Playing a Poverty Plea.

It had been the intention of the WATCHMAN to continue its series of articles setting forth facts in refutation of Judge LOVE's assertion that he "is not in politics," but the following paragraph from the Bellefonte Republican, of last week, demands immediate attention.

Judge Love is a poor man, if he remains on the bench he will be comparatively poor. Of the bench, in the eight or ten years allotted to him he can earn more than a competence. He has, in a doubtful district, at his own great financial loss, consented to stand for his party.

Accepting the Republican's statement that the Judge is "a poor man" let us ask the natural question: Why? By the time he has concluded his present term he will have drawn salaries to the amount of $45,887.40, or an average of $4,588.74 a year for ten years. If the Judge had no other source of income than his salary it would seem that he ought to have been able to save a little out of this handsome emolument extending over so long a term.

How many of the voters of Centre county who are now being appealed to on this poverty plea have earned the $588.74 alone, without mentioning the thousands during the past ten years.

Of course it is not the intention nor the desire of the people that their Judge should live in a fashion beneath the dignity of the position to which they have elevated him, but they are reasonable in the conviction that no man on an annual salary of $4,588.74 for ten years has a right to come to them with a poverty plea for continuation in the office.

From the Auditor General's report we take the following records of payments to Judge LOVE as verification of the statements made above. Inasmuch as this report shows the business of the fiscal years ending July 31st of each year and the salaries for 1904 are not given, as yet, it will be seen that he has a year and a half to his credit that is not shown in the table.

PAYMENTS TO JUDGE LOVE. Table with columns for year, amount, and extra. Rows include 1895 to Aug. 1st, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900, 1901, 1902, 1903.

Let some of you might fail to understand what the column headed "Extras" means we state that that sum now represents the money he has drawn for expenses of car fare and boarding while holding courts in other counties than Centre. The matter of car fare is a particularly interesting item, because here it is shown that the Judge has actually drawn money for that expense while riding on a pass that costs him nothing.

An Absurd Idea.

The Governor of the Philippine Islands writes to the President that promising self-government to the Filipinos would work the greatest evil and that even discussing the subject among men and by newspapers vastly adds to his troubles. The Governor of the Philippines is a man of the name of LUKE E. WRIGHT, but we are unable to recall which of the insane asylums he was taken from. That he belongs in an asylum admits of no doubt, however, for a man who will put his signature to such an absurdity must be raving mad or a simple imbecile. It would be just as reasonable to say that awards for achievement should be prohibited as to allege that promising self-government makes Filipinos troublesome.

From the dawdling of reason prizes have been awarded to merit and the promise of the reward has been the source of most merit. In the earliest period of historic time rulers have held out the promise of promotion in order to incite the individual to effort and the best human achievement has been the result. But the stupid idiot who is Governor of the Philippines has discovered, for political effect, that the rule of all time, the practice of all nations, has been reversed and that instead of the promise of self-government inspiring the Filipinos to strive for expediting the result, it makes them vicious and leads them to prove that they are unfit for self-government and should be kept in perpetual subjection.

The President's answer to such an absurd proposition ought to have been the prompt removal of the Governor of the Philippines and the appointment of a successor who has at least a modicum of sense. One of the evils of colonialism is the fact that it invites mediocrity to place and incapacity to power. In this case it has done both. But the President didn't dismiss Mr. WRIGHT. He is far more likely to promote him, for he has made use of the letter as a campaign document in the hope that there are a number of ignoramuses who will be deceived by it into the belief that the pledge of the Democratic platform to the Filipinos may work harm.

With Judge ORVIS on the bench those who want to attend the trial of cases in court may rest assured that they will be treated with courtesy, at least, while they are in the court room.

Henry C. Payne Passes Away.

Washington, Oct. 5.—Henry C. Payne, postmaster general of the United States, a member of the national Republican committee, a stalwart of his party, with the history of which, both in his home state and nationally, he has been identified for many years, died at his apartment at the Arlington Hotel last evening, aged 60 years. The death and its cause was announced in the following official bulletin issued by the attending physicians:

POSTMASTER GENERAL PAYNE.

The postmaster general died at 6.10 p. m. He died peacefully, without a struggle. Cause of death, disease of mitral valve and dilatation of the heart.

The death of the postmaster general came as the result really of a succession of sinking spells due to a weak heart that enfeebled the sick man, until finally the heart literally gave out.

Mr. Payne had been in poor health for at least two years, but his last illness covered only seven days, an attack of heart trouble last week precipitating the end at a time when after a rest he seemed to have recovered a small measure of his vitality, impaired by years of arduous labor. Death came after nearly six hours of unconsciousness.

