THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

Tonight the breach of promise suit. W. V. Larimer is able to be about again after a slight attack of quinsy. Philipsburg trolley cars made the through trip to Morrisdale on Thursday. Mrs. J. Hunter Kuisely is quite ill of erysipelas at her home on east Howard street. Gen. James A. Beaver has been re-appointed as a member of the State Board of Agriculture. Rev. Victor Royer preached at the revival meeting in the Methodist church in this place on Monday evening. New lights and signs at the entrance to the Brockerhoff house give that hostelry quite a metropolitan appearance now. The Academy basket ball team played State Wednesday night, at the College and were defeated by the score of 40 to 7. One of the features of the local teachers institute at Snow Shoe last week was an elocutionary recital by Miss Willis, of Lock Haven.

Miss Gentzel, Miss Carrie Miller and Miss Martha Miller, of Pleasant Gap, assisted the Zion band in a concert at Centre Hall on Saturday night. P. F. Keichline has purchased the Stover property on Willowbank street and will be his own tenant hereafter. Peter is getting himself fixed up for councilmanic honors. There was another progressive enclure party in St. John's Catholic hall last night and besides the pleasure usually afforded by the games there was a sauerkraut lunch. Mrs. G. W. Lingle is quite ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James Clark, in this place. Mrs. Lingle was formerly a resident of Beech Creek, but came here last fall to make her home with Mrs. Clark. It is a fact worthy of notice that all winter long Tuesday has been the coldest day of the week. It has also been noticeable that after every snow it has blown and drifted. John M. Dale Esq. and W. Harrison Walker Esq. will defend Geo. R. Meek in the breach of promise suit tonight. Col. Newton, of Boston, will represent Miss Snyder, the prosecutrix. Wm. Miller, who has so faithfully filled the position as warehouse man at the C. R. R. of Pa. station in this place, has been promoted to baggage master and express messenger. George Waite Jr. of Bellefonte, and Miss Sadie Gray, of Milesburg, were married at the Methodist parsonage in Milesburg, on Wednesday evening, by the Rev. Wharton. Bellefonte castle K. G. E. have offered a reward of $15 for the finding of the body of Edward Garret, who was drowned in Beech Creek, several weeks ago. He was a member of the local Castle. The stork was flying about on Saturday and left the dearest little boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Runkle in the Exchange. And it is just a little bit dearer than any other child on earth, because it is their first born. Miss Helen Crissman, of Thomas street, one of the teachers in the Bellefonte schools, chaperoned a sleighing party, made up mostly of her own scholars on Saturday afternoon. They made a very pleasant trip to Pleasant Gap. Among the new advertisements that appear in this issue is the professional card of John M. Keichline Esq. whose collection office and law dispensary has always been noted for the prompt and faithful attention given to the business entrusted to it. A party of men are still searching along the banks of Beech Creek for the body of Edward Gehret, who was caught in the ice jam near the mouth of Hayes Run and drowned nearly two weeks ago. Small hope of finding him before spring, however, is entertained. The Quaker social which the Reformers held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Kaup, east of town, on Tuesday evening, was a great success. After meeting at Mingle's store the guests were all bailed out in sleds and the fun they had while there will not be forgotten soon. Thomas J. Sexton Jr. who read law in the O. B. & O. offices here, and since his admission to the Centre county bar has been practicing in this place, will leave for St. Mary's tomorrow. He expects to associate in business with Francis A. Hanber, a leading attorney of that place. Miss Hazel Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Johnson, of Spring street, gave a sleighing party for a number of her young friends on Tuesday afternoon. With Mr. Johnson as the driver and Mrs. Coxy as chaperone they spent a hilarious afternoon speeding over the snow. During February and March a series of basket ball games are to be played by the Academy and Bellefonte athletic club teams. Each Thursday evening at 8:15 the game will be called in the armory of Co. B and the rivalry between the two teams is certain to make the series decidedly interesting.

THE CARPENTERS AND JOINERS BANQUET.—Short, merry and full of good cheer were the hours spent Tuesday evening at the first annual banquet of local union 1190, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America. It was served in the dining room of the Brockerhoff house which is admirably adapted for such events and about two artistically arranged tables covers were laid for ninety-one guests. Many of the allied tradesmen, as well as quite a coterie of the representative men in other walks of life in the town were present. Smith's orchestra played while deft waiters served the various courses of the menu and when "coffee and cigars" was reached a perfect torrent of oratory broke forth. Mr. P. H. Gherity was the toastmaster and his long experience at those delightful "fremen's smokers" served him well in keeping the spirit of good cheer and comradery uppermost. Responses were made by Burgess W. Harrison Walker, Hon. John G. Love, Col. D. F. Fortney, Col. E. R. Chambers, Dr. M. J. Locke, Ellis L. Orvis Esq., J. C. Meyer Esq., Capt. H. S. Taylor, Hon. James Schofield, Samuel Donahy, Dr. M. A. Kirk, W. L. Steele, Wm. P. Kuhn, J. K. Johnston and W. C. Cassidy. It was after midnight when the banquet ended and it was unanimously voted the most successful affair of the kind ever held in the town. It was arranged by the strongest of the local trades unions and was pretentious accordingly. The committee of 1190 that was charged with the successful carrying out of the banquet was composed of J. L. Dunlap, H. S. Miller, Henry Gaulk, Alfred Thomas and Samuel Covert.

