-Landsy and Antrim, the Philadelphia artists, are showing another very excellent portrait of a Bellefonte gentleman. It is in oils and was executed for Col. J. L. Spangler. The likeness is exceptional and the coloring so soft as to make it a very pleasing picture.

--- The marriage of Miss Marion Harding Curtin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wilson Curtin, to Mr. James Davis Winsor Jr., will be celebrated at "Bretona," their country seat, near Philadelphia, on Thursday, June 16th. The bride-elect is a grand-daughter of the late Governor Curtin.

----At a meeting of the Bellefonte school board Monday evening it was organized for the new year by the election of Cap. A. C. Mingle as president. All the other officers were re-elected. The report of the board this year will show a better condition of finance than ever before.

---- Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hunter came home from Philadelphia on Tuesday having brought their little daughter Nancy with them. She underwent an operation for enlargement of the glands of the neck while in the city and it is to be hoped that the relief secured will be permanent.

-Quite an interesting tennis tourna ment is being played by the students at the Bellefonte Academy. That institution makes an important feature of the physical development of its students by caring for the body as well as the mind, with such sports as do not interfere with class room duties.

-According to an order recently pro- stylish hobo in the future. mulgated from regimental headquarters Co. B, Fifth Reg. will attend the ceremonies incident to the unveiling of the monument to Gen. Burnside has leased the Haupt fruit orchards on Purdue mountain and will try his hand at apple and pear raising during the summer; not so much for the wealth he expects to get out of it. but merely as an experiment and a means of diversion while recuperating his health at their place on the mountain.

--- The second annual reunion of the Hazel and Shaeffer families will occur at Hecla park, next Wednesday, June 15th. While the occasion is one designed expressly for the kith and kin of the two families mentioned they cordially invite any of their friends who might care about meeting with them on that day. The Zion band will be there to furnish the music.

-The flags on the State College main building and armory were hung at halfmast Tuesday, May 31st, the day of Senator Quay's funeral. Senator Quay was associated with the late Gov. Curtin in the early movements for the establishment of the State College on the basis of the United States Land-Grand of '62, and, while he was never actively identified with it he always gave it his friendly and helpful support, especially during the later years of his life.

-The friends of D. M. Kerlin, formerly of this county, who has been living at Rudd, Iowa, for years, will be glad to learn that he is hale and hearty as he approaches his 82nd year, though it will be a matter of regret to know that he has nearly lost his eyesight. He writes that the farmers of their section are having the same trouble with their corn that those of Centre county have been having, and much of it is to be replanted.

-The Nittany furnace will likely go out of blast on or about July 15th. The furnace has contracts to fill that will keep it running to about that date. Nothing definite is known as to resumption at either the Bellefonte or Nittany furnaces. It is a matter governed entirely by the condition of the iron market. The Bellefonte furnace had been in continuous operation have all been more or less interested for since September 27th, 1900, when Sara Hastings lit the fires.

Altogether the new position is not only one of considerable responsibility, but a decidedly remnnerative one as well and we know of no one who will give it more assiduous or conscientious care than Mr. Laurie.

A BURGLAR SHOT AND CAPTURED AT JULIAN.—The career of at least one of the burglars who have been making country stores their prey for several years past was abruptly ended at Julian last Friday morning when Howard Turner shot and captured a fellow who was running about in his store as if there was no one to question his right.

THE ROBBER TRAPPED.

Mr. Turner runs the general mercantile store formerly owned by the late venerable Daniel Irvin. He closed up at the usual hour Thursday night and went to his home. About 11 o'clock he was aroused by a man named Hoover who had been sit ting up with Mr. Irvin. Hoover told him he was in bed no doubt remained of the Philipsburg hospital. intruder's having no right in the store.

Having secured a shot gun the three men proceeded to the store and had just reached a rear window when the burglar, boldly carrying a light, came out of the main store room and started to descend the few stairs leading to the ware-room half-a-story below. Mr. Turner raised his gun and fired. Immediately the light went out and not a sound came from the inside.

