharine Oberdorf died suddenly of heart disease at her home in Clippontdale on Wednesday of last week. She was a daughter of Jacob Habler and was born in Haines Twp., 73 years ago. Her husband and two children survive her. Mrs. Sara Wilson, of Nittany, and Mrs. John Eiters, of Lemont, are sisters.

—Frank McCormick, a son of Hon. John T. McCormick, of State College, who has been manager of the United Telephone Co's business in Lock Haven, since the installation of an exchange there, has been transferred to Altoona, where a larger field has been given him to work in. Frank is a graduate of The Pennsylvania State College, and is gaining prominence as a telephone man.

—The Rev. Daniel Gress, of the Reformed church of Centre Hall, was married to Miss Emma Black, of Adamsburg, Westmoreland county, on Wednesday of last week. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Cullen and was the first nuptial event in that church in eighty-seven years. Rev. and Mrs. Gress arrived at their home at Centre Hall yesterday.

—Tomorrow the Centre Co. Veterans Association will hold their annual reunion at Pine Grove Mills and for that occasion the Bellefonte Central will run trains as follows: Leaving Bellefonte at 6:30, 7:30, 10:30 a. m., and 1:05, 4:15 p. m.; leave Pine Grove Mills for Bellefonte at 10:30 and 1:00, 2:30, 5:30, and 6:30 p. m. The fare for the round trip will be 55 cents from Bellefonte, 50 cents from Waddles, and 25 cents from State College.

—The staff of photographers who travel in advance of the International Bioscope Co., arrived in Bellefonte on the 8th inst., and have taken several local subjects which will be shown at the opera house the nights of the show. They also obtained an excellent view of the circus parade, passing the court house. These films will be cut up and given to the audience as souvenirs. Be sure and get one. You are sure to recognize someone you know, possibly your own picture will be shown at the opera house when the bioscope is shown there on the evenings of Sept. 16th and 17th.

—If the weather be propitious next Friday night something new in the line of entertainment will be given by the Methodist Sunday school of this place for the benefit of the music fund. It will be a street fair on the sidewalk adjoining the church and will include an ice cream and cake booth, hot chocolate and candy, peanuts, and popcorn, a dime museum and a grab bag with all its chances. The evening amusement will terminate in a sociable in the Sunday school room to which an admission of 10 cents will be charged. The Sunday school is the most important branch of the church and every Methodist should at least give presence to this entertainment.

INTERESTING OLD BOOKS.—Among the debris that is being hauled away from the old Livingston building on Allegheny St., that is being remodeled for Dr. M. J. Looke, were found two old books that are of decided interest to the people of Bellefonte as a means through which they can look back into the practical side of the life of this community in the early days of the past century.

One is the register of the Washington hotel, another is a day book in a grocery store that was run in town at that time. The Washington hotel stood where the First National bank is located now and the register shows the arrivals at that hostelry in 1843. While there are many familiar names on the book there are none who are living to-day; as far as can be discovered. Among them are the Potters, Boals, Curtins, Harris and other family names well known in the county. One of the distinguished guests at the Washington during that year was former Governor Bigler.

In the store day book are charges of every description of article to be found in a general country store. On one page a bible was charged up to Steven Brown and right under it a gallon of whiskey was carried out against Billy Reifle.

Billy Reifle is still living in Valparaiso, Neb., and in his palmy days was a notable character in Bellefonte. He was the bright particular bass horn blower in the Bellefonte band at the time when it traveled over the country in wagons giving concerts. It is said that on one of their tours they had stopped a night in Philipsburg, where immense quantities of smoked sausage were hanging from the ceilings of their rooms in the hotel. One of the band boys stuffed Billy's big horn full and he did not discover it until the next night in Clearfield. He had stepped out on the platform to play a solo, but blow as he would no sound would come out of his horn. Billy blew till his eyes nearly popped out and his face became flaming red. Then he looked into the bell of his instrument to see what the trouble was. Noticing an obstruction in it he stuck his hand down to remove it and when yards upon yards of sausage came stringing out he about collapsed, for he thought for the moment he had blown his "innards" out.