There is an epidemic of typhoid fever at West Milton. Small-pox is spreading in parts of Lycoming county. Tonight the famous breach of promise suit will be tried. There are scarlet fever cards on ten houses in Philipsburg. An effort is being made to have a mail clerk put on the 1:05 train on the Bald Eagle valley so as to afford better mail facilities for points between Lock Haven and Tyrone. On Thursday last, January 25th, Miss Elizabeth Shipley and Mr. W. B. Potter were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Shipley, in Union township. Philipsburgers immediately upon learning of the disaster that befell Chas. C. Hess, through the burning of his barn, stock and crops, raised over $500 for him by popular subscription. The Lock Haven Normal basket ball team will play the Academy champions here on Saturday night. The game will be called at 8:15 in the armory and something exciting may be expected. Logan Grange, at Pleasant Gap, will hold their thirtieth anniversary Feb. 13th, 1904, at 2 P. M. Prof. Surface of State College, Hon. Leonard Rhone, of Centre Hall, and others will deliver addresses. The public is cordially invited. During the past three weeks the New York Central railroad company has added about 25 brakemen and other railroaders to the number employed on the Beech Creek division, the majority of whom have come from a distance and will reside with their families at Jersey Shore. Miss Margaret Schreckengast, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schreckengast, of Tylerstown, was married on Thursday to Mr. Wesley Hosterman, of Woodward, the ceremony having been performed at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. Wetzel, of Rebersburg. They expect to make their future home in Johnstown. G. W. Furey M. D., of the University of Michigan and the Will's Eye hospital, Philadelphia, has opened an office in Bellefonte. His practice is limited to diseases of the eye, ear, nose and throat and chronic disease of the alimentary canal. He can be consulted at the Brockerhoff house Saturday to Monday of each week. "How to Set the Table," is the title of a very interesting little booklet by Mrs. Rorer, the well-known authority on things in the household, that is being sent out by Mr. Ira D. Garman, jeweler, of 101 S. 11th St. Philadelphia. While the booklet contains many useful hints to the housekeeper it is really designed to display the Wallace flat silver that Mr. Garman handles. On Monday evening fast line west ran into an empty engine and cabin car about one hundred yards east of the Tyrone station. Fireman W. W. Fetzel, of Harrisburg, had just finished eating his lunch in the cabin when the crash came. He was thrown under the debris and killed. Fast line was over an hour late and ran into the engine and cabin while it was crossing from one track to another. In the Methodist church there are great things these days. The revival which Rev. John A. Wood, the pastor, is conducting is crowded night after night and the converts number one hundred and seventeen. Last Sunday morning Rev. J. Ellis Bell, presiding elder of the Altoona district, preached a splendid sermon preparatory to the missionary collection. Rev. Victor Royer was the orator on Monday evening and he certainly is a first class evangelist. Rev. Bowman, of Williamsport, preached on Tuesday evening and on Sunday morning an opportunity will be given to those desiring to join the church on probation. Master Edward Armsby was host at quite a novel party at their home on Linn street, Friday evening, when he entertained Virginia Dale, Marie Reese, Daniel Clemson, Frederick Clemson, Robert Walker, Robert Meyer, John Love, Jack Dale, Orvis Keller, Samuel Gray, and Hugh Reber. After feasting the children's eyes with a very amusing magic lantern display the evening was closed with a feast of other things that sent the guests home happy indeed. Two YOUNG MEN TO LEAVE.—It will be in the nature of a surprise to our readers in this locality to learn that within a few weeks Mr. Robert Morris, for seven years resident manager of the Morris line and stone operations here and lately in charge of the same properties for the American Co. and Mr. Howe Stevens, who has had charge of the kilns built by his father up Buffalo Run and later absorbed by the American, will leave Bellefonte to accept positions in other places. Mr. Stevens has gone to Tyrone to become his father's private secretary. Mr. Morris will go to Columbia, South Carolina, where he will engage in the ballast and furnace stone business for himself. The departure of these two young men will be regretted by a large circle of friends, for they were connected with one of the town's largest business enterprises and held correspondingly important places in the business and social life of this community.