Fearing to enter the building lest the burglar might be lying in wait to kill them they posted guards and kept watch till daylight when they pushed the door open and 1st. found him lying face downward, just inside the door.

When turned over he showed no signs of life until Turner dashed some water in his face. Then he woke up. His face and hair were clotted with blood and there was a wound over his right eye, where a shot had struck him. Fortunately a scale beam just inside the window through which Mr. Turner fired had deflected the shot so that the burglar did not get the full charge. which would undoubtedly have killed him. As it was he received a shot in his hand and another that grazed the skull above the right eye; neither one being serious.

HIS DESCRIPTION. The fellow was armed with a 38 and a 32-calibre revolver. The former was empty. He gave his name as George Henderson and says he lives in Colorado. He is about 5ft. 25 or 30 years of age, smooth face, dark hair, gray eyes and wore a shabby gray suit. He says he was penniless and made his first attempt at robbery for the purpose of fitting himself out; which statement is possibly true. For no other one than that it was a first attempt would explain why he was roaming about through the store carrying a lighted lamp, at such an early with underwear and a few other articles for traveling, evidently intending to be a

TURNED OVER TO THE LAW.

He was turned over to constable Calvin Holt who, with W. S. Talhelm, brought him to this place. At a hearing justice Keichline he plead guilty to burglary and was committed to jail for trial.

Before leaving Julian he remarked to Mr. Turner: "You are a pretty poor marksman." Meaning, of course, that he realized how narrow his escape from death had been.

It is thought that after being wounded he went and laid down by the door; intending to seize the first opportunity to slip out and fight his way to liberty in the darkness, but the opportunity never came.

A REAL BENEFIT .-- The base-ball game between State College and Watsontown, on Friday afternoon, proved a more profitable attraction than its promoters had hoped, From a base-ball stand-point it was not a very interesting game for the reason that State won by the score of 6 to 0 with apparent ease. Only three plays during the game partook of the spectacular order and they were made by Mason and Ray for State and Case for Watsontown.

There were probably fifteen hundred people on the grounds ready to cheer every good play and the Coleville band lent its best efforts toward keeping time between | instructive address may be looked for. innings from dragging.

To Bellefonters the most interesting features were the pitching of Dick Quigley, a brother of H. C. Quigley Esq., of this place. He was in the box for State and in addition to holding the visitors down to five hits had perfect control of the ball. The other player in whom the crowd was specially interested was Eddie Keichline, who is playing centre-field for the visitors. While we all know that he is quite a clever player the home audience on Friday seemed to be too much for him and he did not show up in his usual good form.

The financial results were quite satisfactory; there being $95.60 earned toward the payment of old hospital bills.

Among the business taken up for consideration was the removal of the strip on the dam above this office that was placed there with council's permission some years ago. Mr. Gamel, the new owner of the Hale interests, and Mr. Gerberich, the and 4:50 p.m. lessee of their flouring mill, were present and stated that the removal of the strip in question would work them injury by reducing their head of water and they would not permit it. It seems strange that if council had the power to grant the placing of the strip there it has not a like power to cause its removal. Reasonable people will also inquire as to what right council had to work injury to borough property by per--The corner stone of the old church mitting the raising of that dam and backing that much more water on the water works, thereby diminishing the efficiency of the wheel there by that much ; not mentioning the almost complete drying off of the creek during the dry seasons when water is needed badly to carry off the sew--Mr. and Mrs. William Frederick age emptying into it between the dam and on Monday. GRAMLEY-HAINES. -One of the most notable nuptial events that has occurred in Penns-valley in many years was the marriage at Rebersburg, last Wednesday evening, of Miss Alma E. Gramley and Mr. M. Claude Haines.

The bride is a daughter of superintendent of public schools C. L. Gramley and has long been a favorite in the social set in which she reigned, consequently her marriage was the occasion of more than usual interest.
