----William P. Kuhn, of this place, and prominent in Lutheran church work. was elected a trustee of the theological seminary at Gettysburg by the recent Synold of the church at Pennsylvania.

-The Undine fire company has a fine new patrol wagon. It was built by Jacob Knisely and is so citified that when it went rolling along the street on Friday we had to look about to see whether we were really in Bellefonte.

-Rev. Dr. H. C. Holloway is preaching a series of sermons on Sunday night in their horses, though they retained the grounds last Friday, to witness the final aces of the season and take a parting look at the many interesting exhibits. Those who were there will remember it as long as they live because they were the fortunate witnesses of two of the hardest fought races ever seen on any track. They were of the fever heat kind and such demonstrations as the audience on the grand stand and along the track rails made left no doubt of the enthusiasm that was aroused.

THE CLOSING DAY OF THE FAIR .-- COn-

The time was not so fast, but time doesn't make a race by any means. Every driver was out for the money and it became evident from the first that some real sport was to be enjoyed. Every heat was fought clear out to the wire and when the freefor-all was finished starter Frank Smith, of Buffalo, who knows what horse racing is, called the drivers to the judge's stand and publicly congratulated them on having driven one of the fiercest races he had ever seen in all his long experience as a professional starter. The free-for-all was finished as follows:

Jene Whitcomb, b m (Carlisle).....1 2 3 2 Cardigan Girl, gm (Miller)..... 2 3 2 3 Orange Chief, bs (Miller)4 4 4 Time, 2.1814, 2.1914, 2.201/2, 2.22. THE DRIVERS WERE FINED.

In the 2:27 class there was a most spectacular finish. After the fifth heat when "Teddy" had been drawn and "Code" was sent to the stables because he had not wop a heat and could not race in the finals the horses were sent down for the usual twenty-minute rub down between heats. At the time for the sixth heat none of the three were at the score ; neither the starter's bell nor the marshal could get them out sooner than twenty minutes late. It was then too dark to finish the race so the drivers were called to the wire. German bible that was printed in 1769. It fined $25 each and the race postponed until Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. As it > rained all day Saturday the race could not be finished and the purse was divided, under an amicable agreement between the owners, "John D."

This was a wonderful race. All the skill of clever drivers and the speed of a bunch of evenly matched horses was brought into play to effect a result that not even "the wisest swipe" on the track could have guessed. And to this day you can't find two horsemen who will agree as to which horse would have won the deciding heat had it been driven Friday evening. "John D," was looked upon as very likely then but the rain next morning saved him from an ignominious downfall, for he was so badly used up that he couldn't have gotten out of his stable for the final had it been called Saturday morning. A peculiar condition of this race was that just before it started the owners of "Doctor M" and "John D" had traded his church on "A Study of Luther and the earnings of the race that their original Reformation," which are listened to by horses would draw and also the right to ----- The recent conference of the A. M. E. church made a change in the pastors at Bellefonte by sending Rev. J. E. Morris here and directing Rev. T. J. Askew to remove to . Rev. Askew is about the ablest man who has ever been in the colored pulpit here and his removal is a mattter of genuine regret, though Rev. Morris comes with the reputation of being one of the best financiers in this conference.

---On Monday and Tuesday nights of next week Frederick H. Wilson will be seen for the first time at Garman's. He is a popular priced actor and will open on Monday night with "A True Born American." On Tuesday night the play will be "The Count of Monte Christo." The prices are 10, 20 and 30cts. Ladies can secure reserved seats for Monday night for only 15cts.

-Philipsburg had another fire early last Thursday morning, when the stable and hay sheds belonging to grocer Al. Jones, were demolished ; together with two mules and a valuable horse. The fire had a good start when the local department got to the scene, but they worked valiantly and were able to save adjoining property that was in imminent danger. Mr. Jones estimates his loss at about $2,000. which amount is partially covered by insurance.

