THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTY

—Wm Haines is making preparations to establish a meat market in Rebersburg.

—J. C. Meyer Esq. has been elected a trustee of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church.

—James Kelley, of Logan street, had a fall, on Saturday afternoon, and dislocated his left shoulder.

—Vogels minstrels will be at Garman's next Wednesday night. It is a show both large and good.

—Miss Dora Meyer is quite ill at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Meyer, of east Lamb street.

—Miss Mary Bradley has organized a new choral society, which meets once a week at the Logan engine house.

—The Baltimore fire will have no effect on the companies represented by the Frederick K. Foster agency in this place.

—Elwood Maser, a book-keeper for the B. J. telephone company was admitted to the Bellefonte hospital for treatment on —John Blanchard Esq. fell on the ice in front of his office on Saturday, striking his head in a way that left marks for several days.

—Foreman John A. Sharp, of the shirt factory, has been the victim of a very persistent boil that has demanded most of his time and attention for several weeks.

—Miss Daisy Barnes entertained the members of the Lock Haven basket-ball team at her home on west Bishop street Saturday evening.

—Vogels minstrels always were good. There is no reason to expect them to be otherwise now. They will be at Garman's next Wednesday night.

—Three car loads of matches, the property of the Penna. Match Co., of this place, were destroyed by the fire in Baltimore. Fortunately the company had them insured.

—John Guisewhite arrived home from St. Luke's hospital in Philadelphia, on Tuesday morning. He had undergone a serious operation in that institution but was able to walk from the train.

—Mrs. John F. Harrison has decided to close her home on east Bishop street for a few months and go down to Jersey Shore to stay with Mr. Harrison, who is teaching in the public schools of that place.

—Mrs. Jonathan Parsons, of Benore, has re-entered the Bellefonte hospital for treatment. She was discharged from the institution some time ago, but did not recover as rapidly as it was thought she should.

—From Saturday until Monday morning we had all kinds of weather. Saturday night the fog was so thick that air lights could not be seen on the streets half a square away. Sunday morning there was quite a sharp thunder storm and Monday morning the thermometer registered 0.

—Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Ward are very happy because on Monday a dear little girl was born to them. Arthur and Harold having grown past the age when there is likely to be an unpleasantness about the possession of playthings the "little sister" will doubtless be very welcome to them, as well.

—Henry Brown, who has partially given up the flute for the trap drums, and is proving himself quite an addition to Smith's orchestra has lately bought himself a duplex orchestra drum and say! He can turn out more little rolls now in a minute than all the bake shops in town can make in a week.

—Francis Miller, a son of Orrin Miller of east Bishop street, who is employed as an electrician by the Bellefonte Electric Co. fell in the army last Tuesday night and hurt himself quite seriously. He was up on a ladder trimming some lamps, when it was accidentally knocked from under him; causing the fall.

—At a recent meeting the State College council passed a resolution to pay the $300 necessary for the building of a suitable home for the Alpha fire company of that place, and also to furnish the council with a meeting chamber. The company had secured the donation of a lot from Mrs. James A. Bayer and council promptly came to its support.

—The thaw that set in on Saturday evening with a fog that made us all feel as if we were "in dear old Luonnua" caused the stream to rise rapidly all day Sunday. That evening there was a strong flood, which reached the danger point here before the changing temperature froze up the sources of supplying again and checked the flow.

—Joseph McMahon, lately of this place, but now connected with the Standard scale works at Beaver Falls, was married to Miss Jesse Levy in Tyrone, on Thursday evening. The ceremony was performed at the parsonage of the second Lutheran church by the Rev. Dr. A. E. Wagner. After an informal reception they left for their home to be at Beaver Falls.

—The basket ball series between the Bellefonte athletic club and the Academy teams opened in the armory Thursday night and to the surprise of every one the athletic club won by the score of 22 to 16. This is not because the Academy played poor basket ball, because it was rattling same from start to finish but the athletic club boys were just a little too fast for them.

THE SEQUEL.—Last Friday night a mock trial was held in Petriken hall for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A. The place was crowded and about $75 were realized as the net income of the entertainment.

