THINGS ABOUT TOWN AND COUNTRY

Pawnee Bill's great wild west show will be here on May 10th. Mrs. Catharine Hardesty was admitted to the Bellefonte hospital Tuesday afternoon. The horse sale at Millheim Monday attracted quite a number of persons from this place. There is but one case of small-pox about Howard now. It is that of Mrs. George Barrett. Will Rees, a son of G. W. Rees, of this place, has secured a position in the post office at Patton. Rev. W. B. Cox, the new Evangelical minister in this place, has been quarantined on account of diphtheria. Remember, the Howe moving picture show will exhibit at Garman's tomorrow night for the benefit of the Logans. Special services will be held in St. Paul's A. M. E. church of this place by the G. U. O. F. on Sunday evening. Have you secured seats for the Howe moving picture show at Garman's tomorrow night. It is the best one on the road. Harry Diehl, of this place, and Miss Pearl M. Green, of Columbus, Ohio, were married in Pittsburg on Thursday of last week. Well—for fine clothes, mail carrier Ed. Woods has Solomon "skinned to death" and don't you think Ed. don't know it either. This afternoon Susquehanna University and the Bellefonte Academy base ball team will play on the glass works lot. Admission 25cts. Ed Musser, of Millheim, was arrested for having three trout under 6 inches long in his possession and he had to pay a fine of $30 for them. In the final basket ball game of the season, last Thursday night, the Academy team defeated the Bellefonte Athletic club players by the score of 15 to 12. Monday morning was one of the kind that made you understand that the weather man still knows how to make spring weather, when he wants to. Miss Joanna Reagan, formerly of Snow Shoe, has graduated from the training school for nurses in Buffalo and is now practicing her profession in that city. Hi Henry and his famous minstrels are coming to town next Friday. Old Hi usually presents about the best there is in the minstrel line, as well as a band and orchestra far above the average. A public meeting is to be held in Clearfield town soon to talk over the advisability of having some sort of a demonstration to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the county's erection. Mrs. Isaac Mitchell, who has been ill ever since last fall, suffered a relapse on Wednesday, but happily it was only of temporary duration, and she was reported as being much improved again last evening. Miss Rebecca, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Miller, of Valentines Iron works, was married to D. M. Sharer, of Zion, on Tuesday afternoon. The ceremony was performed at the home of Rev. Mumma. The sale of the Jenkins Iron and Tool Co's properties at Howard took place on Monday. The property was knocked down to Harry Keller, attorney, presumably for Mr. John Jenkins, of Milton, at $5,900, subject to two mortgages. Joseph Gingham, a moulder at the Lingle foundry, has been very ill at his home on Willowbank street for some time. It is feared that he hurt himself internally by lifting, for on Monday he had a hemorrhage that lasted eight hours, and since that time he has had several lighter ones. A carload of machinery for the new canning factory in Howard has arrived and will soon be placed in position. Last week twenty-two bushels of seed sweet corn were received by W. H. Long for distribution among the farmers who intend growing truck for the cannery. J. August Frier, who has been doing the greater part of the work with the interesting respiration calorimeter at The Pennsylvania State College agricultural experiment station, has been granted a year's leave of absence and will go to Bonn, Germany, where similar work is being carried on. While abroad he will visit his old home in Sweden. The Centre county contingent for California departed on Wednesday. Among the tourists were Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Buddinger, of Snow Shoe; Mrs. C. T. Aikens, of Pine Grove Mills; Mrs. George C. Butz, of State College; Rev. and Mrs. John A. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Crider, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Shney, Miss Ella Twitmore and Miss Rebecca Rhoads, all of this place. The annual birthday anniversary party given by Mrs. Mary Ann Johnson at her home on Linn street, on Tuesday evening, eclipsed all of her former entertainments, no matter how elaborate. Nearly a hundred of her women friends gathered to enjoy the affair. Ceder was the caterer. Mrs. Johnson received quite a number of valuable gifts, among which was a handsome Morris chair.

CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER.