THE NEW PHOENIX STATION ON A TRIAL RUN.—The tax payers of Bellefonte will be interested onlookers during the three months' trial that is to be given the new Phoenix pumping station. After considerable repairs to the wheel, readjustment of the line shafts, boxings, etc., it was started to work regularly on Saturday morning and has been running regularly since. Up to yesterday the pump was making about forty-two strokes per minute, the equivalent of 1,440,000 gallons of water by the meter delivered to the reservoir every twenty-four hours. On Sunday evening the upper alarm bell at the reservoir sounded the warning of "too fall" for the first time in six months and no scarcity of water has been noted anywhere. The water in Logan's branch had not been more than normal at any time since the start until yesterday it fell very considerably because of the extreme cold water freezing up the little feeders. As a result of this the pump had to be cut down to 39 strokes per minute, or at the rate of 1,286,000 gallons per day. Even at this rate, if it can be maintained, more water will be sent to the reservoir than the steam pump averaged over a three month's trial. Just what the outcome of the experiment with the new pump will be is hard to conjecture, but it seems certain; now that by some arrangement, even if it does not do all the work all the time, it can be made the means of a great annual saving to our tax-payers. COUNCIL HAS SHORT MEETING.—Members Reynolds, Fenlon, Jenkins, Whitaker, Kirk and Wise were present at the meeting of council on Monday evening. Dr. Kirk was called upon to preside in the absence of president Cunningham and the business was transacted as follows: There was some controversy and discussion over the correction of the minutes which Col. Reynolds claimed were all right in words but did not express the exact meaning of his motion relative to the replacing of the old water wheel at the water works. John N. Lane appeared and asked for a reduction of his water taxes. Mrs. O. Atwood was represented by district attorney N. B. Spangler, who asked for damages for her horse and cow that were killed by falling on the ice in an alley near her home. It was decided to put meters on all consumers of water for mechanical purposes and thirty-two new ones were ordered for that purpose. Col. Reynolds announced that he was ready to turn over the new Phoenix pumping station for the three months trial as per the agreement and the clerk of council was instructed to make a minute of it. After some discussion of the water ordinance and the approval of the following bills the body adjourned: R. J. Strohm Lose has secured a lucrative position as a draftsman in a ship building yard at Baltimore. The month of February will have three legal holidays—Lincoln's birthday on the 12th, election day on the 16th and Washington's birthday on the 22nd. News Purely Personal. Jay Bricker, of Half-moon, was a Bellefonte visitor on Tuesday. County Sup't. C. L. Gramley was a Bellefonte visitor on Saturday. H. C. Valentine, of Beaver Falls, was an arrival in town on Wednesday morning. P. J. McDonald, of Unionville, was in town doing duty as a juror on Monday and Tuesday. James C. Gilliland, of Oak Hall, was in town on Wednesday attending to a little business. Peter Collins Esq., of St. David's, spent last week visiting his sister, Miss Sallie, in this place. Mrs. D. H. Hastings and Mrs. Frank McFarlane were arrivals from Harrisburg, on Saturday morning. Miss Mary Lose and Edna Kaup, of Lock Haven, were guests of Miss Bess Brouse, of Thomas street, over Sunday. Miss Nettie Cook, of State College, spent the short vacation between the Semesters with her parents in this place. William Tressler drove down from his home at Fillmore on Monday to attend to some business for the Meyers estate. Mrs. A. S. Garman, of Tyrone, spent Monday night with relatives in this place; returning to her home on Tuesday afternoon. J. J. Tressler, of Roalsburg, was in town on Monday attending to some business relative to his father's estate, which he is looking after as administrator. J. H. Neidigh, of State College, spent Saturday in Bellefonte attending to some legal matters relative to his duties as administrator of his son's estate. Miss Bessie McCafferty, of east Lamb street, left on the 4:34 train Wednesday afternoon, to visit friends in Bluefield, West Va. She expects to be gone until the first of May. Mrs. Geo. Green, of Lock Haven, arrived in town Friday afternoon to spend a few days with friends here, and the Doctor came up on Monday evening to accompany her home. C. M. Sellers was down from his home up Buffalo Run, on Monday, and while he reported the sleighing good he said the roads are so full as to make passing a very difficult matter. James R. Alexander, the Sunny-side farmer, dropped in on Tuesday morning to square up for a year and talk a little hunting. It is a bad year when his crowd doesn't get a deer, but they came home last fall without one. Seymour Davis, the architect who drew the plans for the proposed changes to the Bellefonte Y. M. C. A., was in town on Saturday. He is a member of the firm of Davis Bros., of Philadelphia. Edward A. Uffington Valentine, of Baltimore, the writer whose works have lately become quite popular, is in town; having been called here by the serious illness of his father, Mr. Abram Valentine. Robert Corl, of Linden Hall, was in town on Saturday