Evidence in Bechtel Case.

Prosecution's Witnesses Strengthen Charge Against Aged Mother. Stains Were all Blood Spots.

Allentown, Pa., Jan. 19.—The chain of circumstantial evidence which the commonwealth is attempting to forge around Mrs. Catharine Bechtel, charged with being an accessory after the fact in the murder of her daughter Mabel, was greatly strengthened by

MRS. KATHERINE BECHTEL.

The witnesses called by the prosecution. And, coupled with this, what little was left of the fair name of the dead girl was completely wiped out by the testimony of Alois Eckstein, who was willing to overlook her faults and make the pretty ward his wife. His story of the intimacy of himself and other men with Mabel Bechtel was shocking.

Eckstein was called to the stand and said that four years ago he "picked up" Mabel Bechtel on the street and went home with her, and had been keeping company with her ever since. The attorney then led him directly to the Sunday night when Mabel Bechtel is supposed to have been killed. Eckstein said he had called at the house and visited with Mabel all afternoon, and that they made taffy, then at 5:30 they had supper, and Mabel went upstairs to dress. When she came down she talked in a merry mood with Myrtha, who, she said, was waiting for her beau, while she was going out to meet her beau. When asked by her mother who she meant, Mabel said she meant Weisenberger.

Eckstein then told of the visit he made to the Bechtel home on Monday night to get the answer that Mabel had promised him. He found at home Mrs. Bechtel, Tom and Charles.

"How did they receive you?" "Well, much cooler than ever before. I noticed that Mrs. Bechtel looked at me in a peculiar way; in fact, they all acted queer."

"How did they act?" "Well, I stepped into the kitchen to get a drink of water, and then went on into the back yard. I didn't know Charlie was in the back yard, but I met him coming up the steps, and when I spoke to him he said gruffly that he was sick and was going to bed. It seemed as if they wanted to get rid of me. Tom sat in the kitchen near the door reading a paper. He kept watching every move I made."

"On Tuesday," continued Eckstein, "I went to the factory to work, and one of the boys telephoned me that I had better go to the Bechtel home, as my girl was dead. I hurried there and found there Mrs. Bechtel, Myrtha, Mrs. Brobst, Mrs. Mitchell and John Bechtel. I tried to comfort Mrs. Bechtel, and then she told me the story about the dogs barking, about the men carrying the bundle, and about the clothes of Mabel being found on the chair in the parlor. I asked her where the clothes were, and she said she had carried them upstairs. Directly after this John carried downstairs the beaver hat, the tan coat and shoes and put them on the chair in the parlor, where Mrs. Bechtel said she had found them. Just then Tom came in and began to cry. I said, 'John, it's too bad! If she were only alive to tell you about it.'"

Eckstein then told about taking supper with the family on Tuesday night and afterwards of his arrest. When he got to jail the witness said he protested against being locked up, when he heard a voice from another cell calling: "Jesus! don't be afraid, they've got me, too."

"I wanted very much to go to the funeral, but Tom said he never could face it. Then all night long he used to cry, 'Oh, Mabel!' 'Oh, Mabel!' 'Don't I wish I could die with you.' Then he asked me if I didn't think it nice to die. He repeatedly said, about the funeral, that he couldn't face it."

About 5:30 in the afternoon he fell asleep, and about 4:50 he woke up and thought he heard Tom snoring. Then he heard a sound like a man having hemorrhages, and he knew something was wrong. He rapped with his tin cup, but it was 5:30 before the sergeant came. When he asked him to look into the cell he at first refused, but when he finally entered he found Tom had cut his throat.

On cross-examination, Eckstein said he slept at the Bechtel home on October 27, he and Mabel occupying the same room. He said that at one time Mabel went driving with another man, and that her mother said: "Make all the money you can out of him." Eckstein said that at another time he had used profane language when he refused to take her uptown. He admitted telling her: "Mabel, if you keep on tantalizing me like this I will be in the grave, but if you do not take care you will get there before me."

"Did you strike, threaten and even bite Mabel because she did not like you and because she went with other men?"

Eckstein did not give a direct answer to this question, saying: "I did not call it quarreling. I was merely giving her advice."

Miss Hilda Dreisbach, who lives next door, testified that she retired at 1:20 a. m. on October 25, the night Mabel Bechtel is supposed to have been murdered. She did not hear dogs barking. Neither did she hear a carriage drive up to the rear of the Bechtel home.

