

There were thirty pupils present at the opening of the Woodward schools.

A BUSINESS CHANGE TO OCCUR HERE NEXT WEEK.—William Schofield who is now in the harness business in Altoona will discontinue it next week and move to Bellefonte, where he will form a co-partnership with his uncle, James Schofield, the old reliable harness maker of this place. One Schofield has been able to do a great business all over this county in past years and there is no telling what two of them will do.

THEY ARE CERTAINLY NICE LITTLE SHOOTERS.—With everything but their eagle eyes with them a party of gentlemen from Tyrone went down to the Nittany country club last Saturday to try their fortunes at the traps with some Bellefonte shooters. They had five prize shots, together with several rosters and a CAPTAIN in the person of E. C. Poorman. Now Mr. Poorman may be as fine a promoter as he is given credit with being, but when he comes to promoting any of his team of shooters on their records of Saturday it will be "demits" that they get, with a little penalty of "5.50" on the side for injecting the remnants of the Hollidaysburg fair into a contest on which hang so much glory.

The story of the shoot is fully told in the score below. It is interesting because the Bellefonters had no idea of winning and did so only because it was a physical impossibility for them to shoot as bad as the Tyroners. But it was ever thus: Tyrone was always all right, but Bellefonte was better—even in base ball.

The teams shot as follows: For Bellefonte, G. R. Meek 17, H. C. Quigley 17, Jno. VanPelt 17, J. G. Allport 12, Dr. G. B. Klump 9; total 72 out of a possible 125 birds.

For Tyrone:—W. L. Hicks 23, R. B. Freeman 11, Chas. Roland 7, H. C. Blair 7, J. G. Anderson 10. Total 58 out of a possible 125.

Each man shot 25 birds, 5 at a round.

SUP. S. S. BLAIR SOON TO RETIRE.—In a little over a month S. S. Blair, who has been Superintendent of the Tyrone division of the P. R. R. for the past thirty years, will be retired on account of having reached the age limit of seventy years. The retirement will date from November 1st and after that time one of the best known railroad men in Pennsylvania will relinquish active work.

Mr. Blair was born at Easterton, Pa., in 1873 and entered the service of the Pennsylvania Co., at Harrisburg on June 11th, 1893. Just ten years later he was made superintendent of the Baltimore division of the Northern Central and ten years after that was assigned to the Tyrone division, one of the largest and hardest of the Pennsylvania system to take care of.

While it is not known who Mr. Blair's successor will be there is some talk of C. P. MacArthur, now principal assistant engineer of the Buffalo division of the Buffalo and Allegheny Valley. Mr. MacArthur is a nephew of General MacArthur, as well as a nephew of S. M. Prevost, third vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad.

A POINTER FOR YOU.—On Tuesday evening, October 6th, Mr. Charles B. Hanford, the eminent tragedian will appear at Garman's in "Taming of the Shrew." The WATCHMAN feels it its duty to assure the public that this attraction will be strictly first class. If you will remember, Mr. Hanford has been here before. Once with James R. Keene and later with the Hanford-Spencer-O'Brien company.

The best dramatic critics rank him among the highest of our actors in the legitimate and both productions in which he has appeared in Bellefonte have had a finish seldom seen at Garman's.

It would be a pity if Mr. Hanford were to suffer here because of that barn storming outfit that tried to play Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde on Monday night and for that reason we think it only our duty to apprise you of the fact that a really first class production may be looked for on the evening of the 6th.

And that you may not have to rely solely on what we say there is published below an article from the Reading Eagle of Tuesday last, which should put the statements beyond question.

At the Academy of Music last evening, Charles H. Hanford opened his 11th season as a star, and the 22nd in which he has appeared continuously in Shakespearean roles. He presented "The Taming of the Shrew," and was supported by a highly capable company. The stage settings were rich and the costumes handsome. Mr. Hanford interpreted the character of Petruchio, in the historic comedy with clearness, force and spirit, yet he was scholarly throughout, and his conception was natural. His merry delineation of the part of a suitor and husband bound to bring the shrewish Kate to his way of thinking was refined and highly enjoyable. Curtain calls followed every act, and in play and production the audience expressed its pronounced pleasure. Marie Drofnah, as the "shrew," was highly acceptable, and shared the honors of the evening with Mr. Hanford. The leading members of the cast were as follows: Petruchio, a gentleman of Verona and suitor to Katherine.....Mr. Hanford; Baptista, an old gentleman of Padua.....Fred Hight Vincento, an old gentleman of Pisa. P. J. Ford Lucenito, son of Vincento.....Devoer Farmer Gremio, a gentleman of Padua.....Frank Peters Hortensio, a young gentleman of Padua, suitor to Bianca.....Frederick Forrester; Tranio, servant to Lucentio.....Henry MacRade Biondello, servant to Lucentio.....John C. Conery Gremio, Petruchio's serving man.....Caryl Gillin Bianca, Baptista's younger daughter.....Eugenie Webb Curtis, servant to Petruchio.....Miss Hight

A widow, who marries Hortensio.....Inez Shannon Pages, Little Frances and Baby Zyliah Shannon Katherine, Baptista's elder daughter.....Marie Drofnah

"The Taming of the Shrew," was preceded by a pathetic sketch, "The Old Guard," an episode of the Battle of Waterloo, in 1 scene, in a garret in the poor quarters of London. Mr. Hanford appeared as Haversack, one of Napoleon's old guards. This was a capital piece of acting.