Quite a sensation was caused in this place Monday morning when it became known that Rev. Father Victor Zarek, priest in charge of St. Michael's Catholic church at Clarence, was in the county jail, charged with manslaughter. He had been brought to this place between 1 and 2 o'clock that morning by constables W. B. Hall and George Lucas. The story of the crime for which the man of the cloth was culpable under the law was circulated on the streets that day about as follows: "Andrew Sofka was a young Hungarian about 16 years of age. He was the only support of a widowed mother and was employed as a miner in the Sugar Camp mine. He was a member of Father Zarek's church at Clarence, but of late had not been attending Sunday school regularly. A week ago Sunday the priest met the boy's mother and asked her in regard to the matter. She said the boy refused to go and she could not make him attend. On last Thursday morning it is reported that the priest saw the boy playing ball in a vacant lot near his residence and taking a broom handle called the boy to him and asked him why he did not go to Sunday school. The boy gave his reasons for staying away, but they did not satisfy Father Zarek and he beat him severely. Sofka's injuries were so severe that he died on Sunday afternoon shortly after dinner. Dr. R. J. Young was the attending physician and shortly before the young man died he made a statement in which he alleged that the priest struck him thirty times over the head and shoulders and then kicked him in the intestines. Sunday afternoon a warrant was sworn out for the arrest of Father Zarek and it was placed in the hands of constable W. B. Hall who at once proceeded to the priest's house but the priest was not there. After searching the place he went to the residence of George Cachiok, a Hungarian, and there found his man. This was about 9 o'clock Sunday evening. He in company with George Lucas brought the priest to jail." This story was based largely upon the boy's ante-mortem statement and while the facts in general were true it became evident to every reasonable person that they must be greatly distorted, for where is the boy who would count the lashes he was receiving while being chastised. This improbable statement, alone, even if Father Zarek had not been known to be a man of many good qualities, would have militated against the first story of brutal inhumanity on his part. The result of the inquest that was held Monday afternoon by coroner Huff disclosed the real facts in the case. Sofka was a bad boy and had become so inorganic that his mother could do nothing with him. Whereupon she called on the priest to aid her in his correction. The broom-stick with which he is supposed to have been clubbed turned out to be nothing more than an ordinary switch such as was used in Father Zarek's school at all times. Furthermore not a single mark or any other external evidence of abuse was found on the boy's body. After holding a careful autopsy the coroner's jury rendered a verdict to the effect that Sofka had come to his death from the effects of peritonitis brought about by appendicitis. Dr. Neff, of Snow Shoe, said that the boy had had several attacks of the trouble to his knowledge. Of course it is possible, though scarcely probable, that the peritonitis could have been caused by a blow in the abdominal region of the appendix, especially if there had been adhesions there at the time it was received. AS TO THE ACCUSED MAN. While it is not the intention of the WATCHMAN to attempt a justification or defense of Father Zarek's act we feel that it is due him that the public should know all the particulars of the case. He is a man of about 35 years of age and came to the vicinity of Clarence years ago. At that time that community was rampant with lawlessness and disorder. Being a foreigner himself and also able to speak many languages fluently he soon began to wield a powerful influence over the foreign miners who swarm that region. A great church was built and something like fourteen hundred souls were gathered into it. Sunday schools were organized and day and night schools both flourished under personal supervision of the young priest, whose energies seemed to know no end in their labors for the good of his flock. We recall several pleasing talks with him when he outlined his ideals of what the foreign boys should be and the foremost of them was that he intended educating them to become "loyal, true Americans." He seemed to have a peculiar delight in helping them along and on another occasion when a train on which he was to get home was delayed in leaving this place he came to this office to telephone to some of his pupils who were being taught at night that they should wait for him, that he would surely get there in time to have part of their lessons. All of this is published, not to create sentiment for the priest, but merely to show that a man whose heart is evidently so good ought not to be condemned until he is proven guilty of something. It was only a week or more ago that he was buying balls and bats by the dozen in a Bellefonte store in order that "the poor boys" of his parish might have something to play with. And for all anyone knows Sofka might have been playing with one of these gifts at the very time he was called to book for not having properly respected his mother's wishes or his duties to the church.

HABEAS CORPUS PROCEEDINGS.