The last official caller to inquire as to Mr. Payne's condition was President Roosevelt, and he had gone only about 10 minutes when the stricken member of his cabinet expired. Secretary Hay had called at the Payne apartments a few minutes before the president made his visit. Neither entered the sick room. As Mr. Roosevelt was leaving, about 6 o'clock, he spoke feelingly of Mr. Payne to the newspaper men gathered in front of the hotel, as "the sweetest, most lovable and most trustful man I ever knew." Mrs. Roosevelt, accompanied by Captain Cowles, also was a caller at the family apartments of the Paynes during the late afternoon.

When the postmaster general had breathed his last, Dr. Magruder led Mrs. Payne out of the room. It was stated that she had stood up bravely under the heavy strain.

The last day had been one during which practically all hope had been abandoned for some hours. The approach of dissolution began during the noon hour, when the sick man lost consciousness and no longer recognized those whom he had attempted to cheer during his illness by saying to them that he was all right. When Mrs. Payne saw that the end was near she summoned the Rev. Dr. Dunlap, of St. John's Episcopal Church, and at her request he read at the bedside of the dying man Psalm 130, "Out of the deep," and then repeated the prayers the Episcopal church provides shall be read at the bedside of those about to pass away.

Funeral services will be held at St. John's Episcopal Church in this city Friday morning, and at 3.15 that afternoon the body will be taken to the Pennsylvania Railway station and placed aboard the private car of President A. J. Earling, of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, who tendered the use of the car by telegraph. The remains should arrive at Milwaukee Saturday evening, and services will be held next Sunday at the All Saints' Episcopal Church there. A message has been sent to the Right Rev. Isaac L. Nicholson, the bishop of Milwaukee, who is now at a convention in Boston, asking him if he can officiate. Interment will be at the Forest Home cemetery, Milwaukee. Mrs. Payne has expressed a desire that the services be as simple as possible.

Cortelyou to Succeed Payne.

Washington, Oct. 5.—In succession to Mr. Payne, George B. Cortelyou, former secretary of the department of commerce and labor, and now chairman of the Republican national committee, will become postmaster general. Mr. Cortelyou's appointment as head of the postoffice department was determined upon several months ago by President Roosevelt, when Mr. Payne indicated to the president his desire to retire from the department on account of the precarious state of his health. Mr. Payne would have resigned the portfolio long ago had it not been for the then pending investigation of the affairs of the department. He felt, however, and said many times to his friends that he could not relinquish the duties of the office while the investigation was pending, and expressed his determination to carry the investigation to a conclusion.

Convict Hangs Himself.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 4.—James Thompson, a colored convict in the Maryland penitentiary, serving an 18-year sentence for murder in the second degree, committed suicide in his cell by hanging, making a noose out of his suspenders. Thompson was convicted of killing a man at Chestertown, Md.

Senator Hoar's Funeral.

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 4.—Funeral services for United States Senator George F. Hoar were held here. In the presence of many persons representing societies and associations, the city of Worcester, the commonwealth of Massachusetts and the congress of the United States, the favorite hymns of the dead statesman were sung, the 90th Psalm was read, and two clergymen spoke words in eulogy of the man who had been their friend for many years.

Public and private business in the city was suspended. Buildings were draped and pictures of Senator Hoar were generally displayed with symbols of mourning in the windows.

The services, which were held in the little Church of the Unity, which Senator Hoar attended, in accordance with the wishes of the senator, were of a most unceremonious nature. Three hymns were sung. Rev. Dr. Rush R. Shippen, of Brockton, formerly pastor of the Church of the Unity, spoke briefly of his personal acquaintance with Senator Hoar, and Dr. Edward Everett Hale, the venerable chaplain of the United States senate, schoolmate and lifelong friend of the senator, spoke at greater length, after having read a psalm and offered a brief prayer.

Less than an hour was taken up with the simple exercises at the church, and after those present had taken a final look at the face of the senator, the body was removed to city hall, to lie in state where the thousands whom the church could not accommodate might have opportunity to take final leave. Today the body was taken to Concord, where interment was made.

Third Attempt to Wreck Ship.

New York, Oct. 3.—The New York Herald says: "Three times within a half year has the hand of treachery been foiled in attempts to wreck the United States battleship Connecticut, launched at the New York navy yard on Thursday. Only Saturday was the last drop of water pumped from a compartment which filled from a hole bored through the half-inch steel keel plates on the ship's bottom.

The three thousand workmen at the New York yard have been informed of these attempts to seriously injure and perhaps permanently damage the powerful fighting craft. It is expected that their loyalty will assist the care of the authorities in frustrating further attempts, and that their indignation may possibly lead to the detection of the perpetrators of the previous outrages.

"The guard on the Connecticut has been strengthened, and the sentinels understand that if they kill a man in the act of trying to injure the ship they will receive the thanks of the navy department."

The story says that six months ago it was found that holes had been bored through the centre of rivets in the hull, allowing a leakage. This act was discovered and new rivets inserted.