but he was so busy that he had only a moment to spare when he dropped in at this office and that was devoted to sending his label on a year ahead of the times. Mr. Joseph Leathers drove up from his home at Mt. Eagle on Tuesday; bringing his daughters along to do a little shopping. Mr. Leathers said that he had been in town since before the Holidays but that was because he had no business here. Mrs. Miles Mattern, of Buffalo Run, was in town shopping on Tuesday for the first time in many months. Mrs. Mattern broke her ankle last summer and is still suffering from the effects of it, but the serious illness of her little nephew at her own home necessitated the visit. Warren S. Ward, of Penna. Furnace, was in town on Monday and Tuesday; having come down to serve his country as a juror. Mr. Ward is in the mercantile business and is so busy at his store that he doesn't get to this place as frequently as his friends would like to see him. David L. Behrer, of Bonore, was in town on Monday afternoon attending to some business for his father. He only tarried between trains, consequently had very little time to spare when he dropped in here. We learned with pleasure, however, that his honored father has been very well during this severe winter weather. D. C. Hall was down from Unionville, on Saturday, and what he had principally to say when he dropped in here was that "I don't want to be owing the printer anything." It sounded rather strange to a person who has never heard of that particular gentleman owing anybody anything. Messrs. Jas. H. Potter and Edward L. Hoy, the men behind the desks in the Potter-Hoy Hardware Co., went to Baltimore on Friday to spend a few days with the former's brother, Geo. L., who happens to be general manager of the B. and O. and a man of considerable consequence in railroad circles. Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Homan, of Oak Hall, were in town shopping on Wednesday. While Mr. Homan is by no means an old man he said he never remembered as continuous real cold weather as we have had this winter and his memory goes back, possibly thirty turns of the big wheel of time. Mr. J. M. Ewing, of Newport, was in town Wednesday on his way to pay a short visit to his parents at State College. Mr. Ewing was raised on a farm near Fairbrook but says he knows very few of the people through there any more, because the residents have changed since he left the farm to enter the mercantile business. Mr. Henry W. McCracken, whose home in "the Glades" up in Ferguson township has been proverbial for its hospitality and about whose personality there is something so attractive that it is little wonder that he is held in such esteem, was in town on Friday to spend the night with his friends, Dr. T. C. Van Tries and family, on Spring street. W. W. Neese, of Spring Mills, whose occupation is given as a "gentleman," has been in town doing duty as a juror this week. While there is no doubt as to Mr. Neese's claim to the title they give him on the jury panel, yet we fancy that he still keeps his hand in at farming a little; if only through his sons who are farming for themselves in Gregg township. Mr. Henry Walkey, head pattern maker at the Lingle foundry, took a day off yesterday and devoted it to catching up with some little transactions that had piled up on him in consequence of his busy life. Mrs. Walkey, whose health has been so bad for a long time is not much better. She is able to be down stairs part of the day but most of that time she has to spend on a couch. William Bickel, of Mill Hall, was in town on Saturday closing up the bargain which he sold to former county treasurer, James J. Gramley's farm near Rebersburg. Mr. Bickel is rather remarkable in that he has come to be quite well off in spite of the fact that he worked at home for his invalid father until he was 27 years old without a cent of pay. Since then he hustled, has been honest and met every obligation promptly and now has a fine home near Mill Hall, a bunch of live insurance, money in the bank and a family to be proud of.

LOCAL INSTITUTE AT BOALSBURG.—The teachers of district No. 2 of Centre county will hold their local institute at Boalsburg on Feb. 5th and 6th. Sessions will begin Friday evening at 7 o'clock and continue Saturday morning and afternoon. The speakers will be Rev. A. A. Black, Rev. J. I. Stonecypher, Miss Flora Duck, Miss Beulah Fortney, Prof. C. L. Gramley, R. E. Harrison, E. K. Smith, M. E. Heberling, Gertrude Wieland, Caroline Hoy, Cordelia Acker, Edna Krumrine, Edie Snyder, W. W. Keller, Rebecca J. Moyer, John A. Young, M. N. Hartwick, Henry Hosterman, Bertha Duck, Jacob Diehl, Sophie Thompson and Dr. L. E. Kidder. A BELLEFONTE MAN THE DISCOVERER.—Edgar B. Green, formerly a resident of this place, and now superintendent of the Edison Electric light Co., of Altoona, recently discovered a means of thawing out frozen water pipes with an electrical current. It was used in a residence in that city recently and thawed out two hundred and fifty feet of service pipe in eighteen minutes. Dr. John Sebring is to occupy the house on Spring street to be vacated by Dr. M. J. Locke and the family of William Dawson will move across the street into the Sebring house. Philip Bezer will move into the Dawson house, which he purchased recently. Mr. Decker, of Zion, will move into the Kline house on Spring street to be vacated by the family of conductor John Hall.