It was nearly all impromptu and met with varying degrees of favor, according as this or that person in the audience felt in a humor.

Of course all of the persons who were there know that Jerusha Rng Perkins, nee Miss M. Snyder, was awarded a verdict of $3 98 against George R. Meek, whom she had sued for breach of promise.

Of course the case was supposed to have closed on Friday night, but that does not appear to be the end of it for this imperturbable Mrs. Jerusha Rng Perkins wants her money right away, as is shown by the following letter of the 8th.

BELLEFONTE, PENNA.
February 8th, 1904.

Mr. George R. Meek,
Bellefonte, Penna.
Sir:—In view of the favorable verdict rendered me on the evening of February 5th, I beg to call your attention to the fact that unless I receive immediate payment of the amount of such verdict, together with witnesses fee, I will institute legal proceedings to recover the same. Below I hand you statement of fees and costs in the case. Unless I receive a remittance by Saturday, February 13th, 1904, I shall proceed to recover the same.
Yours very truly,

JUDGE SMITH LAYS DOWN STRICT RULES IN CLEARFIELD COUNTY.

The following rules which Judge Allison O. Smith, of Clearfield county, has promulgated for the government of saloons and hotels, will revolutionize the liquor traffic in that county. The new official has gone after the license applicants over there with such a rod of iron that they will hesitate about violating any of them, even though they do require the bar-keepers to be minions of the law.

1. Bar rooms must be closed at 10 o'clock in the evening and remain closed until at least 6 o'clock the next morning.

2. Christmas, Thanksgiving and Decoration days, are, to some extent at least, liquor holidays and must be observed as such by licensees closing their bars and places for the sale of liquor during said days.

3. Blinds, screens, frosted glass or other devices to obstruct the view must not be used in and about bar rooms. Separate drinking rooms must be discontinued.

4. Licensees must not serve free lunch at their bars nor permit loafing, vulgarity and profanity in their bar rooms.

5. Women and children must not be allowed in bar rooms nor allowed to carry liquors away in buckets, cans or other vessels.

6. Licensees must discontinue the indiscriminate sale of liquor by the bottle and are expected by the court to do all in their power to prevent liquor from either directly or indirectly reaching minors and men of intemperate habits or any other persons to whom sales of liquor are prohibited by law.

7. Bar keepers employed by licensees must be citizens of the United States and men of temperate habits and good moral character, able to read, write and speak the English language and must be familiar with the laws governing the sale of liquor in Pennsylvania and with the regulations of this court in regard thereto.

8. Hotels must not be used as local political headquarters and all political discussions in bar rooms and treating therein in the interest of candidates should not be allowed.

MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR EDWARD GARRET.—On Sunday at 11 o'clock a large concourse of people gathered in the Methodist church at Mill Hall to pay tribute to the memory of Edward Garret, who was drowned by the breaking up of an ice gorge on Beech Creek, near the mouth of Hayes' run, several weeks ago. His body has not been found and little hope is entertained of recovering it before spring.

The services were under the direction of the Mill Hall castle K. G. E. and a party of Eagles went down from this place to participate in them. There were J. Kennedy Johnson, William Kuhn, Thomas Hasel, Samuel Hasel, Jacob Marks, David Barlett, James Schofield, George Hollobaugh and Christ Young.

After the services the Bellefonte Eagles visited the grief-stricken widow and while there vice chief Christ Young presented her with a check covering the death benefit paid by the society to the bereaved of its members.

TODAY AT STATE COLLEGE.—Today at The Pennsylvania State College will be one of more than ordinary interest because the trustees, faculty and students of that institution have made rather elaborate arrangements for the observance of the ninety-fifth anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln.

A special train will leave this place at 8:30 over the Bellefonte Central railroad, arriving at the College in time for the exercises which will open in the auditorium at 10 o'clock.

