

Jerry Garner, one of our push-a-head farmers near Fairbrook, has been laid up for some weeks. After an examination Dr. Houser announced that an operation was necessary and on last Tuesday a bone was removed from the rectum where it had lodged. Jerry is getting along very well and is being tenderly nursed by his aged father and brother Will.

The Sinking Creek Charge comprising the Fillmore, Lemont, Boalsburg and Pine Grove congregations have extended an unanimous call to Rev. Walter Harnish, of Academia. Next Tuesday the Rev. Dr. Schuyler, of Centre Hall, will moderate the session and will preach in the Presbyterian church at Pine Grove Mills, at 2:30 o'clock. A full attendance is requested.

W. O. Daugherty moved to Curtin on Wednesday. Mr. Daugherty has quit farming and will give his entire attention to the implement business in the interests of the Champion people. That company is fortunate in securing the services of so competent a representative as Mr. Daugherty. We commend him and his excellent wife and family to the good people of Roland.

A PLEASANT BIRTHDAY.—The home of Newton C. Neidigh, two miles north of town, was the scene of a very enjoyable birthday celebration on Wednesday evening the 4th. Now is a busy man these days so that his good wife Belle had the privilege of arranging matters to suit herself. So well were the plans laid that the house was filled with merry people before it dawned on Newton's mind that he had reached his 36th birthday. Besides a splendid suit of clothes he was the recipient of a fine lot of presents. Mrs. Neidigh and her assistants served the very choicest refreshments with a liberal hand. It was in the late hours of the night when people began to go home with the hope that Mr. Neidigh would live to celebrate many more birthdays.

A HOME WEDDING.—On Wednesday at noon a quiet little wedding took place at the home of G. W. Potter, at Pine Hall, when his eldest daughter, Alice M., and Harry C. Houser, of Pleasant Gap, were united in marriage. Rev. C. T. Aikens pronounced the ceremony and quite a number of guests were present. After the congratulations a splendid dinner was served by Mrs. Potter. The groom is a well-to-do farmer amply able to keep the wolf from the door and his bride is a fine young woman well fitted to preside over a home of her own.

THE HUNTING SEASON.—The rabbit season opened on Monday when every one who owned or could borrow a gun were after the poor little cotton tails. The mountains were full of them i. e. the hunters and that there is a living creature in the woods is only because of lack of skill in shooting. John Sausserman is ahead as usual he came in with seven rabbits, one grouse and two quail. Rev. Heckman took second honors. He had five rabbits to his credit. Frank Garrison, at Rock Springs shot eight rabbits. A party from Altoona are camped out at the Junction. A party from Kipple are located at Dan's cabin in the big hollow. The Pine Grove hunters are over at Ross' woods and a party from Harrisburg are camped near old Monroe. The Rock Springs hunting and fishing club have pitched its tent near Whipple's dam for a few weeks yet. J. B. Rothrock is staying at A. M. Brown's and Blaine is showing him the lay of the land and where the rabbits abound.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1904. IT WILL BE MORE INTERESTING, AND BETTER IN EVERY DETAIL.

ST. NICHOLAS is thirty years the best and best beloved of children's magazines! "I know of no magazine here or in England which will compare with it," says Rebecca Harding Davis. "The children of this generation are fortunate in having such a magazine," adds Lucy Latourette. "Nothing that has ever come into my household of children has been in equal degree the stimulus to their artistic and literary tastes," is George W. Cable's tribute.

And St. Nicholas for 1904 will be more entertaining, and better than ever before. B. L. Farjeon wrote before his death a delightful story called "A Comedy in Wax." It has adventure for the boys, fairy doings for the girls, and a pretty bit of a love story for their mothers. And will run through several numbers. Then there will be other stories, short and long, from Ruth McEnery Stuart, Bertha Runkle, Cyrus Townsend Brady, Joaquin Miller, Gabrielle E. Jackson, Elliott Flower, Grace MacGowan Cooke, Frank R. Stockton, Albert Bigelow Paine, Julia Ralph, Laura E. Richards, Tudor Jenks, Lieutenant Schwatka Margaret Vandegriff, Howard Pyle, Charles F. Lummis, and scores of other well-known writers.

The list of verse writers and artists, some of the very best in the land, who have promised their work to St. Nicholas in the next twelve months is a long one. Some of the interesting articles, all of which will be splendidly illustrated, will tell of Japanese athletics for American boys, some queer mail carriers, interesting signs of old London, children in the White House, the Emperor Hadrian's wall, day with Hudson Maxim, how some animals sleep, secret alphabets, diving for pearls, historic dwards, and many other fascinating subjects.

To-day is a good day to subscribe. No girl or boy should be without St. Nicholas. Only three dollars a year, and that small sum means limitless pleasure and profit for the young people in the home.

The Magazine is an illustration of what can be done in setting a standard and keeping it so far beyond rivalry in a special field that there is no second.—Salt Lake City Tribune. 48-44

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1904. IT WILL BE MORE INTERESTING, AND BETTER IN EVERY DETAIL.

ST. NICHOLAS is thirty years the best and best beloved of children's magazines! "I know of no magazine here or in England which will compare with it," says Rebecca Harding Davis. "The children of this generation are fortunate in having such a magazine," adds Lucy Latourette. "Nothing that has ever come into my household of children has been in equal degree the stimulus to their artistic and literary tastes," is George W. Cable's tribute.

And St. Nicholas for 1904 will be more entertaining, and better than ever before. B. L. Farjeon wrote before his death a delightful story called "A Comedy in Wax." It has adventure for the boys, fairy doings for the girls, and a pretty bit of a love story for their mothers. And will run through several numbers. Then there will be other stories, short and long, from Ruth McEnery Stuart, Bertha Runkle, Cyrus Townsend Brady, Joaquin Miller, Gabrielle E. Jackson, Elliott Flower, Grace MacGowan Cooke, Frank R. Stockton, Albert Bigelow Paine, Julia Ralph, Laura E. Richards, Tudor Jenks, Lieutenant Schwatka Margaret Vandegriff, Howard Pyle, Charles F. Lummis, and scores of other well-known writers.

The list of verse writers and artists, some of the very best in the land, who have promised their work to St. Nicholas in the next twelve months is a long one. Some of the interesting articles, all of which will be splendidly illustrated, will tell of Japanese athletics for American boys, some queer mail carriers, interesting signs of old London, children in the White House, the Emperor Hadrian's wall, day with Hudson Maxim, how some animals sleep, secret alphabets, diving for pearls, historic dwards, and many other fascinating subjects.

To-day is a good day to subscribe. No girl or boy should be without St. Nicholas. Only three dollars a year, and that small sum means limitless pleasure and profit for the young people in the home.

The Magazine is an illustration of what can be done in setting a standard and keeping it so far beyond rivalry in a special field that there is no second.—Salt Lake City Tribune. 48-44</
