-Republican prosperity seems to be "marching on" as victoriously as did SHERMAN "to the sea." In addition to closing three-fourths of the cotton mills in New England during the past month, it succeeded in the indefinite suspension, on Wednesday of this week, of 1000 men employed in the railroad shops at Altoona; in knocking out of work over 2,000 others along the Pennsylvania lines and in reducing the working time along the P. & E. roads, for shop and track men, from nine to eight hours a day.

Sane and Safe.

Here are the lines concisely laid down

A sane and business like revision and re duction of the tariff; the enforcement of the laws upon the statute books affecting the trusts and interstate commerce; reciprocity in trade relations, especially with Canada; a reduction of the governmental expenditures, especially those of a warlike and jingolistic character; the unveiling and punishment of corruption in the departments; the cessation or ruption in the departments; the cessation of executive usurpation of legislative functions, whether by the President, officers of the Cabinet, or heads of bureaus or divisions; an unalterable opposition to British colonialism, whether exercised by Great Britain in the eighteenth century or by the United States in the Philippine Islands in the twentieth century; in a word, such a course in connec-tion with all matters which are actual issues as to approximate as nearly as possible all at-tempted legislation, and the Democratic ideal of equality of opportunities and equality of burdens in the relationship of the individual to the Government.

Willing to Daddy it All.

From the Johnstown Democrat. In spite of the appalling raids on the national treasury, the monstrous postal frauds, the shocking army scandals, the disgraceful Indian land steals, the navy grafts, the Panama grab and scores of other pational disgraces, Republican state convention after convention "most heartily approves of the able administration of Theodore Roosevelt." And thus do rascals thrive.

Hard Travel with Corpse

ST. JOHNS, N. F. May 16.—The sealing steamer Aurora, which has been landing machinery for the whale factory at Cape Charles, Labrador, returned to Wesleyville, 100 miles north of here today, bringing the body of Leonidas Hubbard, Jr., assist ant editor of Outing, who perished in the interior of Labrador last October while on an exploring expedition. The Aurora also brought Hubbard's companions, Dillon Wallace, a lawyer, of New York, and

Frank Elhon a half-breed guide. Wallace and Elhon, with Hubbard's body in a coffin on a dog sled, left the Hudson Bay Company's trading post at Northwest river on March 3, with a party of half-breeds and dogs conveying stores. They proceeded south along the Labrador coast, travel in the interior being impossible, owing to lack of shelter from the frequent fierce snowstorms. They journeyd through all the fishing harbors along the coast, finding shelter with the settlers, when possible, and making from eight to ten miles daily. The party reached Battle Harbor, on the outer extremity of the Straits of Belle Isle, Thursday last, after traveling for over two months and covering a distance of 475 miles. Ninety-four dogs were in commission during that period.

ADDITIONAL MAIL FACILITIES .- That on which the Democratic party will appeal to the people at the coming election if it shall follow the advice of John Sharp Wil-Eagle valley need and should have the additional mail trains that are now being applied for goes without saying. But a something else that is needed as greatly by the people of Bellefonte, and the public generally, is a mail box at the station where mail can be deposited at a reasonable time before the departure of trains. Since the manipulations of the postal facilities of this place, that took the postoffice outside of the free delivery limit and added some $600.00 yearly to the expenses, and about one and a-half hours to the delay in the receipt of mails, the necessity for some arrangement that would allow of a letter written one and a-half hours before the departure of mails getting into the mail bag the same day has become apparent to everybody. As we are now fixed, a letter written down town after seven o'clock, unless especially carried up to the postoffice, does not get out of town until the next day although the last mail leaves at 8:15, and to insure its getting into the departing it a peck of salt previously dissolved in mail it must be in the postoffice fifteen minutes before closing time, which is eight o'clock, or a full half hours before the mail leaves. By placing a box at the station letters could be mailed up to the time of the arrival of trains, and if mail clerks are to be placed upon the 1:05 and the 8:15 trains, there ought to be no trouble at all in securing this concession. They could ern improvements. This is the township lift the mail deposited in the box or the should be applied hot. A pint of this mix- E. E. Immediately after partaking of a wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Garman departed on St. Louis express for a brief honeymoon tour to the St. Louis Exposition. No More of That KIND IS WANTED. -As vegetation advances one can see very plainly the effects of the long and severe winter in this section. Along the creeks and low-lands of the county, where water could accumulate and ice form, the fields are as spotted as a mangy dog, while on the high points where the snow was blown away by the winds, they make about the same appearance. Otherwise there is a promise of a fair crop of both grain and grass estimated by conservative guesses at a full-half yield. Of fruits of all kinds there could not be a more promising outlook if blossoms are to count for anything. Apples, pears, peaches, plums and cherry trees are a mass of bloom, and it is a rare thing to see any kind of a fruit-bearing bush or tree that is not white with blossoms. Peaches, we are told, will be scarce, notwithstanding the profusion of the blossoms-or at least the crop will be short in all orchards standing on grounds exposed to the north-west storms. On the vine and shrubbery of the garden is where the effect of the long cold is most noticeable. Rose and current bushes, flowering plants and climbing vines in many instances being frozen to the ground. Grape vines in many parts of the county are reported as dead to the roots and how much further down none but those curious enough to examine for themselves can tell. Coupled with the losses from freezing is the backwardness of the spring planting, which, on ecount of the late spring and the scarcity of help, is not nearly done as yet. This may prove an additional loss to the farmers at the other end of the season when early frost may shorten the yield or lessen the quality of both oats and corn. All together when we count the additional cost for fuel and the additional fund for stock required during the past winter and the outlook for both fall and spring crops, as seen at present, we rather think that if left, that place. to Centre county people the vote would be In politics he was a thorough Republinnanimous against any more ed winters."

BRIGHTEN UP YOUR HOMES .- If you want to add to the beauty of your property increase its value or have your fences and out-buildings last give them a few coats of good fresh white-wash. Nothing does so much to clean up, purify, stop decay and increase the attractiveness of a place as an application of fresh lime each spring. And it don't cost much-not one-fourth the amount that it adds in actual value to the property upon which it is freely used. A county will prove this. Where white-wash sister, Mrs. Sarah Hoffer, of this place, is used it is always a sign of care and thrift survives. and in purchasing a property the purchaser always knows that where care is taken both soil and buildings are in better A ride for a distance of five miles on any of the public roads leading out of Bellefonte will attest the benefits of a little work in this line. There is not a farm upon which the buildings and fences are neatly white-washed, that is not rated higher or that will not bring more if offered for sale than adjoining ones that are left without care or attention. And so with other properties. If all your fences are not such as can be white-washed, or if the labor and cost would be too great to go over them all, try it on your unpainted out-buildings, the fences enclosing your yard and garden and fresher, prettier and better they will all look, how much sweeter and purer your homes will appear and how much bappier and prouder yourself and family will all

And right here we will give you the receipt for what is said to be the best and most enduring white-wash in use. It is the kind used by the United States governwhere such a preparation is needed. In some instances it has been known to last one half bushel of unslacked lime, slake it with boiling water, cover during the process to keep in steam, strain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer, and add to hot, one-half pound Spanish whiting and one pound glue, previously dissolved by soaking in cold water, and then banging over a fire in a small pot hung in a larger one filled with water. Add five gallons hot water to the mixture, stir well and let Margaret, widow of the late Henry Brunstand a few days covered from dirt.