Returning the train will leave the College at 12 o'clock noon, arriving here in time to connect with trains east and west over the Pennsylvania R. R. The program has been announced as follows:

1. Invocation, by Professor Gill.
2. The Lord's prayer—Chant.
3. Anthem—To Thee, Oh Country, great and free.
4. Oration—Abraham Lincoln, by the Hon. John Patton, former U. S. Senator from the State of Michigan.
5. Battle Hymn of the Republic.
6. (a) Lincoln the Man, by Wade H. Barnes, (b) Lincoln the Politician, by Calvin H. Waller, (c) Lincoln the President, by John D. Elder.
6. America—My Country, 'tis of Thee.

—Charley Haynes is expected home from Beaver Falls tomorrow. He has resigned his position with the Standard scale company because he doesn't like it out there.

—The Grand Army men at Unionville will celebrate Washington's birthday anniversary with a big post dinner.

—A wreck on the Northern Central delayed the Lewisburg passenger Monday. It was nearly four hours late in arriving here.

—The ice gorge in the river at Jersey Shore broke up on a twenty foot flood on Sunday and went out without doing any damage.

—The Pennsylvania State College basket ball team played at Williamsport last night and tonight will play the Ninth regiment team at Scranton.

—Yeager and Davis great sacrifice sale of shoes is still going on and crowds of people are leaving their store every day with bundles of bargains in their arms.

—The Daniel Snyder house near Salona was completely destroyed by fire Tuesday morning. The house was occupied by Oscar Knapp, who lost all of his furniture.

—There is a case of small-pox at Philipsburg now. It is a colored man named Harris who came to that place from Clearfield and stopped at John Delige's place where his condition was discovered.

—Geo. Walker, of Lumar township, Clinton county, made a trip through the western part of the State recently and brought home with him nine head of short-horn cattle that he bought for breeding purposes.

—The first big sale of the season is booked for March 8th at Hiram Lee's on the Milliken farm near Nigh bank. As Mr. Lee is going to move West everything will be sold and he has fine stock and implements.

—Sam McClure, a son of James I. McClure, of this place, had a thrilling experience in a Pittsburgh fire one night last week. His boarding house, 342 north Craig street, caught fire and with two other boarders he only escaped by jumping from the porch roof in his night clothes. Mrs. Anna Yerker, who owned the house, was rescued by her sons who let her down from a rear porch by a rope.

—William P. Brew, whose connection with the firm of Woolston & Brew, mechanical engineers of 152 West 65th St., New York city, is well-known here, announces that their firm has opened sales rooms and storage departments for automobiles. Of course it is not likely that Bellefonters will have much need of room for storing their automobiles, but the notice is published to inform Mr. Brew's friends of the fact that he is branching out in business.

—Grand opera is something new for Bellefonte, yet there is a company booked to sing at Garman's tomorrow, Saturday night. Leoncavallo's masterpiece, "Pagliacci" and the garden and prison scenes from "Faust" will be sung. Miss Estelle Ward, prima donna, Miss Jane Boyd Hard, contralto, Miss Maria Rinaldi, E. Alfred Danielsen, tenor, Frances Motley, basso, and Howard Wilson baritone will sing the leading roles. The production is under the musical direction of George Lynding.

—Tickets are now on sale for the series of University Extension lectures which Mr. E. L. S. Horsburgh is to deliver in this place during February. Enough has already been said about Mr. Horsburgh's prominence as a lecturer and educator to make it a work of supererogation to say more than that we hope no one will miss the opportunity his coming presents. There will be six lectures, on the age of Elizabeth, as follows: "Life and Manners of Court and Society," "The Problem of the Poor," "The Hero as Buccaneer," "The Invincible Armada," "The Climax of the Renaissance," "Shakespeare and Spenser."

—Recorder J. C. Rowe has leased the Joseph house on Curtin street now occupied by Mrs. J. L. Kurtz and will bring his family here from Philipsburg to take possession of it by March 1st. J. Kyle McFarlane has rented Monroe Armour's house on east Linn street and will move into it on April 1st. Mr. Armour will reside with the McFarlanes and his daughter, Miss Louise, will make her home with her aunts, Mrs. Miller and Miss Armour. The house now occupied by the McFarlanes on Willowbank street has been leased by E. C. Rerick. John P. Harris, Jr. and his family, who have been spending the winter at the Harris home on Linn street, are going to housekeeping in Unionville in the spring.

