

HICKS' WEATHER FOR JUNE.—The Rev. I. Hicks predicts the following weather for the month of June.

The 1st and 2d of June are reactionary storm days. On and touching these days change to warmer will advance eastward, with falling barometer, turning to cloudiness, with showers and storminess along the path of low barometric pressure. A higher barometer and spurt of fresh air and "rare June days" will intervene between this and the next storm period.

The second storm period covers the 4th to 9th, being central on the 6th. A rapidly fluctuating barometer, with sudden gusts of storminess and showers, will be most natural at the beginning of this period.

From about the 6th to the 9th, inclusive, June thunder storms will be in evidence, being thickest and most threatening on and next to the 7th. Change to cool and rising barometer will succeed the storms, bringing in some bright June days.

The third storm period is central on the 12th and 13th, touching in its effects the 11th and 14th. At this period and for the remainder of the month, there will be constant tendency to afternoon thunder storms, with floating banks and rick of cloud hanging about the horizon and flashing with brilliant displays of lightning in the evenings and through the nights. The climax of this period will fall on and touching the 13th. Look for some severe, if not violent rain and wind storms at this time.

The fourth storm period is from the 16th to the 21st. This promises to be the most prolonged and pronounced storm period in June. It is a time when daily thunder storms and heavy showers may be expected.

These storms will visit most sections of the country, and in some localities, mainly in the middle west, they are apt to break into tornado proportions. The crisis of the period will fall on and touching the 20th. Change to higher barometer and cooler will naturally follow after the storms in the usual way and dominate the weather for several days.

The fifth storm period falls on the 23rd and 25th. If the snap of the elements should have been exhausted by continuous and severe storms at previous periods, the perturbations of this fifth period will be moderate, otherwise these reactionary storms will show strength and severity, ending in rising barometer and much cooler.

The sixth storm period begins on the 26th and runs into July. The disturbances of this period will begin in this form of higher temperature and falling barometer, about the time of moon's full to 27th, and during the closing days of June storms of rain and wind, and thunder will touch many localities in their eastern sweep. Storms will terminate and cooler weather will follow, in the June opening days of July.

Smullton.

J. V. Brungard, from near Bellefonte, spent Sunday under the parental roof.

Mrs. John Mallory spent a day of the last week with her sister at Madisonburg.

Mrs. Wallace Bierly is spending a few days with her sister, Mollie, of Millinburg.

Mrs. Robt. Hackenberg and son, Clarence, spent Decoration day in Penns. store.

Mrs. John Segel, of Wolfe's Store, was a guest at the home of G. B. Winters on Monday.

Miss Marion Emerick is improved at this writing, but not yet able to continue her work.

Luther Miller has returned home from Clearfield county, having met with unfavorable circumstances.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hoy, of Hublersburg, spent Sunday with the latter's brother, Newton Brungard.

Quite a few of our people were caught in the rain on Monday night and report it to have been a "refreshing shower."

On Monday Miss Serene Harry entertained her brother, Chas. Weaver, and brother-in-law, Mr. Caris, of Sugar valley.

Judge Love, of Bellefonte, who, on Decoration day, spoke eloquently to a large audience at Rebersburg, was very pleasantly entertained at the home of G. H. Smull. The Livonia band furnished some excellent music, after which H. H. Stover took a photograph of the group.

Pine Grove Mention.

Primary meeting next Saturday held at the St. Elmo.

Mrs. J. W. Kepler enjoyed a drive to State College Sunday.

Will Mitterling spent a day or two here last week in quest of fresh cows.

Isaac Reed is making locomotion go on crutches on account of a badly cut foot.

Mrs. Margaret Dannelly, the oldest lady in our town, is suffering with sciatica, but is slowly improving.

John Garner, of Altoona, came down to spend Sunday at his parental home at Rock Springs.

S. E. Goes and family, Mrs. W. H. Musser and grand daughter, all of Bellefonte, were home for memorial day.

Col. J. R. Lemon, who was home for some months, has gone back to Morgantown, Va., as superintendent and general manager of a big iron concern.

Harry Scott, of Petersburg, circulated among our farmers the beginning of the week buying anything that would turn a dollar, preferably cattle and wool.

Mrs. Peter Lanck is suffering with a partial stroke of paralysis that has laid her low since Sunday evening. For one of her years she is bearing her affliction heroically.

Paul Bailey was one of the workmen who got the bounce in the Juniata shops. He moved back home and was unfortunate in having his knee cap fractured by the kick of a horse.

On Saturday John Reish and William Sunday, students at the Susquehanna University, rode through on their bikes to Penna. Furnace. It was a big push for the little practice that students usually get.