-The Bellefonte Academ; foot ball eleven met the Philipsburg boys on the fair grounds here last Saturday afternoon and notwithstanding the rain and cold quite a crowd of enthusiasts gathered to watch trainer Sharp's boys show the kickin foot ball that they hadn't been up against before. The Academy made two touch-downs in each half, but owing to the wet and slippery condition of the ball every try for a goal was a failure. The score resulted 20 to 0 in favor of the Academy. Tomorrow our boys will play the Lock Haven Normal school here and a great

has been many years since so many bear have been killed or seen in the Centre county forests this early in the season. It had been known that bear were about, but it was expected that they would all disappear ere the time arrived when the woods would be full of hunters of squirrel pheasants and turkeys. On the contrary, however, it appears that brain is growing more careless every day, for three cases last week in which fine specimens of his tribe walked right up to huuters with guns would indicate it.

Over at Linden Hall Edward Horner, a nineteen year old boy, killed oue on Tuesday morning that weighed 300 lbs. A neighbor, George Swabb, told him that the bear was around there so he got his gun and followed. It was some time before Horner discovered the tracks, but he get the discharged shell out of his gun to make room for another one, but just as the bear got within striking distance he got a load of bird shot into the chamber and fired ; the charge plowing a great hole in the bear's throat and cansing death almost instantly.

It was scarcely nine o'clock on Saturday morning ere Perry Hines, the twenty year old son of Sam Hines, of Hecla park, had a fine big cub lying dead in Logan's path through Rag-valley. He had gone out to hunt with his younger brother Charley and when they ran across the bear Perry began pumping his Winchester in a way that would have done credit to a sharp shooter. The range was a little long and the boy had to send four shots after bruin, but he later had the satisfaction of discovering that three of them hit their mark. The bear dressed 189 lbs.

Jasper Brooks and Boyd Spicher, of Pleasant Gap, were out gunning last Saturday and were on their way home about half after four. Mr. Brooks was resting for a moment along the foot of the mountain between Samuel Noll's and A. V. Miller's farms, when he suddenly espied a bear coming down the mountain toward him. He had been hunting birds and was armed with nothing but No. 6 shot, but he ing his light ammunition.

Coolly taking a good position he awaited until the bear got as close to him as he thought it would come then he fired. The animal was so close that the shot knocked it over, but it jumped up almost immediately and started to run. Mr. Brooks took another crack at it with the result that it fell again, after going a short distance and

THE STAR COURSE ENGAGEMENTS.the hunting season did not bring in any Cabin will occupy the boards at Garman's. Next Friday evening the Star course entertainments will open in Petriken hall.

The course for this winter includes a fine line of attractions and for refined, high class amusement at a low price this is an opportunity seldom presented.

The course will open Oct. 30th, with the Metropolitan Grand Concert Co. This company is composed of four artists who are second to none on the Lyceum platform.

The second attraction will be Dr. W. J. Clark, Nov. 13th, who will delight his andience with his illustrated lecture on wireless telegraphy.

The third entertainment will be given by the Lyceum Operatic Co. This company will give half its program in concert and half in opera. This company will be followed by one of the strongest companies in the Lyceum field, namely the "Roney Boys." Great things are always expected from this company and these expectations are always more than met.

The fifth attraction will be the Mendelssohn male quartette and Marguerite Smith. This is a company that no lovers of music should miss

The closing attraction will be the May Parker Concert Co. and Little Pickaninnies. This company has given over four hundred concerts during the past two years and many of them have been return dates.

-S. Kline Woodring, Potter Tate and Albert Smeltzer were the viewers who reported favorably on the application for a new road in Potter Twp. leading from a point between the John R. Lee and William Boal properties to the Sinking creek bridge at the Mulbarger saw mill. The new road will pass through the properties of John R. Lee, Wm. Boal, Wm. Jordan, Andrew Jordan, Samuel Swartz, Frank Hosterman, L. R. Lingle, Frank Lingle, and John T. Smith.

-Robert F. Hunter has purchased the beautiful house on east Linn street, erected some time ago by Joseph L. Montgomery and has already moved his family from their former quarters on Curtin street into their new home.

-Henry Tibbens, of east Howard St., has a pumpkin on exhibition in Harper Bros. store window that knocks out anything thus far heard from. It weighs 146 pounds and he'd like to know who can beat it.

-The annual cider scrap between the Sophomore and Freshman classes of The Pennsylvania State College, took place on Wednesday evening and after the Sophs had turned the Freshies into veritable rag bags they added insult to injury by upsetting their cider.