Sylvester Heilrich testified that he had engaged Tom Bechtel to cut corn for him on October 26 and 27. He said Tom cut his hand, but did not bandage it. This, the defense claims, accounts for the blood spots on Tom's clothing.

After these witnesses had been disposed of the battle of experts began. Dr. John Lear, a biological expert of Muhlenberg College, testified to finding human blood on the ingrain carpet, bolsters and sheets from Tom's bed, wash rag, two aprons, Mabel's stockings, skirts, waist, undervest, on the grooved head of the hatchet, Tom's overalls, wall paper and on five of the cellar steps. Efforts, he said, had been made to wash the stains from the ingrain carpet and bolster. On cross-examination he said it was impossible to tell the age of blood. In the examination of this witness the defense was assisted by Dr. Alvin Davidson, professor of chemistry at Lafayette College, who tried to attack Dr. Lear's methods of blood examination. Dr. Lear said he used three methods—the microscopical, chemical and biological or Bordet method. This is the first time, he said, that the biological or Bordet method has ever been tried in a murder case in this country.

ASA S. BUSHNELL DEAD
Former Governor of Ohio Succumbs to Attack of Apoplexy.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—Former Governor Asa S. Bushnell, of Springfield, O., who was stricken with apoplexy last Monday, after witnessing the ceremonies attending the inauguration of Governor Herrick, died at the Grant hospital. The end came peacefully. His wife and family, who were summoned from Springfield when he was first stricken, had been in almost constant attendance at his bedside, and were with him at the last.

The body was taken to Springfield for burial.

Former Governor Bushnell was born at Rome, Oneida county, N. Y., September 16, 1834. He came to Ohio with his parents when 11 years of age, residing first at Cincinnati and since 1851 at Springfield. He served in the Civil War, being mustered out with the rank of captain.

In 1885 Mr. Bushnell was chairman of the Republican state committee. He was nominated by acclamation for lieutenant governor in 1887 by the state Republican convention, but declined the honor on account of pressing private business interests. Mr. Bushnell was one of the four delegates-at-large from Ohio to the national Republican convention at Minneapolis in 1892.

He served two terms as governor of Ohio, being elected in 1895 and re-elected in 1897.

Two weeks ago Mr. Bushnell divided $750,000 among members of his family as a New Year's gift.

BRIDESMAID ODDLY SLAIN
Wedding Guest Shot Through His Hand into Her Brain.

Connellsville, Pa., Jan. 18.—Mary Mehallick, 14 years old, of Summit Mines, two miles from here, was shot in the head and instantly killed by John Hudock. The young girl, in company with Joe Mehallick and his bride, were returning from Connellsville, where she had acted as bridesmaid at the wedding. The men of the party began to celebrate by firing revolvers after leaving the city limits, and continued all the way to the Mehallick home. Hudock, who boards at the Mehallick house, after firing his revolver, jumped into the carriage, and remarking that his pistol was empty, put his hand over the muzzle and pulled the trigger. The ball passed through his hand and penetrated Mary Mehallick's forehead, killing her instantly. Hudock was arrested, charged with murder, although he protested that the shooting was accidental.

Miners' Union in Session.
Indianapolis, Jan. 18.—What promises to be a most interesting convention of the United Mine Workers of America convened in this city. The thing that makes the outlook for the convention more interesting than ordinarily is the fact that within the last two months there has been apparently a preconcerted movement on the part of several of the operators to cut wages at the rate of 10 cents a ton. A conflict between operators and miners seems probable.

Governor Murphy Appoints a Judge.
Trenton, N. J., Jan. 19.—Governor Murphy sent to the senate the name of William H. Vredenburg to succeed himself to special judge of the court of errors and appeals.

The test of time is what tells the tale. "A new broom sweeps clean" but will it wear well is what interests most. The public soon find out when misrepresentations are made and merit alone will stand the test of time. Bellefonte people appreciate merit and many months ago local citizens make the statements which follow unless convinced that the article was just as represented? A cure that lasts is the kind that every sufferer from kidney ills is looking for.

James Rine of High street employed in the planing mill, says: "I can speak as highly now of Doan's Kidney Pills as I did years ago and my case is pretty good evidence that the cures made by them are not temporary. I have not had any of the severe pain in my back since I used Doan's Kidney Pills while before I could not put on my shoes and could hardly drag myself around. Though I have had slight touches of backache it never amounted to much. I have recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to hundreds of people and I know of those who have had the greatest relief from suffering by using them. I can say they are reliable and permanent in their effects."