A "CITIZEN" SPEAKS.—"Citizen," whose opinions were published in the Watchman on Tuesday, seems to differ with the WATCHMAN on the question of the possibilities of University Extension work in Bellefonte. According to his notion our accusing the town of being blinded by its own conceit is not warranted by the conditions to be found here. He says "the people of Bellefonte are about the same quantity and quality as those we meet when traveling in other lands," all of which we admit, because it is only too true. But we venture the assertion that these very same Bellefonters, "when traveling in other lands" try to envelope themselves in a veneer of literary accomplishment that is as thin as it is ridiculous.

Here is the very point that the WATCHMAN raised. Bellefonte is known, far and wide, as the home of Governors, a town of culture and refinement, in fact, a community of exceptional intellectuality. That is, it is known as that, yet there are hosts of women in Bellefonte who, if you asked them of Sophocles, would think you meant something about Valenciennes or point d'esprit. And men who would tell you that the Iliad is a new dance they had seen on the New York roofs last season.

The WATCHMAN is not an iconoclast, nor is it pessimistic. It is simply telling the truth. We have very eminent exceptions in the town, but if the generality of our people were near up to the opportunities that are their's these exceptions would not be so noticeable. University Extension is one of these opportunities. It remains to be seen what Bellefonte will do with it.

THE FISHBURN FAMILY REUNION.—The family of Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Fishburn had a home coming at the old place, near Bellefonte, last Saturday. Of the sixteen children born to them twelve are living and were there to celebrate with their parents. The nine sons and three daughters of the Fishburn family have grown through marriage until their combined families now number thirty-five, fourteen of whom are grand children.

They were all at home on Saturday and a happier day the Fishburn place has never known. The venerable parents, who have nearly rounded on the fortieth anniversary of their marriage, were young again in heart and mind when their study children and the promising little grand children had gathered about them for the day's pleasure.

Those present were J. Henry Fishburn and wife with Salome, Oscar, and Paul at home, Jacob P, with wife and four children of Kansas City, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. John Martin and son, of Harrisburg, Pa., Harry E, wife and five children Potter's Mills, George K, and wife, Freeport Ill.; William N, wife and three children, Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. Richard G. Tate and one child, Big Run, Pa.; Charles H., and wife, Freeport Ill.; John, of Turtle Creek, and Fred, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mrs. H. K. Hoy, a sister of Mr. Fishburn, and her daughter Caroline, together with the Rev. Ambrose M. Schmidt and family were the invited guests.

—The post office at Oak Hill station changed hands Monday evening of last week when William Close took up the reins of the post office again and Miss Anna Kline retired from the service, after acting assistant for her father, the late George Kline. After his demise she became post mistress and has managed the office up to the present.

THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION.—The eleventh annual convention of the Centre County Christian Endeavor Union, which was held in the Presbyterian church, in Milesburg, on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, was carried out in strict accordance with the program previously published.

The prevailing colors in the church decorations were the red and white of the Union. The principal social feature of the convention was an entertainment given by the Milesburg chapter to the visitors on Wednesday evening. It was a lawn social and proved a very delightful event.

The secretary's report stated that during the past year the county Union had contributed to missions $130.74 and other benevolent objects $389.43. The number of active members in the county 707 and associate members 272.

All of the old officers were re-elected for the ensuing year with the exception of secretary Frank Fisher, who declined, and was succeeded by Rev. D. A. Artman, of Howard.

The Unionville and Lemont chapters won the banners for largest delegations in attendance. The delegates present were: Unionville—James Pratt, Nannie Fisher, Mrs. Julia Parsons, Ruth Parsons, Sue V. —On Monday evening the Coburn band favored the WATCHMAN office with a delightful serenade. It is the largest band in the county and makes music that would be a credit to any organization. In fact, the real skill of the Coburn musicians is not developed in their street work, but rather in concert playing, where their full instrumentation serves the purpose of bringing out the shading of their music to a nicely seldom accomplished by amateur bands.

—Mrs. Clowes, of Richmond, Va., who is a guest of Mrs. Jno. M. Dale, sang in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and in the Episcopal church in the evening. Her voice has lost none of the richness that has made her singing so rare a treat in Bellefonte. She is the leading contralto choir soloist of Richmond.
