

Senator Snyder's Public Record. He Supported Every Vicious Measure of Legislation Introduced.-Subservient Tool of Machine.-Re publican Candidate For Auditor General Support ed All Kinds of Grabs. Pinch Bills. Corporation Measures and Ripper Legislation.

A summary of the vicious legislation of the past ten years would be an accurate record of Senator William P. Snyder's legislative career. No iniquity was too rank for him, no infamy too atrocious. He has been the most subservient tool of the machine at all times and under all circumstances. The interests of the people have never challenged his attention, while every measure of spoliation for the benefit of corporations and political cliques has had his active support. To give the list of infamous bills supported in the legislature by Senator Snyder from the beginning of his service in that body would occupy too much space. Such a summary would fill a volume. But we may take the record of the sessions of 1901 and 1903 and find room for the most conspicuously bad bills he supported. In the session of 1901 the storm centre of corruption was the bill known as the Pittsburg "ripper." The purpose of that bill was to legislate out of office public servants chosen by the people for no other reason than that they refused to yield willing obedience to the mandates of the boss. Senator Snyder was one of its most active supporters.

He appeared to take delight in the infamy of his action. Some Other Vicious Bills.

But there were dozens of other bills reeking with corruption which had his earnest support during that session. Among them were the Philadelphia "ripper," subsequently declared unconstituional by the supreme court; the measure creating another court in Philadelphia against the protest of the bench, bar and a vast majority of the people, the franchise grabs, which bestowed upon a lot of political adventurers property of the people of the aggregate value of millions of dollars. and the Steinman canal grab bill. For the Philadelphia part of the franchise grab Mr. John Wanamaker offered the cash consideration of $2,500,000, while the Pittsburg end, which went to Quay's son and the Bigelows, was equally valuable.

The Erie land grab was one of the most unique swindles ever perpetrated by a corrupt legislative clique. Presque Isle is a large body of land which forms one side of the beautiful harbor of Lake Erie at the city of Erie. A group of land-grabbers have been striving for years to get possession of that lovely spot. In the session of 1901 they swooped down on the legislature laden with boodle. The measure was pressed with impudent vigor and persistency. It was defeated in the House tives passed by fraud. The next day the fraud was exposed and the measure put back upon the calendar, where it remained for some weeks and was finally defeated. But it passed the senate and among its most earnest supporters was Senator William P. Snyder. The Multiplication of Offices. One of the petty swindles of that machine governed and boss ridden legislature was the measure increasing the clerk hire allowances of the supreme court judges. Under a previous law for which Snyder had voted each supreme court judge was allowed a clerk at a salary of $1000 a year. At that it was a most desirable position and you couldn't have driven any occupant out with a battery of Gatling guns. But the machine wanted to increase the reward for party services to those gentlemen and a bill increasing their salaries to $2500 a year was introduced. Some of the judges protested against the extravagance, but the machine legislature disregarded the protest and railroaded the bill through. One of the active leaders in the transaction was Senator William P. Snyder. Senator Snyder has always been, not so much for the old flag and an appropriation, as for new offices and an appropriation. During the session of 1901 there were several bills of that kind considered. Among them were bills creating new courts and addi-tional judges. We have referred to the new court in Philadelphia and his vote on that measure. A bill was also introduced for a new court in Allegheny county and Snyder supported it with all the earnestness and zeal that a hungry man puts into consuming a palatable meal. The people of Pittsburg protested vehemently, but that made no difference to Snyder. Finally a vast delegation of business men representing the board of trade and other civic organizations went to Harrisburg and frightened the machine leaders until they abandoned the enterprise. But the last to give up was Snyder.

There was another curious method for robbing the people of valuable property developed during that session of odious memory. It will be remembered that a group of political crooks and machine dependents had ecovered a scheme by which it was possible to acquire without giving valuable consideration millions of tons of coal under the rivers of the commonwealth. The process was the same as that by which unclaimed lands are taken by patent. This gigantic system of spoliation had been begun in Fayette and other western counties and warrants for the property had been issued. Representative Corey, of Luzerne county, thereupon introduced a bill to revoke the warrants and make further issues of the kind impossible. He showed by carefully prepared statistics fully authenticated and beyond dispute, that the loss to the state if his bill was not passed would amount to the enormous sum of $50,000,0000. But that fact didn't restrain Snyder from voting against it. In fact it appeared to have only whetted his desire in the matter to a keen edge and he promptly and loudly voted no.

Voted For Every Bad Bill.