—When the Vogel minstrels opened in Pittsburgh last September the Gazette of that city said: "The Electric Velour," the title of the setting of the first part, is scenic with electrical effects. The first part differed little from the regular procedure of minstrel shows. The jokes were new and wholesome, while the songs throughout were well rendered and encored many times. George W. Kerr is interloctor and with Lew Benedict and Arthur Rigby, furnish their share of the fun. Joseph Egan and George Christopher are the artistic buck and wing dancers. The lyric tenor of Harry Leighton pleased the audience as it has done for many years past. The solos and choruses were well rendered, with precision and plenty of volume. The novelties are no less pleasing than the minstrel part. Among the specialties are the great Knetzer, who performs marvelous ambidextrous tricks with clubs and hoops; Arthur Rigby, in good monologues and the Melrose troupe of acrobats. A large and enthusiastic audience filled the Empire last night.

ABRAM S. VALENTINE.—Abram Sharpless Valentine died at the home of Miss Emily Natt, his sister-in-law, on Curtin street, at an early hour Friday morning. He had been ill for several months and his death was due to a decline that neither physician's skill, nor most patient nursing could circumvent.

He was one of the few remaining representatives of the second generation of the family that will ever be remembered as the pioneers of the iron industry in this section. They came to Bellefonte from Chester county in 1815 and were direct descendants of Robert Valentine, who died in England in 1650. He was the son of Abram S. Valentine Sr. His birth in this place on October 16th, 1835, made him one of our oldest residents and while his home had not been continuously in Bellefonte the best years of his life, his greatest energies and all of his active business engagements were exerted here for the benefit of this community. Aside from his life long connection with the varying fortunes of the Valentine iron enterprises, he was one of the incorporators of the Bellefonte glass works in 1867, and the year following, with his three brothers, he incorporated the Valentine Iron Co., which was later removed to Williamsport.

Responding to the first call for troops in '61 he left with the Bellefonte Fencibles, serving with distinction under Capt. John Mitchell.

July 12th, 1864, he married Miss Elma Uffington Natt, a niece of Rev. George Natt, the first rector of St. John's Episcopal church in this place. She survives him with their three sons: Charles G., of San Francisco Cal., Arthur L., of Crafton, Pa., and Edward A. Uffington, of Baltimore, Md., who has recently become quite noted as an author. He also leaves two brothers, Evan M., of Philadelphia, and Harry C., of Bellefonte, and three sisters, Mrs. Rebecca V. Pugh, Misses Clara and Mary of Bellefonte.

Funeral services were held at Miss Natt's home on Sunday afternoon with the Rev. George I. Brown, of the Episcopal church, officiating and Rev. Joseph Harrison, of Windber, of the Society of Friends, assisting. Interment was made in the Friends burying ground in this place.

Mr. Valentine was a gentleman whose death is a matter of more than ordinary moment, for while the later years of his life were not intimately associated with the town the earlier ones were so full of activity and counted for so much in the formative period when its repute for stability and character of citizenship was being built up that we owe him a debt that will best be repaid in the memory that he was a useful man.

MISS HANNA HARTSWICK.—A life-long and very popular resident of Stormtown passed away when Miss Hanna Hartswick died. Her demise occurred at the home of her sister Mrs. Mansell, wife of the former Mayor of Williamsport, in that city, on Friday, after a short illness of heart trouble. With her sister Henrietta she had been in the habit of spending most of the winter months in Williamsport, returning to Stormtown in the spring, there to re-open the little millinery store they have conducted for many years.

She was a daughter of the late "Judge" John Hartswick and a woman of extraordinary qualities. Her entire life was given up in devotion and service to the afflicted of her own and other families about her. She was a woman who will be greatly missed in the community where she was so greatly beloved. For twenty-four years she served the people of Stormtown and vicinity as post-mistress, so that it is no surprise that her death was the cause of sorrow to many.

Her remains were brought to her old home in this county on Saturday and interment was made Sunday morning.

OTTO.—Died at Kermoor, Pa., Jan. 22nd, 1904, Francis Lydia Bell, youngest daughter of David and Ellen Otto, aged 12 years, and 6 months.