On Thursday afternoon Father Zarek was brought into court on a habeas corpus proceeding brought by his counsel A. O. Furst, to show cause why he should not be released from the custody of the law. District Attorney Spangler opened the proceedings on behalf of the Commonwealth and asked that the prisoner be released from custody. He stated that the result of the coroner's inquest and most careful investigation into the case had led him to believe that there was nothing for which the young Priest could be indicted. Judge Furst then addressed the court on behalf of his client; stating that he desired to make a full and complete statement of the case in order that the public might know the truth and become cognizant of the great injustice that has been done to father Zarek. He stated that all of the five physicians who were present at the inquest were ready to testify that there was not an external evidence of mal-treatment to be found on the boy's body, that death had been due to appendicitis, that the boy's mother had requested Rev. Zarek to help her discipline him and that such action was in entire accord with the rules of their church. In conclusion he read the verdict of the coroner's jury and asked for the discharge of the priest. The court at once made a ruling releasing Father Zarek from the custody of the sheriff and in an instant the bar of the court house was converted into a reception hall. Friends crowded about him on all sides, eager to congratulate him and assure him of their faith in his innocence. Quite a number of his fellow priests were waiting on the outside of the court house and as soon as he appeared they joined him and retired to the parish house of the Catholic church on Bishop street, where the afternoon was spent. Father Zarek returned to Clarence last evening. It is said that there is an element in the vicinity of Clarence who are antagonistic to the priest because his advent there has meant so many reforms and robbed them of a rich field of plunder hitherto found among the ignorant foreigners. Tomorrow night the Howe moving pictures will be the attraction at Garman's. They are reported to be the best of their kind on exhibition anywhere. McQuiston & Co., the carriage-makers, have a new advertisement in this issue. It is important that you see, for they offer buggies at ridiculously low figures and the McQuiston buggies are always of the best. The attraction at Garman's for Friday night, May 6th, will be Hi Henry's minstrels. It goes without saying that it is a good one, for the famous old manager and cornet virtuoso wouldn't travel with a show that apologizes need be made for. A horse owned by George W. Herr, of Salona, had to be killed as a result of a broken leg it sustained on Sunday. He had it out on a common grazing when the horse playfully ran onto an old bridge that gave way under its weight, breaking its right fore leg below the knee. Reports from Joseph Green, who with his brothers, has been running the mill at Clintondale for some time are to the effect that he is doing a fine business and turning out better flour than ever, not to mention those Plymouth Rock chickens that are his special pride and glory. With Pawnee Bill's and the Walter L. Main shows coming into Bellefonte within ten days of each other our people can prepare to witness a billing war. Every inch of blank wall will be plastered with flaming posters and where there are no such available natural bill stands temporary ones are being erected. Rev. Dr. E. J. Gray, of the Dickinson seminary at Williamsport, who recently submitted to a second operation for appendicitis, is now much improved and on the way to complete recovery, a bit of news that will be very gratifying to many WATCHMAN readers who are friends of the popular teacher and preacher. Howard W. Pletcher, formerly a student in the P. R. R. passenger service at this place, was married to Miss May Bell Schriest, of Evansville, on Saturday. Since leaving here Mr. Pletcher has been in the employ of contractor Prior as a paymaster, but he expects to accept a position as a ticket agent in the Union station at Pittsburg upon their return from the honeymoon. NOTES FROM STATE COLLEGE.—No more chance now for the "boys" at State College to upset things generally by stealing "old Bobby Barr's" watch or turning its hands back a couple of hours so that he could not ring the bell on time. We wouldn't have thanked the Senior class of our times to have shown the philanthropy that the class of 1904 now are in erecting a clock in the cupola of the College, which clock shall mark time so accurately and constantly as to preclude any discrepancy in watches, bells, etc. The clock will have four six foot dials and is costing the class eight hundred dollars, exclusive of the carpentry work given by the college, which will make the total cost about one thousand dollars. On Tuesday the executive members of the board of trustees of the college selected the site for the new building planned to accommodate at meals nine hundred students. It will be on a line and east of the main building and about opposite the physics and chemistry laboratory. The minstrel show which is becoming an annual feature in the entertainments at the college, will be given in the old chapel, Friday evening, May 6th.