A. F. Marks and Daniel Dreiblebis, near State College, evidently read the WATCHMAN, as both heeded its injunction in last week's issue: "Don't spare the white wash brush." And they didn't.

P. F. Bottorf is down in Maryland looking over his worldly possessions there this week.

Walter Woods left for the metropolis on Tuesday, where he has a fat job awaiting his coming.

J. Cal Bailey and family, of State College, spent Sunday at the Bailey home just west of town.

George Graham and family, of State College, visited friends in our town the beginning of the week.

Engineer Ira Hess came down from the Mountain city last week for a week's angling along Laurel run.

Jacob Felty, one of Altoona's business men, spent several days at his old parental home on the Branch recently.

Bruce Rossman and family, of Penn Hall spent the beginning of the week among friends at Fairbrook.

Children's day will be observed next Sunday evening in the Presbyterian church. Everybody is invited.

Mrs. Wm. Lytle, of Jacksonville, was visiting among friends of her youthful days hereabouts the beginning of the week.

W. S. Bailey and wife, of State College, enjoyed a drive over old Tussey mountain last week to visit relatives at and about Neff's Mills.

Genial Frank Crawford did our merchants up in the hardware line. He was accompanied by his daughter, Grace, who enjoyed the drive very much.

Robert Gibson and wife are visitors at the A. P. Mitchell home now. For several days last week her health was not so good, but is much better now.

Will Fry, on the air brake force in Altoona, spent a few days among his friends here and at Lemont. He returned to his job Wednesday.

George Myers, of the Branch, was a busy man on Memorial day attending all the services from Spruce Creek down. And a festival in the bargain. Oh how it rained!

Alfred Bowersox, who is one of the efficient clerks in the Altoona shops, and M. M. Smith, of Evan City, both came home to participate in Memorial day exercises.

On Sunday Ed. Savage Erb, of Bellefonte, with his bright little daughter Ivan, drove up to spend the day with his brother-in-law, J. B. Heberling, on Main street.

Walter W. Weaver is gunning for the fellow who laid out Paris green that laid his favorite dog Pon low on Saturday morning. He was a fine specimen of the Beagle breed.

The rain on Monday evening interfered very much with the supper that the ladies at Penn Hall had so sumptuously prepared. After all the treasurer's account was swelled over one hundred dollars.

Morris Klingler, a blacksmith in the R. R. shops at Renovo, got the bounce last week and spent several days at his parental home at Lemont. On Monday he left for St. Mary's for a job at car building he expected to get.

Jerry Ewing, an old battle scarred veteran of the rebellion, spent a few days among friends at State College last week. He was a member of Co. E., 45th V. Regt. There are few men living who can show as many wounds as he can.

Mrs. C. T. Aikens, after a month's travel across the continent and sight seeing at the St. Louis exposition, returned home Friday evening. As she is an elegant conversationalist she is quite busy these days relating her story of the trip.

John Porter Lyon last week went to Huntingdon where he purchased an automobile of the latest make. These nice days Mr. Lyon with Thomas Mitchell are speeding it over our good roads. On Saturday the family rode to Bellefonte via State College to remain over Decoration day.

Mrs. W. Harris Bloom, of Bloomsdorf, is suffering with heart failure and is a very sick lady. On Decoration day evening she was assisting at the sociable held at Pine Fall. During the rush and excitement she fell prostrated and was eventually taken home in a carriage. She is some better now.

The members of the Lutheran church residing at State College held a meeting Tuesday and elected their several committees. Committee on plans, Frank Kennedy, Mrs. Kate Kennedy, Mrs. J. T. McCormick, Mrs. W. H. Homan. The building committee is Rev. C. T. Aikens, Hon. John T. McCormick, C. H. Seibert, Clark Herman. The site selected is on the corner of College Ave. and Atherton St. Work is to be begun at once.