A second time in a little more than a half a year has the grim messenger entered this home; one less in the circle below, one more in the home above. One more golden link in the chain draws the waiting ones heavenward. Through faith these stricken friends are enabled to say, "This is not death, this is transition."

Francis had no fear of the dark valley, and we can take consolation when we think of the trials, sorrows, and temptations she has escaped by being recalled to early in life. The value of Christian faith has been beautifully displayed by the fortitude of these parents in their double affliction, and it also has been clearly evinced that this light, apparently put too soon, still shines, and is proving a blessing in disguise to her associates.

"Meet me there."

Interment in the New Millport cemetery, Rev's Ranyan and Hepler officiating. A FRIEND.

—John Bouse, formerly a resident of Clintondale, died at Johnsonburg on Tuesday. Deceased was 65 years old. His remains were taken to his old home for interment yesterday afternoon.

—Phillip Wolf, age 74 years and 6 months, died at his home near Tylersville, Clinton county, at noon on Saturday. His death was caused by paralysis.

—F. W. Crider, who has been confined to his home for the past three weeks with a severe attack of the grip and other complications, was able to be out yesterday for a short time.

—Grand opera at Garman's tomorrow night.

—Lyon & Co. are advertising their annual clearance sale.

—A most impressive and gratifying sight was witnessed in the Methodist Episcopal church on Sabbath morning when Rev. John A. Wood received into the church on probation eighty-two persons as a result of the revival he has been conducting for the past five weeks. The meeting is still in progress and well attended. The converts number one hundred and thirty.

News Purely Personal.

—Miss Lula Johnson, of Hubersburg, is the guest of Miss Stella McCoy, of west High street, this week.

—Mr. Samuel Garner and his daughter Miss Mildred, of State College, were in town shopping on Saturday.

—Arthur Robb is home from Wilkensburg to visit his mother, Mrs. Erastus Robb, of Water street, for a few days.

—Phil D. Waddle spent Sunday night in Tyrone, having gone to see his brother-in-law, Z. B. Gray, who is quite ill.

—Miss Louise Gessner is in Johnstown for a two week's stay at Mrs. Hager's on Lincoln street. She went Monday.

—Mr. George Noll, of Milesburg, dropped in on Monday, to see that he keeps at his usual distance of about a year ahead of us.

—Boyd Musser, a son of William Musser, of east Lamb street, having secured a position in Altoona, left for that place on Monday.

—Mrs. William Nichols, of Philadelphia, was in town over Sunday attending the funeral of her uncle, the late Abram S. Valentine.

—Miss Lydia Dunkle went to Philipsburg on Tuesday for an extended visit at the home of her sister, Mrs. P. F. Zong nee Martha Dunkle.

—Joseph Lose has returned to his home in this place from Elk county, where he has been engaged on some heavy electrical work.

—Miss Ella Montilus returned to her home in Curwensville yesterday noon after a two week's visit with Mrs. John A. Wood, of Linn street.

—Oliver Hazel, lately in charge of the shipping department of the Vintena Co., has gone to Philadelphia to travel for a wholesale house.

—After being at home for a week or so because of indisposition Will Van Tries has returned to his work as an instructor at Trenton, N. J.

—James Furst departed for Aiken, South Carolina, on Monday morning, expecting to spend some time there for the benefit of his health.

—Lloyd Aund, for some time a clerk in the Racket store, resigned his position and left for his home in Milroy on Wednesday morning.

—Col. and Mrs. W. Fred Reynolds departed for Washington, on Wednesday morning, to attend the Army and Navy reception at the White House.

—Henry Sampsel, of Pleasant Gap, was in town bright and early yesterday morning. He says there are millions in it—the Bellefonte fish hatchery.

—Miss Margaret Sechler returned to Baltimore on Monday morning and when she left here she was all unconscious of the terrible fire that was raging in that city.

—Geo. W. Gates was up from Nittany on Saturday; taking advantage of the first moderate day since last November to attend to a little business here and call on a few of his friends.

—Mrs. Rash Williams Sr. is visiting friends and relatives in his former home. They have been living for years at Los Angeles, Cal. She is a sister-in-law of S. H. Williams, of Willowbank street.

