Spring Mills.

All our merchants report a very satisfac- tory business during the past year. The holiday business proved excellent.

Sleighing parties are quite numerous on the pike just now. The beaux having about as much as they can well handle. We are getting tired of this Greenland weather.

All the Sunday schools here had an inter- esting entertainment during the holidays. The Methodist and Lutheran on Christmas eve. The Evangelical on Christmas evening and the Reformed on the Sunday evening fol- lowing. The interiors of all the churches were beautifully decorated with spruce, and very artistically arranged. The programs were quite lengthy and of an interesting character. At the Methodist entertainment all the recitations were neatly delivered and the little folks did remarkably well. The music and singing was of a high order of ex- cellence. At the Lutheran the recitations were also well delivered, the little people acting well their several parts. The mauer scene, Madonna and the babe, was a beau- tiful and interesting sight. The Reformed and Evangelicals had also quite lengthy, yet very interesting programs, consisting of recita- tions, music and singing. At the conclusion of the entertainment all the scholars were presented with a box of choice candies and confections. During the entertainments the churches were crowded to their utmost ca- pacity.

The sale of Henry Detwiler, deceased, held on the 19th of December, was well at- tended and everything sold well.

John Boyer has returned from the west and reports having rented a farm there. He and his family will leave for the west in the spring.

Samuel Faust has been moved to Wallace Bierly's, where he will make his future home. He is somewhat better at this writ- ing.

George Breon spent Xmas at his home and Monday morning again le. for Reading, where he is attending business school. Was home the only attraction? I think not.

On account of the schools being closed at Coburn because of diphtheria, Linn Emerick, teacher of the grammar grade, spent the week previous to Xmas under the parental roof.

Banquet at Spring Mills.

The Spring Mills Lodge I. O. O. F. had a very elaborate banquet in their hall on Saturday evening last, and although the evening proved inauspicious—a blinding snow storm prevailing and the weather bit- ter cold, about one hundred and fifty guests and members were present. The tables were beautifully and artistically arranged and lavishly furnished with dainties of a choice and inviting character, to which all did ample justice. Dr. Braucht was made toast master (chairman) and during the banquet frequently called upon guests and members for any remarks they might be pleased to make, and in consequence several very able addresses were delivered. After the banquet the officers and members attired in their magnificent regalia, executed several drills and marches in a very beautiful and masterly manner. Then followed a burlesque imita- tion, which afforded considerable amuse- ment, and was greeted with shouts of laugh- ter. At a seasonable hour all retired to their respective homes having been delightfully and royally entertained. This lodge was instituted six or eight months ago, and is rapidly growing into nearly every week. The lodge is financially strong, and in the membership are gentle- men of prominence, ability and worth.

Homer Walker and Charley Meyers diked out in their best bib and tucker went to see the sights in Altoona and Johnstown where they will abide with Mrs. Roy Miller, former- ly Miss Bessie Walker, one of our popular school teachers.

There were many visitors within our gates during the Holiday season. Uncles, aunts, cousins and sweethearts, to enjoy the sentiment of peace on earth and good will toward men in the style of the old-fashioned Christmas time.

One of the notable Holiday dinners was that one at the cosy home of L. W. Kimport, in Boalsburg, on the last day of the old year. All of the family were home, besides some invited guests, to partake of the 20 lb. gob- bler with all the "fixins."

On New Years day Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Corl gave a dinner to a number of friends in honor of D. C. Krebs and his bride, Miss Albright, of Tyrone, and Ora Krebs all of whom gathered around the festive board at the well known Levi Krebs farm house.

Daniel M., and Frank Clemson, both captains of the iron industry, were circulat- ing among their old associates at Baileyville at the home of their birth the beginning of the week. They were in attendance at the funeral of their aunt Ann, the only sister on their father's side.

A gang of engineers have engaged board- ing at the St. Elmo for the next month. They are making a survey across Muncy mountain near the Tommy Wilson farm and are now east of Gatesburg; seemingly strik- ing a B. line for Penns-valley. Look out for the cars!

The Isaac Tressler lands offered last week at public sale were not all sold. The land was bid to $25 00 per acre but not hammered down. It will be offered again later. The tenant house and lot was sold to Andy Kern at $850. The mountain property was sold for $120.

Mrs. G. W. Campbell, of Harper county, Kansas, with her little daughter, is visiting her mother, Mrs. D. S. Erb. She is a sister of Mrs. J. B. Heberling. It is almost twenty years since Mrs. Campbell went West. They were royally entertained at the McCracken home in the Glades where an old-time New Years dinner was served.

Arthur Fortney will till the fertile acres of Frank Bowersox's farm next season having rented it for a term of five years. Frank Fishburn has rented one of Capt. Kepler's farms known as the Lowder farm. Joe Mater will move to the Jacob Houser farm at Honesville, now occupied by James Shuey who has farmed it for almost thirty years.