-----There are always enough church people who think it is the only show they can consistently go to see, as well as enough children who have never seen little Eva and Uncle Tom to crowd the opera house when a Tom show comes to town, so a full house can be looked for at Garman's next Wednesday night.

-Undertaker H. P. Harris has just received from a Cincinnati firm a magnificent funeral car, built after a design made especially for him. The orignal car was completed and shipped several months ago, but a freight wreck demolished it in transit and the work had to be done all over again. The new car is apparently a very costly one, yet it is in excellent taste and is impressive in its rich simplicity.

-Albert Bradford, of Farmer's Mills, who for the past six years has been operating the Fisher flouring mill at that place, is going to Wilmington, Ohio, the 1st of November. He has secured employment with Frank E. Landon, who owns a mill with a daily capacity of two hundred and fifty barrels. George Kline, of Oak Hall, will operate the Fisher mill until spring when Samuel Frederick, who recently purchased the plant, will assume charge.

A BRIDGE SNARL-Considerable trouble has been kicked up over a little stone bridge that has just been completed near commissioner A. V. Miller's home at Pleasant Gap. The bridge was built by the supervisors of Spring township under sanction of court; the contract for it being awarded to James McCafferty, of this place, who gave R. B. Taylor, A. C. Mingle and Sidney Krumrine as bondsmen for the satisfactory completion of the work. For some reason or other contractor Mc-Cafferty did not push the work as rapidly as the supervisors thought it should be done so they fell back upon the bondsmen.

As a result of this Mr. Taylor undertook to complete the work for the bondsmen. He did it and on Monday the court ap pointed viewers to go out and report on its character. They found it all right and a decree was issued accordingly. Mr. McCafferty secured this report of the viewers and demanded payment from the supervisors for the work; whereupon Mr.

Taylor immediately filed a bill in equity and asked for an injunction restraining the supervisors from paying over the money to McCafferty. The court fixed Wednesday morning, November 4th, as the time for the argument on the injunction.

The bridge that has caused all the trouble is a little stone arch structure that judges say is very nicely built.

THE POST-OFFICE ROBBERS CONVICTED. -The four post-office robbers who were arrested in the old Faust hotel barn in the Seven mountains, south of Potters Mills, on June 20th, by sheriff Taylor and his posse, were tried at Scranton this week and convicted.

The three men William Palmer, Samuel Shireman and James Ryan went on the stand and swore that they had never seen their companion, James Lewis, before the time he was pulled out of the hay loft was not known to them. Notwithstanding their perjury the entire quartet was convicted on all three counts, viz : Robbing the post-offices at Ruther-

Ryan and Lewis each received six years in the penitentiary. Shireman and Palwere sentenced to seven years each. They received the extra year because they were man up at Rutherford.

STORMSTOWN PEOPLE WORKING FOR THE HOSPITAL.-Up to this time several communities in the county have made organized efforts to help maintain the hospital in this place, which must be regarded as a purely county institution. The ladies of Centre Hall have already done good work in that direction, the employees of the mines at Scotia have generously raised $100 among themselves, those in the Nittany valley mines have added a goodly cash contribution out of their earnings and the men of the Bellefonte and Nittany furnaces have done wonderfully well in their laudable work of raising money for the institution, the people about Waddles sent than human fury of the son was conquered in a fine donation a week or so ago and

DEMENTED, HE TRIED TO KILL HIS FATHER .- For several years David V. Williams, who is 31 years old, and lives with never displayed any symptons of viciousness; consequently he was looked upon as altogether harmless until Monday evening, when he made a murderous assault that nearly had a fatal ending for his father,

Edward Williams. The assault occurred after the family had retired. The young man secured a hatchet and creeping stealthily to the bedside of his sleeping father he dealt him a terrible blow on the head. Fortunately the ells. elder Williams was not rendered unconscious by it, but before he could get up to ward off the attack the maniac struck him again, this time with the blade of the hatchet; causing an ugly wound.

Aroused by the outeries of the wounded man the women of the family ran to his rescue and with their assistance the more and he was ejected from the house. Securing a pitchfork he returned to the attack, but in the meantime the doors and windows had been securely barricaded against his re-entrance. When he found