—Banker Wm. B. Mingle, of Centre Hall, who gets over to town so rarely now-a-days as to be almost a stranger when he does get here, spent Friday attending to business that needed his attention here.

—On Saturday morning Jacob Bottorf and Mr. A. J. Tate were among the arrivals in town from Lemont. Both are prominent residents in that community and men whose lives have always been on the side of right.

—William Speer, a son of former county treasurer William T. Speer, spent Sunday with his father in this place. He is head of one of the departments in Horne's store in Philipsburg and looks as if the work agreed with him.

—William Allen, who we all used to call Billy when he was master mechanic at the Valentine iron works, has been in town this week visiting at the home of his friend and successor, councilman Joseph Wise. He is located at York now.

—D. H. Bottorf, of College township, was in town on Monday, and thinking we were in need of a little money, dropped in to leave some, but he had no sooner done so than in popped Dr. John Bilger with a bill that took it all away again.

—John G. Carson, of Buffalo Run, was in town this evening; having missed connections with his train for home. He was returning from a trip to Lewisburg and Sunbury. At the latter place he visited the Odd Fellows home for orphans.

—Mr. James B. Spangler, of Tusseyville, was in town on business on Friday. Mr. Spangler owns a good farm over in Potter township but spends most of his time buying and selling cattle. He says those mysterious surveyors are working over that way and have some of their farms pretty badly cut up.

—Mr. and Mrs. Will Rerick, of Niagara Falls, who spent part of their honeymoon with relations in and about this place, continued their journey on Tuesday. Mrs. Rerick was formerly Miss Lena Kepler, of Baltimore, and visited frequently at the Peters home on west High street. Mr. Rerick is a son of L. C. Rerick, of Benner township.

—Dr. and Mrs. Edward H. Harris are visiting at the home of the former's parents on Linn street. Dr. Ed is not entirely well of the typhoid fever, by which he has been incapacitated since Thanksgiving and is here recuperating. Since their arrival last week a number of entertainments have been given in honor of Mrs. Harris, as this is her first visit here since her marriage in November.

—Col. and Mrs. W. F. Reeder arrived home from Washington, D. C., yesterday morning. Mrs. Reeder had been visiting in the Capitol for several weeks but the Colonel only went down on Monday to attend the Army and Navy reception.

—Mrs. Joseph E. Borches, of Knoxville, who had been here visiting her mother for a month or more left for her home in the South yesterday morning.

OPEN GRANGE MEETINGS.—Centre county Pomona grange has arranged to hold several open meetings throughout the county in the near future. The first one will be held in the grange hall at Pleasant Gap, Saturday afternoon, Feb. 13th, to which the public is invited. Prof. H. A. Surface, state economic zoologist, and others will make the speeches.

There will also be an open meeting of Washington grange in the church at Pine Grove on Saturday, February 20th. The afternoon session will commence at half past one o'clock. It is particularly designed for mature men and women, who are interested directly or indirectly in the advancement of the agriculturist, yet young persons and others are also invited.

There will be addresses by Mr. George Homan, Dr. H. P. Armsby, Hon. John T. McCormick, Prof. Geo. C. Watson, Prof. H. A. Surface and others. One of the topics for general discussion, and upon which several persons will speak, is the "Needs of the Farmer." This session will be followed by an evening session, which will open at half past seven o'clock. This will be particularly a musical and literary session designed to interest, entertain and instruct young persons, although older persons are also cordially invited.

GROSS—FRIEL.—To those who had noticed Mr. Edward buying furniture lately it was not so much of a surprise, but others of his friends were completely in the dark until after a very important event in that young man's life had been consummated.

The happy event took place at the home of Rev. J. Zeigler, at Snow Shoe Intercession last Thursday, when he was married to Miss Sadie Friel, a very attractive and amiable young lady of Runville.

After a short trip to Tyrone, Altoona and Bellwood they returned to make their permanent home on Valentine street, this place.

It is estimated that about two thousand people attended the various sessions of the farmers institute at Rebersburg, last Friday and Saturday.