DIED.—Mrs. Rebekah Thomas Burnside, wife of the late Thomas Burnside, at her home on Curtin street, Thursday, April 28th, aged 81 years, 9 months and 14 days. "Twilight and evening bell, And after that the dark! And may there be no sadness of farewell When I embark. For tho' from out our bourne of time and place The flood may bear me far, I hope to see my Pilot face to face When I have cross'd the bar." Full of years, surrounded by most loving and devoted children, the closing of Mrs. Burnside's life was peaceful and happy as ever. Tennyson hoped for himself in "Crossing the Bar" "To one who has lived eighty-one years dead seems "But as a tide that Turns again home." To say that one has lived eighty-one abundant years seems to declare the success of a life, for as Drummond expresses it "The best test of life is living." The word abundant seems especially applicable to Mrs. Burnside's life, as its pleasures were not always unmix'd with sorrows, its comforts not without cares and its many years spanned more radical experiences than we, of a later generation, can imagine. Born in the family of a country doctor, rich in ancestors and pretty daughters, she had all the pleasures then incident to such surroundings and while the ideal, healthy, unselfish, beautiful country home-life of the early nineteenth century is but hearsay to most of us it was real experience to Mrs. Burnside and doubtless laid the foundation for the kind, affectionate, charitable disposition, which combined with a characteristic wit and humor, made her the lovely woman with hosts of friends, whose companionship and hospitable home we all so much enjoyed. She appreciated the fact that to be kind is to be remembered in all the coming years! If, as is said, one's generation is declared by the general bent of the life and actions it is almost unnecessary to say that Mrs. Burnside came of a people honorable, honest, esteemed. Her grand-father Dr. John Purdie, was one of the notable men of this community in the early days of the century. Her maiden name was Rebekah Thomas, a daughter of Rev. George and Sara Purdie Thomas and she was born near Bellefonte July 13th, 1823. On Oct. 11th, 1854, she was married to Thomas Burnside, Jr., a son of the Hon. Thomas Burnside, their wedding having been celebrated at the old mountain home which was then a veritable mecca for the society of the entire county and is yet maintained in the family name. Mr. Burnside was for many years a prominent business man of this place. He died at Ironton, Mo., Nov. 7th, 1884, being at that time in charge of the general land office at that place for the United States government. Their surviving children are William, Mrs. Harry C. Valentine and Edgar T., of this place. Thomas, S. Cameron and Geo. T., died some years ago. Mrs. Burnside's brother, Col. Geo. W. Thomas, also survives. The passing of Mrs. Burnside means the loss of another of the generation that gave our town the indefinable atmosphere—charm, culture, hospitality or whatever it is—for which it has always been pre-eminent. It means more than that to many, as it is the loss of a devoted mother, a staunch and loved friend, a very gracious and desirous-to-be-true hostess and will mark the passing of a home that has many years been a most pleasant and important factor in the social life and history of Bellefonte. Funeral services will be conducted at her late home on Curtin street Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. George Israel Brown, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, of which she was a member. JOHN CARRIGAN.—Yesterday morning John Carrigan, possibly the best known character about State College, passed away, from the effects of tuberculosis, superinduced by an attack of erysipelas he suffered about three weeks ago. Deceased was about 68 years old and is survived by his widow and the following children: Arthur, John, Paul, James, Daniel and Edith. One daughter died in infancy. "Johnny," as he was most familiarly called, was a man who occupied a most unique position about the great institution of learning. Without education or special training he was endowed with a natural gift for landscape effects and to this peculiar accomplishment much of the beauty of the campus of the college is attributable. As an overseer of men he had marked ability and was regarded by the trustees of The Pennsylvania State College as one of the useful and indispensable employes about that institution. He was a member of the Catholic church. Up to the time of going to press with this edition no arrangements had been made for the funeral. JASPER W. STOVER.—One of Millheim's most prominent citizens and business men passed away at his home in that place on Sunday evening at the age of 49 years and 28 days. He had been suffering for about a week with appendicitis and an abdominal abscess when an operation was performed from the effects of which he was unable to recover. He was a son of Philip and Catharine Stover and was born in Haines township, where he spent his life until he entered a store in Millheim. Later he went into business for himself and was held in high esteem by all who knew him. Funeral services were conducted on Thursday morning and interment was made in Fairview cemetery. Miles Walker, of Cato, died after an operation in the Lock Haven hospital on Monday. He was a brother of Mrs. Daniel McCloskey, of Prosserville.