There is no clew to the identity of the perpetrators of these outrages. That they may be discovered is considered almost hopeless if they do not again renew their attacks on the ship.

John C. Merrill, of Look Haven, who is following the fortunes of his famous trotting horse, John Taylor, was robbed of his pocketbook containing $800, on Tuesday, in Lexington, Ky., where his horse raced this week. Mr. Merrill was stopping at the Phoenix hotel, which was crowded. On the way to the dining room he was jostled by the crowd and it is supposed that the theft was accomplished at this time. Up to this time John Taylor has made a remarkably good showing on the grand circuit, prior to this week his earnings have aggregated $5,500.

On Tuesday afternoon Robert Brungard, a Loganston huckster, drove to Look Haven with a load of butter, eggs and other produce to attend the curb market the next morning. He put up his team and wagon at the stables adjoining the boarding house of Charity Rhoads, on west Bald Eagle street. Wednesday morning when Mr. Brungard made preparations to go to market he discovered that during the night the stable had been entered and eight dozen of eggs and eighteen pounds of butter stolen from his wagon. Butter sold at 24 cents a pound and eggs at from 23 to 25 cents a dozen, so that Mr. Brungard's loss was over six dollars. No clue to the thieves was discovered.

The origin of the fire has not yet been determined, but it is thought that it started from a spark falling into the shavings in the tower near the engine room.

The location of the fire marked the site of a big blaze on October 2nd, 1893, when the planing mill of Booth & Leas, which occupied the site of the Bucher mill, and the Kline planing mill, which stood where St. Mark's Catholic church now stands, were destroyed, entailing a loss of $25,000.

Mr. Bucher, the proprietor, was formerly a resident of Centre county, where he has many friends who will sympathize with him in this loss.

The object is a most worthy one and, inasmuch as the good work of the hospital is not confined alone to Bellefonte, but to all Centre county donations are requested, and will be thankfully received from persons everywhere. In the line of donations the ladies expect produce of all kinds, such as butter and eggs, Irish potatoes and sweet potatoes, apples and onions, lima beans and soup beans, soap of all kinds, cereals and breakfast foods, canned fruits, jellies, jams, apple butter, pickles and home-made candy. David Long, son of Isaac Long, of Brush valley, died last Friday night, aged 33 years. The funeral was held on Monday.

DIED IN BELLEFONTE HOSPITAL.—A peculiarly sad death was that of John H. Barnett, a Sophomore student at State College, who died in the Bellefonte hospital Friday morning at 3 o'clock, after an operation for appendicitis on Thursday morning. On Tuesday, Barnett was stricken with an acute attack of the disease and Dr. John I. Robinson had him brought to the hospital at once. He was accompanied here by his brother, Arthur Barnett, who is also a student at the College. The patient would not consent to an operation until the arrival of his father from Kane, Thursday morning. Though it was then thought to be too late an operation was performed that morning at 11 o'clock by Drs. Hayes and Robinson. The operation was successful and the patient seemed to have a fair chance for recovery until about mid-night when a clot of blood formed in one of the arteries which caused a collapse and resulted in his death early Friday morning. The body was taken to H. P. Harris' undertaking establishment where it was prepared for burial and was shipped to Kane on the 1:25 train Friday afternoon. John H. Barnett was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Barnett, of Kane, Pa., and was aged 20 years. He was in his second year at State College and was a popular member of his class. In addition to his parents he is survived by one brother, Arthur, a student at the College, and two sisters, Florence and Clara, at home.

His father was Charles Simler, who was a son of John Henry Simler, one of the original settlers.

When a boy George B. Simler went to Philadelphia where he married Miss Amanda Carpenter. The young couple returned to Phillipsburg where they lived several years then moved back to Philadelphia. In that city they lived six or seven years, Mr. Simler serving on the police force. They then returned to Phillipsburg where they have lived ever since. Mr. Simler was a carpenter by trade and by his industry, frugality and wise investments succeeded in accumulating considerable property. On different occasions he filled places of public trust in the borough, such as Burgess, president of the town council, etc. He was one of the oldest Odd Fellows in Phillipsburg, having joined the Philanthropic Lodge, No. 15, of Philadelphia, on Oct. 13th, 1846.

Besides his wife he is survived by four sons and two daughters, viz: Harry, Geo. B., Wm. and Jacob, and Mrs. W. H. Crowner and Mrs. Albert Jackson; and one sister, Mrs. Margaret E. Adams, all of Phillipsburg. The funeral took place Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from his late residence.

A patient sufferer for years other complications finally set in which resulted in his death. Deceased was born in Sarbrucken, Germany, sixty years ago. When nineteen years of age he came to this country and for a number of years worked for the Goldsmith's, in their clothing store in Harrisburg. About 1880 he came to Bellefonte and engaged in the clothing business for himself, conducting a merchant tailoring department in connection with his clothing store.