Wm. F. Heberling, of Scotia, did not fail to turn out to Decoration day services at our town to hear his old comrade D. F. Fortney make the address. He chose to be near by and confessed Fortney's ear trumpet by which he could hear very distinctly. Comrade Fortney in his usual forcible way held the audience with his happy salutation to his old friends and neighbors and comrades. He gave a brief sketch of our country's wars and sorrows, giving statistics of Pennsylvania soldiers in the war of the Rebellion. He concluded with some wholesome remarks to the young people on whom should devolve the maintenance of our liberty. The services were well attended and a large number of little boys and girls assisted the old veterans in garlanding the mounds of fallen comrades. A brisk shower caused the services to be concluded in the church which was packed full and many withdrew to the stores. The parade was formed at G. A. R. headquarters promptly at 2 p. m. Tussey council No. 515, Jr. O. U. A. M. and Penns valley lodge I. O. O. F. 276, all in full regalia, escorted Capt. J. O. Campbell G. A. R. members, headed by several drum corps. The line of march was to the new cemetery then up town to the old cemetery where the principal services were held, and concluded. Penn Hall was the next objective point where members of Capt. Foster and Capt. Campbell posts joined in the decoration services. The State College band furnished the music and after the ritualistic services of the G. A. R. and the decoration of the graves the services were concluded in the Reformed church. Col. Fortney was the orator and held the large audience for 40 minutes. Everybody joined in singing America. Rev. Aikens pronounced the benediction and Decoration day of 1904 was ended.

Hublersburg.

Decoration day exercises were conducted here Saturday.

Lulu Vonada, of Jacksonville, was a guest of Talitha Hoy Sunday.

J. H. Sharp has returned home after an absence of two months.

Margaret Hoy spent Sunday at the home of Thomas Bierly, at Parvin.

The Commercial telephone linemen were putting in higher poles in town Tuesday.

Rev. Crow and daughter attended the wedding of Mr. Crow's brother on Wednesday.

Miss Vernie McEwen is home from the hospital apparently greatly improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Shoefelt, of Lock Haven, spent Sunday at the home of George Hoy.

The members of the Evangelical church will hold a social in Kessinger's vacant store room Saturday, June 4th.

Mrs. Clara Gaugher, of Elizabethville, formerly of this place, visited her many friends in this place during the week.

Mrs. R. J. Snyder, of Niagara Falls, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Cook, of Howard, visited at the home of J. H. McAlay the latter part of the week.

Lemont.

Prof. Pattee preached for the Methodists Sunday evening.

Frank Bohn and Jacob Houtz are still very ill and no better.

H. F. Houtz spent a few hours in Bellefonte last Saturday.

Irvin J. Dreese is having an artesian well put down on his farm near Peru.

Mrs. George Bloom was quite ill this last week, but is some better now.

Boyd Cowher, of Bellefonte, attended the Decoration day services at Houserville.

Charles Thompson is home for a few weeks vacation to enjoy himself amid old associations.

Decoration day was cool and fairly pleasant, so the services at the various places were well attended.

John R. Williams, wife and daughter, transacted business at State College one evening last week.

William Williams and family and Robert Herman and family came to the old town to enjoy a rest of two weeks.

Quite a number of the people from this village and State College took to the shades of Nittany mountain Sunday.

Wednesday afternoon of last week brought us a hail storm, but there was no damage done to the growing crops.

The memorial services held in the Presbyterian church, Sunday, were well attended and it was a profitable time for each one that was present.

The slump in business at Altoona is felt in these parts at present, there being several of the young men from this village included in the two thousand laid off.

William L. Steele and men raised Frank Weiland's store room at Linden Hall thirty-two inches, and as the room was 45 feet long it was quite an undertaking.

Last Wednesday a young man in full uniform passed through this village. He claimed to have been one of Uncle Sam's boys from the Philippine islands on his way home.

Objection Too Late.

"I've come to tell you, sir, that the photographs you took of us the other day are not at all satisfactory. Why, my husband looks like an ape!"

"Well, madam, you should have thought of that before you had him taken."—The Woman's Journal.

World's Fair.

Great Coach Excursions by Pennsylvania Railroad.

June 9th, 16th, 23rd and 30th are the next dates for great coach excursions to St. Louis via Pennsylvania railroad, on account of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition. The rates for these excursions have been fixed at such a low figure that they afford those of limited means an opportunity of seeing the World's Fair at an exceptionally small cost. The unusual success attending the first Pennsylvania railroad excursion indicates that these will be very popular.

Special trains of standard Pennsylvania railroad coaches of the most modern pattern will be run on the above mentioned dates from New York, Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Altoona and Pittsburg, directly through to St. Louis, with ample stops for meals at convenient hours. Each train will be in charge of a tourist agent of the Pennsylvania railroad. The rates will be the same as for the first excursion, May 10th, $20 from New York, $18.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other stations.

Specific information regarding time of special train and connections and rates from principal stations east of Pittsburg, will be announced shortly. 49-22-2t

Books, Magazines, Etc.

No feature of the June St. Nicholas, the "vacation number," will appeal so strongly to boys of all ages as Allan P. Ames' "How to Keep a Baseball Score." Mr. Ames, who is a practical score-keeper, suggests that lovers of the national game will find it worth while to know the system he describes and illustrates with productions of two pages from a score book.