DIED OF SMALLPOX.—J. Marion Ayres

died at his home, Second and Maple streets, Philipsburg, on Sunday evening. Three weeks ago his brother George became ill with smallpox and their home was quarantined immediately. Marion and his father remained in the house to nurse George, who was in a precarious condition most of the time but is now on a fair road to recovery. Both Marion and his father contracted the disease from George and owing to his run down condition the young man was unable to survive the attack. He was a very exemplary young man, a member of the Methodist church and had many friends in Philipsburg. Mrs. ELIZA J. BATHURST.—Mrs. Eliza J. Bathurst, of Unionville, died suddenly at her home in that place on Friday morning. She was in pursuit of her domestic duties when her heart failed and she came quickly to this most estimable woman. Mrs. Bathurst was born in Union township June 9th, 1831. Before her marriage she was Eliza Ammerman. She was first married to Geo. W. Barton and later to Lawrence F. Bathurst, both of whom are dead. Surviving as her four children: Edward P., Mrs. Will Kephart, Myra and Joseph F., all of Unionville. Rev. Piper of the Methodist church officiated at her funeral on Sunday morning. Frederick, the dear little 7 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sausserman, of Water street, died at their home Sunday afternoon from the effects of exhaustion. The little fellow had had diphtheria but was thought to have been about recovered when he suddenly collapsed and died. He had been up around the house and the usual fumigating had already been done preparatory to lifting the quarantine. Interment was made privately in the Union cemetery on Monday afternoon. Mrs. John Hosterman, aged 73 years, died at her home at Wolfe's Store, on Thursday, after a long illness. Her remains were taken to Rebersburg, where services were held and interment was made. News Purely Personal. D. J. Kelley was in Tyrone on business on Tuesday. Michael Segner, of Boalsburg, was in town on business yesterday. Mrs. A. S. Garman, of Tyrone, spent Tuesday with relatives in this place. A. H. Woodward Esq., of Clearfield, was a Bellefonte visitor on Tuesday. Mrs. Henry Stickler and her family left for their new home in Beaver Falls on Tuesday. Miss Mary Ceder returned from quite an extended stay in Philadelphia on Tuesday evening. Former judge Cyrus Gordon, of Clearfield, was a visitor in town during the fore part of the week. George Cunningham left for Pittsburg, Tuesday afternoon; having accepted a position in one of the hotels of that city. Mrs. James Kellerman and her daughter, Miss Louise, returned from Philadelphia on Saturday evening. After quite an extended stay with friends in Philadelphia Mrs. Edwin F. Garman is again at her home in this place. J. L. Tressler, of Linden Hall, was one of the crowd that braved the rain yesterday to attend the horse sale in this place. Peter Collins returned to his home at St. David's, Pa., on Monday morning, after a brief visit with his sister, Miss Sarah Collins. Michael Hayes, who has been laid up most of the winter, but is beginning to look like his old robust self again, dropped in for a little chat Tuesday evening. Mrs. Sylvester Mussina, of Williamsport, was an arrival in town on Monday; having come up because of the critical condition of her cousin, Mrs. Rebecca Burnside. D. W. Holt, of Philipsburg, spent Tuesday night as a guest at the Bush house. He was in town looking after the title to some property he has lately acquired. Mrs. Elizabeth Calloway left for Philadelphia, on Wednesday morning, to be in the city where her daughter, Miss Louise, entered a hospital for treatment yesterday. S. Cameron Burnside, who was in town for a few days on account of the serious illness of Mrs. Rebecca Burnside, left for his home in Philadelphia on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. George C. Butz, of State College, joined the "westward ho" party and left for Los Angeles, Cal., on Monday. She traveled with Mrs. C. T. Aikens, of Pine Grove Mills. John Jenkins Esq., of Milton, was in town on Monday and Tuesday; having come up for the sale of the property of the Jenkins Iron and Tool Co., at Howard, in which he was interested. Mrs. Aldeia Snyder and her little daughter, who had been spending the winter with her mother, Mrs. Patsy Stewart, of Linn street, left for their home in Moscow, Maryland, on Wednesday. James R. Hughes went down to Philadelphia on business for the