There were a number of other bills upon which Senator Snyder voted negatively and it has been said, not without good reason, that he voted for every bad bill and against every good measure during his ten years service in the senate. Among those which he voted against were the so-called Guffey ballot reform bill. In his speeches during the previous campign for election of senators and representatives in the legislature Senator Quay had pledged himself to the support of any fair ballot bill which Democratic National Committeeman Guffey would recommend. Soon after the legislative session began a number of leading Democrats got together and framed a bill which Colonel Guffey recommended. It was introduced in both houses of the legislature and Senator Quay was invited to fulfill his pledge. He went to Harrisburg and with other leaders of his party went into conference with an equal number of leading Democrats. including Colonel Guffey. After going over the measure carefully Quay admitted its fairness and the justice of the demand to make his pledge good, but said he couldn't control his men. Among those he couldn't control was Snyder, for he was among the most vociferous against the bill. But Quay had no trouble in controlling him subsequently for the franchise grabs and other vicious legislation. Another bill which Senator Snyder refused to vote for during that session was one "requiring state officials to itemize statements of expenses in annual reports." There is no greater source of fraud in the public service than the expense accounts of state officials. That is where the money comes from to pay salaries on padded pay rolls and make up deficits on any old account. Expenses, so much, is a comprehensive and confusing expression. But if itemized statements were required there would be no opportunity to pad pay rolls or supply de ficiency through other irregularities. For this reason the bill in question was introduced-agl promptly defeated, among its most active antagonists being Senator William P. Snyder. Mr. Creasy's amendment to the road bill of that session, providing for the taxation of corporations to pay the expenses of road building, maintenance and improvement, was also opposed by Senator Snyder with equal energy and earnestness. He preferred to put that burden on the farmers.

ment it was determined for some unexplained reason to drop them, and it was common talk in the lobbies that Pennypacker had made the kick that worked the result. Every vicious bill which did pass during the session was supported by Senator Snyder. These included the press muzzler, abandonment of portions of railroads, increasing salaries of clerks in agricultural department, the $6,500,000 road law, the judicial salary bill, amendment to the act for the incorporation and government of elevated and underground railroads, authorizing railroads to acquire, hold and convey stock of other railroads in violation of the constitutional provision against the merger of parallel and competing railroads. The bills for additional clerks and deputies in the factory inspector's office was supported most actively by Senator Snyder, as well as that increasing the salary of the chaplains of the legislature to $6 a day and mileage, which will make it possible to tax the treasury for mileage from the most remote part of the state every day of the session. Senator Snyder, who is responsible in part, and a very large part at that, is the Republican candidate for auditor general, the officer of the state who passes upon all those accounts and ratifies the robbery of the public by legal processes. No wise man puts a convicted thief in charge of his finances, and it would be equally foolish to put a man who has proved himself an unfaithful servant in the legislature into an office which gives him infinitely greater opportunity to loot the treasury.

Montgomery County Court Bill.

The talk of the town during that session was the bill creating an orphans' court in Montgomery county. That county was represented in the senate of that session by Senator John A. Wentz, who protested most emphatically against the profligacy involved in the measure. He said the people were opposed to it almost unanimously and declared that if action was postponed on the measure for a few days he would prove his statement. Snyder, who was in the chair, and his machine associates on the floor refused to postpone and the bill was expedited. Nevertheless during the following recess from Friday to Monday night Senator Wents started a protest signed by thousands of citizens of the county, but that made no impression on Snyder's mind. He woted for the bill and it was passed.

The Session of 1903.

The legislature of 1903 was less prolific in vicious legislation, but it was not free by any means. As a matter of fact most of the crooked bills were killed or rather dropped on the last day of the session, for the reason, it was generally surmised, that Governor Pennypacker would veto them if they were passed. Among these were an act to repeal the act to authorize the governor to incorporate the Susquehanna canal, which was approved in 1835. It is believed that there were all kinds of money in that measure for the "gang." Another was an act to amend the act authorizing county commissioners to rebuild county bridges destroyed by flood or fire. This was likewise a juicy job and was said to be good for a million at least. An act providing for the incorporation of companies for the filtration and and purification of water and supply the same to the public. This was known as "the water snake" and was a special pet of the machine. Another bill upon which the machine put much hope for loot was an act to authorize betting on horse races at county fairs. The lobby behind this measure was particularly bold and insistent. The scheme was to invade the several county agricultural fairs with a group of gamblers and rob the farmers mercilessly. Then there was the supplement to the corporation act to authorize the construction of dams in rivers and streams of the commonwealth for the purpose of storing water and power and generating electricity therewith. This was a measure for the millionaire bosses and promised vast returns. Any amount of money was given for votes for it, for the reason that it was expected to yield millions. Another rich man's job was the bill to authorize the purchase of property and franchises of corporations at judicial sale. The idea of that was to organize litigation against corporations which the ging aspired to control and force sales at sacrifices. It was a most dangerous scheme. But these vicious measures were not stricken from the calendar at the instance of Senator Snyder. On the contrary, he supported every one of them at every stage and was ready to give them his vote on final passage. But the night before the final adjourn-