Academy on Tuesday. You need not be surprised if some of these many trips result in something great for our growing institution. Among the gentlemen from various parts of the county who were in town attending court and found time to make a pleasant little call at the WATCHMAN office were Calvin Crouse, of Rebersburg, and S. R. Tweed, of Walker Twp. J. A. Kelley, the Snow Shoe coal operator, was in town Monday and dropped in for a little call. You needn't be surprised if Mr. Kelley's firm has presented the Bellefonte hospital with a car load of coal some of these fine days; for they are that kind of people and the matter has been put up to them. George E. Lamb, Capt. Harry Smier, Geo. Parker and Capt. D. F. Copelin were among the Philipsburgers who arrived in town Monday afternoon. They all came over to attend court except George Lamb. He is looking after the Republican nomination for Prothonotary and he knew right well where to come to get it. Mr. and Mrs. James H. Dumbleton, of Philipsburg, were visitors in town on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Mr. Dumbleton came over to back up his boys in a little lawsuit they had here and Mrs. Dumbleton and her daughter, Mrs. Ammerman, concluded they might just as well make a family party of it, so they came along and spent the time while the men were in court visiting friends here, among whom is Mrs. D. F. Foreman, of north Spring street.

Mrs. Eleanor Meyer, widow of the late Jacob S. Meyer, of Penn township, died at her home in that place on Saturday, at the age of 76 years, 6 months and 22 days. She had been ill since 1900, suffering from the effects of a stroke of paralysis. She is survived by her one son, Jacob S. Meyer. Interment was made at Salem Reformed church Tuesday morning. While visiting at the home of Mrs. Amanda Miller, in Madisonburg, Mrs. Mary A. Deibler, of Shamokin, became ill with cystitis and peritonitis and after an illness of about two weeks passed away on Sunday. Deceased was 78 years old. Her body was taken to Shamokin for interment on Wednesday. Maude Hooverman, a daughter of J. R. and Anna Hooverman, died at the home of Daniel Engle, at Loganton, on last Friday. Deceased was just 20 years old. She was born at Millheim and her parents died when she was only a child. Interment was made at Loganton on Sunday. THE OPERATION WAS SUCCESSFUL.—Several weeks ago the WATCHMAN published an account of a remarkable operation that was performed in Dr. McGirk's sanitarium in Philipsburg by which a cyst weighing 77 pounds was removed from Mrs. John Peters, of Wallaceton. It was especially remarkable because the cyst weighed more than the lady did after it was removed. While Dr. Charles E. McGirk, the operating surgeon, stated at the time that in his opinion the patient would recover, yet it remained for time alone to reveal exactly what her condition would be. Last Friday evening she was discharged from the hospital and left for her home, entirely recovered. During the absence of Rev. Wood in California services in the Methodist church will be continued as usual. They have been partially arranged for as follows: Sunday, May 1st, Rev. J. E. Morris will preach in the morning and there will be a song service in the evening. On Sunday, May 8th, the Rev. Dr. W. A. Stevens, former pastor of the church, will occupy the pulpit morning and evening. On May 15th, Rev. A. Davidson will preach in the morning, Epworth League services in the evening. On May 22nd, Rev. Samuel Creighton will preach both morning and evening. Geo. H. Musser is offering his farm, two miles north of Millburg for sale. It contains ninety-five acres of ground, has never failing springs of water at house and barn and also a good flag-stone quarry. There are twenty five acres of fine white pine timber standing on the place. Mr. Musser will sell his stock and implements with the place, if the purchaser should want them. Here might be a bargain for some one wanting a nice little farm. POSTPONED.—The Sunday school institute that was to have been conducted in Petriken hall, in this place, on Monday, May 2nd, by Mrs. Kennedy of the state board, has been postponed for a week and the sessions will be held during the afternoon and evening of Monday, May 9th. Remember this institute is designed especially to help Sunday school workers and teachers and will be free of charge. Some oil men and capitalists are leasing lands in the neighborhood of Philipsburg; with a view to drilling for oil and gas. F.
